BULLETINS.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of JANUARY 1, 1864.

Board of Trade, Whitehall, December 29, 1863.

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade and Plantations have received through the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs an extract of a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, reporting that the Spanish Government with the view of making the regulations regarding vessels passing Tarifa (notices respecting which were inserted in the London Gazette of the 3rd and 31st December, 1858), for the future more lenient, have directed that after the discharge of one gun loaded with blank cartridge, two shots with ball will be fired aside of the vessel, in the way of warning, instead of one, as has hitherto been the rule.

Board of Trade, Whitehall, December 30, 1863.

179658

Consul-General at Port-au-Prince, enclosing a copy of a law issued by the Government of the Republic of Hayti, abolishing the extra charge of 10 per cent. on the weighing, wharfage, &c., of goods, and replacing those charges by an additional duty of 10 per cent. on all articles imported into or exported from that republic

Board of Trade, Whitehall, December 30, 1863.

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs the following translation of an official proclamation issued by the Senate of Bremen, respecting the Harbour-dues at the Port of Bremerhaven, and which has been forwarded by Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Hamburg.

(Translation.)

WHEREAS the tariff of harbour-dues in Bremerhaven, established by the Order of April 2nd 1845, having, in a constitutional manner, been subjected to a revisal, the Senate hereby brings the subjoined tariff to public notice.

I.—Harbour—Last—(viz. of burthen), and Sluice Charges.

Sec. 1.

	Dlls. Gts.
For passing in and out of the sluice of any one of the harbours, and for remaining in the same, ships have to pay, viz :
1. Harbour-charges :
For the time during which they are moored, if not exceeding two months (60 days).

	Dlls.	Gts.
Ships exceeding 30 lasts in burthen, for each last	0	11
Small ships, each last	0	8
For a time not exceeding one month, the half of the above rates.
For a time exceeding two months for every additional month, per last ..	0	1
Timber-rafts, per month...	2	0
2. Charges for last of burthen, instead of the harbour-charges.
River-going ships, coming from Weser ports, that is to say, as far as the Horum-Liel, on the Jahde, and the Dorum-Tief, on the right bank of the Weser, inclusive, or such ships as are bound to those places from one of those ports, for every last of goods landed or received from land	0	3
If such ships remain longer than one month in harbour, they must from that time pay additionally the usual harbour-charges, as a charge for moorage.
3. Sluice-charges	2	36
Sluice-charges are not to be paid by ships which have previously paid the harbour-charges, but only for ships, which are moored outside of the harbours ready for sailing, but return into the harbour without sailing ; or for ships which leave the harbour in order to be repaired at one of the shipbuilding yards in or above Bremerhaven, and after being repaired immediately return into one of the harbours, or are removed from one harbour into the other.
4. Charges per last of burthen on the bank of the Geeste.

	Dlls.	Grs.
Besides the above, every last of ship's goods, on the discharging or loading of goods on the right bank of the Geeste, must pay as last-charges	0	1
But in no case more per ship than ...	0	35

Sec. 2.

The following more particular determinations and exemptions are hereby to be observed :—

1. Exempted from harbour or last-charges are :
   a. Steam-tugs towing other vessels in or out.
   b. Lighters and other river-boats which do not carry goods to the shore or from the shore, but which take in goods from sea-going ships, or convey goods to them.
   c. Mail-steamers employed on trans-atlantic voyages ; these ships have to pay the sluice-charges instead.

2. Instead of the harbour-charge a fixed sum may be paid by steamers and other ships sailing regularly.

3. In calculating the harbour and last-charges, the last is taken at 4,000 pounds, every fraction of a last is reckoned as a whole last, every part of a month as a whole month, each month as 30 days, and the whole 2 months as 60 days.

II.—Careening Charges.

Ship-Masters, who make use of any one of the careening places for the examination or repairing of their ships, have to pay 4 groten per last, but for the careening of a ship, in no case less than 3

III.—Harbour Pilot Charges.

	Dlls.	Gts.
The Harbour Pilot charge for piloting ships in or out is, for ships:
not exceeding 60 lasts	1	60
above 60, but not exceeding 120 lasts ...	2	18
above 120, but not exceeding 300 lasts ...	3	36

IV.—Assistance of Boats.

The Tariff for assistance by boats for ships entering or leaving, is as follows, viz., for ships :
above 120, but not exceeding 300 lasts ...	3	18
for ocean steamers	12	0

If such boat assistance is given in extraordinary cases, viz., at night, during a storm, or the breaking up of the ice, &c., and under unusual difficulties, so that the usual assistance is not sufficient, then, according to the judgment of the Harbour-master, the charge may be increased at a reasonable rate.

V.—Removal of Ships.

For moving or taking ships from one berth to another in the harbour, the harbour pilots are to be paid for the work assigned to them in such cases, viz., for a ship:
not exceeding 150 lasts	0	36

If a ship, during the time of its remaining in harbour, has been once moved by order of the authorities without such proceeding being desired either by the master or any person authorized by him, then any further removal which is ordered by the authorities alone, must be carried out gratis by the Harbour-pilots.

VI.—Warehousing Charges.

Although the warehousing or depositing of goods on the quay is only permitted, when at the request of the person interested, one of the Harbour-masters has assigned a place for such purpose, still for the first month of warehousing no charges are to be made, neither is a card of permission from the Harbour Office requisite; but after the first month a card of permission must be obtained for any longer period of warehousing, and on receiving the same the charge for every additional month of warehouseing per square rod, or less, is	0	6

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament made in the session holden in the sixth and seventh years of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to remove doubts as to the exercise of "power and jurisdiction of Her Majesty within "divers countries and places out of Her Majesty's "dominions, and to render the same more ef- "fectual," it is, amongst other things, enacted, that it is and shall be lawful for Her Majesty to hold, exercise, and enjoy, any power or jurisdiction which Her Majesty now hath, or at any time hereafter may have, within any country or place out of Her Majesty's dominions, in the same and as ample a manner as if Her Majesty had acquired such power or jurisdiction by the cession or conquest of territory:

And whereas Her Majesty hath power and jurisdiction in the dominions of the Tycoon of Japan:

And whereas Her Majesty was pleased, on the twenty-third day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty, by an Order duly made, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to make provision for the exercise of the said power and jurisdiction; and such Order was afterwards amended, and further provision was made for the exercise of the said power and jurisdiction, by another Order duly made by Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, on the fourth day of February, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one:

And whereas, under and by virtue of the said

Orders, Her Majesty's Consuls within the dominions of the Tycoon of Japan are authorised and empowered to make, and to enforce by fine or imprisonment, rules and regulations for the observance of the stipulations of the treaty or treaties between Her Majesty, her heirs and successors, and the Tycoon of Japan, and for the peace, order, and good government of Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Tycoon of Japan:

Now, therefore, in pursuance of the above recited Act of Parliament, Her Majesty is pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :—

I.—Whenever, and so often as, it shall appear to Her Majesty's Consul-General, or to any person duly authorized to Act in the capacity of Consul-General of Her Majesty, in the dominions of the Tycoon of Japan, that the unrestricted entrance of British ships or vessels into, or the unrestricted passage of British ships or vessels through, any straits, or strait, or other waters, within the dominions of the said Tycoon of Japan, may lead to acts of disturbance or acts of violence, or may otherwise endanger the maintenance of peaceful relations and intercourse between Her Majesty's subjects and the subjects of the Tycoon of Japan, it shall be lawful for such Consul-General, or other person so acting as aforesaid, to make and enforce, by fine or imprisonment, any rule or regulation, for the purpose of prohibiting, or of regulating and placing under such restrictions as he may consider expedient, the entrance or passage of any British ship or vessel (other than a ship of war of Her Majesty) into or through any such such rule or regulation: and any such ship or vessel may lawfully be detained, under the authority of any such officer or officers, or of any of Her Majesty's Consuls in the dominions of the Tycoon of Japan, until the conclusion of any proceedings which may be taken for the punishment of any person or persons so offending.

And the Right Honourable Earl Russell, and the Most Noble the Duke of Newcastle, two of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the session of Parliament held in the third and fourth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for "better defining the powers of Justices within "the Metropolitan Police District," it was, amongst other things, enacted that it should be lawful for Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, from time to time, to constitute within the Metropolitan Police District, so many Police Court Divisions as to Her Majesty should seem fit, and to define the extent thereof, and from time to time to alter the number and extent of such Police Court Divisions;

And whereas Her Majesty was pleased by an Order, made with the advice aforesaid, dated the 13th day of December, 1844, to define the extent of the Marylebone Police Court Division, as follows:— "The space included within the following boun" dary, the same being within the Metropolitan " Police District (that is to say), from the Victoria- " gate, Hyde Park, in a line running eastward " along the boundary of the district assigned to " Marlborough-street Police Court, as far as " Tottenham-court-road, thence along the " centre of the New road to the corner of " upper Seymour-street, thence northward along " the boundary of the district of the Clerkenwell " Police Court to Maiden-lane, near the North " Cemetery, thence south-westward to Shootup- " hill, thence to and including Kilburn, thence to " Westbourne-green (including the same), thence " along the Green-lane and Pickering-place to " Queen's-road, and thence along the same to " Victoria-gate aforesaid."

Her Majesty is, therefore, further pleased, with the advice of Her Privy Council aforesaid, to order, and it is hereby ordered accordingly, that in addition to the space included within the aforesaid boundary, the district of the Marylebone Police Court shall, from and after the eighth day of January instant, comprise the whole of the remainder of the parish of Paddington not already included within the said boundary, the same being within the Metropolitan Police District.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 7th day of January, 1864.

17. No spirits or gunpowder shall be taken on board by any passenger, and if either of those articles be discovered in the possession of a passenger it shall be taken into the custody of the Master during the voyage and not returned to the passenger until he has landed or is on the point of landing.

18. No loose hay or straw shall be allowed below for any purpose.

FROM THE

SUPPLEMENT

War Office, January 12, 1864.

THE Secretary of State for War has received two Despatches, with Enclosures, from Lieutenant-General D. A. Cameron, C.B., Commanding Her Majesty's Forces in New Zealand, of which the following are copies :—

Head Quarters, Queen's Redoubt,
October 28, 1863.

My Lord,

HAVING, as I reported in my last despatch, deferred any advance until I could secure the assistance of the iron steamer from Sydney, and the gun-boats from Auckland, I have nothing of importance to communicate to your Lordship, as these vessels, though expected daily from the Manukaw for the past three weeks, did not arrive here until the 27th.

The marauding incursions of parties of natives in the bush have been less frequent. Several murders of individual settlers, however, have occurred, who, neglecting repeated warnings, continued to occupy detached houses at considerable distances from villages within our line of posts, thus affording the hostile natives opportunities of perpetrating atrocities, which no defensive measures can effectually prevent.

On the 2nd instant, at New Plymouth, a force under the direction of Colonel Warre, C.B., engaged a large body of natives who had assembled near the Poutoko Redoubt, with the intention of attacking it, and after more than an hour's sharp fighting, compelled them to retreat with considerable loss. Enclosed is the copy of my despatch to Sir George Grey, with the report of the different officers in command, which will place your Lordship in possession of the details of an action characterised by the gallantry invariably displayed by the troops, and which resulted in liberating the neighbourhood of the town from the main body of the insurgents, who retired to their pahs, about fifteen miles further south.

On the 23rd, Lieutenant Lusk, commanding at Mauku, having observed a body of hostile natives near his post, proceeded with part of his detachment to ascertain their number, when he was incautiously drawn into an engagement before it was possible for the officer commanding at Drury to reinforce him. Attacked on all sides by overwhelming numbers, Lieutenant Lusk fought with great spirit, but was forced to retire, leaving on the ground 2 officers and 6 men killed. The intelligence of this encounter reached me late that night, when I ordered a force of 200 men to march from Drury, with instructions to the officer in command of it, to drive the natives out of the bush, and thinking it probable they would make for a point of the river used as a crossing place, called Pura Pura, I directed a part of Lieutenant-Colonel Nixon's moveable column, encamped near this, to proceed at once, by Tuakau and Cameron, to intercept them, but from the difficulty of pushing rapidly through the bush by night, the natives had time to effect their retreat.

I am happy to state that the Government are making every effort to augment the militia raised in the neighbouring colonies. Two thousand six hundred have already arrived, and it is proposed that the number should be increased to five thousand, for the purpose of maintaining the land wrested from the natives and reserved for settlement.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

The Right Honourable
The Secretary of State for War,
War Office, London.

Head Quarters, Queen's Redoubt,
SIR, October 6, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to forward copies of a report from Colonel Warre, C.B., commanding at New Plymouth, and its enclosures, relative to a severe engagement which took place near Poutoko on the 2nd instant, from which your Excellency will be glad to learn that the regular troops, as well as the militia and volunteers of the province, displayed their usual gallantry in repelling the attack of very superior numbers of the enemy. Colonel Warre evinced great judgment and ability throughout the action.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

His Excellency
Sir George Grey, K.C.B., &c. &c.

New Plymouth, New Zealand,
SIR, October 3, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to transmit the accompanying reports from the Officer Commanding at Poutoko, and to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding, that later in the day the rebel Maories, from 6 to 800 strong, advanced with great determination to attaek the redoubt.

Knowing that the Maories had been collecting their forces, and by information I received the previous evening, I was somewhat prepared for this attack, although I did not know against what quarter it was intended, and large fires lighted in every direction were evidently meant to withdraw our attention from the real point.

On receipt of Captain Wright's letter, I immediately sent Major Butler, 57th Regiment, to take command, and the reinforcements stated in the margin being all the men I could spare compatible with the safety of the town.

On Major Butler's arrival at Poutoko, he found that the Maories were advancing from Hurford's Clearing, and Brown's Land to the left, and left rear of the redoubt; and as the ground is tolerably open, he advanced to meet them with about 100 men of the 57th and 70th from the redoubt, directing Captain Armstrong, with about 40 Militiamen, from the Omata Stockade, to hold the redoubt.

As it was now quite evident on which side the attaek was directed, I followed the reinforcements, and directing Captain Shortt to proceed by the new line of road from Omata village towards Allan's Hill, and Captains Atkinson and Webster to continue their march by Warreka Gulley, I went forward and found Major Butler engaged by a very superior number of the enemy, who had possession of the bush, flanking the fields over which he had advanced. The firing was very heavy, and several casualties had occurred, but the timely arrival of Captain Shortt, who at once attacked the rebels upon their right flank, enabled Major Butler to recover his ground, and to oblige the rebels to take refuge in the densely wooded gullies, from whence, and from the high trees on the opposite banks they kept up an incessant but fortunately not very effective fire.

Captain Shortt also found himself opposed by very large numbers of rebels, who for a short time disputed his passage across the narrow neck of land between two deep gullies, near Touett's house. With the most determined gallantry, his party forced their way across the broken half-cleared ground; and the arrival of the volunteers, under Captains Atkinson and Webster, enabled us to become the assailants, and the Maories were driven into the bush-covered gullies, where I felt that it would have been but a useless sacrifice of life to follow them.

During this action, which lasted upwards of an hour, word was brought to me that 2 or 300 Maories had crossed the Tapuæ river, and were advancing towards the redoubt by the point, or Bob Erangi's pah, from whence they kept up a useless fire, until dislodged by shell from the howitzer, which is kept in the redoubt. I also sent a sub-division, under Lieutenant Mills, to prevent the enemy from getting round the right flank, between the redoubt and the sea.

The troops and volunteers now held every commanding point from Waireka Hill, which had always been kept open by a strong picquet, to the redoubt, and the Maories, evidently satisfied that they could make no impression, gave vent to their rage by repeated volleys and the most frightful yells, after which they retired; and as the troops and volunteers from town had marched six or eight miles, and had been continually engaged from the moment of their arrival, I did not think it right to allow them to follow the Maories, who got away, not, I hope, without serious loss, by the thick bush on the way to the upper ford, en route Kaitake. The troops bivouacked on the ground until the afternoon, when they returned to town, leaving a reinforcement of 50 men at the redoubt.

Nothing could exceed the admirable conduct of the officers, non-commissioned officers, and men, of both regular and militia forces engaged.

I am greatly indebted to Major Butler, 57th Regiment, for his persevering efforts to keep back the enemy, nearly six times as numerous as the party he had in the first instance to support his advance; also to Lieutenant C. M. Clarke, Deputy-Assistant Quartermaster-General, and Lieutenant E. Brutton, Garrison Adjutant, who accompanied me, and rendered me every assistance, as also did Lieutenant and Acting Adjutant, W. Thompson, 57th Regiment, who, at the head of a small party, dislodged the enemy from a piece of bush from whence they had kept up a galling fire. Captains Shortt, 57th, and Wright, 70th Regiments, Captains Atkinson and Webster of the volunteers, and all the officers, set an example to their men, which was nobly responded to; and the presence of Surgeon Mackinnon, of the 57th Regiment, and the other Medical Officers, very materially relieved the sufferings of the wounded, who were brought into town during the afternoon, and who, with the exception of one man (Private Finn, 57th Regiment), since dead, are progressing favourably.

I should wish to bring specially to the notice of the Lieutenant-General Commanding, the noble conduct of Ensign Down, 57th Regiment, and Drummer Dudley Stagpoole, who under a tremendous fire from natives not forty yards from them, brought away wounded men at the risk of their own lives; their efforts being ably seconded by Private Antonio Rodriques, a Mounted Orderly of the Taranaki Militia, who carried two men off the field on his horse, and galloped through a party of rebel Maories to take my orders to Captain Shortt. At the risk of troubling the Lieutenant-General with too great detail, I beg to forward Captain Shortt's Report, as it specially mentions the above individuals, and bears evidence to his own gallant conduct in this severe engagement.

I must also beg to be allowed to mention the excellent conduct of Captain Mace, T. M., and the Mounted Orderlies who accompanied the troops, and were unceasing in their efforts to assist the wounded, and to distribute ammunition.

I have just received the enclosed report from Major Butler, which I forward, as it supports my testimony of the gallant conduct of all engaged, I also append a list of casualties, which, although large, is far less than I had any right to expect.

The natives are still in the bush, about two miles from the redoubt, and are very numerous at Kaitake, but have made no further move this morning.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) H. J. WARRE, Colonel,
Commanding Troops, Taranaki.

St. Patrick's Redoubt,

SIR, October 2, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to report that I observed the smoke of a large fire at the ford at Hurford's Clearing yesterday evening at about six o'clock, and as it was necessary to send out a wood party to-day, I sent Mr. Mills with forty men to lay in ambush at three A.M. on the hill overlooking the Maori track, and thus to protect the wood party.

I have the honour to enclose his report on the matter, by which you will see he was fired on. I went to his support with thirty men, and found him at Allen's-hill, and that he did not require any more men. I left him to lay an ambush on a spot overlooking the place where the shots were fired from yesterday, thinking that the natives might come there to day again, but he has since returned without seeing anything.

About sixty Maories or more are at present pulling down the Oakura Redoubt.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) A. B. WRIGHT,
Captain 70th Regiment.

Colonel Warre, C.B.,
Commanding Troops, Taranaki.

SIR, Poutoko, October 2, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to report, for your information, that in accordance with instructions I received from you, I proceeded this morning at three A.M., strength as per margin,* to the hill overlooking the Tapuæ river, with the intention of laying an ambuscade, in order to cover a wood party which was to leave the redoubt at 8 a.m. On reaching Touett's house I formed single rank, and moved in that order up to within forty yards of the crest of the hill, when several Maories, who were evidently on sentry, immediately rose up and fired. I ordered my men to return the fire, which they did, and then I rushed up to the top of the hill, upon which the natives retired into the dense bush, two or three of them appearing to be badly wounded, leaving behind them six mats, one Maori kit, full of bread, and a tomahawk. I followed them a short distance, but finding the bush too thick, and it being very dark at the time, I contented myself by holding the crest of the hill, in the event of an attack by a large number of natives. I remained there for about a quarter of an hour, but hearing the voices of a great number of Maories, I should say at least 200, I deemed it advisable to withdraw my party to some more open spot, and I accordingly moved back to Allan's Hill, where I posted my men, and waited until daybreak.

I beg you will bring to the notice of the Colonel Commanding, the admirable conduct of the men under my command; the quiet and orderly way in which they behaved enabling me to surprise these Maori sentries.

Ensign Broderip and Dr. Tomlinson were with my party, and greatly assisted me in every way.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) EDWARD MILLS,
Lieutenant 57th Regiment.

Captain Wright, 70th Regiment,
Commanding at Poutoko.

New Plymouth,

SIR, October 2, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Officer Commanding the regiment, that, in compliance with instructions received, I marched this morning with a party, strength as per margin,* with orders to proceed to Poutoko. On the road I was overtaken by Colonel Warre, C.B., who directed me to advance to the redoubt by the bush road, near Touett's house. Shortly after we had turned down this road, I heard firing on my right, in the direction of Poutoko. I at once strengthened my advance guard, and pushed on as rapidly as I could, and became engaged with the enemy near Touett's house. The natives immediately retreated to the bush, and opened fire upon my party from all directions. Leaving a reserve on Alwyn's hill to protect my rear, I advanced towards the bush, but being met with a tremendous fire, I got the men under cover behind logs, &c., and endeavoured to keep down the fire of the enemy. I then charged the bush, but perceiving that it was occupied by a very large body of natives, I desisted, and got my men again under cover, and remained at this spot, until I received orders from Colonel Warre to retire gradually; which I did, occupying Alwyn's hill with the whole of my party, and we then retired in good order towards Poutoko.

I beg to bring to your notice the excellent conduct of the two officers with me, Ensigns Douglass and Down. The latter officer volunteered and with four men brought in the body of a wounded man under a very heavy fire. Drummer Dudley Stagpoole I would wish also to recommend most favourably to your notice: for, although wounded in the head, he twice volunteered and brought in wounded men. I cannot indeed speak too highly of the conduct of all my men; notwithstanding the superiority of the enemy in numbers, and the exceedingly heavy fire with which we were assailed, they were cool and collected and obedient to orders, which enabled me to retire with such slight loss, and in good order, in the face of a very large body of natives, who lined the whole belt of bush to my front.

New Plymouth, New Zealand,
SIR, October 2, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to report that, in accordance with your instructions, I proceeded at half-past ten A.M. this morning to the Poutoko Redoubt. On arrival there I was informed by Captain Wright, 70th Regiment, that a party under Lieutenant Mills, 57th Regiment, had proceeded to Hurford's Clearing early in the morning for the purpose of laying an ambuscade, and had come into contact with the natives, killing one and wounding several. I was also informed by Captain Wright that the redoubt had been fired on by the Maories, and that he had reason to believe that they were assembled in large numbers in the surrounding bush.

I immediately despatched a mounted orderly to Omata for reinforcements, and on their arrival, and on hearing that 100 men were on their road from town for my support, I proceeded in charge of the force detailed in the margin* in the direction of Hurford's Clearing, for the purpose of making a reconnaissance and ascertaining as nearly as possible the number and position of the enemy. On arriving at Gilbert's Clearing, barely a mile from the redoubt, a very heavy fire was opened upon my party from the surrounding bush, by which Ensign Powys, who commanded the advanced guard, and four men were wounded. I at once returned the enemy's fire, keeping my men as much under cover as possible ; but finding myself greatly outnumbered, I ordered my party to retire steadily towards the redoubt.

Learning, however, that 100 men of the 57th Regiment, under Captain Shortt, were advancing by the bush road towards the same spot, I advanced my men again, and (the enemy's fire being much weakened by Captain Shortt's attack on their right) drove them back from their position on the edge of the bush, which I then occupied—the natives still keeping up a heavy fire, which was returned by my men.

As the latter part of the operations was carried on under your own immediate supervision I will omit further details, but must beg to bring to your prominent notice the admirable conduct of the whole of the force under my command; and more especially I would wish to mention Ensign Douglass and Ensign Down, the latter officer having greatly distinguished himself by taking out a small party and bringing in a wounded man; also Ensign Powys, who behaved very well when in charge of the advance guard before he was wounded.

As the conduct of the parties of volunteers under Captain Atkinson and Captain Webster was brought under your immediate notice, I think it hardly necessary to state how satisfied I was with the valuable assistance they afforded me.

I regret to state that one man of the force under my command was mortally wounded, four dangerously, one officer and three men severely, and one slightly.

I have, &c.,

Commanding 57th Regiment.

New Plymouth, New Zealand,
SIR, September 30, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to transmit, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding, the accompanying Report from Captain Atkinson, the Senior Officer in command of the Volunteers organized to patrol the settlement, with a view to prevent the incursions of rebel Maories. It is with much pleasure I draw the Lieutenant-General's attention to the satisfactory result of this encounter between the Civilian Forces of this province and the rebel Maories, and to the persevering efforts of Captains Atkinson and Webster and the officers and men under their command, to carry out the important duties entrusted to them. In all weather and at all hours have these companies sought the enemy; and it is to their constant patrolling, not only the immediate vicinity of the town, but the outskirts of the settlement, that I attribute the little annoyance we have experienced from the presence of, it is now stated, some 500 of the rebels, who occupy strong positions on the edge of the bush, between the Bell Block Stockade and Mataitawa.

Captain Atkinson possesses all the energy and perseverance requisite to make him a first-rate "guerilla" leader, and he is most ably seconded by the officers he has trained, as well as by the non-commissioned officers and men who form his force. They have co-operated with the regular troops on several occasions, and I am much indebted to their exertions, their endurance of fatigue, and their willing cheerfulness in the performance of their arduous duties.

I am happy to state that no casualties occurred, although the escapes of several of the men engaged appear to have been marvellous.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Colonel Commanding, that this morning, at twenty minutes past three A.M., I left town with my own and Captain Webster's company of bushrangers, for the purpose of laying an ambuscade in the vicinity of the Bell Block. We planted, and remained in ambush till half past eight A.M., but without success. We then moved inland by the boundary line of the Bell Block, and upon reaching Street's Clearing, which is covered with high fern, we surprised a party of about thirty Maories. They returned our fire well for a few minutes, but very soon took to the bush, and then right away. We continued our march to Greenway's, where we surprised another party of about the same number; they also, after a short skirmish, made off as fast as possible. This party was apparently in waiting for a small escort from the Bell Block Stockade fetching firewood.

Knowing the strength of the natives in the immediate neighbourhood, I did not consider it prudent to follow up either of the parties, or to attempt to surround them, which could have been done in both cases had I felt certain of their numbers.

I believe we killed two, if not more, and wounded several.

We took six mats, two stained with blood, several havresacks and kits with food in, and one bag containing twenty-two leaden bullets.

There were no casualties I am thankful to say on our side, except one man (Rushton) just touched in the ear.

We reached town on our return at two P.M.

To Captains Webster and Messenger, to Lieutenant Jonas and Ensign Brown, and to Assistant-Surgeon Webber, my best thanks are due. The conduct also of the non-commissioned officers and men, upon whom so much depends on such occasions, was most satisfactory.

I have, &c.,

The Garrison Adjutant, Taranaki.

SIR, October 28, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint your Excellency, that on the afternoon of the 23rd instant, I received information from Lieutenant-Colonel Chapman, Commanding at Drury, that Lieutenant Lusk, Commanding the outpost at Mauku, had reported to him that a large body of the enemy had approached within a mile of Mauku Church, and that he had left the Stockade with part of his detachment, to endeavour to ascertain their strength. Lieutenant-Colonel Chapman stated, that he had sent a reinforcement of 80 rank and file, under Captain S. John, Waikato Militia, to Lieutenant Lusk's support.

At about eleven o'clock that night, I received further intelligence, that Lieutenant Lusk had incautiously engaged the enemy with his small force previous to the arrival of Captain S. John's reinforcement, and being greatly outnumbered, and attacked on both flanks, had been compelled to retire with loss.

I immediately ordered Lieutenant-Colonel Chapman to dispatch a reinforcement of 200 men (18th and 70th Regiments), under Major Ryan, to Mauku, with orders to attack the natives and drive them from the bush, and requested him to call upon Lieutenant-Colonel Nixon, to co-operate with part of the Colonial Defence Force from Papukura. I instructed Captain Rutherford, 70th Regiment, commanding a portion of Lieutenant-Colonel Nixon's column, which was encamped at Selby's, to move as rapidly as possible by Tuakau and Cameron to Pura Pura, with the view of intercepting the enemy, who were likely to attempt to recross the river at that point.

Lieutenant-Colonel Nixon and Major Ryan arrived at Mauku early on the morning of the 24th, and found that the natives had decamped from the neighbourhood. Captain Rutherford pushed on to Pura Pura as expeditiously as the marching through the bush at night would allow, but was too late to cut off the enemy's retreat.

I herewith enclose Lieutenant Lusk's report of the engagement. The force which this officer had at his disposal was too small to attack so large a body of natives, advantageously posted in the bush, with any prospect of success; but the gallantry which this officer and the detachment under his command displayed, in extricating themselves from a very critical position, is deserving of the greatest praise. The conduct of the officers and men of the Mauku Volunteers and Waikato Militia, on this trying occasion, was admirable.

I regret to say that two officers, Lieutenant Perceval and Lieutenant Norman, both of whom greatly distinguished themselves, and six men, were killed, and one man dangerously wounded.

Mauku Stockade,
October 24, 1863.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report that I started yesterday morning with a force as per margin,* to attack a body of the enemy who were shooting cattle on Mr. Wheeler's farm at the Ti-ti. An advance party of my force under Lieutenant Perceval got close up to the enemy's position under cover of the bush; when discovered they were hotly pressed by the enemy and retired skirmishing in good order on the main body without loss. I then advanced, having been joined by Lieutenant Norman and eight men. I drove the enemy through a strip of fallen timber on to open ground beyond; but seeing that they wheeled round into the standing forest, on my left flank, where they were largely reinforced, I deemed it prudent to retire: while re-crossing the fallen timber, the enemy numbering from two to three hundred, charged us from the bush on the left, and after about ten minutes very heavy firing at very short range (from ten to twenty yards), where both parties suffered severely, I being outflanked on both sides, retired into the forest on the right. The enemy did not venture to advance after we were under cover of the forest. I then reformed my men and retired leisurely on the Stockade. Our loss was one Lieutenant (Perceval), and five men killed, one man dangerously wounded, one Lieutenant (Norman), and one Private missing. The enemy's loss I believe to be about sixteen killed, and a large number wounded. Serjeant Hill and Private John Wheeler specially distinguished themselves by their determined gallantry under most trying circumstances.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. H. LUSK, Lieutenant,
Commanding Mauku Volunteers.

P.S.—I omitted to mention that Mr. Norman on the right, and Mr. Perceval on the centre, displayed great gallantry in endeavouring to stem the rush of the enemy, and fell fighting in front of their men.

(Signed) D. H. LUSK.

Eight hours later,—We have recovered the bodies.

Head Quarters, Queen's Redoubt,
My Lord, November 5, 1863.

IN continuation of my despatch of the 28th ultimo, reporting the arrival here of the steamer "Pioneer" and gun-boats, on the 27th ult., I have the honour to inform your Lordship that the following day was occupied in clearing her of stores, &c., and in landing two forty-pounder Armstrong guns at Whangamarino, which were placed in position to command the landing-place at Mere-Mere. These guns have been lent to the colony by the Sydney Government.

On the 29th I was enabled, in the "Pioneer," with Commodore Sir William Wiseman, to make a more complete reconnaissance than before of the enemy's works. They occupied them strongly on this occasion, and fired several rounds at the steamer from three guns, which they had in position. I found that the difficulty of landing troops rapidly for an attack, and the resistance to be expected from the nature of the defences, had not been over estimated, which induced me to make a further reconnaissance higher up the river, with the view of selecting some point at which a force could be landed to turn the enemy's position, while his attention was occupied in front by the steamer and gun-boats. I therefore proceeded again on the 31st up the river in the "Pioneer," with Sir William Wiseman, as far as Rangariri, and, having observed a point favourable for landing, about six miles above Mere-Mere, I arranged with the Commodore to embark the same night the force shewn in the margin,* with two twelve-pounder Armstrong guns.

* Royal Artillery—1 Captain, 41 Rank and File; Royal Engineers—1 Field Officer, 1 Captain, 9 Rank and File; 40th Regiment—1 Field Officer, 2 Captains, 5 Subalterns, 1 Staff, 10 Serjeants, 5 Drummers, 282 Rank and File;

The "Pioneer" and "Avon," with the four gunboats in tow, got under weigh at half-past two o'clock on the morning of the 31st, and reached the point fixed for the landing about six o'clock. No attempt was made to oppose the troops, who took up a commanding position about 400 yards from the bank of the river. As I proposed bringing up an additional force the following night, I ordered a breastwork to be constructed for the protection of the camp, which I left under the command of Colonel Mould, C.B.

During the afternoon of the 1st, whilst the necessary preparations were in progress for the conveyance of the remaining part of the force, the officer in command at Whangamarino reported that the natives were escaping in canoes up the Whangamarino and Maramarua rivers. I embarked at once in the "Pioneer," with 250 men of the 12th and 14th Regiments from the Koheroa, and on reaching Mere-Mere it was evident the enemy had abandoned his position. A party of 250 seamen under Commander Mayne, R.N., and the detachments from the Koheroa under the command of Colonel Austen, 2nd Battalion 14th Regiment, landed on the position, and were ordered to hold the ground during the night, which was occupied the following day by detachments of the 12th, 14th, 18th, and 70th Regiments, amounting to about 500 men, who are employed in throwing up a redoubt there.

The steamer "Pioneer" left this about ten A.M. on the 2nd, for the purpose of communicating with the camp at Takupetohetohe, and ascertained that about three o'clock on the morning of the 1st, a small body of natives fired upon the camp, inflicting no loss, and making off as soon as the guns were turned upon them.

I am greatly indebted for the success of the operations described above, to the cordial co-operation of Commodore Sir William Wiseman, and to the indefatigable exertions of the officers and men under his command.

I HAVE the honour to enclose to you, for the information of their Lordships, a letter received by me from his Excellency Sir George Grey, Governor-in-Chief of this colony, and its enclosure, addressed to his Excellency by Lieutenant-General Cameron, Commanding the Forces, requesting the aid of the navy in working the flotilla on the river Waikato, the present seat of the war in New Zealand.

2. The moment I received this request, I started for General Cameron's Head Quarters, established at a redoubt about 36 miles from Auckland, called the Queen's Redoubt, and which will form his depôt for provisions and basis of operation when he advances into the rebel country of the Waikato.

3. This redoubt is situated about 1½ miles from a river called the Mangatawarri, on the bank of which the party of seamen of the Harrier under Commander Sullivan, who have been working the boats, have formed their camp.

4. The General has established strongly stockaded posts on the opposite bank of the river, on the heights of Koheroa, and an advanced post on a creek, about 3 miles from Koheroa Heights, called the Whangamarino redoubt, which is about 2,400 yards from the enemy's strong position at Mere-Mere, and commands a good view of it.

5. The General accompanied me in a small steamer (the Avon, at present manned by the Harrier) up the Waikato, to reconnoitre the enemy's position of Mere-Mere; we steamed up to within 1,000 yards of it and anchored, remaining some time to make a careful reconnoisance; it is an exceedingly strong position on the rise of a hill of some 300 or 400 feet high, sloping gradually towards the river; it consists of two long rows of rifle trenches, communicating with one and other; the work commences a little below the crest of the hill on their left, and gradually nears the river, till about 200 feet of the bank, when the second line forms at an angle of about 15° or 20° with the first, and likewise gradually approaches the river till within 100 or 120 feet of it; there also appears a third row of rifle pits close to the river's bank, and it is said they have two old ship's guns mounted there.

6. The only way the General sees of attacking this strong position with a prospect of taking it, without a very heavy loss of life (and I quite agree with him), is by his being enabled to throw rapidly a large force of men on shore from the river bank, close under their pits, the landing being covered by the fire of as many guns as we can bring to bear from gun-boats, steamers, and from the advanced post of Whangamarino.

7. In accordance with the requisition made by His Excellency the Governor, I decided, after mature deliberation, to land as many officers and men of the ships present as could possibly be spared; and on the 17th instant, two companies of small-arm men, field-piece, crew and marines of the Curaçoa disembarked and marched to Onehunga, where part were embarked on board the gun-boat Pioneer (late Waikato), and the remainder proceeded to the front for the purpose of manning the smaller boats, &c.

8. On Sunday morning, the 18th instant, I left the anchorage at Onehunga, in the Pioneer, with the Eclipse and 4 iron-plated gun-boats in company, with the intention of proceeding to the Waikato, but shortly after leaving, the stays of one of the boilers of the Pioneer gave way, which obliged us to anchor under Puponga Point (near the Manukau Heads), to which place boiler makers from Auckland were obliged to come to make good the defects; the repairs and state of the Manukau bar detained us until the 24th, when we crossed the bar and proceeded to the Waikato, inside which river we anchored the same day.

9. On the 27th, everything being in readiness, the Pioneer and the 4 gun-boats proceeded up the river; very few natives were seen; when about three-quarters of the way up, we were fired on from the bush, but without any casualty, as no one was allowed to shew himself, being in the cupolas and down below.

10. The force now afloat on the river is composed as follows:—

Firstly. The Pioneer, an iron steamer built at Sydney, and lately brought across under convoy of the Eclipse, Commander Mayne, she is 150 feet long, engines of 40-horse power, and has 2 iron cupolas looped for musketry, as well as a 12-pr. Armstrong gun in each;

Secondly. The Avon, a small steamer of about 80 tons, 14-horse power, plated with $\frac{3}{8}$-inch iron.

Thirdly. 4 gun-boats, plated with $\frac{3}{8}$-inch iron, and armed with 1 Armstrong 12-pr. and a small cohorn.

Fourthly. Flats for conveying troops.

Lastly. Several other boats, such as gigs, whalers, &c., for general purposes.

11. I have taken command myself of the flotilla, having left the Curaçoa in all respects ready for sea, so that, if she is wanted, 48 hours will bring the men down and enable me to put to sea.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. S. WISEMAN, Commodore.

To the Secretary of the Admiralty.

Government House, Auckland,
SIR, October 12, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to enclose the copy of a Letter I have received from Lieutenant-General Cameron, C.B., representing that in a military operation now about to be undertaken upon the River Waikato a considerable number of sailors will be required to man the boats, to work the guns in them, and to aid generally in the landing of troops and otherwise; and that he therefore requests I will represent to you the necessity of the squadron under your command assisting in the proposed operation.

I entirely concur in these representations of the Lieutenant-General, and trust therefore that you will feel that such an exigency has in this case arisen as will justify you in undertaking the responsibility of landing such a number of officers and men from the squadron under your command as will enable the Lieutenant-General to carry out successfully the objects he has in view.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) G. GREY.

To Commodore Sir W. Wiseman, Bart., Commanding the Australian and New Zealand Station, &c., &c., &c.

Head Quarters, Queen's Redoubt,
SIR, October 11, 1863.

YOUR Excellency is aware that in the attack of the enemy's position at Mere-Mere, which I expect to be very soon in a position to undertake, a large number of flats and boats, in addition to the Avon and the iron steamer from Sydney, will be employed either in landing troops or in carrying guns to cover their landing, and that consequently a considerable number of sailors will be required to man the boats, and man the guns in them.

I have, therefore, the honour to request your Excellency will have the goodness to represent to Commodore Sir William Wiseman the necessity of the squadron under his command assisting in the operations to which I have referred.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

To His Excellency
Sir George Grey, G.C.B., &c., &c., &c.

Gun-boat Pioneer,
Off the Bluff, Waikato River,
SIR, November 5, 1863.

IN continuance of my letter of the 30th of October, reporting proceedings up to the 27th, I beg to state for their Lordships information, that on the morning of the 28th I proceeded in the Pioneer to the advanced post of Whangamarino, and landed the two 40-pounder Armstrong guns, assisting the Royal Artillery to get them up the heights and mounted.

2. On the 29th, at 1 P.M., I proceeded with the General and his Staff to reconnoitre the rebel position of Mere-Mere; we steamed up to within 300 yards of it and anchored, the rebels opening a heavy fire with the guns they had in position (supposed to be ship's carronades), and their rifles. The vessel was struck in many places by rifle bullets, and once by a shot from the big guns, fortunately without injury to the crew, who were kept closely under cover; we remained about two hours carefully examining the position and occasionally replying to their fire, when we returned to the anchorage at the Bluffs, stopping a short time at Whangamarino to try the effect of the 40-pounders' fire on Mere-Mere.

3. On the 30th, at half-past 9 A.M., I proceeded with the General and his Staff up the river to Rangiriri, the second line of defence chosen by the rebels; we found plenty of water the whole way up, and discovered their defences to consist of an earthwork with a ditch on each side, extending from the river Waikato to the Lake Waikare; this earthwork may be easily enfiladed by the steamers and gun-boats, and the rebels driven out. We returned to the Bluff about 5 P.M.; both on going up the river and returning we were exposed to a heavy fire from Mere-Mere, which place we were obliged to pass at 200 yards; the Engineer, Mr. Allen, was struck by a rifle bullet after passing through the iron protecting the engine-room, but was not hurt; we were also struck by a shot (a 7-lb. scale weight) from one of their guns, which penetrated the iron bulwark, and passed through to the centre of a cask of beef, where it lodged.

4. General Cameron arranged with me to take a large force up the river the same night to establish a post, or point of attack, on a height on the bank of the river about ten miles above Mere-Mere, and one and a half miles from the main road from Rangariri to that place. At midnight, therefore (30th), a military force 695 strong of all arms, with Lieutenant Henry McC. Alexander, Senior Lieutenant of Curaçoa, in charge of the crew of the 6-pounder field-piece of that ship, with their gun, two 12-pounder Armstrong guns of Captain Mercer's Battery, with provisions for the whole force for seven days and camp equipage, were embarked on board the Pioneer and the four iron-cased gun-boats, and the whole moved from the anchorage, attended by the Avon, at 3 A.M., passing the enemy's position shortly before daylight, receiving a heavy fire from great guns and small arms in passing, fortunately without receiving injury; by a little after noon of the 31st, the whole force with baggage, guns, stores, &c., was safely disembarked, and at 5 P.M. (they having entrenched themselves), the General re-embarked, and we returned to the anchorage at the Bluff, leaving one of the gun-boats to protect the landing-place at the new post.

5. It was noticed on returning that the rifle fire of the enemy was not so heavy as on the previous occasions.

6. The General and I now arranged for a further force of 500 rank and file being sent to join the advanced party, but hearing on the following day (Sunday, November 1st) that the enemy was leaving his position, we embarked immediately on board the Pioneer with a force of 250 sailors and a like number of soldiers, under the respective commands of Commander Richard C. Mayne, R.N., of the Eclipse, and Lieutenant-Colonel Austen, 14th Regiment, and proceeded at once to Mere-Mere, where the force landed without opposition, the place having been abandoned evidently in great haste: three guns, a small quantity of stores, and provisions were found in the works, which are of great strength; five canoes were also secured.

7. The party of sailors and soldiers were left in possession for the night, and the blue jackets were relieved the next morning by an equal number of soldiers.

8. I proceeded the same day (November 2) up the river above Rangariri to reconnoitre and communicate with the advanced post (Tuhua-pitoitoi), where I learnt they had been attacked the morning before by the enemy at daylight, without any results.

9. Three or four miles above Rangariri several large canoes with from 30 to 40 men in each, were observed crossing the river, fire was opened upon them at the extreme range of the 12-pounder Armstrong, which compelled them to land and seek refuge in a village, which was shelled by us for some time, when the evening closing in I returned to the Bluff, stopping to destroy a small village on the left bank from which we had constantly been fired at.

10. On the 3rd Mere-Mere was provisioned by the boats.

11. His Excellency the Governor accompanied by General Cameron and Staff went up to Mere-Mere in the Avon, returning in the afternoon.

12. On the 4th the Avon went up the river, under command of Commander Mayne, to reconnoitre and to bring back the baggage and guns from the advanced post of Tuhuapoitoitoi, General Cameron having decided in withdrawing the force from there and returned, having performed this service at 4 P.M.

13. The duties of the officers and seamen attached to the flotilla have been very arduous during these operations, the average working hours of the day having been 15 out of the 24, and I cannot speak in too high terms of the cheerful, steady manner in which both officers and men have performed their duties, without regular meals and frequently under fire.

14. I would beg to bring to their Lordships special notice the unremitting zeal with which Commander F. W. Sullivan, of the Harrier, has commanded the flotilla for the three months before I came up here; Sir George Grey and General Cameron have so often brought his name to their Lordships notice that I need scarce say anything further of his services during that period; since my assumption of the command he has acted as Chief of the Staff of the Naval Force, and the entire detail of the work of the seamen has been under his direction.

15. Commander Richard C. Mayne, of the Eclipse, and Commander H. B. Phillimore, of the Curaçoa, and, indeed, all the officers attached to the flotilla, have been unremitting in the zealous discharge of their duties, and my best thanks are due to them as well as to the seamen and marines.

16. I beg to enclose for their Lordships information, a tracing of the river Waikato from the Whangamarino (where the advanced post was until the establishment of the post at Tuhuapoitoitoi), to the highest point above Rangariri we have yet reached in the Pioneer; also a plan of the position of Mere-Mere, taken since our occupation of it.

17. The three guns found at Mere-Mere consisted of a 24-pounder and two 9-pounder carronades.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. S. WISEMAN, Commodore.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the regulation of the duties of postage," power is given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury from time to time, by Warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British postage, payable by law on the transmission by the post, of foreign or colonial letters or newspapers, or of any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant; and from time to time, by Warrant as aforesaid, to alter or repeal any such altered rates, and make and establish any new or other rates in lieu thereof, and from time to time, by Warrant as aforesaid, to appoint at what time the rates, which may be payable, are to be paid. And it is provided that the power thereby given should extend to any increase or reduction or remission of postage.

And whereas further powers are given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury by another Act of Parliament, passed in the eleventh year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for giving further facilities for the transmission of letters by post, and for the regulating the duties of postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post Office."

And whereas the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, by a certain Warrant in writing, under their hands, relating to the transmission by the post of (amongst other things) letters between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Nicaragua (the conveyance being by British packet-boat), and between any port in the Republic of Nicaragua and any of Her Majesty's colonies or any foreign country through the United Kingdom (the conveyance between the Republic of Nicaragua and the United Kingdom being by British packet-boat), and bearing date the 13th day of July, 1859, did fix certain rates and make and give certain orders, directions, and regulations relating to the transmission of such letters by the post.

And whereas it is expedient that the rates of postage upon letters now payable under the said recited Warrant should be altered, and that certain other rates should be made and fixed, and, for that purpose, that so much of the said recited Warrant as relates to the letters hereinbefore-mentioned should be repealed.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in exercise of the powers vested in us, in and by the said hereinbefore recited Acts and each of them, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do, by this Warrant, under the hands of two of us, the said Commissioners, by the authority of the statute in that case made and provided, order, direct, and declare as follows :—

1. On every letter not exceeding one-half of an ounce in weight, posted in the United Kingdom, addressed to the Republic of Nicaragua, or posted in the Republic of Nicaragua addressed to the United Kingdon, and transmitted by the post between any part of the United Kingdom and any part of the Republic of Nicaragua (the conveyance between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Nicaragua being by British packet-boat), there shall be charged and taken an uniform British rate of postage of one shilling.

2. On every letter not exceeding one-half of an ounce in weight, posted in or addressed to any part of the Republic of Nicaragua, transmitted by the post between any port in the Republic of Nicaragua and any of Her Majesty's Colonies, or any foreign country through the United Kingdom (the conveyance between the Republic of Nicaragua and the United Kingdom being by British packet-boat), there shall be charged and taken a British rate of postage of one shilling for the conveyance of every such letter between any port in the Republic of Nicaragua and any part of the United Kingdom ; and for the conveyance of every such letter between the port in the United Kingdom of the departure or arrival of the packet or ship conveying the same and the colony or foreign country to or from which the same shall be forwarded such a further or additional rate of postage as shall from time to time be charged and payable for British postage on letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted or delivered at the port in the United Kingdom, of the departure or arrival of the packet or ship conveying the same, and transmitted direct between such port and any such colony or foreign country, provided that in all cases where such additional rate includes both inland and sea services there shall be deducted from the said rate of one shilling the sum of one penny, in respect of the inland conveyance, under this clause, of every such letter sent through the United Kingdom.

3. All such respective letters so transmitted as hereinbefore in this Warrant mentioned if exceeding one-half of an ounce in weight shall be subject to the several further and additional and progressive rates of postage hereinafter mentioned (that is to say):—

On every such letter, if exceeding one-half of an ounce in weight and not exceeding one ounce in weight, there shall be charged, taken, and paid two rates of postage.

And on every such letter, if exceeding one ounce and not exceeding one ounce and one-half of another ounce in weight, three rates of postage.

And on every such letter, if exceeding one ounce and one-half of another ounce and not exceeding two ounces in weight, four rates of postage.

And for every additional half of an ounce in weight of any such letter above the weight of two ounces there shall be charged, taken, and paid one additional rate of postage, and every fractional part of such additional half of an ounce in weight shall be charged as an additional half of an ounce in weight, and each progressive and additional rate chargeable under this clause shall be estimated and charged at the sum which any such letter would be charged with under this Warrant, if not exceeding one-half of an ounce in weight.

4. Nothing herein contained shall be construed in anywise to annul, prejudice, or affect, any of the exemptions or privileges granted by or under the said hereinbefore recited Acts, or either of them, or by or under any other Acts of Parliament relating to the Post Office, or any of the privileges which officers, seamen, and soldiers employed in Her Majesty's service, are, by law, entitled to, of sending and receiving by the post, letters subject to the regulations and restrictions in respect of the same.

5. The respective letters transmitted by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, shall be subject to the several orders, directions, regulations, and rates of postage, respectively contained in a certain Warrant of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, under the hands of two of the said Commissioners, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, relating to redirected rates of postage upon letters and packets which shall be redirected and again forwarded by the post.

6. The several rates of postage on letters posted in the United Kingdom addressed to the Republic of Nicaragua, or posted in the Republic of Nicaragua addressed to the United Kingdom, and transmitted by the post between any part of the United Kingdom, and any part of the Republic of Nicaragua (the conveyance between the United Kingdom and the Republic of Nicaragua being by British packet-boat), and on letters posted in or addressed to any part of the Republic of Nicaragua, transmitted by the post between any port in the Republic of Nicaragua, and any of Her Majesty's colonies, or any foreign country through the United Kingdom (the conveyance between the Republic of Nicaragua and the United Kingdom, being by British packet-boat) payable under or by virtue of the said hereinbefore recited Warrant, of the 13th day of July, 1859, together with so much of the said Warrant as relates to the said rates of postage, and the regulations therein contained affecting the same shall be, and the same are hereby repealed.

7. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to extend to any letters sent between the Republic of Nicaragua and France, or sent otherwise than in closed mails between the Republic of Nicaragua, and any foreign country or British colony through France.

8. The several terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act, passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty.

9. The Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury may by Warrant under their hands duly made at any time hereafter, alter, repeal, or revoke any of the rates of postage hereby fixed or altered, or any of the orders, directions, regulations, and conditions hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other rates, orders, directions, regulations, and conditions in lieu thereof, and from time to time appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid.

This Warrant shall come into operation on the 1st day of March, 1864.

Whitehall, Treasury Chambers, the 18th day of January, 1864.

The Speech of the Lords Commissioners to both Houses of Parliament, on Thursday, February 4, 1864.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

WE are commanded to assure you that Her Majesty has great satisfaction in recurring again to the advice and assistance of Her Parliament.

Her Majesty is confident that you will share Her feeling of gratitude to Almighty God on account of the Princess of Wales having given birth to a Son: an event which has called forth from Her faithful people renewed demonstrations of devoted loyalty and attachment to Her person and family.

The state of affairs on the Continent of Europe has been the cause of great anxiety to Her Majesty. The death of the late King of Denmark brought into immediate application the stipulations of the Treaty of May, 1852, concluded by Her Majesty, the Emperor of Austria, the Emperor of the French, the King of Prussia, the Emperor of Russia, the King of Sweden, the King of Denmark, and afterwards acceded to by the King of Hanover, the King of Saxony, the King of Wurtemberg, the King of the Belgians, the King of the Netherlands, the Queen of Spain, the King of Portugal, and the King of Sardinia.

That Treaty declared that it is conducive to the preservation of the balance of power, and of the peace of Europe, that the integrity of the Danish Monarchy should be maintained, and that the several territories which have hitherto been under the sway of the King of Denmark should continue so to remain; and for this purpose it was agreed that in the event of the death of the late King and of his uncle Prince Frederick without issue, his present Majesty King Christian IX should be acknowledged as succeeding to all the dominions then united under the sceptre of His Majesty the King of Denmark.

Her Majesty, actuated by the same desire to preserve the peace of Europe which was one of the declared objects of all the Powers who were parties to that Treaty, has been unremitting in Her endeavours to bring about a peaceful settlement of the differences which on this matter have arisen between Germany and Denmark, and to ward off the dangers which might follow from a beginning of warfare in the north of Europe; and Her Majesty will continue her efforts in the interest of peace.

The barbarous murders and cruel assaults committed in Japan upon subjects of Her Majesty rendered it necessary that demands should be made upon the Japanese Government, and upon the Daimio by whose retainers some of those outrages were committed.

The Government of the Tycoon complied with the demand made upon them by Her Majesty's Government, and full satisfaction having been made, the friendly relations between the two Governments have continued unbroken. But the Daimio Prince of Satsuma refused to comply with the just and moderate demands which were made upon him.

His refusal rendered measures of coercion necessary, and Her Majesty regrets that while those measures have brought this Daimio to an agreement for compliance, they led incidentally to the destruction of a considerable portion of the town of Kagosima.

Papers on this subject will be laid before you.

The insurrection which broke out last year among some portion of the native inhabitants of New Zealand still unfortunately continues, but there is reason to hope that it will, before long, be put down.

Her Majesty commands us to inform you that She has concluded a Treaty with the Emperor of Austria, the Emperor of the French, the King of Prussia, and the Emperor of Russia, by which Her Majesty consents to give up the Protectorate of the Ionian Islands, and also agrees to the annexation of those islands to the Kingdom of Greece. This Treaty shall be laid before you. Her Majesty is also negociating a treaty with the King of the Hellenes for regulating the arrangements connected with the union of the Ionian Islands with the Kingdom of Greece.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

Her Majesty has directed the estimates for the ensuing year to be laid before you. They have been prepared with every attention to economy, and with a due regard to the efficiency of the public service.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Her Majesty commands us to inform you that the condition of the country is, on the whole, satisfactory. The revenue has fully realised its expected amount; the commerce of the United Kingdom is increasing; and while the distress in the manufacturing districts has been in some degree lessened, there is reason to look forward to an increased supply of cotton from various countries which have hitherto but scantily furnished our manufacturers with this material for their industry.

Her Majesty has directed that a commission shall be issued for the purpose of revising the various forms of subscription and declaration required to be made by the Clergy of the Established Church. A copy of that commission will be laid before you.

Various measures of public usefulness will be submitted for your consideration.

Her Majesty commits, with confidence, the great interests of the country to your wisdom and care; and She fervently prays that the blessings of Almighty God may attend your deliberations and prosper your councils for the advancement of the welfare and happiness of Her loyal and faithful people.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 3rd day of February, 1864.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Exeellent Majesty in Counell.

WHEREAS the rules and practiee observed for the purpose of preventing eollisions at sea, whieh were formerly adopted by maritime nations, have proved insufficient to satisfy the requirements of modern navigation ; and whereas various alterations in such rules and praetice have from time to time been made by different nations, but the rules so altered have been found to be in some eases inconsistent with each other, and in other cases to have the foree of municipal law only ; and whereas eertain regulations for the purpose aforesaid have been sanctioned by "The Merehant Shipping Act Amendment Aet, 1862," and are contained in the Table C, in the sehedule to that Aet ; And whereas for the purpose of eorreeting certain elerieal errors the said regulations have, in pursuanee of the provisions in the said Act contained, been modified by an Order in Counell bearing date the 9th day of January, 1863, and the said regulations, so modified, are appended to the said Order, and to this Order; And whereas by virtue of the said Aet and of the said Order the said regulations so appended as aforesaid, so far as relates to British and French ships and also so far as relates to certain other foreign ships when within British Jurisdiction, eame into operation on the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three ; And whereas it is provided by the same Act, that, whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that the Government of any foreign country is willing that the regulations for preventing collisions, contained in Table C in the schedule to the said Act, or such other regulations for preventing collisions as are for the time being in force under the said Act, should apply to the ships of such country when beyond the limits of British Jurisdiction, Her Majesty may by Order in Council direct that such regulations shall apply to the ships of the said foreign country, whether within British Jurisdiction or not. And it is further provided by the said Act that whenever an Order in Council has been issued applying any regulation made by or in pursuance of the said Act to the ships of any foreign country such ships shall, in all cases arising in any British Court, be deemed to be subject to such regulation, and shall for the purpose of such regulation be treated as if they were British ships: And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty, that is willing that the said Regulations appended to the said Order, and to this Order should apply to ships belonging to Denmark Proper, and to ships belonging to the Duchy of Schleswig, when beyond the limits of British jurisdiction:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue of the power vested in Her by the said recited Act, and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, is pleased to direct,

That the said regulations appended to the said Order in Council, bearing date the ninth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and to this Order, shall from the date of this Order apply to ships belonging to whether within British jurisdiction or not.

Denmark Proper, and the

FROM THE

SUPPLEMENT

LONDON GAZETTE of FEBRUARY 12, 1864.

Admiralty, February 12, 1864.

DESPATCHES, of which the following are copies or extracts, have been received from Commodore Sir William Wiseman, Bart., the Senior Officer of Her Majesty's Ships and Vessels on the Australian Station :

No. 21. Gunboat Pioneer, off Rangariri,
SIR, November 30, 1863.

I HAVE the honour to state for the information of my Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, that Lieutenant-General Cameron, Commanding the Forces in New Zealand, having determined to attack the rebel Maori position at Rangariri, I embarked 300 of the 40th Regiment on board this vessel, and proceeded at nine A.M., of Friday, November 20th, with the force named in the margin,* to Rangariri, so timing our arrival, that simultaneously with the appearance of the troops under General Cameron (who advanced by land from Mere-Mere), the gunboats in tow of Pioneer were placed in a position to enfilade the enemy's advanced work.

2. At 3·30 P.M., the pre-concerted signal between the General and myself having been made, the gunboats opened fire at the same time as the guns of Captain Mercer's Armstrong battery and the 6-pounder field piece of Curaçoa, under Lieutenant H. McC. Alexander and Mr. Thomas A. Watkins, Midshipman, from the land side.

3. The fire having continued for half an hour, the General signalled for the troops to be landed, so as to take the enemy in flank and rear, at the same time the guns ceased firing and the troops advanced to the assault with great impetuosity, the first line of works was carried immediately.

The 40th Regiment was landed from the Pioneer soon after the General attacked in front, when the Maoris abandoned the remainder of their works, with the exception of a small redoubt on the crest of the hill, which proved to be the key of the position.

4. Here some 200 of the enemy made a most resolute stand, and repulsed repeated assaults of the soldiers.

5. At about six P.M., the General requested me to send a party of seamen, armed with cutlasses and revolvers, to endeavour to carry the place by escalade; accordingly a force of 90 men, composed of the revolver men of Curaçoa, Miranda, Harrier, and Eclipse, under Commander R. C. Mayne, Lieutenants E. D. P. Downes, and C. F. Hotham, and Mr. S. A. R. Hamilton and F. E. Hudson, Midshipmen, attacked and twice were repulsed with heavy loss; a party of men with hand grenades, under Commander Phillimore, preceded the second assault, and succeeded in throwing their grenades from the ditch into the works.

6. By this time it was quite dark, and the General determined to wait for daylight to renew the attack, all escape for the enemy being completely cut off.

7. At 5·30 the next morning the enemy surrendered, and 183 prisoners were captured, with their arms; among them were many of the leading Chiefs of the Waikato tribes.

8. The casualties, both naval and military, on this occasion, have been, I am sorry to say, very great, especially among the officers.

9. I have to regret the loss of Mr. Watkins, Midshipman, of the Curaçoa, who was shot through the head and fell into the ditch at the first line of works, whilst gallantly leading his men to the assault; in him the service has lost a most promising young officer; here too Lieutenant Alexander, the Senior Lieutenant of the Curaçoa, was very severely wounded.

10. I have much pleasure in bringing to their Lordships notice the great gallantry displayed on this occasion by the Officers, Seamen, and Marines engaged.

11. Commander Sullivan, who acted as the chief of my staff, and greatly assisted me, placed the gun-boats in position in his gig, exposed to a heavy fire from both banks of the river; his boat was twice struck; he afterwards accompanied me with the storming party of seamen to General Cameron, and assisted in forming them, under a heavy fire.

Commander Sullivan has been now five months with the Flotilla on this river, the greater part of the time in command; his work has been very arduous, and he has frequently been under fire. I would beg again to bring his services to the notice of their Lordships for their favorable consideration.

12. Commander Mayne has also rendered great service in piloting the steamers up the river, and surveying it; he twice led the storming party of sailors against the enemy's works, the second time falling severely wounded by a musket-ball through the hip, so close to the enemy's works that grains of powder from the musket were found in his flesh.

13. Commander Phillimore gallantly led a party of seamen with hand grenades up the ditch to the foot of the parapet, and there threw them over, successfully.

14. Lieutenant Downes, Senior Lieutenant of Miranda, and Lieutenant Hotham, of Curaçoa, were severely wounded while assisting Commander Mayne to lead the seamen on to the first assault.

15. Lieutenant Alexander, Senior Lieutenant of Curaçoa, was very severely wounded when leading his men on to the assault early in the action; he was in command of the 6-pounder field-piece of the Curaçoa, attached to General Cameron's force, and assaulted with the troops.

16. Lieutenants Hill, of Curaçoa, Boughey, of Eclipse, Acting Lieutenant Hammick, of the Miranda, who commanded the gun-boats, and Sub-Lieutenant Easther, of the Harrier, who commanded the Avon, conducted their vessels to my entire satisfaction, and have been most useful throughout the operations.

17. I would also bring to their Lordships notice, the admirable conduct of Assistant-Surgeons A. B. Messer, of the Curaçoa, and Duncan Hilston, of the Harrier ; they were landed with the seamen and marines, and were indefatigable in their attention to the wounded, dressing them under fire.

Mr. Messer, when he heard of Mr. Watkins' fall, went up to the body which was lying in the ditch, close under the parapet of the enemy's work, to ascertain if he was alive or not ; finding him dead he returned to attend to the other wounded; he was accompanied both on his going and returning by William Fox, ordinary seaman, of Her Majesty's ship Curaçoa, and on both occasions exposed to heavy fire.

The wounded, both naval and military, were brought on board the Pioneer and Avon, and remained on board till landed at the Naval Camp on Sunday, the 22nd ; during this period Doctors Messer and Hilston were unremitting in their attention to them.

18. The other officers, seamen, and marines behaved most gallantly, and I have every reason to be proud of their good conduct and zeal ; they have constantly been at hard work for many hours out of the twenty-four, exposed to bad weather, and frequently without regular meals, notwithstanding which they have worked cheerfully and well.

19. I beg to enclose a list of casualties.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. S. WISEMAN, Commodore.

(No. 22.)

Gun-boat Pioneer, at Rangariri,
Waikato River, November 30, 1863.

SIR,

The General Commanding the forces having intimated to me that he was desirous of sending an expedition to the Thames, I directed Captain Robert Jenkins, of Her Majesty's ship Miranda, to take the Esk under his orders, and to receive such troops, stores, &c., on board those vessels as was considered necessary, and carry out the wishes of the General.

Accordingly, on the 16th instant, about 1000 men, composed of drafts from different regiments and Militia, under the command of Colonel Carey, of the 18th Regiment, with horses, ammunition, baggage, &c., embarked in the Miranda and Esk, colonial steamers Sandfly and Corio, and several cargo boats, and proceeded to the Thames.

Very strong westerly and north-westerly winds setting in, prevented the troops landing until the afternoon of 22nd, when they disembarked at a place called Hauraki, covered by the guns of the Miranda and Esk.

No opposition was encountered, and the troops marched to Pokorokoro, the Miranda p oceeding to the same place to land the stores.

At a point on the left bank of Pokorokoro Creek, a very strong position, defended by traversed rifle pits, was found deserted by the natives, evidently in great haste ; Captain Jenkins immediately landed the marines of the Miranda, and occupied the position for the night.

The Esk having landed her troops and stores, returned to Auckland on the 25th, where she is now refitting, not having had time to do so on her first arrival.

The object of the expedition to the Thames is to cut off the supplies sent that way to Paparata, and from thence through the country to the different positions held by the hostile natives.

The Miranda remains in the Frith of Thames, blockading that coast.

On the 25th the Eclipse returned to the Waikato heads, from which place she had arrived in the Manukau to complete with provisions and coal ; she will be employed whilst there in finishing the survey of the entrance to this river, also in putting together two iron steam launches, fitted with stern wheels, intended for service on the river (expected to arrive shortly from Sydney), likewise in guarding the entrance to the river, and checking hostile natives from crossing.

During the stay of the Eclipse in the Manukau, her crew re-erected the signal-staff on Paratutai, at the entrance of that harbour, which had been destroyed by hostile Maoris.

No place of sufficient security existing at Auckland to keep the Maori prisoners, His Excelency Sir George Grey, the Governor, requested that I would receive them on board the Curaçoa, as a temporary measure, to which I acceded, and they are now on board that ship, with a guard of 53 men of the 50th Regiment in charge of them, until a hulk can be fitted for their reception.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) W. S. WISEMAN, Commodore.

The Secretary of the Admiralty,
Whitehall, London, S.W.

No. 24.

Gun-boat Pioneer, off Kupa Kupa,
Waikato River, December 4, 1863.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report to you in continuance of my letter of proceedings of the 30th ultimo, that General Cameron having established a Commissariat and Transport Depôt at Mere-Mere, 7 miles in advance of the former depôt at Queen's Redoubt, with the intention of supplying the troops at Rangariri by land, the crews of the Waikato Flotilla have been employed in transporting stores by water from the camp at Mangatawhiri to that place.

2. The General, with a force of 850 men, advanced from his position at Rangariri yesterday, as far as Tipori, where he is now encamped.

3. The seamen have been employed in transporting the heavy baggage from Rangariri, in flats, up to the new position.

4. The two iron cupolas of this vessel have been taken out to lighten her, and yesterday I embarked and proceeded up the river as far as the present place, about 4 miles in advance of the troops.

5. A great deal of difficulty was experienced in getting up this far, in consequence of the fall of the river; in some part we were obliged to lighten the vessel by taking out her stores and placing them in flats alongside; one part we passed over a submerged forest and struck on 28 different stumps of trees.

6. The General intends embarking and proceeding with me up the river to reconnoitre the enemy's position at Agaruawahia, the residence of the so-called Maori King.

7. Nothing has been seen of the natives since the engagement at Rangariri, but they are supposed to be in force at the above-named place.

8. I have to report an omission in my despatch, No. 21, reporting the engagement at Rangariri, that Mr. Cecil G. Foljambe, Midshipman of the Curaçoa, was one of the storming party, under the command of Commander Mayne, of the Eclipse.

9. The wounded officers and men of the Waikato Flotilla are proceeding very satisfactory.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of FEBRUARY 19, 1864.

War Office, February 18, 1864.

THE Secretary of State for War has this day received Despatches from Lieutenant-General Cameron, C.B., Commanding Her Majesty's Forces in New Zealand, of which the following are copies:

Head Quarters, Rangiriri,
November 25th, 1863.

My Lord,

I HAVE the honour to report that a force consisting of 800 Infantry, Regulars, and Militia, and 50 Colonial Cavalry, embarked on the 16th instant, under command of Colonel Carey, 2nd Battalion, 18th Regiment, on board Her Majesty's ships "Miranda" and "Esk," and the Colonial steamer "Coris," with instructions to land at Hauratri, on the coast of the Frith of the Thames, and to march from thence upon Pukorokoro, a native settlement on the same coast.

I had received information that many of the marauding parties in the bush came from the Thames district, and that Pukorokoro was the point where they landed, and from whence they obtained supplies and reinforcements. I therefore directed Colonel Carey to take possession of the place, to seize all the canoes and provisions he could find, and to establish a post there.

Another object of the expedition was to make a reconnoissance of that part of the country, it being my intention to establish a line of posts between the Frith of the Thames and the river Waikato.

with the view of shutting the natives out from the bush on the south and east of Auckland, and thereby enabling me to withdraw or reduce a great many of the posts inside that line, which absorb a large number of men, but have hitherto been necessary for the protection of the settlements and of our line of communication through the bush.

The expedition was detained by bad weather till the 23rd instant, on which day the troops disembarked at Hauratri, and arrived the same evening at Pukorokoro without meeting with any opposition.

I herewith enclose a copy of Colonel Carey's report of his proceedings.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

The Right Honourable
The Secretary of State for War,
War Office, London.

Camp Pukorokoro,
November 24th, 1863.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, that the troops under my command reached this place at half-past six o'clock last evening, after a very harrassing march over a most difficult country, having left Huaratri at eleven o'clock.

The men were ashore by half-past eight o'clock A.M., and the horses at forty-five minutes past ten; each horse had to be landed separately.

The boats of the Royal Navy, under the command of Captains Jenkins and Hamilton, with the provision cutters, arrived off the mouth of the stream about the same time.

On landing it was found that the natives had recently held the position. The mouth of the river is staked across, and the entrance strongly defended by rifle pits (traversed), and others partially dug ; these were at once occupied by Blue Jackets, Royal Marines, and the Baggage Guards of the Troops, and the disembarkation of the camp equipage, &c., &c., commenced, and is now being continued.

On reaching the settlement here fires were found still alight in the Wharcs, boxes locked, furniture, cooking utensils, a bell-tent, and a bag of bullets, &c., &c., giving evidence of a hurried departure.

A whale boat, a war canoe, and other canoes, were also found in the neighbouring creeks.

Owing to the deep mud and the impracticability of the creek for ships boats, except at high water, the landing of the baggage, &c., will be very tedious.

I would strongly recommend two flat-bottomed boats, of very light draught, being sent here at once.

The site for the post has been chosen, and the redoubt will be commenced as soon as the " materiel " is landed and carried up the hill to the encampment.

The redoubt will require a small open work, on a hill a few hundred yards to the southward, which will command it, but which being very steep and more distant from the landing place, would not be a suitable site for the redoubt.

I purpose establishing a Commissariat Store immediately below the redoubt, upon a flat spot round which the creek runs, and on which supplies can be landed by small boats at high tide.

Being commanded by the redoubt, the Commissariat Stores will merely require a small guard over them.

The steam-ship "Corio" will return to Auckland to-night for the baggage horses. In the meantime I purpose reconnoitring the country towards Paparata, and fixing the site of the post, if necessary, midway.

I take this opportunity of bringing to the notice of the Commander of the Forces, the very efficient manner in which the disembarkation of the troops and horses was effected by the Royal Navy under Captains Jenkins and Hamilton, without loss or accident, and beg to testify to their extreme kindness and attention to the wants of the officers and men during the week of our detention off Waiheki Island, on board the "Miranda" and "Esk."

I have, &c.

(Signed) GEORGE J. CAREY,
Colonel Commanding Thames Force.

Quartermaster-General,

Commanding Expeditionary Force.

Head Quarters, Camp Rangariri,
November 26, 1863.

My Lord,

AFTER the evacuation of their position at Mere-Mere, reported in my last despatch, the rebel natives collected twelve miles higher up the Waikato River at Rangiriri, were, previous to the outbreak of hostilities, they had constructed a very strong line of entrenchment across the narrow Isthmus which divides the Waikato from Lake Waikare, thus completely barring the road up the right bank of the river.

Having reconnoitred this position in the "Pioneer," on the 18th instant, I determined on landing a force in rear of the line of entrenchment for the purpose of cutting off the retreat of the enemy simultaneously with attacking him in front.

With this view the head quarters 40th Regiment, 300 strong, under Colonel Leslie, C.B., were embarked on the 20th instant, on board the Colonial Steamers, "Pioneer" and "Avon," which, with four gunboats, proceeded up the Waikato, under command of Commodore Sir W. Wiseman, whilst with the force named in the margin* I moved towards Rangiriri, by the right bank of the river.

Both arrived near Rangiriri at the same time, 3 P.M.

I halted the troops under the brow of a hill 600 yards from the enemy's position, and formed them for the attack in the following order.

200 men of the 65th Regiment, under Colonel Wyat, C.B.,, on the right, one half in extended order, and the rest in support.

Between them, a detachment of the 72 men of the 65th Regiment, under Lieutenant Toker, with scaling ladders and planks ; Captain Brooke, with ten men of the Royal Engineers was attached to this part.

The detachment of the 1st Battalion, 12th Regiment, under Captain Cole, and 2nd Battalion

* General Staff—4 Field Officers, 1 Subaltern, 3 Serjeants; Royal Artillery—1 Captain, 1 Subaltern, 1 Assistant-Surgeon, 2 Serjeants, 1 Drummer, 45 Rank and File; Royal Engineers—1 Field Officer, 1 Captain, 12 Rank and File; 1st Battalion 12th Regiment—1 Captain, 3 Subalterns; 5 Serjeants. 2 Drummers, 100 Rank and File; 2nd Battalion 14th Regiment—1 Field Officer, 2 Captains, 4 Subalterns. 2 Staff, 8 Serjeants, 3 Drummers, 164 Rank and File; 40th Regiment—1 Captain, 3 Subalterns, 4 Serjeants, 2 Drummers, 75 Rank and File; 65th Regiment—1 Field Officer, 1 Captain, 6 Subalterns, 1 Assistant-Surgeon, 2 Staff, 15 Serjeants, 6 Drummers, 375 Rank and File. Total—7 Field Officers, 7 Captains, 18 Subalterns, 2 Assistant-Surgeons, 4 Staff, 37 Serjeants, 14 Drummers, 771 Rank and File.

4th Regiment, under Lieutenant Austen, pro-onged the line of skirmishers and supports to he left of the 65th Regiment.

Captain Mercer's two Armstrong Guns and the naval six-pounder Armstrong, under Lieutenant Alexander, of Her Majesty's Ship, "Curacoa," n the centre of the line of skirmishers. The de-achment of the 40th Regiment, under Captain Cooke, and the remainder of the 65th Regiment n reserve.

The enemy's works consisted of a line of high parapet and double ditch, extending, as I have before stated, between the Waikato and Lake Waikare, the centre of this line being strengthened by a square redoubt of very formidable construc-tion, its ditch being 12 feet wide, and the height from the bottom of the ditch to the top of the parapet 18 feet. The strength of this work was not known before the attack as its profile could not be seen either from the river or from the ground in front.

Behind the left centre of this main line and at right angles to it, there was a strong intrenched line of rifle pits facing the river and obstructing the advance of troops from that direction.

About 500 yards behind this front position was a high ridge, the summit of which was fortified with rifle pits.

As the left of the line of entrenchment could be enfiladed and taken in reverse by the fire from the steamers and gunboats, I selected that part of the enemy's works for the attack.

The skirmishers of the 65th Regiment were to cover the advance of the ladder party, and when the latter had succeeded in escalading the entrench-ment, were to follow with the support. The whole then bringing their right shoulders forward were to attack the line of rifle pits facing the river, and having driven the enemy out of it, were to storm the centre redoubt.

The 12th Regiment were to join in the attack on the centre redoubt, and the 2nd Battalion 14th Regiment, to keep the enemy in their front in check until the 65th and 1st Battalion 12th Regiment were in the redoubt.

The troops were hardly in position when the enemy opened a heavy fire of musketry on every part of his line, but without effect, the troops being under cover of the brow of the hill.

I had arranged with Commodore Sir William Wiseman that the guns attached to the force under my command and those of the gunboats should, on a pre-concerted signal, open fire at the same moment when the "Pioneer" and "Avon" should also land the 40th Regiment. But the strength of the wind and current rendered the steamers and gunboats almost unmanageable, and at half-past 3 o'clock, when I gave the signal, only one of the gunboats was ready to open fire, and the steamers were still far from the landing place.

After shelling the enemy's works for an hour and a half—the day being now far advanced, and there being little prospect of the remainder of the gunboats getting into position, or of the steamers reaching the landing place—I gave the orders for the assault.

The whole line of skirmishers and supports rushed eagerly down the slope of the hill, and advanced towards the entrenchment at as rapid a pace as the rugged and uneven nature of the intervening ground would admit, exposed the whole time to a destructive fire from the enemy. The skirmishers of the 65th Regiment having approached to within 50 yards of the entrenchment and the scaling ladders having been quickly planted under cover of their fire, the skirmishers and the adder party followed by the support, mounted the parapet, and forced their way over the enemy's first line, then wheeling to the left and charging up the hill, they carried the second line of rifle pits and continued to drive the enemy before them until their progress was checked by a deadly fire opened upon them from the centre redoubt, which the enemy appeared determined to defend to the last.

The remainder of the troops on the left, finding it impossible to penetrate the enemy's position on that side, joined the attack on the right, and with the 65th Regiment occupied positions round the central redoubt, almost completely enveloping the enemy.

Soon after the 65th had passed the main line of entrenchment, I had the satisfaction of seeing the 40th Regiment landing from the "Pioneer" and "Avon," not far from the spot I had selected. Colonel Leslie, without waiting for the companies to form, directed Captain Clarke to take the first 50 men who were landed, and attack the ridge in rear of the enemy's position, whilst he moved with 100 men round its base, for the purpose of intercepting the enemy. The ridge was carried at once, and a great number of the enemy were killed or drowned in endeavouring to escape across the swamp of Lake Waikare. A portion of the 65th Regiment, after passing the main line of entrenchment, joined the 40th in this attack.

Leaving a detachment to occupy the ridge, Colonel Leslie, with the remainder of his regiment, joined the force engaged at the central redoubt.

This work the enemy continued to defend with great tenacity and resolution. I ordered two successive assaults to be made on it, the first by the Royal Artillery, armed with revolvers, and led by Captain Mercer ; the second by 90 men of the Royal Navy, armed in a similar manner, and led by Commander Mayne, under the personal direction of Commodore Sir William Wiseman. Both assaults were made with great gallantry, but the formidable nature of the work, and the deadly fire directed on the assailants, rendered it impossible for them to effect an entrance. An attempt was afterwards made by a party of seamen, under Commander Philimore, H.M.S. "Curaçoa," to dislodge the enemy from the work by hand grenades, but without success.

It being now dark, I resolved to postpone further operations until daylight, ordering the troops to remain during the night in the several positions they had gained.

At daybreak Colonel Mould, C.B., Commanding Royal Engineer, suggested that a breach should be made in the redoubt by labour with the pick and shovel, and this operation was in progress when at about six o'clock the enemy hoisted a white flag, and 183 men surrendered unconditionally, and laid down their arms.

I enclose a list of our casualties.

Our loss has been severe, but not greater than was to be expected in attacking so formidable a position. The proportion of officers is large, most of them who led in the different attacks having been killed or severely wounded.

I deeply deplore, in common with all under my command, the loss the service has sustained in the death of Captain Mercer, Commanding Royal Artillery in this colony, who died from the effects of the wound he received whilst gallantly leading his men to the assault on the redoubt. I regard it as a serious misfortune that the force should be deprived at such a moment of the services of so able and energetic an officer.

The loss of the enemy must have been very heavy. We found 41 bodies in and about the works, and a great many were shot or drowned in their flight across the swamp. They must have removed their wounded during the night, as none were found among the prisoners.

I have been unable to ascertain the exact strength of the enemy at the commencement of the attack, but I think it could not have been less than 700.

I have every reason to be satisfied with the conduct of the whole of the troops engaged on this occasion. The 65th Regiment, under Colonel Wyatt, C.B., and the detachment Royal Engineers, under Captain Brooke, particularly distinguished themselves by the impetuosity of their attack on the left of the enemy's position, and were most gallantly led by their officers, amongst whom Captain Gresson and Lieutenant Talbot, with the skirmishers, and Lieutenant Toker, with the ladder party, were most conspicuous; also Lieutenant and Adjutant Lewis, 65th Regiment, who collecting a handful of men of his regiment together gallantly led them against the redoubt, and was severely wounded in the attempt.

The rapid and spirited manner in which the 40th Regiment, under Colonel Leslie, attacked and carried the ridge in rear of the position, reflects great credit on that corps.

The Royal Artillery displayed great daring and intrepidity in the assault on the central redoubt; Serjeant-Major Hamilton, and other non-commissioned officers and men standing on the top of the parapet and discharging their revolvers into the work.

Captain Brooke, R.E., was most active throughout the engagement, and after the asasult by the Royal Artillery on the redoubt this officer, with the assistance of Lieutenant Pickard, Royal Artillery, and men of the Royal Engineers, succeeded in masking with planks and earth a narrow opening in the parapet of the redoubt, through which the enemy kept up a deadly fire, and prevented the wounded who were lying close to the work, from being removed, amongst them Captain Mercer, R.A., Assistant-Surgeon Temple, R.A., here performed an act of courage and devotion to his duty worthy of record, by passing this opening for the purpose of attending the wounded, although the extreme danger of his doing so was pointed out to him, every man but one (Lieutenant Pickard) who had previously attempted to cross having been killed or wounded.

I am much indebted to the Commanding Officers of the various corps and detachments for the manner in which they carried out my instructions, and particularly to Colonel Mould, C.B., for his valuable advice and assistance.

I beg to bring to your Lordship's special notice the invaluable assistance afforded me by the Officers of the General Staff, Lieutenant-Colonel Carey, C.B., Deputy-Adjutant-General, Lieutenant-Colonel Gamble, Deputy-Quartermaster-General, and Lieutenant Colonel Sir Henry Havelock, Deputy-Assistant Quartermaster-General, and also by my two Aides-de-Camp, Major McNeil and Lieutenant S. Hill.

Deputy-Inspector-General Mouat, C.B., Principal Medical Officer, was in the field, and under his superintendence the wounded were promptly attended to, and carefully conveyed on board the steamers.

I cannot conclude this despatch without drawing your Lordship's attention to the part taken by the Royal Navy in this engagement, for the success of which I am greatly indebted to the cordial co-operation of Sir William Wiseman, and to the zeal and gallantry of the officers and men under his command.

I beg to mention the names of Commander Mayne, Her Majesty's ship "Eclipse," and Lieutenant Alexander, Her Majesty's ship "Curaçoa," who particularly distinguished themselves, the former in the assault which he led on the redoubt, and the latter in the first attack on the enemy's left, in which he joined with the greater part of his detachment. Both officers were severely wounded, as were also Lieutenant Downes, Her Majesty's ship "Miranda," and Lieutenant Hotham, Her Majesty's ship "Curaçoa," who were prominent in the assault on the redoubt.

Captain Lacy, commanding her Majesty's ship "Himalaya," accompanied me in the march to Rangiriri, and was present during the whole of the engagement.

14. In order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, any officer of the Post Office may delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours after the time at which the same ought to be dispatched in due course of the post, or (at his option) until the dispatch of the mail next after that by which the same ought in due course of the post to be forwarded by him.

15. The several packets transmitted by the post under the provisions of this Warrant shall be subject to the several orders, directions, regulations, and rates of postage respectively contained in a certain Warrant of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, relating to redirected rates of postage upon letters and packets which shall be redirected and again forwarded by the post, so far as the same are applicable to such packets.

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, beg leave to approach your Majesty with renewed assurances of loyalty to the Throne and affection towards your Majesty's Royal person.

The anticipations which in common with all other your Majesty's devoted subjects we ventured to entertain when last permitted to address your Majesty have been recently fulfilled by the birth of a Prince ; and it now becomes our duty to offer to your Majesty the sincere congratulations of this University.

With the liveliest feelings of gratitude and joy we have been assured from time to time of the safety of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales, and the uninterrupted health and well-being of the infant Prince. But our deep sense of thankfulness has been immeasurably increased by the conviction that this signal domestic blessing has contributed largely to your Majesty's own personal relief and comfort. In these most happy results we gladly trace the orderings of an All-wise and gracious Providence, ever watchful (as we humbly trust and pray) over your Majesty's welfare and happiness, affording also the promise of increased stability to your Royal House, and encouraging in the hearts of all your Majesty's subjects the fervent hope that the impress of your Majesty's wise and prosperous government may be transmitted in the persons of your Majesty's own descendants to the far distant future of our nation's destiny.

Given at our House of Convocation, under our Common Seal, this 11th day of February, in the year of our Lord God 1864.

MEMORANDUM.

The name of Lieutenant-Colonel Charles Wilson Austen, 2nd Battalion, 14th Regiment, was submitted to Her Majesty, and he would have been nominated a Companion of the Order of the Bath, had not his death been officially reported.

Whitehall, February 11, 1864.

The Queen, taking into Her Royal consideration that upon the death of Francis William, second Earl of Charlemont, in Ireland, and Knight of the Most Illustrious Order of St. Patrick, without issue, on the 26th day of December last, the Earldom of Charlemont devolved upon James Molyneux, now Earl of Charlemont, as being the eldest son and heir of the Honourable Henry Caulfeild, of Hackley, in the county of Armagh, sometime Knight of the shire for the said county, who died in the lifetime of his brother, the said

Francis William, Earl of Charlemont, and that according to the ordinary rules of honour the brother and sister of the said James Molyneux, now Earl of Charlemont, cannot enjoy that place, rank, and precedence which they would have enjoyed had their said father Henry Caulfeild survived and succeeded to the Earldom of Charlemont. Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to ordain and declare that Henry William Caulfeild, Esquire, and Margaret Zoe, wife of John Calvert Stronge, Esquire, shall henceforth have, hold, and enjoy the same title, place, pre-eminence, and precedence as if their late father, the said Henry Caulfeild, had succeeded to the said title and dignity of Earl of Charlemont:

And also to command that the said Royal concession and declaration be registered in Her Majesty's College of Arms.

Foreign Office, February 24, 1864.

The Queen has been pleased to approve of Don Feodomiro de Avendaño as Vice-Consul at Cardiff for Her Majesty the Queen of Spain.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and other your Majesty's Lieutenants for the city of London, humbly approach your Majesty with our warm and heartfelt congratulations on the recent happy addition to your Majesty's family by the birth of a son of the Prince and Princess of Wales.

We hail this important event, as being not only conducive to your Majesty's personal happiness, but by perpetuating the succession to the Crown of these realms in a direct line, as being fraught with the most important results to your Majesty's people, affording additional security that there will be continued to them the great blessings they enjoy under your Majesty's just and benevolent sway.

It is our fervent prayer that your Majesty may long continue to hold the sceptre of the British Empire, to be the guardian of your people's happiness, and to enjoy their gratitude and affection.

By order,
Henley Smith, Clerk and Treasurer.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:

"I thank you very sincerely for your loyal and dutiful Address of Congratulation on the birth of the Infant Prince, my grandson.

"It is very gratifying to me to be assured of your lively interest in an event which so nearly concerns the happiness of my family and the welfare of my faithful people."

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty,

May it please Your Majesty,

WE your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects. the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh, desire to offer your Majesty our humble congratulations on the birth of the Infant Prince, and the safety of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales.

We pray that the auspicious event which has thus crowned the hopes of the nation, may be a source of ever increasing happiness to your Majesty, as well as to the Royal parents, and that the young Prince may be enabled to preserve and to transmit to future generations the priceless treasure of a nation's love, won, not more by the benign sway than by the personal virtues of his Royal ancestors.

We hail the birth of the Prince as an additional guarantee for the preservation in the direct line of succession of the rule of your Majesty's Royal house, under which the country has been secured in the possession of civil and religious liberty, and all the elements of national greatness have received unexampled development.

We pray that your Majesty may long be spared to reign over this nation, enthroned in the affections of a great and free people, comforted by the love of a virtuous and happy family, and sustained by Almighty power in the discharge of every duty.

Signed in name and by appointment of the Magistrates and Council, and the Seal of the City affixed hereto, at Edinburgh, the 11th day of February, 1864 years.

Chas. Lawson, Lord-Provost.

Windsor Castle, February 27, 1864.

THIS day the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor of Dublin, and a Deputation from the City of Dublin, waited upon Her Majesty with the following Address, which was handed to Her Majesty:

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of Dublin.

May it please Your Majesty,

WE, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the city of Dublin, after a comparatively short period, again approach the Throne, to tender to your Majesty, on behalf of the ancient and loyal city of Dublin—the second city in the empire—our heartfelt congratulations at the auspicious birth of a Prince.

Since the gratifying duty devolved upon us of presenting an Address to your Majesty on the marriage of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, your Majesty's most loyal subjects have constantly felt that one event alone could add to the prospects of happiness that marriage conferred on your Majesty and this country, namely, the birth of an infant, and that infant a son.

It has pleased the Almighty Ruler of the universe to allow this hope to be realised, and we earnestly pray that your Majesty's life may be long spared, and that carefully brought up by his parents, assisted by your Majesty's maturer judgment and experience, this Prince may, in progress of time, when called upon to fill a distinguished position in this country, carry with him those high principles, and that spotless integrity, which have so justly endeared your Majesty and his late Royal Highness the Prince Consort to all your Majesty's faithful people.

Alexander Farquhar, Town Clerk.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:—

"I accept with great satisfaction the heartfelt congratulations which you offer to me on behalf of my ancient and loyal city of Dublin, on the auspicious birth of the Infant Prince, my grandson.

"It is most gratifying to me to receive on this occasion from all parts alike of the United Kingdom, renewed assurances of devoted loyalty and attachment to my person and family."

They were all very graciously received, and the Lord Mayor, and the Mover and Seconder of the Address, had the honour of kissing Her Majesty's hand.

Windsor Castle, February 27, 1864.

THIS day a Deputation from the body of English Presbyterian Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster waited upon Her Majesty with the following Address, which was handed to Her Majesty:

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Body of English Presbyterian Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster, sharing with loyal sympathy every joy or sorrow of your Majesty's House, desire to offer our heartfelt congratulations on the auspicious Birth of a Son to their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales.

While to the nation this happy event gives a new heir to so many virtues on and near the throne, and prolongs a line of sovereignty identified with the well-being of the state; and to the Royal Parents enriches their domestic life by a precious blessing and a sacred trust, we fervently pray that to your Majesty also this little child may be a fresh light of affection and hope. For the Infant Prince himself, as well as for those over whom he may be appointed to reign, we can frame no better wish than that his mind and character may be formed under such wise and patient guidance, such pure and lofty example, as have made the Royal House of England honoured throughout the world, and have secured at home an attachment surpassing loyalty.

That your Majesty may long be spared to see children's children rising around you, worthy, every one, of their great and good inheritance, and, in the midst of family blessings, may find a tranquil satisfaction in the discharge of high duties, and the prosperity and affection of your people, is our earnest supplication to the Supreme Giver of all good.

To which Address Her Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious answer:

"I receive with much gratification your congratulations on the birth of the Prince, my grandson; and your assurances of loyal sympathy in all that affects the happiness of myself and my family.

"I earnestly join in your prayer that by God's blessing this auspicious event may conduce to the interests and welfare of my faithful people."

The Deputation was very graciously received, and the Rev. J. Martineau and the Rev. Dr. Sadler had the honour of kissing Her Majesty's hand.

Whitehall, February 22, 1864.

THE following Addresses of Congratulation to the Queen, on the occasion of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales having given birth to a Prince, have been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart., Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, for Presentation, and have accordingly been presented by him to Her Majesty, who has been pleased to receive the same very graciously:

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Committee to whom the Conference of the People called Methodists in the Connexion established by the Rev. John Wesley, M.A., has confided the charge of its civil rights and duties, beg to approach the Throne with renewed assurances of loyal and devoted attachment to your Majesty's person and government, and on behalf of our United Societies throughout the empire, to offer to your Majesty our hearty congratulations on the birth of a son to their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales.

We rejoice in the prospect thus opened of the direct succession to the Throne of these happy realms in your Majesty's Royal House, and of the perpetuation of those Protestant Institutions in which we believe that our national safety lies, and while we humbly hope that the life and health of the Royal Infant may be long preserved, we would devoutly pray that the King of Kings would grant to your Majesty increasing comfort, joy in your children's children, and peace throughout the kingdoms over which we trust that your Majesty will long continue to reign.

With the sincerest feelings of loyalty and affection, we afresh commend your Majesty to the perpetual blessing of Almighty God.

Signed in behalf of the Committee,

George Osborn, D.D., President of the Conference, Chairman.

WHEREAS notice has been duly given to me, as one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, that the Local Government Act, 1858, was adopted by the township of Tickhill, in the West Riding of the county of York; and whereas appeal has been duly made to me by owners and ratepayers within the township aforesaid against such adoption of the said Act within such township. MY LORD, February 23, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to enclose a translation of the regulations which have been published by the Danish Government relative to the Blockade of the enemy's harbours and the capture of the enemy's and suspected vessels by the Danish cruizers.

These regulations appear to be drawn up in conformity with the principles of the Declaration of the Congress of Paris, of April 16, 1856, which was adhered to by the Danish Government in June of the same year.

I have also the honour to enclose a translation of the regulations relative to the adjudication of matters concerning the capture of hostile or suspected vessels.

REGULATIONS RELATIVE TO INQUIRY INTO, AND ADJUDICATION OF, MATTERS CONCERNING CAPTURE OF HOSTILE AND SUSPECTED VESSELS.

Under date of 13th February, 1864, the following temporary law has been issued through the Ministry of Marine:—

make known:

As a draft of a law respecting inquiry and adjudication of matters concerning capture of hostile or suspected vessels could not be laid before the Rigsraad until the breaking out of hostilities, we have found it necessary, in accordance with section 59 of the fundamental law in common matters of the Kingdom of Denmark and the Duchy of Sleswig, to issue the necessary regulations through a temporary law. In accordance with the proposal of our council of ministers, we hereby order as follows:—

Section 1.

For the purpose of instituting the necessary inquiry into matters concerning the capture of hostile and suspected vessels, it is hereby ordered that a Court of Inquiry shall, during the present hostilities, be established in every jurisdiction in which there is a harbour. Such Court of Inquiry shall, as regards Copenhagen, be formed by the Director of the Maritime Court, and in the other jurisdictions by the lower Court of each place. All that passes in the Court shall be duly entered in a protocol authorised by the Court itself. The writing shall be done, in Copenhagen, by the Secretary of Justice of the Maritime Court, and in other places by the Clerk of the Lower Court, and according to circumstances, with the assistance of special persons appointed by the respective judge. In Copenhagen and at the Lower Courts, where a special clerk has been appointed by the King, no witness is required; otherwise a respectable man of age, appointed and paid a suitable fee, should be present as witness. The Court may be held at any time and at any place in its jurisdiction.

Section 2.

The Prize Master has, as soon as he arrives in a Danish Port with a captured vessel, to report himself immediately to this Court of Inquiry. The Court shall then, without delay, commence the examination of the master, his crew, and passengers, together with the prize master and his crew. The examination shall be carried on with the greatest possible despatch, and the Court shall take special care that the crew and passengers of the captured ship are examined without delay. When the examination of the ship's crew and the passengers has taken place, they will be at liberty to go where they like in the country, provided further examinations do not specially prevent them.

Section 3.

Should the Court find that they cannot carry on the examination without assistance, they shall apply to the respective chief local authorities where there is a Court; and if in Copenhagen, then they shall apply to the Ministry of Justice, who, upon request, will furnish them with one or more lawyers as examiners.

Section 4.

The object of the Court of Inquiry is to obtain the most exact and complete information in the matter, for which purpose they possess all the authority of a local Court of Inquiry. The Court are, during the examination, carefully to protect the interests of the prize as well as of the public, and specially, before closing the examination, to request the owner to declare if he wishes any further information, or if he has any remarks to make before the matter passes to the adjudication of the Court of Admiralty. At the same time it should be stated that the matter will be treated in the Court of Admiralty without any further special notice.

Section 5.

As regards the ship and cargo, the Court of Inquiry have to appoint two sworn and capable men to take an exact inventory. As regards the cargo, the ship's papers only concerning the same should in general be used as a guide, as no discharge shall take place unless it is found necessary for the preservation of the cargo, or unless the Court have good reason to suspect inaccuracy, which might be discovered on discharging.

Section 6.

When the matter has been settled by the Court of Inquiry, the necessary copy of the protocol of the Court and other documents concerning the matter, shall immediately be transmitted to the Admiralty Court. Upon request of the master of the captured vessel, he may be furnished with a copy of the examination.

Section 7.

For the purpose of deciding matters respecting captured vessels in the first instance, an Admiralty Court is until further notice established at Copenhagen, which shall consist of a legal Director and two other members, of which the one shall be an officer of the Royal Navy, who is or has been in the service, or in the place of such officer another naval man, all to receive their appointments from the Minister of Marine. The Court itself to appoint a clerk. The matters to be transacted on behalf of the public by the Chief Attorney of the Navy.

Section 8.

As soon as the Admiralty Court have received the documents respecting the examination in a matter concerning capture from the respective courts of inquiry, they shall immediately forward them to the Chief Attorney of the Navy for his further investigation. He shall then, or at latest within eight days after receipt of such documents, give his opinion in writing, as regards the principal case as well as with respect to the expenses, &c. However, when circumstances render it necessary, the Court may, upon request, grant a short respite, and in such case an enquiry will be made at the adjudication of the matter how far such a respite was necessary. In case the person concerned does not either personally, or by his agent, appear at the public meeting of the Court on the day appointed by the Director of the Court, the matter shall immediately pass for adjudication. In contrary case the parties appearing will have an opportunity of making themselves acquainted with the opinion of the attorney produced in the Court, when they can either apply to have any remarks, which they may have to make upon the subject, entered on the protocol, an application which shall immediately be complied with by the Chief Attorney of the Navy, or they can, if necessary, demand time to reply to it, which shall be allowed, and which shall not in general exceed eight days. In the following meeting of the Court the matter shall pass for adjudication after the Chief Attorney of the Navy has made himself acquainted with the reply; and if he finds it necessary, he shall enter his reply upon the protocol. Should the Court require further information in the matter, they shall order it to be obtained, after which the matter shall be treated in a similar way for a final decision, only that the further remarks which any of the parties may have to make must be made on the spot, and entered in the protocol of the Court, without allowing any respite for such purpose. The sentence shall then be passed within eight days unless special circumstances should prevent it, which shall then be stated in the Acts of Sentence.

Section 9.

As soon as the sentence has been passed, the Chief Attorney of the Navy shall immediately cause the same to be inserted in the "Berlingske." A copy of the sentence shall also, without delay be forwarded by the Admiralty Court to that Court which has commenced the examinations. This Court will have to deliver to the master of the captured vessel, or to his agent, a copy of the sentence, for which the said master must give a proper receipt. If the master has left the place without having reported to the Court the name of the agent who is to act for him, then he has himself to blame for not receiving a copy of the sentence. On announcing the sentence it shall be made known to the person concerned that in case he wishes to appeal against the same, he shall declare it within three days to the Court from which such sentence was issued. When the Court of Inquiry have received such a declaration, they shall immediately inform the Admiralty Court of it.

Section 10.

The sentences passed by the Admiralty Court can be referred to the Upper Admiralty Court. Respecting the organization of this Court, as well as its proceedings, the instructions of April 30th, 1806, and other resolutions attached to them should be followed.

Section 11.

When sentence has been passed by the Admiralty Court, it shall without delay transmit a complete copy of the sentence to the Ministry of Marine, which shall decide whether, in cases where the master of the captured vessel does not appeal against the sentence, such appeal should not be made on the part of the public, which should be decided in the course of three days after the receipt of the documents.

In case the Chief Attorney of the Navy, on the part of the public, appeals against the sentence, the appeal shall be made within eight days after the receipt of the copy of the sentence, and despatched without delay in order to be served. But if the master of the captured vessel wishes to appeal, he shall do so within four weeks after the issue of the sentence, when he shall cause his summons to be served to all parties concerned, and it must be distinctly observed that if this be neglected the sentence passed shall remain in force.

Section 12.

If the matter be not appealed against by either of the parties concerned, the sentence shall immediately be considered in force.

Section 13.

When a captured vessel shall be declared free by the sentence of the Admiralty Court, and the Master, notwithstanding the appeal against the sentence, desires to manage the ship and cargo, he shall be allowed to do so, on giving security in full for the value of ship and cargo. All questions respecting this matter shall be decided by the Admiralty Court within 24 hours, which decision cannot be liable to further appeal.

Section 14.

When a condemned ship or a condemned cargo is to be sold, such sale shall take place in public.

Section 15.

Fees to the Court in matters concerning captured vessels shall, as regards the Court of Inquiry, be calculated according to the general table of fees of the Lower Courts. The fees at the Court of Admiralty shall be calculated according to the rules of the Court of Justice in Copenhagen, where strangers' suits are summarily adjudged, and of the Upper Admiralty Court, according to the instructions of April 30, 1806, iii. section 19.

All persons shall conform to the above.

Regulation Respecting the Blockade of Enemy's Harbours, and Capture of Enemy's and Suspected Vessels by Danish Cruizers.

I. Respecting Blockade of enemy's harbours.

1. An enemy's harbour is blockaded when it is closed by one or more ships of war, in such a manner that no trading vessel, without apparent danger of capture, can run in or out of the same.

2. When the Commander of the blockading vessel has arrived on the station, he is to announce the Blockade by an open circular to the Consuls of all the Powers at the place, and demand of them that all neutral vessels which are at the time in the harbour in question shall state a term within which they can quit the harbour; and if the term appears reasonable, and is not afterwards exceeded, he is to let such vessels pass out of the harbour unmolested.

3. It is enjoined on the pilots in the Sound and Belts to communicate to the masters of the vessels which make use of their services a copy of the Regulations which may be published concerning the Blockade; the names of the vessels to which such communication has been made must be immediately reported by the Pilots to their superiors. It is His Majesty's will, that force shall in no case be used towards neutral vessels unless they, after being informed of the blockade, attempt to break it. The clearing of a ship for a blockaded port, or her course towards it, is therefore not sufficient ground for the capture of a neutral vessel, nor even the attempt to break the line of blockade as long as there is reasonable ground for supposing the neutral vessel to have been ignorant of the blockade at the time such attempt was made, owing to the shortness of the time elapsed since the Declaration and the Notification of the Blockade. But in this case the Commander of the blockading force is to inform the vessel in question, in a friendly manner, of the blockade, and, after having notified it in the ship's papers (viz., the document which serves as a proof of the vessel's nationality), to dismiss the vessel without capture, and allow it to pursue some other course unmolested.

4. Should the vessel after such warning again attempt to break the blockade, or if either on account of the time since she left her last port, or from other reasons, it may be inferred that the vessel must have been aware of the existence of the Blockade, she will be considered, by the attempt to run into the port, to have broken the Blockade, and is, therefore, liable to capture.

II. Respecting the capture of enemy's and suspected vessels.

Capture can only be made by the King's ships, and their Commanders are bound, so far as lies in their power, to take and capture—

(a.) Ships the property of hostile powers, or of their subjects, laden with enemy's goods, but neutral goods on board an enemy's ship are free, with the exception of contraband of war.

(b.) Ships which, in opposition to the regulations laid down in Section 4, attempt to break the Blockade with their freight, without reference to their nationality or quality.

(c.) Ships whose neutrality is not properly legitimatised, in accordance with Section 9 of these regulations, or against which there may be well grounded suspicion, for any other cause mentioned in Section 10.

7. Ships belonging to neutral powers or their subjects—whoever may be the owner of the freight—cannot be captured if the ship's papers and bills of lading are found to be in order, and the ship is not freighted with contraband of war destined for the enemy, nor are they subject to capture according to Section 6.

8. No ship can be stopped or captured in neutral waters.

9. The papers which must be found in order on board neutral vessels are those which by the laws of the ship's country are required to prove its nationality.

10. Suspected vessels to be stopped and brought in for adjudication are—

(a.) The ships which have duplicate, or in all probability false, papers.

(b.) Ships without papers, and ships which may be known to have thrown their papers overboard, or in any other way destroyed them, especially if this has taken place after the cruizer came in sight.

(c.) Ships which do not bring to on summons from the cruizers, or which resist the search of places in which contraband of war or ship's papers may be supposed to be concealed.

11. Are considered lawful prizes—

(a.) Ships belonging to hostile States o their subjects.

(b.) Ships freighted entirely with contraband of war, whereas, if only a part of the freight is contraband, the captain can, by discharging it of his own free will, either on the spot or in the nearest port, escape capture, and after discharging continue his course with the rest of the cargo.

c. Ships which forcibly resist being stopped.

d. Danish vessels recaptured from the enemy.

Suspected vessels treated of in Section 10 are subject to the same regulations as the ships mentioned in the last paragraph, so long as the suspicion concerning them is not removed.

12. Are considered contraband of war (in Sections 7 and 11)—

Cannons, mortars, spingals, every kind of weapon, bombs, grenades, balls, detonating caps, matches, powder, saltpetre, sulphur, cuirasses, armour, saddles and bridles, and all articles which can be directly used in war, exceeding the amount of such articles as may be required for the defence of the ship or her crew, provided the above-named articles are destined for an enemy's port.

13. When a cruizer meets a trading vessel not under convoy, the Commander shall hail the master and command him to come on board with his ship's papers. If these are found to be in order, he is immediately to let the vessel continue her course unmolested. If he find on the other hand that there are grounds for suspicion of illegal or of fraudulent conduct, he is to send an officer on board to investigate the matter more thoroughly. During this visitation he must not open or break open cupboards, lockers, cases, boxes, barrels, tubs, or other places wherein any of the cargo may be stowed, nor arbitrarily search what is lying loose in the ship. But if he has suspicion that contraband of war or suspicious papers are concealed anywhere, he shall cause the master of the vessel to open the places of concealment, regarding which suspicion may be raised. Any officer acting contrary to the above instructions makes himself responsible.

14. Neutral merchant ships under convoy of a man-of-war of a neutral Power are not subjected to visitation, but a declaration given by the commander of the convoy, that the papers of vessels under convoy are in order, and that they have no contraband on board, will be sufficient.

15. If a ship is captured, the captor must, under the same responsibility as is laid down in section 13, neither sell, exchange, or in any other way dispose of or lose any of the cargo, but he must, with the aid of the master or helmsman of the captured vessel, as far as lies in his power, seal or lock up the whole cargo.

The ship's papers are to be placed in an envelope by the captor, and sealed by the commander and the master. The ship is next to be brought, with the cargo unopened (unless the master consents, with a view to its preservation, to having it opened), to some Danish Port of Entry, or to the nearest place where the captor may expect military protection. The ship cannot be taken to other or foreign places, unless storm, bad weather, want of provisions, or hostile pursuit, makes it necessary, and even in this case the captor is bound, without breaking bulk, as soon as circumstances permit, to take the vessel to a Danish Port of Entry.

16. But if the cargo consists of perishable goods, or the ship, on account of damage received, cannot continue its voyage, the captor shall be permitted, on his own responsibility, or with the master's consent, to order what is considered best for the ship and cargo.

17. Immediately on arriving at a Danish Port with the captured vessel, the captor shall report himself to the Prize Court, which is appointed by section 1 of the Provisionary Law of the 13th instant respecting the investigation and adjudication of matters concerning hostile or suspected vessels.

III. Relative to the Treatment, &c., of the crew of captured vessels.

18. The crew of a captured vessel is to be maintained and cared for at the expense of the Royal Treasury, until judgment has been pronounced in the matter, but the master of the vessel must pay down caution money for the expenses already incurred, after judgment has been given in the first instance, if it is on his part that an appeal is demanded, as if the decision is given against him in the High Court of Admiralty, he has to refund the expenses connected with the appeal.

19. The crew found on board a captured and condemned ship are to be received by the authorities of the place and sent to the nearest fortress as prisoners of war, if the captured men are enemy's subjects. Subjects of friendly or neutral powers are to be handed over to their respective Consuls.

20. A copy of these Regulations must always be produced on demand on board every cruizer.

But on a special report being made to the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty by the Commander of such Drill or Gunnery ship in the United Kingdom, or by the Captain of such ship abroad, to the effect that a Lieutenant or Sub-Lieutenant of the Reserve is competent to instruct and drill men of the Reserve, then such Lieutenant or Sub-Lieutenant will be required to undergo seven days' test drill each year, and if such test drill is performed to the satisfaction of the officer superintending the drill, the further twenty-one days will be dispensed with; but if the seven days' test drill is not satisfactory, the further twenty-one days drill must be performed.

At the Court at Windsor, the 1st day of March, 1864.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act passed in the session of Parliament, held in the thirteenth and fourteenth years of Her Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for facilitating the Union of Liberties with the Counties in which they are situate," it is enacted that where it shall seem expedient to the Justices of any Liberty, or to the Justices of the county in which any Liberty is situate, that the union of the Liberty with the county in which the same is situated should be effected under this Act, it shall be lawful for such Justices in General or Quarter Sessions assembled, to resolve that a Petition shall be presented to Her Majesty, praying that such union take place, and thereupon to adjourn the further consideration of such Petition until notice thereof shall be given, as thereinafter described; and that previously to the consideration of any such Petition, notice of the resolution of such Justices shall be advertised in a London newspaper, and also in some newspaper circulating in the county to which the Liberty is proposed to be united, for three successive weeks, and shall also (unless the Clerk of the Peace of the county and of the liberty is the same person) be given to the Clerk of the Peace of the county, in case the resolution shall be the resolution of the Justices of the Liberty, or in case the resolution shall be the resolution of the Justices of the county, to the Clerk of the Peace of the Liberty, and such notice shall be so advertised and given by the Clerk of the Peace of the county or Liberty the Justices of which shall come to the resolution, and shall men-ion the time and place when the Petition for nion will be taken into consideration by the Justices of the county or Liberty coming to the esolution; and the said Justices shall confer with any person who shall attend the meeting of he said Justices for that purpose, and who shall appear to the said Justices to be interested in the natter of the said Petition touching the said Petition, and such other circumstances as shall appear to the said Justices fit to be considered in effecting a union of the Liberty with the county under the provisions of this Act; and such Petition (which shall set forth the reasons upon which the same is founded, and also the terms and conditions upon or under which it is desired that the union shall take place, and particularly the mode in which the gaol and other property of the Liberty and the debt, if any, charged on the rates of such Liberty, is proposed to be dealt with, and the nature and amount of compensation, if any, to be paid to any Custos Rotulorum, Hereditary Sheriff, Clerk of the Peace, Coroner, Treasurer, or other person holding or entitled to any permanent franchise or office in or belonging to the said Liberty, and in what manner such compensation is proposed to be raised and paid, and such other matters and things as are proper to be provided for on the union of the Liberty with the county) shall be certified to Her Majesty under the hand of the Chairman of the Justices present when such Petition shall be agreed to.

And it was also enacted, that where any such Petition as aforesaid as well of the Justices of the county as of any Liberty situate therein, shall be certified as aforesaid to Her Majesty, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty, if she shall think fit, with the advice of Her Privy Council, after taking into consideration such Petition, and also any other Petition which may be presented to Her by any person concerning any proposed union of the Liberty with the county, to order the union of such Liberty with the county from such time, upon such terms and conditions, and subject to such restrictions, and generally in such manner as to Her Majesty, with the advice aforesaid, shall seem expedient.

And whereas, in pursuance of provisions aforesaid of the statute aforesaid, the Justices of the Peace for the West Riding of the county of York, assembled in General Quarter Sessions of the Peace, at Wakefield, in and for the said riding, on Tuesday, the fifth day of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, have presented a Petition to Her Majesty, setting forth that there exists within the West Riding of the county of York a Liberty called the Liberty of Cawood, Wistow, and Otley, consisting of fifteen townships or places, namely, Cawood, Wistow, Baildon, Burley, Denton, Esholt, Farnley, Guiseley, Hawkesworth, Lindley, Menston, Newall-with-Clifton, Otley, Poole, and Timble Little, which Liberty, by virtue of the Statute passed in the session of Parliament held in the sixth and seventh years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, chapter eighty-seven, intituled "An Act for extinguishing the Secular Jurisdiction of the Archbishop of York and the Bishop of Ely in certain Liberties in the Counties of York, Nottingham, and Cambridge," is now vested in Her Majesty, Her heirs, and successors; that such Liberty has a separate Commission of the Peace, but is not an incorporated borough; that it was resolved by the Justices of the Peace for the said riding, assembled at the Quarter Sessions of the Peace, held at Leeds, in and for the said riding, on Tuesday, the twentieth day of October last, that it seemed expedient to the Justices of the Peace of the said riding, that the union of the said Liberty of Cawood, Wistow, and Otley with the said West Riding, in which riding the same liberty is situated, should be effected, under the said Act of the thirteenth and fourteenth years of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and five ; and it was also further resolved and ordered, that a Petition should be presented to Her Majesty, praying that such union should take place, and that the further consideration of such Petition should be adjourned until this Quarter Sessions, and that in the meantime notice should be given of the intention to take such Petition into consideration by the Justices of the said riding at this Sessions, at Wakefield aforesaid, as required by the said Act of the thirteenth and fourteenth years of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and five, section two ; that, in pursuance of the said resolution and order, and in conformity with the said Act of the thirteenth and fourteenth years of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter one hundred and five, notice by the Clerk of the Peace of the said West Riding has been duly advertized in the London "Times" newspaper, and also in the "Leeds Mercury," and "Leeds Intelligencer," being respectively newspapers circulating in the said West Riding, for three successive weeks previously to the holding of this Quarter Sessions ; and notice has also been duly given by the said Clerk of the Peace of the said West Riding to the Clerk of the Peace of the said liberty, that the said resolution and order would be taken into consideration at this Sessions, being the time and place mentioned in the said resolution and order, and to which the further consideration of the said Petition was adjourned ; that the reasons upon which the Petition was founded, and the terms and conditions upon or under which it is desired that the union of the said Liberty with the said West Riding shall take place, are the following :—

1. That there is no gaol or other property of the said Liberty, and no debt charged on the rates of such Liberty to be dealt with ;
2. That the said townships or places of Cawood and Wistow, part of the said Liberty, are situated at a distance of about thirty miles from Otley and the other parts of the said Liberty, and have been for some time and are now, in fact and in practice, separated from and independent of the said Liberty ; That no business arising within the townships or places of Cawood or Wistow is ever transacted in Petty Session or in Quarter Sessions of Justices of the Peace for the said Liberty ;
3. That the said townships or places of Cawood and Wistow form, in fact, a part of the said West Riding, as being parcel of the Lower Division of Barkstonash, in the said riding, and that the inhabitants of the said two townships or places always transact their Petty Sessional business in the said Lower Division of Barkstonash, and their Quarter Sessions business at the Quarter or intermediate Sessions held for the said riding ;
4. That the thirteen other townships or places above mentioned are all within and form part of the Petty Sessional Division of Otley, one of the Petty Sessional Divisions of the said riding, which said Petty Sessional Division of Otley consists of twenty-nine townships ;
5. That all the fifteen townships or places constituting the said Liberty are rated, and contribute to the rates of the said riding in the nature of county rates ;

6. That Sessions of the Peace, for the trial of persons charged with felony or misdemeanour, are held every six weeks for and within the said riding ;
7. That the Sessions of the Peace for the said Liberty being only held once in each quarter, (and then on the same day as the Quarter Sessions of the said riding), the persons committed for trial on such charges by the Justices of the Peace of the said Liberty, have frequently to remain in prison before trial for a much longer period than when committed for trial at the sessions of the Peace for the said riding, and on their trial are unable to obtain, without great expense and inconvenience, the assistance of members of the bar, whose duties require their attendance at the riding sessions ;
8. That very few appeals can by law be tried at the Liberty Sessions, and, in fact, for a long period none have been tried there, and that the business of the Quarter Sessions for the said Liberty is so small as not to justify the summoning and attendance of jurors and other officers and persons at such Quarter Sessions, or the expenses of holding such Quarter Sessions separate and apart from the Quarter Sessions of the said riding ;
9. That at the last seventeen Quarter Sessions for the said Liberty an aggregate of only eleven prisoners has been tried ;
10. That all persons remanded for examination by the Justices of the Peace for the said Liberty are confined, during such remand, in the lock-up at Otley, belonging to the said Riding, and that all persons committed for trial by such Justices on charges of felony or misdemeanour are confined until trial in the house of correction at Wakefield, in and for the said Riding ;

11. That although there is a separate Commission of the Peace for the said Liberty, the Justices of the Peace for the said West Riding have and exercise concurrent jurisdiction with the Justices of the Peace for the said Liberty, but all Justices of the Riding acting for the Otley Petty Sessional Division not being Liberty Justices when Liberty cases are being heard, they can take no part in the proceedings, and that all or nearly all the acting Justices of the Peace for the said Liberty are also Justices of the Peace for the said Riding;
12. That there is no place belonging to the said Liberty in which Sessions of the Peace can be held, and that a room has to be hired for the purpose of holding such Sessions, the expense of which is paid out of the funds of the said Riding ;
13. That there is no rate for the said Liberty in the nature of county rate to defray any of the expenses of summoning juries, or connected with the holding of the Quarter Sessions for the said Liberty, or any other charges or expenses connected with the said Liberty ;
14. That all such expenses and charges are borne by and paid out of the county rates of the said Riding ;
15. That the Custos Rotulorum of the said West Riding is, by virtue of the said Act of the sixth and seventh years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, chapter eighty-seven, section six, the keeper of the records of the Court of Sessions of the Peace of the said Liberty ;

That there is no Hereditary Sheriff, Coroner, or Treasurer for the said Liberty ; that the only persons holding or entitled to any permanent franchise or office in or belonging to the said Liberty are Henry Newstead, the Clerk of the Peace of the said Liberty, and James Dawson, the Chief Bailiff thereof; that the compensation to be paid to the said Henry Newstead on the union of the said Liberty with the said county has been fixed at the sum of thirty-two pounds (for life) per annum, and the compensation to be paid to the said James Dawson on the said union has been fixed at the sum of thirteen pounds (for life) per annum, the said respective sums as compensation to be paid by half-yearly payments, and to be raised and paid out of the rates of the said Riding, levied and collected in the nature of county rates; that the administration of justice would be facilitated by the union of the said Liberty with the said Riding, and there no longer exists any valid reason why the peculiar privileges heretofore belonging to the Liberty of Cawood, Wistow, and Otley should not now be extinguished, and that its inhabitants, receiving equally with the other inhabitants of the West Riding the benefit of the organization of police and accommodation for sessional purposes, should have at the expense of the Riding a Quarter Sessions of their own; and praying that Her Majesty, with the advice of Her Privy Council, would take the Petition into consideration, and order the union of the said Liberty of Cawood, Wistow, and Otley with the said West Riding of the county of York, from such time, upon such terms and conditions, and subject to such restrictions, and generally in such manner as to Her Majesty with the advice aforesaid should seem expedient: which Petition was certified to Her Majesty, under the hand of the Chairman of the Justices at the Sessions when the said Petition was agreed to.

said Petition into consideration, is pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered, that the union of the said Liberty of Cawood, Wistow, and Otley with the said West Riding of the county of York shall take place on the twenty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, upon all and every the terms and conditions set forth in the said Petition, upon and under which it is desired in the said Petition that the said union shall take place.

Board of Trade, Whitehall, March 4, 1864.

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs the following copy of a despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Hamburgh: —

My Lord, March 1, 1864.

THE following additional information respecting the lights on the east coast of Sleswig and Holstein has reached me this morning from a reliable quarter in Kiel.

The light at Bülek, the principal night-signal for navigation on the headland at the north-east entrance of the bay, still burns regularly. The light on the sandbank, close to Friedrichsort, has ceased, on account of the beacon in which it was fixed having been destroyed by ice.

The light in the fortress of Friederichsort, which usually burned when the beacon-fire could not be lighted, is not now burning, but this is not considered of much importance to the navigation. The light inside the harbour of Kiel, near the baths, is, I understand, not usually lighted in the winter season.

In Holstein there is only one other light-house on the east coast, namely, St. Mary's Light, on the Island of Fehmarn, which continues to burn.

On the east coast of Sleswig the principal light-house is at Kekeniskoi, in the Island of Alsen, and is still in possession of the Danes.

It thus appears that the only light which has ceased to burn since the Prussians have occupied Sleswig, is that at Friedrichsort.

The blockade of the east coast, although officially published at Copenhagen, has not yet been notified to the Foreign Consuls resident at Kiel.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) JOHN WARD.

NOTIFICATION to Ships passing the Batteries of the Jade Bay.

WHEREAS the Batteries belonging to the Royal Prussian Establishment on the Jade have been armed and have hoisted the Flag of War, all sailing vessels must henceforth pass the same under shortened sails and hoist their national flag. All steamers must pass at half speed, and must likewise show their national flag. When vessels are hailed by an Ordnance Boat bearing the Prussian flag, they must instantly heave to or stop and obey the orders of such Ordnance Boat. Vessels which do not obey such orders will be reminded first by a blank shot, and if that also remains unnoticed then by a shot with ball. The same proceeding will be adopted when vessels passing the Batteries after sunset omit to carry the lights which are prescribed by law.

These rules shall come into force on the day of their publication.

War Office, March 14, 1864.

THE Secretary of State for War has received Despatches from Lieutenant-General Sir D. A. Cameron, K.C.B., Commanding the Troops in New Zealand, of which the following are copies:

Head Quarters, Camp Tuhi Karamea,
MY LORD, Waipa, January 4, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to report that on the 2nd of December I moved from Rangiriri up the right bank of the Waikato, with 850 men, and arrived on the 7th at Rahinpokeka. On the 8th and 9th the force was conveyed up the river in the "Pioneer," and landed at Ngaruawahia, a distance of about ten miles. No opposition was offered to our advance between Rangiriri and Ngaruawahia, though the latter place was found to be very strongly entrenched. On the 28th December, the force moved up the Waipa to Whata Whata, and on January 1st, 1864, to this Camp, about sixteen miles from Ngaruawahia.

My progress has necessarily been slow owing to the difficulty of supplying even so small a body of troops as that under my command at so great a distance from Auckland.

There are so many shoals in the Lower Waikato at this season of the year, that neither the Pioneer nor Avon can be used for the transport of supplies below Rahinpokeka. Between that post and Rangiriri these are conveyed in flat bottomed row boats.

The strength of the current renders this a most laborious service, but it is performed with zeal and cheerfulness by the officers and men of the Royal Navy, under the personal superintendence of Commodore Sir William Wiseman, to whom I am greatly indebted for his indefatigable exertions in bringing up troops and supplies, as well as for the cordial assistance he at all times affords me in carrying out my plans.

The Waipa, though a deep river, is too narrow and winding for so long a vessel as the "Pioneer," and the "Avon" is at present my only means of transport above Ngaruawahia.

The natives have assembled in great force in our front, and have constructed very strong earthworks on all the tracks leading into the interior. I am bringing up reinforcements and collecting supplies and means of transport as quickly as possible, and hope to be able to resume operations in a few days.

I have thought it desirable to open a communication between this post and Raglan, a small European settlement on the West Coast, having a good harbour not more than 20 miles distant from the Waipa River, and to which there is at present only a bush track ; I have, therefore, directed the 50th Regiment and a detachment of 300 Waikato Militia, the whole, under Colonel Waddy, C.B., to embark at the Manukau for Raglan, where the greater part have already arrived. These troops will be employed in improving the track and rendering it practicable for Infantry and pack horses, so that in case of need reinforcements may reach me in a few hours, but until a good road is made this line can only be occasionally used for supplies.

In a former despatch, 29th ultimo, I reported to your Lordship that a force of 800 men, under Colonel Carey, 2nd Battalion 18th Regiment Royal Irish, had landed on the coast of the Firth of the Thames, and taken possession of Pukorokoro. I enclose a copy of a letter from Colonel Carey, from which you will perceive that the objects of the expedition were successfully accomplished. A chain of posts has been established from the Thames to the Waikato, and has already had the effect of clearing the bush to the south and east of Auckland, of the marauding parties, which previously infested it.

I have further to report that Colonel Warre, C.B., commanding the troops in the Taranaki district, made an attempt to surprise the enemy's position in the Kaitake ranges, near New Plymouth.

The plan, though well concerted, failed. The bush road through which the party advanced to take the position in rear, was imperfectly known, and the Officer in command after advancing some distance, finding that he could proceed no further without risk of discovery, very properly withdrew his men, in accordance with his instructions. The expedition therefore returned to New Plymouth, without having come into collision with the enemy.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

The Right Honourable
The Secretary of State for War,
War Office, London.

Camp, near Paparata,
December 5, 1863.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding, that the remainder of the force under my command (after establishing posts at Pukorokoro, "Miranda" Redoubt, and at Maiapi "Esk" Redoubt) reached this yesterday evening, and encamped within a few hundred yards of the Paparata stockade.

A portion of the force marched to the latter place this afternoon (having been prevented from doing so by heavy rain in the morning), cut down the stockade, and set fire to the whares, which were capable of holding some 700 natives.

The enemy must have evacuated the place some time since.

The position is not one suited for a redoubt, being commanded by a hill in rear, with a deep, wooded gully intervening, it is likewise out of the direct line of communication from the other Thames posts to the Waikato posts, and not visible from the Esk Redoubt.

I have, therefore, decided on building a redoubt on this hill, which commands a fine view of the country as far as Waikari Lake, including the Queen's Redoubt and adjacent posts on the west and "Esk" Redoubt, and a portion of the Thames Firth on the east. Thus, a system of telegraph by signal may be at once established between the Thames and the Waikato.

Subject to the approval of the Commander of the Forces, I have named this redoubt "Surrey," having the head-quarters of the 70th Regiment encamped here.

As Captain Greaves, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, is sending you a report of the nature of the defences of the late Paparata stockade, it is needless for me do so.

The rifle pits I purpose having filled in on Monday next.

I forward to the Deputy Adjutant-General a state shewing the present distribution of the force under my command.

A party of the defence force under Mr. Macdonald proceed with this mail to the Queen's Redoubt, from whence I have to request some oxen may be sent to this camp, so that the troops may obtain some fresh meat, having been on salt provisions since they left Auckland, on the 16th of last month, with the exception of one day's fresh meat procured at Pukorokoro.

I have, &c.

(Signed) GEORGE F. CAREY,
Commanding Field Force.

Colonel Gamble,
Deputy Quartermaster-General,
Head-Quarters.

Head Quarters, Tuhi Karamea,
MY LORD, Waipa, January 5, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to forward herewith the enclosed Resolutions passed by the Legislative Council and the House of Representatives of New Zealand.

I have, &c.,
D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

The Right Honourable
The Secretary of State for War, &c., &c., War Office.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 18, 1864.

Foreign Office, March 17, 1864.

EARL RUSSELL, K.G., Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has received the following Despatch from His Excellency Lord Bloomfield, G.C.B., Her Majesty's Ambassador at Vienna, forwarding a copy and translation of the regulations issued by the Austrian Government, with regard to the capture and detention of enemy's and suspected ships, in consequence of the hostilities between Denmark and the German Powers.

My Lord, Vienna, March 10, 1864.

I HAVE the honor to inclose herewith, in copy and translation, an Imperial Decree relative to the stoppage, by Austrian men-of-war, of ships belonging to the enemy or of a suspicious character.

I have, &c,

BLOOMFIELD.

Right Hon. Earl Russell, K.G.,

(Translation.)

ORDER of the Departments of Foreign Affairs, Justice, Commerce, War, and Marine, of the 3rd March, 1864, relative to the capture of hostile and suspected vessels by Austrian ships of war, in consequence of the hostilities ordered by the Danish Government against Austrian and Prussian merchant ships, and against the merchant ships of the other German Federal States.

§ 1. The capture of hostile and suspected vessels, in conformity with the first paragraph of the Declaration dated at Paris, the 16th April, 1856, which prohibits privateering (Reichsgesetzblatt of the year 1856, No. 69), shall be made by ships of the Imperial Navy exclusively, and the commanders of these ships are bound to capture the vessels hereunder designated:—

a. Ships belonging to the hostile States or to the subjects thereof.

b. Ships whose neutrality is not properly legalized (§ 4) or which appear to be suspicious, according to the provisions of this Order (§ 5).

§ 2. Ships belonging to neutral powers, or to the subjects thereof, to whomsoever the cargoes may belong, may not be captured, provided that

a. The papers relative to the ship and cargo be in order ;

b. The ship be not laden with contraband of war intended for the enemy, or

c. Be not otherwise subject to capture according to the provisions of the foregoing paragraph.

§ 3. No ship shall be detained or captured in neutral waters.

§ 4. The neutrality of a ship is proved by the papers which are prescribed as necessary to legitimize its nationality by the laws of the country of the ship in question.

§ 5. The following are to be stopped as suspicious, and captured for investigation :

a. Ships which have two sets of papers, or papers probably false ;

b. Ships which have no papers, or which are ascertained to have thrown them overboard, or otherwise destroyed their papers, especially when this has taken place after the cruizer was in sight ;

c. Ships which do not bring to when summoned by the cruizer, or which resist the search into holds or lockers, in which it may be presumed that contraband of war or papers may be concealed.

§ 6. The following are to be regarded as good prizes :—

a. Ships belonging to the hostile State or to hostile subjects, as also enemies property on board such ships ;

Neutral property on board enemies' ships, which is not contraband of war, according to the fourth paragraph of the above-mentioned declaration, dated at Paris, the 16th April, 1856, cannot be regarded as good prize ;

b. Neutral ships, the whole of whose cargo consists of contraband of war (compare § § 2 and 7) ;

If only part of the cargo be contraband the master of the ship may himself avoid capture if he, of his own accord, discharges the contraband on the spot, or in the nearest port. After the landing has been effected the ship may proceed with the remainder of her cargo. The contraband of war is to be regarded as good prize ;

c. Ships which forcibly resist detention ;

d. Austrian ships which have been taken by the enemy, and retaken from them, unless these can be considered as Reprize ;

e. Ships captured as suspicious (§ 5), when the suspicion to which they are subject is not cleared up.

§ 7. The following articles are declared to be contraband of war, but only when they are intended for enemies' ports:—Cannons, mortars, swivel-guns, all sorts of weapons, bombs, grenades, balls, percussion caps, slow-match, gunpowder, saltpetre, brimstone, cuirasses, articles of armour, saddles and bridles, and in general all articles which can be applied immediately to the uses of war, with the exception of a supply required for the defence of the crew and ship, and adequate for such purpose.

§ 8. On meeting a merchant ship which is not sailing under convoy, the commander of the cruizer shall summon the same, and require the master of the ship to come on board with the ship's papers.

If there be then no reasonable objection he shall not prevent the ship from continuing her voyage. But if the commander of the cruizer finds grounds for reasonable suspicion of any illegal circumstance or fraudulent proceeding, he is to send an officer to examine more closely into the circumstances. In this examination the detaining party is not to open or break any closed rooms, casks, chests, cupboards, closets, cases, or other receptacles, nor shall he arbitrarily examine into the part of the cargo, which lies loose in the ship. But if a suspicion exists as to any concealed contraband of war, or compromising papers, the examining officer shall cause the master to open the suspected rooms or places of concealment.

Any Officer who may offend against these provisions shall incur responsibility for the same.

§ 9. Neutral merchant ships, sailing under the convoy of ships of war of a neutral power, are not liable to search. In these cases it is sufficient that the chief of the convoy should declare the papers of the convoyed ships to be in order, and that they have no contraband on board.

§ 10. The captor on his own responsibility, shall not land, or sell, or exchange, or in any way remove or cause to be lost any part of the cargo of a captured ship. He is on the contrary, in concert with the master or pilot of the captured ship to place the whole cargo, so far as possible, under seal and lock.

The ship's papers are to be put by the captor into an envelope, which shall be sealed with his official seal, and with the seal of the captured ship.

The ship shall then, with her cargo unopened (unless the master of the ship consents to its being opened, with a view to its preservation), be taken to an Austrian port, or until it is possible to remove it to such a port, to the nearest place where the captured ship can be taken into military custody. The ship is not to be taken to other places, unless tempest, weather, want of provision, hostile pursuit, or other maritime exigency shall make it necessary. Even in this case, the captor must, as soon as circumstances permit, take or send the ship, with her cargo unbroken, to the nearest port where there is a competent Prize Court.

§ 11. But when the cargo consists of merchandize easily spoilt, or when the ship cannot continue her voyage owing to damage, the captors shall be allowed, on their own responsibility, or with the assent of the master, to take such steps as may be most advantageous to the ship and cargo.

§ 12. As soon as the captor reaches an Austrian port with the captured ship, he is to report the same without delay to the Prize Court appointed for investigating and adjudicating, in order that it may institute the proper proceedings to exercise its functions. This announcement is to be made in the same way if the captured ship is brought to another port, where there is a competent Prize Court.

§ 13. The commander who shall act in contravention of the above provisions made for the security of neutral shipping, or who shall abuse his power to the injury of the same, shall be made responsible, and may in addition to this, be called upon to make compensation for damage illegally caused.

§ 14. The crew of a captured ship shall be maintained and supported at the expense of the Imperial Treasury, until the final judgment be given in the matter. But if the ship-master lodges an appeal against the sentence pronounced in the first instance, he shall give due security for the amount of the costs which he may be called upon to pay in the event of the loss of his suit in a higher court.

§ 15. The crew of a captured and condemned ship is to be given up to the local authority, and the hostile subjects found among them are to be treated as prisoners of war. The subjects of friendly and neutral powers are to be given over to their respective Consuls for further disposal.

§ 16. A copy of this Order shall always be kept on board every imperial cruizer.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter 96, for the regulation of the duties of postage, certain scales of weight and rates of postage were fixed and made chargeable and payable upon, for, or in respect of letters, newspapers, parliamentary proceedings, and printed papers transmitted and forwarded by the post, and various regulations were made for facilitating the transmission of such letters and papers by the post. 6. No pattern or sample being of any intrinsic value, or being an article or thing of a saleable nature, or having a value of its own, apart from its mere use as a pattern or sample, shall be transmitted by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant.

7. There shall be no enclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor any other enclosure, not authorized by this Warrant, sent in or with any such packet.

8. There shall be no writing or printing in or upon any such packet, or on the cover thereof, except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender thereof, a trade mark, and number and price.

9. All such packets shall be sent in covers, open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Nevertheless samples of seeds, drugs, and such other articles and things as cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bags of linen, or of other material; but bags so closed that they cannot be readily opened, even although they be transparent, shall not be used for that purpose.

10. If any packet sent or tendered or delivered, in order to be sent by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, shall in length, or breadth, or width exceed the dimensions of two feet, or shall exceed the weight of three pounds, or shall consist wholly of patterns or samples of any intrinsic value as in the sixth clause of this Warrant mentioned, or if there shall be any writing or printing in or upon any such packet, or on the cover thereof, except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender thereof, a trade mark, and number and price, or if any such packets shall not be sent in covers open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination (except samples of seeds, drugs, and such other articles and things as cannot be sent in open covers, and which may be enclosed in bags of linen, or of other material), or in case of bags being used, if such bags shall be so closed that they cannot be readily opened, every such packet shall be chargeable, and shall be treated in all respects as a letter.

11. If any packet sent or tendered or delivered, in order to be sent by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, shall contain any enclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other enclosure not authorized by this Warrant, every such enclosure may be taken out by any Officer of the Post Office, and either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be forwarded to the address on the packet, charged not only with the full rates of postage as an unpaid letter, but also with a further and additional rate of postage, equal in amount to the single rate of postage, chargeable under the provisions of this Warrant, on a packet not exceeding four ounces in weight, and the remainder of the packet, if duly prepaid by stamps, may be forwarded to the place of its address without any extra charge.

12. The postage of all such packets as aforesaid posted in the United Kingdom shall in every case be paid at the time of the same being posted, not in money, but by being duly stamped with the proper postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which stamp or stamps shall in every case be affixed, or appear on the outside of every such packet, near the address or direction, and shall be of the value or amount of the postage duty payable thereon under or by virtue of this Warrant.

13. The postage of all such packets as aforesaid posted in the East Indies shall in every case be paid at the time of the same being posted, either in money or by the proper colonial postage stamp or stamps being affixed thereto.

14. If any packet sent or tendered or delivered in order to be sent by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, shall be posted in the United Kingdom or in the East Indies, and the postage paid thereon or postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto shall represent a less amount than the rate of postage to which such packet would be liable under and by virtue of this Warrant, every such last-mentioned packet shall be forwarded, charged with the amount of the difference between the postage so paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps so being thereon or affixed thereto, and the postage to which such packet would be liable as aforesaid, together with a further and additional rate of postage equal in amount to the single rate of postage chargeable under this Warrant, on a packet not exceeding four ounces in weight; but if any such packet shall be posted in the United Kingdom or in the East Indies without any postage having been paid thereon, or without having thereon or affixed thereto any postage stamp, every such respective packet shall be forwarded, charged with a postage of double the amount of postage to which it would have been liable under and by virtue of this Warrant, if the postage had been paid when posted.

15. In order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, any Officer of the Post Office may delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours after the time at which the same ought to be dispatched in due course of the post, or (at his option) until the dispatch of the mail next after that by which the same ought in due course of the post to be forwarded by him.

16. The several packets transmitted by the post under the provisions of this Warrant shall be subject to the several orders, directions, regulations, and rates of postage respectively, contained in a certain Warrant of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, relating to redirected rates of postage upon letters and packets, which shall be redirected and again forwarded by the post, so far as the same are applicable to such packets.

17. In all cases in which any question shall hereafter arise whether any packet or any pattern or sample contained therein, transmitted under or by virtue of this Warrant is entitled to the privileges of this Warrant, and to be so transmitted within the intent and meaning thereof, such question shall be referred to the determination of the Postmaster-General, whose decision thereupon shall be final and conclusive upon all parties.

18. The term "East Indies," used in this Warrant, shall be construed to mean every port or place in Her Majesty's dominions in Asia (Hong Kong, Ceylon, Mauritius, Labuan, and Australia excepted), and the several other terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her Majesty, cap. 96.

19. The Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury may by Warrant under their hands, duly made at any time hereafter alter, repeal, revoke, or modify any of the rates of postage hereby fixed, or any of the regulations hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other rates or regulations in lieu thereof, and from time to time may appoint at what time the rates that may be payable are to be paid.

20. This Warrant shall come into operation on the 1st day of April, 1864.

FROM THE

SUPPLEMENT

LONDON GAZETTE of MARCH 18, 1864.

India Office, March 12, 1864.

THE following General Orders and Despatches regarding the late Military Operations on the North-Western Frontier of India, have been received at this office.

Military Department.

No. 76 of 1864.

GENERAL ORDER BY HIS EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA IN COUNCIL.

Fort William, January 29th, 1864.

HIS Excellency the Governor-General in Council, in publishing the despatches received from his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, regarding the late operations against the enemy in the Mahabun Mountain and the Chumla Valley, embraces with pleasure the opportunity now afforded him of thanking the troops for their services.

The gallantry, fortitude, and endurance which have been displayed throughout the expedition, are worthy of the highest praise, and his Excellency will have much satisfaction in bringing them to the notice of Her Majesty's Government.

The Governor-General in council cordially acknowledges the very distinguished services of Brigadier-General Sir N. B. Chamberlain, K.C.B., (whose wound and impaired state of health are much regretted by His Excellency) and of Major-General J. Garvock in successive command of the Eusufzye Field Force.

He also thanks the Political Officers, Major H. James, C.B., the Commissioner of Peshawur, and Colonel Reynell Taylor, C.B., for their valuable services.

While the acknowledgments of the Governor-General in Council are due to the whole of the Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Soldiers, composing the late Eusufzye Field force, for the excellent spirit they displayed from first to last, he desires especially to commend those who have been prominently brought to notice in the several reports of engagements, and by his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, more particularly Colonel Turner, C.B., and Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B., in command of brigades, the latter of whom served throughout the operations, and for a time commanded the whole force to the entire satisfaction of the Commander-in-Chief.

The Governor-General in Council also desires especially to thank those Officers who held the command of corps or batteries, or who performed responsible staff duties, and earned the approbation of the Commanders of the force and of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

The successful exertions of the Commissariat Department under Captain Jenkins, and the services of Surgeons Simpson, Munro, and Buckle, and of the Medical Department generally, are much appreciated by the Governor-General in Council.

It will afford the Governor-General in Council the highest satisfaction to submit to Her Majesty's Government the names of such British Officers and Soldiers as may be recommended by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief for distinction or reward. The rewards bestowed by the Major-General commanding the force on native officers and soldiers in anticipation of sanction, are confirmed by the Government of India.

The Governor-General in Council laments the severe loss sustained by the troops in their gallant encounters with a brave and determined foe, and joins with his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in admiration of the noble spirit of the officers named by his Excellency, who died at their posts under circumstances most honorable to their memory.

H. W. NORMAN, Colonel, Secretary to the Government of India.

From Colonel D. M. Stewart, Deputy Adjutant-General, to Secretary to Government of India, Military Department,—(No. 69, A, dated Head Quarters, Camp Peshawur, 17th January, 1864).

I HAVE the honour to enclose, for the information of his Excellency the Viceroy in Council, despatches from Brigadier-General Sir Neville Chamberlain, K.C.B., late commanding the Eusufzye Field Force, and from Major-General Garvock, who succeeded to the command of the force when it was relinquished by Sir N. Chamberlain on account of his wound.

2. In order that the Government may correctly understand the operations which have been carried out under these General Officers, the Commander-in-Chief directs me to submit the following explanatory details.

3. Sir N. Chamberlain was prevented from descending with his force into the Chumla Valley, in furtherance of the objects of the expedition, by causes with which the Government are already acquainted.

4. The position finally occupied by the Brigadier-General in the Umbeyla Pass, six or seven miles from the plains of Eusufzye, was a strategical and very strong one. It cut in two the enemy's line of mountain defences, and forced him to attack from lower ground a naturally strong position, which entirely commanded his advance, and which General Chamberlain had rendered still stronger by entrenchments. To these advantages must be added open communications with the base in the plains of Eusufzye.

5. The position was, however, subject to the disadvantages arising from the very difficult nature of the country, abounding, as it does, with deep ravines, covered with boulders and large masses of rock, interspersed with trees and brushwood, all favoring the peculiar tactics of the enemy, in their vehement attacks on the entrenchments.

6. Up to the 20th November the enemy had made frequent attacks, all of which were successfully repelled by Sir N. Chamberlain, and very great credit is due to the Brigadier-General and his troops for the resolution with which they held their ground.

7. As frequently happens in mountain warfare, piquets were taken and re-taken, but success invariably remained with Brigadier-General Chamberlain and his gallant force.

8. His Excellency regrets to say that the casualties were numerous; they were, in a great measure, caused by the peculiarly difficult nature of the ground above described, which favoured the bold and unexpected attacks of the mountaineers, who were enabled to collect unseen, and to remain under cover, till prepared for their sudden rushes on the defences.

9. It would also appear that tribes fought under one of the most powerful of influences, the spirit of religious fanaticism, fanned and excited to the utmost by the Akhoond of Swat.

10. Although General Chamberlain, for the reasons stated by him, acted solely on the defensive, the determined resolution with which he held his position, and repulsed all the daring attacks of the enemy; the great losses sustained by them, including some of their best leaders, and most forward fighting men, losses not easily replaced amongst inorganised combatants; the exhaustion of their resources, and the continued march of strong British reinforcements of all arms towards the scene of operations, doubtless induced the tribes to desist from their attacks between the 20th November and the 15th December, during which time there was nothing but an occasional interchange of shots between the outposts.

11. The enemy acknowledge up to the 20th November the loss of a thousand killed; but there can be little doubt that it exceeded this number, a conclusion which is justified by the number of dead actually left in front of the position, and the fact that in the obstinacy of their attacks they often remained exposed to the close and cross fire of artillery.

12. These losses produced much discouragement amongst the confederate tribes, and created a desire amongst many of them to enter into negotiations for peace with the British Commissioner, Major James.

13. These negotiations were carried on for some time, but the result proved that. although the tribes may have been willing to withdraw from the contest, they were not, with the exception, as it would appear, of the Bonairs, the most powerful of of all the tribes, inclined to do so on the British terms.

14. On the 29th November, Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, with the sanction of Government, relinquished into the hands of Major-General Garvock the command of the Eusufzye Field Force, and on the 8th December the Commander-in-Chief had the honour to report to the Government of India, from Lahore, that the negotiations of the Commissioner with the tribes had failed.

15. General Garvock, with laudable promptitude, after having been reinforced by the 1st Battalion 7th Fusiliers, 93rd Highlanders, 23rd Punjab Pioneers, and the 3rd Seikh Infantry, took measures for acting on the offensive, but on the 10th the Chiefs of the Bonair tribe made their appearance in the British camp and sued for peace. The negotiations were again fruitless, but the Bonairwals, on account of the causes already stated, seceded. it is believed, with a few exceptions, from the hostile tribes, who had meanwhile received considerable reinforcements from Dhêr and Bajour.

16. On the 15th December General Garvock, as stated in his report, assumed the offensive, and with great vigour successfully attacked the enemy at Lalloo, about two miles and a half from the right flank of his position. This important success was gained at a trifling loss to the British force.

17. Whilst General Garvock was attacking the enemy at Lalloo, the position at the Umbeyla

Pass was assailed by a portion of the tribes, who were, however, repulsed with loss by Majors Keyes and Brownlow, commanding, respectively, the 1st Panjab Infantry and the 20th Native Infantry, two officers of whose admirable conduct throughout the operations it is impossible to speak in too high terms.

18. Umbeyla was taken without opposition and burnt on the following day; but in a subsequent successful affair under Brigadier Turner, it will be seen one British officer was killed and four wounded.

19. Sir H. Rose directs me to bring to the special notice of the Government of India Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., and Major General Garvock, who have, respectively, commanded the Eusufzye Field Force, and to recommend that they may receive a suitable reward for the very important services which they have rendered to the State.

20. His Excellency likewise desires me to bring under the notice of Government, the very good service performed by Brigadiers Turner and Wilde, commanding, respectively, the 1st and 2nd Brigades. The latter officer served throughout the whole of the operations, and, after General Chamberlain was wounded, temporarily exercised the command of the force, during which time he earned the Commander-in-Chief's especial approbation.

21. The Commander-in-Chief entirely concurs in the encomiums bestowed by Generals Chamberlain and Garvock, on the officers and men of the Field Force at large, for the excellent spirit they displayed from first to last.

22. The duties devolving on the piquets were often prolonged and hard, but the troops, British as well as Native, performed them with a cheerfulness and good feeling, characteristic of their high discipline.

23. It is due to military merit and devotion of the highest order, and it may be some consolation to the relatives of the officers in question, that his Excellency should record how nobly three officers of the greatest promise, died in action. Lieutenant Richmond, of the 20th Native Infantry, when about to be relieved at the expiration of his tour of duty, prevailed on his commanding officer, because it was a post of danger, to allow him to remain for four successive days, in charge of the "Eagle's Nest" piquet, where he was killed by a bullet through his head.

Lieutenant Chapman, of the 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, although knowing that he was dying of a mortal wound, bound up the wounds of a brother officer, and sent an important message to the position.

Lieutenant Davidson, of the 1st Punjab Infantry, rather than retire from his post, died, fighting to the last against overwhelming numbers, with a heroism that elicited the admiration of one of the principal Chiefs of the Bonair tribe.

24. As regards the officers named for the Victoria Cross, the usual recommendations will be submitted hereafter.

25. So important is the question of supplies in all military operations, that the Commander-in-Chief would not do justice to the most efficient manner in which they were managed in the Eusufzye Field Force, were his Excellency not to bring to the notice of the Government, the excellent services of the Assistant Commissary-General, Captain Jenkins. Notwithstanding the difficulties of feeding so large a force in a mountainous country, beyond the limits of our own territory, not only was no complaint ever preferred, but the General Officers in command, and Commanding Officers of regiments report that the rations were remarkably good, and that their issue was liberal and uninterrupted throughout.

26. Surgeon W. Simpson, M.B, 71st Highland Light Infantry, and Surgeon W. Munro, M.D., 93rd Highlanders, on different occasions Senior Medical Officers with the British portion of the force; Surgeon Buckle, the Senior Medical Officer with the native troops, and the medical officers of the force generally, performed their duty ably and successfully, under difficult circumstances.

27. Before concluding this letter, it is due to the native troops employed, particularly to the regiments organised since 1857, that the Commander in-Chief should submit to the Government of India a practical proof of their discipline and fidelity. Every effort was made by the Akhoond of Swat and the hostile tribes, to seduce to their cause, their co-religionists in the native regiments opposed to them, but with the exception of one young Bonair recruit, their sense of duty and discipline kept them true.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General,—(No. 1, dated Camp, Crest of the Umbeyla Pass, the 21st October, 1863.)

IN continuation of my letter of the 19th instant, reporting that the force would move from camp at Nowakilla the same evening, I have now the honour to submit for his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief's information, an account of the proceedings of the force up to this date.

2. I must first inform his Excellency that, on the same day (18th October) that the other troops moved up from their camps in the rear to Nowakilla, the troops, as per margin,* marked to the mouth of the Durrun Pass. This is the Pass by which the force under Major-General Sir S. Cotton, K.C.B., entered the hills in 1858; and by moving the above troops to the mouth of this Pass, the impression was of course conveyed that the force was about to enter the hills by the same route as before.

3. On the afternoon of the 19th orders were sent to the troops mentioned in the last paragraph to march after dark to Permouli, and there to form a junction with the troops as per margin,† which would leave the camp at Nowakilla at nine P.M. The united detachments were then to proceed under command of Lieutenant-Colonel A. P. Wilde, C.B., to Goorkhawa, and thence penetrate into Chumla by the Umbeyla Pass.

The annexed report from Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B., will inform the Commander-in-Chief of the proceedings of this advanced column and of its success in reaching the crest of the Umbeyla Pass on the afternoon of the 20th. I trust that his Excellency will concur with me in considering that the duty was satisfactorily performed, and that credit is due to Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde and to the officers and troops employed under his orders.

4. I should here mention that, on the afternoon of the 19th, when it would be too late for the Chumla or other tribes to make any preparations on a large scale for impeding the march of the troops through the Umbeyla Pass, a proclamation was forwarded by the Commissioner to the Chumla and Bonair tribes, stating the object with which the force was about to enter the Chumla Valley, and assuring them that it was with no intention of injuring them or of interfering with their independence, but solely because it was the most convenient route by which to reach the Hindoostanee fanatics and to effect their expulsion from the Mahabun.

5. The main column, composed of the troops as per margin,* marched from Nowakilla at one A.M. on the 20th October, and reached Roostum at seven A.M. The road was a mere village track, and as any attempt to improve it earlier would have revealed our intended route, it had only received such improvement as a company of Sappers could hastily give it, late on the afternoon of the 19th, when concealment was no longer necessary or practicable ; the civil authorities aided in removing obstructions by employing large parties of villagers, who worked at the road by torch-light, and a line of fires marked the route by which the troops were advancing.

6. The main column rested for a short time at Roostum for the troops to refresh and breakfast, and I took the opportunity of selecting the best available position for the depôt of sick and weakly men, &c,, to be left at that place. At about nine A.M. the troops were again in motion. As far as the village of Soorkhowa, the track was tolerably good, and lay through small open valleys ; but at a little distance beyond Soorkhawa the real Pass commences. As a road for troops it certainly presents great difficulties. The track lies up the bed of a stream encumbered with boulders and large masses of rock, and is overgrown with low trees and jungle. The hills on either side rise to some height, but for the most part with a gradual slope, so that infantry can ascend them without difficulty, except for the obstacle presented by thick thorny jungle. The guns were drawn by horses as far as possible, and then transferred to elephants. The progress of the force was of course extremely slow, as in most parts it was only practicable to move in single file, and the British troops were much fatigued; but the plentiful stream of water which flows through the Pass prevented their suffering from thirst, and late in the afternoon the rear of Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde's column was reached. Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde's column had not been strong enough to post flanking parties at more than a few of the most important points in the Pass. Detachments were therefore posted from the main column wherever it seemed necessary, and the entire 5th Goorkha Regiment was left about three-quarters of a mile from the crest of the Pass, in a commanding situation, where it served as a support to the small flanking parties, and also protected the baggage. The 32nd Native Infantry formed the rear-guard, but did not get beyond Soorkhowa on the night of the 20th.

7. Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde had encamped the advanced column on and beyond the crest of the Pass on tolerably open and level ground, which afforded sufficient room for the main column also to bivouac as it came up; but it was ten P.M. before the guns reached camp. I had sent on the whole of the cavalry with the advanced column, under the representation that the Pass was much easier and shorter than it proved to be, in view to pushing them forward supported by some infantry and mountain train guns, and reconnoitring the road down the Pass and the head of the Chumla Valley. But when I found what difficulties the Pass presented even to the march of the troops, and how long it would necessarily be before the whole of the baggage could come up, I thought it prudent to make no further movement in advance. The ammunition mules of the infantry had been able with difficulty to keep up with the rear of their respective regiments, but with this exception not a single baggage animal reached the camp during the night of the 20th.

8. One of the Mullicks of Umbeyla had been made prisoner whilst opposing the advance of Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde's column. From him it was ascertained that the slight opposition made in the Pass was made by the people of his own village, (situated at the mouth of the Pass in the Chumla Valley, and, therefore, belonging geographically to Chumla, but paying tribute to one of the Bonair tribes), and by a few of the Chumla villagers. This Mullick was sent to his people by the Commissioner, together with a wounded man, and they were allowed to take away the body of one man who had been killed. He was charged with a verbal message corresponding with the terms of the proclamation, and informing the Chumla people that if they would bring supplies they would be liberally paid for them. It was hoped that this message, and the proclamation together, would satisfy the Bonair and Chumla people as to our intentions regarding them and their country, and prevent their taking part against us.

9. I will now endeavour to make his Excellency acquainted with the nature of the position which the force occupies. On the left it is inclosed by the Gurroo Mountain, which divides the Umbeyla Pass from Bonair. This mountain, which is estimated roughly to be 6,000 feet high, rises in a succession of ridges; steep but not precipitous, the general direction of which is parallel to the Pass; occasional plateaux and knolls are found on its sides, which afford convenient and safe situations for our piquets, and above 1,000 feet above the camp is a very remarkable heap of enormous granite rocks, which forms a conspicuous object from the entrance, and throughout the Pass, and marks the part at which the crest or watershed is reached, which separates Eusufzye from Chumla. The sides of the Gurroo Mountain are clothed with fir trees of large growth, interspersed on the lower slopes with the wild fig and the date tree, a remarkable mixture of the vegetation of a cold and of a tropical climate. To the front of the camp the Pass widens as it descends, and opens out into little plateaux, which, at last, meets the plain of Chumla. The latter is distant about three miles from the camp, and has the appearance of being well cultivated, with a stream flowing through the middle of it, the head of which gives water to our camp. A range of hills much lower than the Gurroo is on the right of camp, and is crowned by our piquets. To the rear of camp, but far below, is seen the plain of Eusufzye.

10. The further proceedings of the force will be duly reported for his Excellency's information.

P.S.—I am compelled to ask that you will forward a copy of this report to Colonel Norman, C.B., Secretary to Government, Military Department, as I have no means of having a second copy made, there being no clerks in camp.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Corps of Guides, to Major T. Wright, Deputy-Assistant Adjutant-General, Peshawur Division,—(No. 1, dated Camp, Umbeyla Pass, the 20th October, 1863).

AS directed in Eusufzye Field Force Orders, I have the honour to report, for the information of Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding, that I marched from Nowakilla, at nine o'clock, p.m., on the 19th October, 1863. The troops under the command of Major C. P. Keyes, which were encamped at the entrance of the Durran Pass, met my column at the village of Permouli during the night, and the two detachments having joined, moved on together towards the Umbeyla Pass in one column, consisting of the batteries and regiments named in the margin.*

2. At sunrise on the morning of the 20th October, 1863, the Umbeyla Pass was entered, and the column halted for an hour inside it to rest the men who had been marching across country during the whole night. About nine o'clock A.M. the column having been organized for service, and the baggage directed to remain at the entrance of the Pass, under an escort of the 11th Bengal Cavalry, I advanced the troops; the Infantry of the Corps of Guides and the 1st Punjab Infantry leading, supported, respectively, by the 20th Punjab Infantry and the 5th Punjab Infantry. The 5th Goorkha Battalion remained as an escort to the two Mountain Train Batteries.

3. About one-third of the Pass had been traversed when I received information that my advance would not be unopposed. Reports differed as to the numbers of the enemy, and the thickly wooded nature of the country rendered it difficult to ascertain what points of the hills were occupied.

4. At twelve o'clock the enemy commenced firing from the rocks in the vicinity of the road, but were gradually dislodged by the advance guard of the column; in this manner two-thirds of the Pass was gained when the end of the Pass called the "Umbeyla Kundao" appeared in sight. The hills on both sides high, covered with low brushwood and jutting rocks, but perfectly practicable to good light troops. On many of the most prominent rocks small parties of the enemy showed themselves and occasionally fired.

5. I directed the Infantry of the Corps of Guides to take the crest of the hills to the right, and the 1st Punjab Infantry to move up the valley slowly, and left it to Major Keyes to act as his judgment dictated. Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, with his regiment, protected the flank of the column, which some parties of the enemy threatened. By two o'clock P.M. the top of the Pass, the water-shed of the valleys of Suddum and Chumla, was secured.

6. The Corps of Guides had ascended the heights on the right, driving small detached parties of the enemy before them. The 1st Punjab Infantry had with their skirmishers mounted the lower spurs of the hills on both sides of the Pass, and Major Keyes, with his reserve, continued to press the enemy in front along the valley, until they disappeared over the ridge. The opposition offered to our troops was nowhere determined, and a single shell fired by Captain DeBude, Commanding the Huzara Mountain Train, hastened the retreat of the enemy.

7. I estimate the numbers of the enemy in the field at from 200 to 250 men, and their loss amounted to 2 killed and 3 wounded, besides one captured, On the side of the troops there was no casualty.

8. Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding the 1st Punjab Infantry, and Lieutenant F. H. Jenkins, 2nd in Command, the Corps of Guides, led the regiments on whom the work fell, and both these officers displayed both skill and knowledge of hill warfare in the management of their Corps.

9. Colonel R. Taylor, C.B., the Commissioner of Peshawur, accompanied the column, and assisted me materially throughout by his advice, and I beg to acknowledge the value of his experience.

10. Considering that the Pass was gained without loss, and its occupation secures the entrance into the Chumla Valley, I feel sure the Brigadier General will be satisfied with the conduct of the troops on this occasion.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Head Quarters, (No. 2, dated Camp, Crest of the Umbeyla Pass, the 23rd October, 1863.)

In continuation of my letter No. 1 of the 21st instant, I have the honour to report as follows for the information of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

2. Up to the evening of the 21st instant, the date of my last letter, but a small portion of the baggage had reached the camp, partly in consequence of the difficulties of the road, and partly from the inferior nature of much of the carriage and incompetence of the drivers. But on the morning of the 22nd, the rear-guard being then at no great distance from the camp, I considered that the preliminary steps might be taken for moving the Force forward.

3. Accordingly, in the forenoon of the 22nd, a detachment of Sappers (details of the 4th and 5th Companies) was set to work to improve the descent of the Pass. The Sappers were supported by the 20th Punjab Native Infantry under Major Brownlow, and as soon as the road was reported tolerably good were followed by the Cavalry* under Lieutenant Colonel Probyn, C.B., V.C. The Sappers were then sent back to camp, and the Cavalry proceeded to reconnoitre, supported by the 20th Punjab Native Infantry, which occupied the gorge of the Pass, the reconnaissance being conducted by Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, C.B., Royal Engineers.

4. The information received was to the effect that a considerable body of the Bonair Tribe were occupying the Pass which leads from Chumla into Bonair from near Umbeyla, but that their intentions towards us were peaceable. The Commissioner had communicated with them, and they had avowed their intention of nearly acting on the defensive, and of opposing us only in the event of our attempting to enter the Bonair country.

5. Being of course most desirous to give the Bonair people no cause of offence, or even of suspicion, I had desired Colonel Taylor to act with the greatest circumspection. I was aware that from the foot of the Pass the reconnoitring party would have the choice of two roads through the Chumla Valley. The first, which was said to be the better of the two Passes, by the village of Umbeyla, and keeps the north side of the Chumla Valley under the hills which divide Chumla from Bonair. The second is by Kagah, and along the south side of the Valley. Knowing that Umbeyla was regarded by the Bonair people as one of their own villages, though actually in Chumla, I gave Colonel Taylor orders to avoid that road and to proceed by the Kagah route, thus guarding in every possible way against giving offence to the Bonair people, and endeavouring to prove to them that we desired to hold entirely aloof from them and their country.

6. The information we possessed of the assembly of the Bonair people in their Pass, was confirmed by the observation of the reconnoitring party, as will be seen by Colonel Taylor's report, which I have the honour to enclose. No obstruction was offered by them to the reconnoitring party in its advance down the Valley, and they contented themselves with peaceably watching its movements from the hills. But it was otherwise as the party returned. A body of the Bonair people descended from their Pass and attempted to cut off the retirement of the Cavalry, opening fire upon them. In pure self-defence the Cavalry were compelled to charge and open the road, which they did, killing some six of the enemy, with a loss to themselves of two men wounded and two horses missing. The attempt upon the Cavalry was followed by an attack upon the Infantry, which it had been necessary to call up in support, and Major Brownlow had to fight his way up the Pass into camp. Major Brownlow's conduct on this occasion and his management of his Regiment was most praiseworthy; for, from the nature of the ground, the operation was at any time a difficult one, and rendered more so by the approach of night, and the determined bearing of many of the enemy, the most forward of whom endeavoured to close with the skirmishers sword in hand. The regiment behaved with great steadiness, and Lieutenant Richmond, doing duty Officer, who with a party held one of the spurs which commanded the mouth of the Pass, exhibited great gallantry. Lieutenant Brown, Royal Engineers, who had directed the work of the Sapper Detachment, and on its return to camp had joined the 20th (Punjab) Native Infantry, also distinguished himself, and was slightly wounded.

7. The attack upon the reconnoitring party was followed by a general attack upon the piquets in the front and on the flanks of camp, which continued at intervals until midnight. The enemy, as I must now call them; were repulsed with but trifling loss to ourselves, but I regret to say that Lieutenant Gillies, Royal Artillery, of the Huzara Mountain Battery, was killed in the attack. The nature of the ground, which is very broken and covered with brushwood, enabled the enemy to carry off most of their dead during the hours of darkness, but eight of their bodies were taken up in the morning, and the spies report that some fifty were killed in the attack, amongst them some people of influence.

8. The Bonair people having thus taken a decidedly hostile part against us, is extremely serious, and has altered our whole position; and probably our plan of operations. That their conduct has been prompted by the Hindoostanee fanatics at Sitana, &c., there can be no doubt. Some papers have been intercepted, which show that ever since it became known that the present expedition was being organized against them, the Hindoostanees have been endeavouring to obtain the assistance of the people of Bonair by alarming them as to our intentions of annexing their country. The hostility of Bonair must now be considered as a fact, and our course of action guided accordingly. Its probable effect upon the security of our communications has first to be considered and guarded against.

In this view I have ordered up the Wing of the 14th Native Infantry from Nowakilla to Roostum, and applied for another Native Infantry Regiment to be sent from Peshawur. I have requested the Commissioner to arrange for the occupation of the lower portion of the Pass with his Foot Levies, and it is probable that I shall have to ask for more Native Infantry before the communication with the rear can be considered secure, even so long as the force occupies its present position on the crest of the Umbeyla Pass.

9. His Excellency is in possession of my original plan of operations, namely, to use the Chumla Valley as the route for reaching the Hindoostanee settlements on the Mahabun. But with a powerful and warlike tribe like the people of Bonair in declared hostility on the left flank of our proposed line of march, and in a position to which they can always return, even though once dislodged and beaten, it may now be impossible to persevere in this plan of operations. Besides, our latest information is to the effect that the Bonair people have summoned the Hindoostanees to their aid, and that a portion of them at least have obeyed the summons. It is doubtful, therefore, whether the original object in view can now be obtained by the force penetrating to the Mahabun, and whether the Hindoostanee fanatics will not be either encountered in our present position, fighting with the people of Bonair, or have to be sought elsewhere than on the spurs of the Mahabun.

10. A deputation, consisting of almost all the influential men of the Judoon tribe, came into camp to the Commissioner this morning, and many of the Chumla Mullucks are also in camp.

11. Both the British and Native Troops have had to undergo considerable discomfort from the baggage having been delayed, but the plentiful supply of firewood has fortunately enabled us to keep up large watchfires, and the troops generally are healthy, except those who have brought the Peshawur fever with them.

12. Enclosed is a Casualty Return up to date.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Taylor, Royal Engineers, to Major T. Wright, Assistant Adjutant-General. Dated Camp, top of Umbeyla Pass, the 23rd October, 1863.

FOR the Brigadier-General's information, I have the honour to report the details of the reconnoisance of the 22nd instant.

2. Agreeably to instructions received, I proceeded on the morning of the 22nd, with two companies of Sappers and a detachment of the 32nd Pioneers, to improve the road from camp to the Chumla Valley.*

3. We found the Pass to be about two miles in length, and unoccupied by any enemy. The road was fair.

4. Shortly after one p.m., I was joined at the mouth of the Pass by a detachment of Cavalry under Lieutenant-Colonel Probyn, C.B., V.C., and the 20th Punjab Infantry under Major Brownlow. The Sappers and Miners returned towards camp to repair the road Major Brownlow occupied the foot of the Pass, and I proceeded with the Cavalry down the Chumla Valley in the direction of Kagah.†

5. As we passed the Kotul leading into Bonair on our left, and about $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles distant, we observed that it was occupied in force by the Bonairwals, but from all we could learn, none had descended into the Valley.

6. Arrived at Kagah (4 miles from camp). The reports that the Valley was quite unoccupied were confirmed, and I considered it desirable to take advantage of such a favourable state of affairs to ush down the Valley as far as was compatible with the General's order to be in camp by sunset.

7. Leading the main body of the cavalry at Kagah, I proceeded with a small escort to Koona (7 miles beyond Kagah), and reached Kagah again about half-past four, P.M.

8. On arriving at the foot of our Pass we found that the Bonairwals had, and were still descending in considerable numbers with the view of preventing our return. They attempted to gain possession of a patch of very broken ground at the extreme end of the Valley through which our road lay. It was necessary to prevent them and to check them until Major Brownlow could come up in support: with this view the Cavalry charged in the most spirited way, and our object was attained. Major Browlow occupied the broken ground with two companies, and the Cavalry, under a small escort of Infantry returned to camp. The rear-guard duties now devolved on Major Brownlow.

9. Emboldened by our continued retreat, the enemy had recovered from the effects of Colonel Probyn's charge, and by the time we had fairly entered the Pass, had assembled in great numbers and had surrounded a piquet under Lieutenant Richmond on the north side of the Pass. It was long before it could be got down. By this time daylight had quite gone, and the remainder of the retiring was effected in dim moonlight. The enemy pressed Major Browlow very closely, and several times came in amongst his men sword in hand. Eventually, as we drew into camp, the camp piquets became engaged, and Major Brownlow's trying duties ceased. Nothing could be better than the way the whole affair was conducted, nor than the conduct of both officers and men.

10. Our knowledge of the Chumla Valley does not extend much beyond Kooria. Its general shape and the position of the villages appear to be as shown by Major Walker's map. From Umbeyla to Kooria its surface is level and free from obstructions; beyond Kooria it is rugged and difficult. Confining myself to the portion of the valley between Umbeyla and Kooria, it is quite practicable for Field Artillery. The nullah banks are all low; water is abundant, and the land highly cultivated: fuel must be supplied from the hills; there is no jungle in the valley.

11. The people of Kooria informed us that the roads thence to Cherorai and to Nagrai were about equal in length, but that the Cherorai-road was difficult for laden mules and little used, while that to Nagrai was good.

CASUALTIES.

Assistant Adjutant-General.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Head Quarters,—(No. 3, dated Camp, Crest of the Umbeyla Pass, the 25th October, 1863.)

IN continuation of my No. 2 of the 23rd instant, I have the honour to report, for the information of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that yesterday morning the sick, both British and Native, all baggage except that absolutely necessary for efficiency, and all carriage rendered spare by this arrangement were sent to the rear under a strong escort, whilst an Infantry Regiment occupied the spur of the Gurroo Mountain, which commands the Pass on the Bonair side, and protected the convoy as it filed down the Pass. At the same time parties from the camp were employed in improving the road and in removing the worst of the obstacles. The enemy remained quiet, but large bodies of men, with numerous standards were observed approaching the mouth of the Pass, and from information since received, it is known that these consisted of the tribes from the Northern Indus, as per margin,* with a portion of the Hindoostanees under Syud Mobaruck Shah. The night passed over quietly.

2. Soon after daylight this morning an attack was made upon the right piquets of the camp by the hostile bodies which joined the enemy yesterday as above detailed. They were, however, repulsed by Major Keyes, commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, and driven off in the direction of Kagah. This affair was most skilfully managed by Major Keyes, who had only one man wounded, whilst the enemy left ten bodies on the ground. Major Keyes' report is enclosed for his Excellency's information, and I would beg to bring to his notice the officers named by him, especially Captain Hughes, commanding Peshawur Mountain Train, Lieutenant Davidson, second in command, and Lieutenant Pitcher, Adjutant of the 1st Punjab Infantry.

3. Whilst the attack was going on on the right the heights above the left flank piquets were crowned by large bodies of men; and it has since become known that a simultaneous attack on both flanks of the camp had been arranged by the enemy, but the Bonair people, who were to have attacked the left flank, failed to keep their agreement. This has given great offence to the tribes engaged in the right attack, and the majority of them, but not the Hindoostanees, are believed to have returned to their homes. The loss of the enemy in the attack on the right is stated to have been 30 killed and a number wounded. Amongst the killed was the brother of a Syud of some note, of Chumla, although this tribe was reported in my last letter to have sent in a deputation to the Commissioner.

* Hussunzyes. Chuggurzyes. Maddur Khail

4. There appears to be reason to believe that the Bonair people have applied to the Akhoond of Swat for aid, and should they succeed in enlisting him in their cause, which is not improbable, as they are his spiritual followers, the object with which this force took the road of the Chumla Valley will be still more difficult of attainment. The influence of the Akhoond of Swat over all the Hill and Plain Tribes on the Peshawur Frontier is very great, and towards them he fills a position which I can best illustrate by comparing it with that of the Pope of Rome. If he declares against us, he will no doubt bring an immense accession of material as well as moral strength to the people of Bonair and the other tribes already in arms against us. In the mean time the halt of the force at the crest of the Pass is not without its advantages. The situation is a menacing one, it obliges the enemy to keep a large body of men together, whom they will find it difficult for a continuance to feed, and it makes it indispensable for them to become the attacking party, in which case all the advantage is on our side.

5. In the meanwhile the security of the camp has been provided for, as far as possible, by occupying the heights which command the camp with strong parties of infantry. The piquets are all stockaded, and the approach to camp by the gorge is defended by a breast-work, and by guns in position. The rear has also been secured from attack. The front piquets are under the command of Colonel Hope, C.B., Commanding the 71st Highland Light Infantry, the right flank is under the Command of Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B., Corps of Guides, the left flank under Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, 5th Punjab Infantry. His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief is already in possession of a plan of the camp, to which I would refer him for all further particulars of our position and defensive arrangement.

From Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, to Major T. Wright, Assistant Adjutant-General, Eusufzye Field Force,—(Dated Camp, Umbeyla Pass, the 25th October, 1863).

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Brigadier-General Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, that, in obedience to orders received from Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B., Commanding the Right Defence, I occupied with my regiment, on the night of the 24th instant, the advanced piquets of the right defence.

2. A little after daylight on the morning of the 25th, the enemy showed on a ridge of hills opposite my piquets, and which from its vicinity to my position, I considered it dangerous to allow them to occupy in any force. I called upon Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Defence, for support, and proceeded to dislodge them from the ridge. I had then about 200 men, 100 of whom I sent under Captain Davidson, second in Command, to take the enemy in flank, and when he had sufficiently far advanced on the ridge occupied by the enemy, I advanced at the double to attack them in front and drove them from height to height, until I obtained a position which I could safely hold till reinforced.

3. This advanced position was on a ridge overlooking a plain 200 yards broad, over which the enemy had been driven. On the other side of this plain was a conical hill, the summit of which commanded the ridge at a range of 700 yards. On this the enemy were collecting from the plain by the villages of Lalloo and Kagah. They appeared to be coming in considerable force, which eventually amounted to between 2,000 and 3,000 men. I at once wrote off that I might be supported by a Mountain Train Battery and a Regiment, ordering my men to keep under cover, and not to return the fire of the enemy. Owing to the distance from camp, and the nature of the ground, these reinforcements did not arrive till two P.M. First arrived 150 European soldiers from Her Majesty's 71st and 101st Foot, with Captain Fosberry, Musketry Instructor. The marksmen of this party were selected, and placed along the ridge. The men of the 1st Punjab Infantry being recalled and drawn up out of sight of the enemy, as also the 5th Goorkha Regiment, which joined shortly afterwards as soon as the Peshawur Mountain Train Battery arrived, they were brought up as near the ridge as possible without showing themselves to the enemy. The guns were then dragged up by hand into position marked by sections standing in their front, and immediately opened fire with shrapnell at a distance of 600 yards, the marksmen opening fire at the same time.

The conical hill held by the enemy was rocky and very precipitous, but essentially a weak position, having a line of retreat that would expose the retreating enemy to great loss, if closely pursued.

4. After the guns had fired two rounds, the 1st Punjab Infantry was advanced at the "double," supported by the 5th Goorkha Regiment, the whole of the Europeans keeping up the fire from the ridge.

5. The enemy did not stop to defend their position, but after firing a few shots, retreated at their utmost speed; to the admirable practice of the guns, and the withering fire of the marksmen, may be attributed our obtaining the hill without any loss. The enemy left several bodies on the ground, and their total loss has since been ascertained to have been 33 killed and upwards of 40 wounded.

6. The first discharge of shrapnell having killed their men on the summit of the hill, great credit is due to Captain Hughes, Commanding the Peshawur Mountain Train Battery, for the admirable manner in which he brought up his guns over the very difficult ground he had to traverse, and his very effective practice when brought into action; also to Major Campbell, Commanding 5th Goorkha Battalion, and the Officers Commanding the European Companies, for the manner in which they carried out the object in view, of making all movements until the moment of attack.

As soon as the enemy were seen to have re-passed the village of Lalloo on their way to the plains the troops were dismissed to their quarters.

On the first advance from the piquets our loss was one private wounded, the only casualty of the day.

Captain Davidson took up his flanking party with great spirit, and performed essential service in driving back the enemy.

I cannot close this report without bringing to the notice of the Brigadier-General Commanding Eusufzye Field Force the energy, intelligence, and zeal of Lieutenant and Adjutant H. W. Pitcher, who was foremost in every movement, and who by his quick perception rendered me most effective aid. I consider him a most promising young officer.

(Signed) A. WILDE, Lieutenant-Colonel, Commanding Right Flank Piquets.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., for Brigadier-General Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Head Quarters, —(No. 4, dated Camp, Crest of the Umbeyla Pass, the 27th October, 1863.)

IN my letter No. 3 of the 25th instant, I mentioned that a simultaneous attack upon both the right and left flanks of the camp had been arranged by the enemy to come off on the 25th instant; but that the Bonair men, upon whom it had devolved to attack the left, had failed to keep their agreement on that day. Large bodies of men, however, were seen collected upon the Gurroo Mountain on the 25th instant, and it was therefore necessary to provide both against the threatened attack on the left, and also against the possibility of the enemy making an attempt from the spurs of the Gurroo upon a convoy of sick, &c., about to be sent to the rear.

2. With this view I reinforced the left piquets under Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan yesterday morning, with the marksmen of the two British regiments, 30 in number, under Lieutenant Fosberry (who joined the force by order of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, for the purpose of testing the value of a shell invented by him), 200 men of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, the 5th and 6th Punjab Infantry, and the Huzara Mountain Battery. Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan was thus prepared either to repel any attack on the left piquets, or to act offensively, if the designs of the enemy should appear to be to attack the convoy in the Pass.

3. These troops took up a position near the highest and most exposed of the left piquets, known in camp by the name of the "Eagle's Nest."

This piquet occupies the top of a very steep rocky knoll, which rises out of the southern face of the Gurroo, and is the apex of that portion of the mountain which overlooks the left flank of the camp. The knoll had been hastily prepared for defence the preceding afternoon, and had been surrounded with a breastwork; the breast-work was capable of containing 110 men, namely, the 30 marksmen and 80 of the 20th Punjab Regiment Native Infantry, and some large rocks at the base of the knoll sheltered 120 more, namely, 70 of the 20th, and 50 of the 3rd Punjab Infantry. It was necessary to hold this position with a piquet by day, in order to give security to the grass-cutters, &c., of the camp; but its distance from camp, and the consequent difficulty of reinforcing it quickly, had made it unadvisable to hold it by night until the ground below had been securely occupied, and the piquet had been subsequently withdrawn at sunset to a lower position.

4. The troops were no sooner observed by the enemy on the mountain above to be taking up their position, than a large body of them descended by the different spurs, and with loud cries attacked at once the troops drawn up and the "Eagle's Nest" in the most determined manner. The steady fire of the Huzara Mountain Battery checked such of the enemy as came under its effect, and afforded a favourable opportunity for the 6th Punjab Infantry, which was in reserve, to charge them. But the nature of the ground prevented the guns from being brought to bear at first upon those who assailed the "Eagle's Nest," and they were able to swarm up the steep sides of the knoll, and to plant their standards immediately under the breastwork, where the fire of the garrison could hardly reach them. They were, however, ultimately repelled by the excellent shooting of the marksmen, and by the steady fire of the 20th Punjab Native Infantry, aided by the flanking fire of the guns, and the Enfield rifles of the 71st Highland Light Infantry. The first effort of the enemy was followed by others of a less determined character, which were more easily repulsed, and until late in the evening, a heavy fire was kept up from the spurs and ridges of the mountain, from which the troops suffered some casualties, though kept under cover as much as possible. For further particulars I would refer his Excellency to the enclosed reports from Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Vaughan, who commanded the troops, and from Major Brownlow, who commanded in the "Eagle's Nest."

5. The enemy being in such force on the mountain, and the importance of continuing to hold this position having become apparent, I fully concurred with Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan's recommendation that the troops should not be withdrawn at night-fall (as had been intended), even at the risk of a renewal of the attack. The enemy, however, attempted no further offensive movement. To day the "Eagle's Nest" has been strengthened, and an adjoining eminence which supports it has been stockaded, and both positions will be permanently held in the strength as per margin.*

* "Eagle's Nest."—40 British Infantry, 300 Native Infantry.—Vaughan's Piquet.—Huzara Mountain Battery.—60 British Infantry.—300 Native Infantry.

6. The return of killed and wounded in this attack will best explain to his Excellency the severe nature of the contest, particularly at the "Eagle's Nest" itself. I must regret the loss of the two young officers who were killed, Lieutenant Richmond, of the 20th Punjab Native Infantry, and Lieutenant Clifford of the 3rd Punjab Infantry. The former officer was mentioned in my letter of the 23rd for the gallantry in the attack on the reconnoitring party the day before. He was killed whilst encouraging his men by his personal example in their gallant resistance to the enemy. Lieutenant Clifford, Adjutant of the 1st Punjab Cavalry, was on leave when the force was formed, and joined it as a volunteer, to serve with an Infantry regiment. He was killed whilst leading a sally at the head of the party of his regiment from the rocks at the foot of the "Eagle's Nest." Subadar Major Meer Ally Shah, of the 20th Punjab Native Infanty, died like a gallant soldier at his commanding officer's side, recommending his son to Major Browlow's protection.

7. I beg to ask his Excellency's approval of the conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Vaughan, who commanded on this occasion, and of the officers and others mentioned by him and by Major Brownlow. Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan's management of the troops was excellent, and I consider myself indebted to his clear judgment for the very successful result of the action. Major Brownlow has been already noticed in my report of the 23rd for the able way in which he covered the retreat of the reconnoitring party, and on this occasion also he greatly distinguished himself by his ready resourse and gallant personal bearing. Captain Hoste's charge at the head of the 6th Punjab Infantry was very bold, but was unfortunately carried too far,—whence the severe loss the regiment sustained.

8. The conduct of all the troops engaged was, I am assured by Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, excellent. The admirable shooting of the marksmen, and the steadiness and gallantry of the 20th Punjab Native Infantry, have been already noticed. The fire of Captain DeBude's guns was most ably directed, and of the greatest service. The detachment of the 71st Highland Light Infantry behaved with great steadiness under Major Parker, and greatly assisted the retirement of the 6th Punjab Infantry after their gallant but hasty charge. The 5th Punjab Infantry under Lieutenant C. E. Stewart's command was chiefly employed to cover and support the guns; but one Company under Lieutenant Beckett did excellent service in supporting the advance of the 6th Punjab Infantry, and withdrew in the best order after the 6th had regained the position.

9. Whilst the attack on the left flank was going on, the enemy made a demonstration in the front of camp, but retired at dusk.

Lieutenant Drake, of the 32nd Native Infantry, (Pioneers), was unfortunately wounded here; but this was the only casualty.

10. This morning some of the Bonairs approached the "Eagle's Nest" and asked permission to take away their dead, which was granted. Some conversation was held with them, both by the Commissioner and myself, which it is just possible may lead the people of Bonair to understand how completely they have mistaken our intentions.

Their demeanour was courteous, and they conversed unreservedly with us; but I gathered from their manner that they were not in the least humbled.

11. Our information as to the loss of the enemy yesterday is as follows. I give it in detail, that his Excellency may understand how general is the combination of the Bonair tribes against us : —

Slurzye	. .	48 killed.
Dowlazye	. .	38 „
Gadarzye	. .	57 „
Hindoostanees	. .	15 „
Total	.	158 killed.

Upwards of 30 bodies of Hindoostanees were, however, counted by us upon the ground during the short truce this morning, so that probably the loss of the Bonair tribes is also understated above. Indeed, the latest accounts make the enemy's loss 250 killed, and state that the wounded have been carried in numbers to their homes, or crawled to the nearest Bonair villages.

12. Enclosed is a casualty return showing the casualties in the force on the 26th.

P.S.—I request the favour of your supplying Colonel Norman, Secretary to Government, with a copy of this despatch.

Note.—This despatch was drafted before the Brigadier-General was wounded on the 20th instant, and was approved by him.

From Major C. H. Brownlow, Commanding 20th Punjab Infantry, and Commanding "Eagle's Nest" Piquet on 26th October, 1863, to Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Vaughan, Commanding Left Piquets Camp,—(dated Camp, Chumla Pass, the 27th October, 1863.)

I HAVE the honor to report as follows on the attacks made by the enemy on the post under my command during the 26th instant.

My party, as detailed in the margin,* occupied a breastwork of stones on high ground showing a semi-circular front of about 90 feet. Below this the ground for about 80 yards was level, and commanded the work. Beyond the plateau the hill, which is well wooded and studded with rocks, again rose, and its crest (distant 500 yards from our breastwork) was occupied by about 2,000 of the enemy, protected by a similar defence.

* Up to 3 P.M.—30 Marksmen of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, and 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers; 80 Marksmen of the 20th Punjab Infantry. After 3 P.M.—40 Marksmen of the 71st Highland Light Infantry; 50 Marksmen of the 5th Punjab Infantry; 30 Marksmen of the 5th Punjab Infantry.

2. About twelve o'clock, noon, the Bonairwals, who had hitherto fired only an occasional shot, commenced to move down from their position, matchlock-men posting themselves most advantageously in the wood, and opening a very galling fire on us, while their swordsmen and others advanced boldly to the attack, charging across the plateau in our front in the most determined manner, and planting their standard behind a rock within a few feet of our wall. The steady fire, however, with which they were received, rendered their very gallant efforts to enter our defences unavailing, and they were driven back and up the hill, leaving the ground covered with their dead; their matchlock-men only maintaining the fight and continuing to harass us much.

3. The movements to our left of the column under your immediate command next attracted the attention of the main body of the Bonairwals. When repulsed by you, and retreating up the hill, they again came under our fire, and suffered severely from the excellent shooting of the 71st Highland Light Infantry and 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers. On the 6th Punjab Infantry being withdrawn from the ridge on my left, the enemy again came down the hill, and with loud yells, rushed sword in hand to the assault of our position, but were again and finally repulsed; the affair for the rest of the day subsiding into an exchange of shots when either party exposed itself.

4. I regret to say that our losses during the day were severe, amounting to 50 killed and wounded of all ranks, being nearly half the number that the work held at any one time.*

* 71st Highland Light Infantry—1 Man killed; 4 Men wounded.
101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers—2 Men wounded.
3rd Punjab Infantry—2 Men killed.

5. The conduct of all under my command during the day was admirable; but I would desire especially to bring to notice the undermentioned officers and men, whose coolness and gallantry were conspicuous:—

Captain Butler, V.C., 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers.

Lieutenaut G. V. Fosberry, late 4th European Regiment.

Lieutenant J. Bartleman, 20th Punjab Infantry.

Assistant-Surgeon R. T. Lyons, 20th do. do.

Private Stewart, 71st Highland Light Infantry.

" Barber, 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers.

Subadar Owdoo, 20th Punjab Infantry.

Sepoy Lena Sing, do.

" Jowala, do.

6. Among the killed of my own Regiment, I have to lament the loss of many good soldiers; Lieutenant G. M. Richmond, a young officer of great promise, (whose reckless gallantry cost him his life,) and the Subadar Major Meer Ally Shah, (who will not easily be replaced,) being of the number who fell.

7. In conclusion, I beg to point out that my report and Return of Casualties refer only to the "Eagle's Nest" piquet itself, which occupied my entire attention during the attack. I should however add, that the strong rocks in rear of and below that post were occupied all day by detachments amounting to 120 men at a time, of different regiments, viz., the 3rd, 6th, and 20th Punjab Infantry; and I regret to add that Lieutenant Clifford, of the 3rd Punjab Infantry, was killed while gallantly leading a sally on the enemy from that position.

8. Enclosed is a Nominal Roll of the killed and wounded.

I HAVE the honour to make the following report of what occurred yesterday at the left piquet.

2. The Brigadier-General ordered me in the morning to try and divert the enemy's attention from the rear of camp, as a convoy of sick, baggage, &c., was about to proceed to the rear. To enable me to carry out this, he placed at my disposal the troops as per margin.* These troops proceeded to the neighbourhood of the "Eagle's Nest" piquet, which was held by 150 men of the 20th Native Infantry and 50 of the 3rd Punjab Infantry, with 30 marksmen selected from the 71st and 101st Regiments, the whole under command of Major Brownlow, 20th Native Infantry. The force detailed marginally above was drawn up on and about a small Mamelon about 400 yards west of the "Eagle's Nest" piquet, in the following order from right to left:—

Detachment, 71st Highland Light Infantry,
6th Punjab Infantry,
Huzara Mountain Train,
5th Punjab Infantry,

* Huzara Mountain Train; Detachment, 71st Highland Light Infantry; 5th Punjab Infantry; 6th do. do.

the latter Regiment, in extended order, lined the crest of the Mamelon with three Companies in support of the guns. The 71st Highland Light Infantry was in connection with the "Eagle's Nest" piquet.

3. The troops were hardly in position when a very large body of the enemy rushed down the steep slopes of the mountain above, and with loud cries attacked at once the piquet and the troops. The Mountain Train guns fired upon the enemy with shrapnell, common shell, and round shot, and this fire checked those who were advancing against the troops in position, but not those advancing against the piquet. The latter was attacked with the greatest determination, and two of the enemy's standards were planted close under the parapet which crowns the steep sides of the piquet hill. All the efforts of the piquet failed to dislodge the enemy from the position for some time, notwithstanding that the direct fire from the piquet was aided by a flanking fire from the Mountain Train guns, and from the Enfield rifles of the 71st. But as the attack upon the piquet will form the subject of a separate report from Major Brownlow, I shall only remark here that so desperately was it attacked, and so hardly was it pressed, that it became necessary for me to reinforce it in the course of the action with the company of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, and a company of 5th Punjab Infantry.

4. When the enemy had been checked by the guns they were charged by the 6th Punjab Infantry, but the regiment was unfortunately carried too far in the ardour of pursuit, and lost heavily before it could regain the position. I supported it by a company of the 5th Punjab Infantry, and the Enfields of the 71st, and the firing of the guns prevented the enemy from pressing the retirement.

5. During the rest of the day the enemy kept up a heavy fire from the low hills and broken ground in front of the troops, but the ground affording excellent cover, could do little damage.

6. The Brigadier-General had wished me to bring the troops back to camp by sunset, and to withdraw the "Eagle's Nest" piquet at the same time; but for reasons with which he is acquainted, and which I believe have satisfied him, I felt it impossible to carry out his wishes, and therefore maintained both positions during the night without annoyance from the enemy, who had evidently suffered very severely.

7. I am under the greatest obligations to Major Wright, Assistant Adjutant-General to the Force, whom the Brigadier-General, at my special request, allowed to accompany me during the day, and I cannot speak in too high terms of the admirable service rendered by Major Brownlow in the defence of the "Eagle's Nest" piquet, and of Captain DeBude in the management of his guns. I beg also to notice the gallantry with which Captain W. D. Hoste led the charge of the 6th Punjab Infantry, and the assistance I received from Major Parker, commanding the detachment, 71st Highland Light Infantry, and Lieutenant Stewart, who commanded the 5th Punjab Infantry.

Annexed is Major Brownlow's report of the defence of the piquet, and a return of the casualties among the troops.

CASUALTY RETURN of the Troops under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, commanding Left Piquet on the 26th October, 1863.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Head Quarters,—(No. 5, dated Camp, Crest of the Umbeyla Pass, the 31st October, 1863.)

HIS Excellency the Commander-in-Chief will recollect that, in my letter No. 3 of the 25th instant, I mentioned that the people of Bonair had applied to the Akhoond of Swat to aid them in resisting the advance of the force, and stated my opinion that, in the event of his doing so, the object with which the force had adopted the route of the Chumla Valley would of course be rendered very difficult of attainment. I have now to report that the Akhoond has actually joined the Bonairs and that he has brought with him upwards of 100 standards from Swat,—each standard representing, probably, from 30 to 40 footmen,—and, it is said, 120 horsemen. Besides the tribe with which he is more immediately connected, viz., the Swatees, he has summoned the people of the remote country of Bajour (on the border of the Cabul territory) the Mullazyes of Dheer, under their Chief Ghuzzun Khan ; and other distant tribes whose names even are hardly known except to the officers who have served long on the frontier. There is, in fact, a general combination of almost all the tribes. from the Indus to the boundary of Cabul, against us. Old animosities are for the time in abeyance, and, under the influence of fanaticism, tribes usually hostile to each other are hastening to join the Akhoond's standard, and to fight for the sake of their common faith. The Akhoond has hitherto been opposed to the Sitana Moulvie, who represents an exceptional sect of Mahomedans ; but at present the two are understood to be on friendly terms, and it is certain that the whole of the Hindoostanee Colony are either at, or on the way to, Umbeyla.

2. It is necessary that I should place the state of affairs thus distinctly before his Excellency, in order that he may understand how entirely the situation has altered since the force entered the Umbeyla Pass, and that instead of having to deal with the Mahabun Tribes, with a view to the expulsion of the Hindoostanees from that mountain, we are engaged in a contest in which not only are the Hindoostanees and the Mahabun Tribes (including even some Judoons and Khodakhails) accessories, but also the Swatees, the Bajourees, and the Indus tribes north of the Burrendo, with a large sprinkling of the discontented and restless spirits from within our own border. I feel certain that his Excellency will approve of my not making an advance into the Chumla Valley with my present force, in the face of the above coalition. I could only do so by giving up the Umbeyla Pass. If the force moved into the Valley, with a view to continue its advance towards the Mahabun, and to carry out the original views of the Government, it would be exposed to the enemy's incessant attacks, both by night and day, in flank and rear, and it would be impossible, in the face of such numbers, to protect adequately a long line of laden animals to which would be daily added an ever increasing number of wounded and sick. On the other hand, if the force merely moved into the Valley with a view to take up a position in open ground, it would still lose its communication with the rear, and whenever it required fresh supplies of provisions or ammunition, or to clear the camp by sending sick and wounded to the rear, it would have to re-take the Pass, and to re-occupy, at great sacrifice of life, the very ground from which it had advanced. Further, I have felt it right not to forget, that if this force should be seriously compromised by a hazardous movement in advance, there are not, within a very great distance, the troops necessary to meet any difficulty which would be certain, under such an eventuality, immediately to arise, either within or beyond the border. In fact, my judgment tells me that, with our present numbers the only way to uphold the honour of our arms, and the interests of the Government, is to act on the defensive, in the position the force now holds, and trust to the effect of time. and of the discouragem nt which repeated unsuccessful attacks are likely to produce upon the enemy. to weaken their numbers, and to break up their combination.

3. The first result of the combination between the Akhoond and the Moulvie was an attack upon the right piquets of the camp, early yesterday morning, by the Hindoostanees, and an almost simultaneous attack upon the front of camp by the Swatees. The front attack was repulsed under my personal superintendence, without difficulty, by the good practice of the Artillery under Captain Tulloh, and the fire of Her Majesty's 71st Highland Light Infantry, and the 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, which lined the breastworks, under Colonel Hope, C.B., and Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury respectively. Some of the enemy behaved with considerable boldness, and afforded an opportunity for the 5th Goorkha Regiment to make a spirited charge. They left 40 dead bodies on the ground, which have been recognised as men from Swat and Raneezye, and must have lost heavily in addition, though according to custom they carried off as many of their dead as they could. The attack by the Hindoostanees on the right was directed against the extreme right piquet, known as the "Crag" piquet. A little before daylight this piquet was attacked in force by the enemy, and its garrison driven in. It was, however, brilliantly re-taken by Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, as soon as the day broke, at a loss to the enemy of nearly 60 killed. For the particulars of this most successful affair I beg to refer his Excellency to the enclosed reports from Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, and Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Wilde, C.B., who commands the Right Defences. I feel sure that I only anticipate his Excellency's judgment in stating that I consider the re-capture of the "Crag" by Major Keyes a most brilliant exploit. The decision and determination Major Keyes displayed stamp him as possessing some of the highest qualifications of an officer, and I recommend him strongly to his Excellency's favour.

4. Major Keyes in his report brings to notice the distinguished conduct of Lieutenant Pitcher, Adjutant 1st Punjab Infantry, and of Lieutenant Fosbery, of the late 4th European Regiment, and recommends them for the Victoria Cross. I place his recommendation, in which I entirely concur, in the hands of his Excellency, and would further submit that Major Keyes himself well deserves the same distinction.

5. Major Brownlow, commanding the 20th Punjab Native Infantry, became, on the arrival of the Regiment at the ground, the senior Officer, but immediately adopted Major Keyes' suggestion that he should advance by a ridge which runs to the right of the Crag and threaten the enemy's rear. There is no doubt that this movement most materially aided the success of Major Keyes' attack in front, though it deprived Major Brownlow of the opportunity of sharing in the actual conflict at the Crag.

6. With reference to the list of Native Officers and men who distinguished themselves, given in Major Keyes' report, I have the honour to state that a Standing Committee has been formed in camp to investigate all such claims, and that its proceedings shall be forwarded as soon as practicable.

7. I enclose a Casualty Roll.

8. I think I have only to add to this report that the 14th Native Infantry joined the force on the 27th, and the 4th Goorkha Regiment, and half No. 3 Punjab Light Field Battery, on the 29th instant.

9. A copy of this report has been forwarded to Colonel Norman, C B., for the information of the Government.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Flank Piquets, to the Assistant Adjutant-General, Eusufzye Field Force,—(Dated Umbeyla Pass, the 31st October, 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to forward, for the information of Brigadier-General Sir Neville Chamberlain, K C.B., the enclosed reports of the successful defeats of the enemy, on the 25th and 30th of October, when they attacked the advance piquets of the Right Defence.

2. Major C. P. Keyes, Commandant of the 1st Punjab Infantry, commanded in person on both occasions, and from my knowledge of the ground and scene of their operations, and from enquiries made on the spot as soon as I could reach these piquets, I can confidently assert that his conduct and management of the troops as they successively reached him in support, mainly contributed to the signal defeat of the enemy.

3. The attack upon the "Crag" piquet, occupied as it was by the enemy in force, was, by the concurrent testimony of all the officers and men who witnessed it, a most daring and brilliant feat of arms, and to Major Keyes is due the credit of not only having planned it, but in person he led on his men to the assault with a perseverance and intrepidity never surpassed.

4. Major Keyes was gallantly supported by Lieutenant Fosbery, of the late 4th European Regiment, and his Adjutant, Lieutenant H. Pitcher, and I trust that the Brigadier-General will deem the conduct of Major Keyes and his officers deserving of a recommendation to his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, for the reward of gallantry so highly prized by an officer serving in Her Majesty's Forces.

Major C. P. Keyes and Lieutenant Pitcher were both wounded in the assault on the piquet.

From Major C. P. Keyes Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, Punjab Irregular Force, to the Assistant Adjutant-General, Eusufzye Field Force. —(Dated Camp, Umbeyla Pass, the 31st October, 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of Brigadier-General Sir Neville Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Ensufzye Field Force, the particulars of an attack made by the enemy, on the morning of the 30th October, 1863, upon the advance piquets of the Right Defence, the whole of which were held by the 1st Punjab Infantry and a Company of the Guide Corps under my command.

2. Above the main piquets is a high rock, which I will, for reference, call "The Crag." The ascent to this is most precipitous, the path leading to its top narrow and difficult, and where the summit is reached there is but little level ground to stand upon: it was, however, necessary to occupy it, as it commanded the lower piquets, and I placed a small party of 12 men in it, as much as it could conveniently hold. About half an hour before daylight on the morning of the 30th instant, heavy firing commenced on the "Crag," and it soon appeared that the piquet was hard pressed by the enemy. I immediately detached all the men I could spare from the lower piquets in support, and accompanied by Lieutenant H. W. Pitcher, the Adjutant of the 1st Punjab Infantry, I advanced myself with about 20 picked men to their assistance, but before I could reach the top of the "Crag" my small party there had been overpowered and driven off the "rocks," though they still were holding the ground lower down the hill.

Finding this important position lost, I ordered my men to take cover from the enemy's fire beneath the overhanging rocks, about 20 paces from the summit, and determined to wait till daylight should enable me to distinguish friend from foe, and reinforcements should reach me from Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Defence.

As the day broke, I observed the 20th Punjab Native Infantry enter the main piquet below, and convinced of the danger of allowing the "Crag" to remain for even so short a time in the enemy's hands, I directed my men to fix swords and charge. After a most exciting and hand-to-hand fight, we recovered the position, driving the enemy out at the point of the bayonet, with a loss to them of 54 killed on the spot and 7 wounded.

Difficult from the nature of the ground, and hazardous as undoubtedly the undertaking was, I felt that should the enemy (many hundreds of whom were in the rear) once understand that their advanced party had gained an advantage over our own troops, they would quickly occupy the position in force, and render the lower piquets untenable from their raking fire. The result proved the correctness of my view of the case, and the signal defeat of the enemy on the "Crag," and the sight of their three standards still flying on the piquet where they had planted them, but surrounded by our own instead of their men, seem to have conveyed a panic to the rest, and they quickly disappeared down the mountain.

4. From the nature of the approach to the top of the "Crag," amongst the large rocks, one or two men only could advance at one time, and while I ascended one path I directed Lieutenant Fosbery of the late 4th European Regiment, to push up another at the head of a few men. He led this party with the greatest coolness and intrepidity, and was the first man to gain the top of the "Crag" on his side of the attack. Lieutenant H. W. Pitcher, equally cool and daring, led a party of men up to the last rock, until he was knocked down and stunned by a large stone thrown from above within a few yards of him.

If the Victoria Cross be the award for coolness and daring courage in the presence of great danger, these two officers have well earned that distinction. This is the second time within the last few days that it has been my duty to report upon the high soldier-like qualities possessed by Lieutenant H. W. Pitcher, Adjutant 1st Punjab Infantry.

5. Lieutenant Fosbery, of the late 4th European Regiment, had been on duty the day before at my piquet with a party of sharpshooters of Her Majesty's 71st and 101st Regiments, and remained at my piquet during the night, expecting to be on duty in the morning—when attacked he joined my Regiment, and I beg to record the assistance he gave me and the excellent service he performed.

6. The following Native Officers and men were most forward on the occasion :—

Subadar Ahmed Khan, Guide Corps.

Sepoy Summunder, Guide Corps (made himself especially conspicuous) ; also a Havildar and four men of the same Corps who were under fire within 25 yards of the enemy, but whose names I don't know.

Subadar Bahador Habeeb Khan, Subadar Major.
Subadar Pyabb.
Jemadar Toolsee.
Havildar Neaz Mahomed.

Havildar Syud Mahomed.

Assistant Adjutant-General.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Army Head Quarters,—(No. 6, dated Camp, Crest of the Umbeyla Pass, the 7th November, 1863).

I HAVE the honour to continue my report of the proceedings of this force since the date of my last letter No. 5, dated 31st ultimo.

2. From the moment that the Bonairs placed themselves in declared hostility to us, it was evident that our line of communication by the Umbeyla defile could no longer be depended upon; and it became indispensable to seek some new line which should remove us further from the Gurroo Mountain, and unable us to communicate with our own territory, beyond the reach of the Bonair tribe. To this end Colonel Taylor, Chief Engineer with the force, has caused the approach to our camp from the heights above our right flank to be examined by the officers of his department, and has selected a line of road by the villages of Khanpore and Sherdurra which answers the required conditions, and will, with some labour, be made sufficiently practicable for our purpose. When the new road is ready, our base will be at Permouli, the nearest village in the plains where water is obtainable, instead of at Roostum.

3. Besides the new road to the rear, working parties have been employed for some days in making a road in the direction of Umbeyla along the western slopes of the right ridge. The road will supersede that by the gorge, which is extremely bad, and commanded on both sides, and will enable the troops, whenever the time comes, to march forward without coming under fire from the Gurroo Mountain.

4. From the date of my last report, until yesterday, the enemy attempted nothing more serious than firing as usual at our exposed breastworks and piquets, and advancing from time to time with standards, as if to attack the camp; these demonstrations were met with alacrity by our marksmen and the field guns in position, with some loss to the enemy, and little or none to ourselves. In the meanwhile the inactivity of the enemy has enabled me to employ the troops in improving the breastworks and defences generally, as well as the interior communications of the camp. Yesterday afternoon the enemy came out in considerable numbers and attacked the troops engaged in covering the working party which was making the new road to the front. I am sorry to say that in this attack we incurred some loss. I had gone down with the covering party in the morning, and finding that the officers with the covering party were all young and inexperienced, I placed it under command of my orderly officer, Major G. W. Harding, of the Bombay Staff Corps, whose conduct on previous occasions had led me to place entire confidence in his coolness and determination, although up to the commencement of these operations he had had no experience in actual warfare. Major Harding having been unfortunately killed whilst in the execution of this duty, it has not been possible to ascertain with exactness the reasons which led him to delay the withdrawal of the covering party from the time when he received the order to that effect (certainly not later than two P.M.) until nearly dark. But there appears no doubt that he found it difficult to bring away some of his party who had been wounded: he consequently remained too long, and permitted himself to be surrounded. This was a serious error. When, however, Major Harding found himself overmatched and in difficulty, he behaved like a gallant soldier, and probably saved his detachment by his coolness and determination. Ensign Murray, of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, fell early in the action at the head of his men. The other officer killed, Lieutenant Dugal, 79th Highlanders, left the advanced breast-work without leave, accompanied by a single Sepoy, and is supposed to have been killed in attempting to join the covering party. My duty requires me to make this statement, though I cannot help appreciating the spirit which induced this officer to seek the post of danger. Lieutenants W. Battye, of the Guides, and J. S. Oliphant, 5th Goorkha Regiment, were wounded on this occasion.

5. The enclosed reports from Lieutenant Colonel Wilde, C.B., commanding the right defences, and Major Brownlow, commanding the advanced piquet, will afford His Excellency further information on the subject of this affair, and show the steps taken under my orders to reinforce and assist Major Harding. I regret to say that night having come on before the covering party got back to camp, it was impossible to recover the bodies of the killed until this morning, when troops were sent out for the purpose under Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B.

6. I enclose a Casualty Return.

7. A copy of this report has been sent to Colonel Norman, C.B., for the information of Government.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Defence, to Major T. Wright, Assistant Adjutant-General, Peshawur Division,—(No. 111, dated Camp, Umbeyla Pass, the 8th November, 1863).

IN obedience to your memorandum of to-day's date, I have the honour to forward the report of Major Brownlow, commanding the advance piquets of the right defence, connected with the attack made by the enemy on the piquets, under the command of the late Major Harding, on the 6th instant.

2. About two o'clock P.M. on the day in question, Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, C.B., of the Royal Engineers, and myself, directed the return of the working and covering parties on the new road towards camp. This order was issued on account of the distance these parties necessarily were from camp, and not with the knowledge that any attack was contemplated by the enemy. This order appears to have reached the late Major Harding, and it is impossible to say what his reasons were for not acting up to it.

3. About half-past three o'clock P.M. I received reports that Major Harding was being attacked in force by the enemy, and proceeded immediately to the advance piquets, sending to head-quarters for reinforcements, and in less than an hour the Peshawur Mountain Train and 350 Riflemen of the 4th and 5th Goorkha Regiments reached me at Major Keyes' piquet.

4. Before my arrival Major Brownlow had sent out every available man to reinforce the supports to Major Harding's piquets, and Lieutenant Jenkins in command of two companies of the Corps of Guides had proceeded to occupy the head of the spur below which Major Harding's piquet was situated. Lieutenant Jenkins performed this duty most ably, and drove back the enemy by charging them with his men and the 1st Punjab Infantry under Lieutenant Davidson when they attempted to gain a footing on the top of the ridge. It was eventually to this part of the field that Major Harding's party secured their retreat.

5. One hour only of the day remained when the reinforcements from camp reached me, and it became necessary to endeavour to cover the late Major Harding's retreat by the shortest route. I therefore directed Captain Chester, commanding the 4th Goorkha Regiment, to proceed in the direction of the beleaguered piquet across the lower spurs; this was done, as far as the nature of the country and the light permitted, and Captain Chester's movements aided the retirement,—some of his men even reaching the spur upon which Major Harding was fighting.

The guns of the Mountain Train, protected by the 5th Goorkhas took up a position on one of the lower spurs, and checked the advance of the enemy on the piquet, also covering Captain Chester's advance to its assistance.

6. About sunset Major Harding commenced to retire up the ridge towards his supports, and the whole force gradually returned to camp. Major Harding was, I regret to say, wounded in the retirement, and was eventually lost in the darkness as his piquet fought its way up the ridge. He was the last man to leave the piquet, and his bearing throughout the day was that of a brave and gallant soldier.

7. Early on the morning of the 7th I had the honour to receive instruction from the Brigadier-General commanding the Eusufzye Field Force to move out with the troops as per margin*, to recover the bodies of Major Harding and Lieutenant Murray, who had been killed, as well as of the men who had fallen in actiou the evening before.

Small parties of the enemy appeared on the ground where the late Major Harding's piquet had been situated; these were quickly dispersed and driven into the plaius, and having collected seven Europeans and twenty-eight Natives who had fallen, I returned to camp without any casualty.

8. The enemy, I believe, must have suffered severely the day before, as they were seen by this column removing many of their slain, and they showed no inclination to meet the troops.

From Major C. H. Brownlow, Commanding Advance Piquets Right Defence, to Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Defence,—(dated Umbeyla Pass, the 8th November, 1863).

I HAVE the honour to report that, in obedience to the instructions received from you, for the protection of the working parties below this piquet, on the 6th instant, I detached one hundred men of the 20th Punjab Infantry under Lieutenant J. Bartleman to cover their immediate front, and posted a similar number of the 1st Punjab Infantry under Lieutenant W. Unwin on the head of the ridge beyond the one at the foot of which the fatigue party was working, with instructions to Lieutenant Unwin to send patrols down the ridge as far as he could with reference to their safety, My orders to Lieutenant Bartleman were, to keep two or three hundred yards in front of the working parties, aud to communicate with Colonel Taylor, C.B., (who I understood would be with them), in case of doubt.

About eleven o'clock I perceived from my post, that Lieutenant Bartleman's party had been pushed forward to a spot low down the ridge, the top of which was in possession of Lieutenant Unwin's party. Between one and two P.M. I saw that a company of the 71st Highland Light Infantry and one of Goorkhas had reinforced the covering party on the ridge, and learnt that the late Major Harding was in command of the whole.

I had already sent Captain Rogers with 50 men, 20th Punjab Infantry, and 50 men, 1st Punjab Infantry, by the road above my piquet and down the ridge above alluded to. These men were to relieve a similar number of their respective corps, or to remain, if necessary, as a reinforcement.

About half-past twelve in the day, hearing that Major Harding was anxious lest the enemy should get above him, and wished the party of the 1st Punjab Infantry strengthened, I sent a company of the Guides under Lieutenant Battye to join Lieutenant Unwin; and at two P.M., observing the enemy moving in considerable numbers, I sent a further reinforcement to that point of two companies of the Guides under Captain Jenkins, and 80 men of the 1st Punjab Infantry under Captain Davidson, being all the men I had at my disposal.

Your instructions for the working parties to be withdrawn, and the covering parties to retire up the hill, reached me about half-past twelve at noon. I forwarded your letter at once to Major Harding, and it reached that officer while he was with the detachment of the 1st Punjab Infantry on the top of the hill, as stated by Lieutenant Unwin in his report. This must have been about one o'clock at latest.

On your arrival at the piquet I proceeded, according to your orders, with the Mountain Train Battery of Captain Hughes, and a company of the 5th Goorkhas, to assist in bringing off the covering party, with what result you are yourself aware.

I beg to enclose the reports of Captain Rogers and Lieutenants Bartleman and Unwin.

Assistant-Adjutant General.

I HAVE the honour to continue my report of the proceedings of this force from the date of my last letter No. 6 of the 7th instant.

2. Within the last few days the enemy have received the long-expected reinforcements from Bajour. On the 11th they showed in large numbers about Umbeyla, whence considerable bodies ascended the hills in the direction of Lalloo, on our right front, and evidently with the intention of attacking the piquets on that flank of the camp. These piquets were accordingly reinforced, and their breastworks and defences strengthened. The Crag piquet in particular has been much enlarged and strengthened since the last occasion of its being attacked (30th ultimo), and has now been made capable of containing a garrison of 160 men. It has also been supported by the guns of the Peshawur Mountain Train, which have been placed in position in the main piquet. On the night of the twelfth instant the Crag piquet, then under command of Major Brownlow, 20th Punjab Native Infantry, with garrison as per margin,* was very hotly attacked by the enemy, who made repeated assaults upon it, all of which, however, were repelled by the steadiness of the defenders, most ably directed by Major C. H. Browlow, whose name is already familiar to his Excellency for his admirable conduct when covering the retirement of the reconnoitring party on the 22nd ultimo, and for his gallant defence of the Eagle's Nest piquet on the 26th ultimo. The enemy, after repeatedly failing in the attempt to dislodge the piquet, withdrew towards morning, and the place of Major Brownlow and the men of the 20th Punjab Native Infantry was taken by Lieutenant Davidson and a detachment of the 1st Punjab Infantry. For further particulars of this night attack I refer his Excellency to Major Brownlow's report, appended.

3. About ten A.M. yesterday the enemy renewed their attack upon the Crag Piquet in a most determined manner, and, I regret to say, succeeded in driving out the defenders, who appear to have been seized with an unaccountable panic. Lieutenant J. P. Davidson, who commanded, behaved in a most heroic manner, and after endeavouring in every way to recall his men to a sense of their duty, was killed at his post. His Excellency will, I am sure, join with me in regreting the loss of so gallant and promising an officer.

4. The loss of the Crag was for the time being, as far as practicable, met in the most resolute and praiseworthy way by Major Ross, who commanded the advanced defences; Major Keyes, Commanding the 1st Punjab Infantry (who was suffering from the wound he received on the 30th ultimo), and the following officers, namely, Lieutenant Inglis, of the 14th Native Infantry, and Lieutenants Pitcher and Young, of the 1st Punjab Infantry. These officers, with as many men as they could collect, advanced to the front from the main piquet; and though not in sufficient numbers to succeed in re-taking the Crag, they arrested the torrent, so to say, and by their determined bearing prevented the enemy from improving their advantage until reinforcements could be brought up from below. In this they were most materially aided by Captain Hughes, Commanding the Peshawur Mountain Train, and his two Subalterns, Lieutenant Conolly and Pemberton, who by the correctness of their fire and their readiness of resource under most trying circumstances, well sustained the honour of the Royal Artillery. For further particulars I must refer his Excellency to the annexed reports from Major Ross and Major Keyes.

5. I was in the Camp below when the Crag piquet fell into the hands of the enemy, and my attention having been accidentally drawn to the unusual dust and confusion caused by the rush of camp followers and animals down the hill, I felt convinced that some reverse had occurred, and immediately sent forward Her Majesty's 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, which was fortunately under arms for another purpose. Almost immediately afterwards I received information from Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Wilde, C.B., who commands the right defences, that the piquet had been taken by the enemy, and thereupon gave orders to Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury that his regiment should push up the hill as fast as practicable, and retake it at any cost. Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde had already proceeded to the spot with such reinforcements as were immediately available, and on the arrival of the 101st promptly organised the attack. The hill was stormed by Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury and the 101st in a manner worthy of the distinguished reputation of the regiment,—the detachments of Native Regiments, which, as above mentioned, had gallantly held their ground until the arrival of the 101st, joining in and vieing with the British regiment in driving out the enemy. For further particulars I beg to refer to Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde s report, which is annexed.

6. The temporary loss of the Crag picquet is, of course, cause of great mortification to the officers and men of the regiments concerned, and is the first success which the enemy has been able to obtain over any portion of the force. In forming his opinion upon this partial reserve, I trust the Commander in-Chief will not overlook the circumstances that the same regiments which furnished the piquet when it was lost, are also those by which it was retaken.

7. I would ask the Commander-in-Chief's favourable notice of the officers mentioned in paragraphs 2, 4, and 5 of this report,* and in particular of Major Brownlow, to whose determination and personal example I attribute the preservation of the Crag piquet throughout the night of the 12th, and of Lieutenant Pitcher, who was severely wounded, and whose behaviour is spoken of in such high terms by his commanding officer, Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry. His Excellency will remember that I have already recommended Lieutenant Pitcher for the Victoria Cross for his conduct at the Crag piquet on the 30th ultimo. I beg also to be allowed to draw the Commander-in-Chief's attention to Lieutenant H. R. Young's conduct on this occasion, which was also most distinguished, and deserves special remark. Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, Commanding the Right Defences, is entitled to great credit for his promptness and decision when the piquet was driven in, and for the excellent and complete arrangements he made for its re-capture.

8. From information since received, and from the bodies left on the ground, it has been ascertained that the enemy consisted chiefly of Bajourtees and Swatees, with some of the Hindoostanees.

Assistant Adjutant-General.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde C.B., Commanding Right Defence, to Major T. Wright, Assistant Adjutant-General, Eusufzye Field Force,—(No. 5, dated Umbeyla Pass, the 15th November, 1863.)

ON the evening of the 12th instant, the enemy commenced their attack upon the piquets of the Right Defence, and continued them throughout the night with great spirit. The chief efforts of the enemy were directed against the "Crag" piquet, commanded by Major Brownlow, Commanding 20th Regiment Punjab Infantry, who defended that post most successfully, inflicting much loss upon his opponents. The attacks on the "Crag" piquet was again renewed on the morning of the 13th. Major Brownlow having been relieved by the late Lieutenant Davidson, of the 1st Punjab Infantry. By a sudden assault the enemy succeeded in dislodging this officer's party, and the loss of the post endangered the safety of the whole of the advanced piquet situated on that view. The enclosed reports as per margin,* which I have the honour to submit, describe these operations up to the time of the occupation of the "Crag" piquet by the enemy, which occurred about half-past ten o'clock A.M.

2. On the receipt of the news of this disaster, I ordered up Her Majesty's 101st Regiment to my assistance, and directed three Companies of the Corps of Guides to proceed at once to the front. On leaving my Camp with this reinforcement, I met the head of Her Majesty's 101st Foot ascending the hills, the Brigadier-General having already directed it to proceed without delay to the advanced piquets.

3. The Crag piquet from its locality was the key to the whole position, and its loss rendered the lower piquets untenable, when the full force of the enemy's fire should be brought to bear on them. On my arrival I found that the troops were being severely pressed. Major Ross, Commanding the advanced piquets, was half way up the Crag Piquet Hill gallantly holding the enemy in check, but unable, with the few men he had rallied round him, to advance and re-take the lost piquet. Parties of the enemy were attacking the lower piquets, but were kept back by the steadiness of the fire of Captain Hughes' Mountain Train Guns. The 1st Punjab Infantry, 20th Regiment Native Infantry, and two Companies of the Corps of Guides, still held the breastworks; but numerically the garrison was too weak to resist the numbers of the enemy advancing to its capture.

4. I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury, Commanding Her Majesty's 101st Regiment, to assault the Crag piquet with his Regiment, leaving one Company as a support in the main position, with two Companies of the Corps of Guides under Lieutenant Jenkins. The enemy were driven back in their advance on the right towards the guns, and this party then joined Colonel Salusbury in the assault on the Crag piquet with another party of the Corps of Guides and 1st Punjab Infantry. The enemy were attacked down the valley to the left. Her Majesty's 101st Foot, fatigued as they were by their rapid march to the relief of the troops in advance, never halted or broke till they had stormed the height and secured the piquet. Nothing could excel the soldier-like conduct of this Regiment. They started with the determination to perform the duty, and led on by Colonel Salusbury and his officers, they soon reached Major Ross' party on the hill, and together repulsed the enemy, driving him over the hills beyond.

5. With this success on the part of our troops, all opposition ceased, and order was as quickly restored as it had been previously disturbed by the suddenness and force of the enemy's attack. As necessarily must be the case in all fighting when the nature of the ground and the thickness of the brushwood renders it easy for the enemy to concentrate a large force upon a weak piquet, our loss was severe,—Lieutenant Davidson himself being killed ; but in their retreat the enemy suffered so much that they desisted from all further attack that day along the whole line of our defences.

6. In conclusion I have to record my appreciation of the services performed on the occasion by Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury, Commanding Her Majesty's 101st Regiment. Major Ross, Commandant of the 14th Native Infantry and Commanding the advanced piquets, added much to relieve the temporary loss of the piquet.

Major Brownlow, Commandant of the 20th Native Infantry, and Captain Hughes, Commanding Peshawur Mountain Train, displayed throughout the attacks of the enemy great firmness and presence of mind. Lieutenant F. Jenkins, Commanding a Wing of the Corps of Guides, led his men up the Crag Hill, and drove the enemy back from the right of the position with great gallantry.

From Major C. G. Ross, 14th Ferozepore Regiment, Commanding Advanced Piquets, to Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Defence Field Force,—(Dated the 14th November, 1863.)

I BEG to report the occurrences and engagements at the advanced piquets under my command on the 12th and 13th November, 1863.

During the day time on the 12th, large bodies of the enemy took position on the hill above the Crag piquet, which I therefore strongly reinforced and made over to Major Brownlow, 20th Regiment Native Infantry.

Captain Hughes, Royal Artillery, Commanding Peshawur Mountain Train, also under my orders, put two of his four guns into position on the left of my Camp, to get under fire the left shoulder of the hill on which is the Crag piquet, as well as the front of the centre piquet below.

I annex a report from each of these Officers.

During the night of the 12th from ten P.M., until four A.M. of the 13th, the enemy made incessant attacks and charges on the Crag piquet, which were steadily beaten off by Major Brownlow and the fire of the Mountain Train. At seven A.M., 13th November, the enemy threatened in force the centre and lower piquets, and I proceeded to those posts.

No serious attack, however, taking place, I returned to camp, and on reaching the lower part, found that the Crag piquet had been suddenly carried by the enemy, who were pouring a heavy fire into the camp, which was in great confusion. Collecting as many men of the 14th Native Infantry as I could, (the head-quarters body of the Corps were at the centre piquet below), and of the other regiments, we passed to the front of camp, where I was joined by Lieuteuant Inglis, 14th Native Infantry, and Young, 1st Punjab Infantry, who assisted me in endeavouring to get sufficient men together to re-carry the "Crag" piquet itself. This we could not do owing to the confusion, but with some men of those two regiments and of the Guides, we reached the steep rocks of the piquet itself, where, within a few paces, we kept up as heavy a fire as we could on the top of the rocks, until the arrival of Her Majesty's 101st Fusiliers, with whom we re-took the Crag piquet.

Finding Colonel Salusbury, of Her Majesty's 101st, there, I made over the command to him.

It is is my duty to mention the following officers and to request you to bring them to the Brigadier-General's notice :—

1. Major Brownlow, 20th Punjab Native Infantry, for his gallant defence of the "Crag" piquet during the entire night of the 12th November.

2. Captain Hughes, Peshawur Mountain Train, whose guns made the duties of the Infantry comparatively easy, and helped considerably in checking the enemy.

3. Major Keyes, who suffering and disabled by his wound commanded his regiment and breastwork throughout, and stopped the advance of the enemy after the "Crag" piquet had been carried by them.

4—5. Lieutenants Inglis and Young, the former 14th Regiment Native Infantry, the latter 1st Punjab Infantry, for cool and gallant conduct and discharge of their duty at a time of much confusion.

6. Subadar Major Secunder Khan, 14th (Ferozepore) Regiment Native Infantry.

7. Sepoy Gundah Sing, 5th Company 1st Regiment Punjab Infantry.

8. Sepoy Jowahir Sing, 1st Company 14th (Ferozepore) Regiment.

9. Sepoy Unnoop Sing, 3rd Company 14th (Ferozepore) Regiment.

10. Sepoy Sher Sing, 5th Company 14th (Ferozepore) Regiment.

I forward from Major Keyes, 1st Punjab Infantry, a report of a gallant charge on the advancing enemy made by Lieutenant Pitcher, of that Corps, but which did not come under my personal observation.

Also with regard to the loss of the "Crag" piquet itself, a report from the senior surviving officer, (Captain Davidson, 1st Punjab Infantry, who commanded at the time, having relieved Major Brownlow, was killed at his post,) Lieutenant A. D. C. Inglis, 14th Regiment Native Infantry.

I believe the piquet was surprised, and would beg the consideration of the Brigadier-General to the heavy loss sustained by the men composing it.

P.S.—I have omitted, among the names of the men whom it is my wish to recommend to the notice of the Brigadier-General, that of—

Nihal Sing, Sepoy Cook No. 3 Company 14th Regiment Native Infantry, who, on my calling the men to the front on the high piquet being taken by the enemy, seized the belt and musket of a wounded man, and was most forward in the advance.

Commanding 14th Regiment Native Infantry.

From Major C H. Brownlow, Commanding 20th Punjab Native Infantry, to Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde, C.B., Commanding Right Defence —(Dated the 14th November, 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to report as follows on the defence of the Crag piquet during the night of the 12th instant.

2. On my assuming command of the post at four P.M., the garrison consisted as under :—

15 marksmen 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, under the direction of Lieutenant Fosbery, Musketry Instructor.

115, 20th Punjab Infantry.

30, 14th Ferozepore Regiment.

3. The enemy occupied a level ridge about 250 yards to our front, his position extending more than half a mile in a direction facing our own. Between us lay a smooth hollow intersected by a ravine. The ground on our right and rear was precipitous, and almost unassailable in any force. The left face of the post was its weak point, rock and trees affording shelter to an attacking party till within a few yards of it.

4. Anticipating an attack, I had urged Lieutenant Bartleman, 20th Punjab Native Infantry, who commanded the piquet during the day, to use his utmost exertions to improve the position as much as he could, by heightening the breastwork, constructing an abattis, &c., a duty which he performed admirably.

5. Before dark I had every man in his place for the night, with strict orders as to the nature of his duties, and the direction of his fire in case of attack.

6. About ten P.M. their watch-fire showed us that the enemy were in movement, and descending in great numbers to the hollow in our front, which in half an hour was full of them. Their suppressed voices soon broke into yells of defiance, and they advanced in masses to our attack, their numbers being, so far as I could judge from sight and sound, at least 2,000. I allowed them to approach within 100 yards of us, and then opened a rapid and well sustained file fire from our front face, which, I believe, did great execution, and soon silenced their shouts and drove them under cover, some to the broken and wooded ground to our left, and the rest into the ravine below us.

7. In half an hour they rallied, and assembling in almost increased numbers, rushed to the attack, this time assaulting on our front as well as on the left. They were received with the greatest steadiness, and again recoiled before our fire. These attacks continued till four A.M., each becoming weaker than the last, and many of them being mere faints to enable them to carry off their dead and wounded.

8. During the night I received very valuable assistance from Captain Hughes' Mountain Battery. From his position, about 250 yards below and in the right rear of the Crag, he made most successful practice, being guided as to direction and range by voice from our post. Before the attack commenced, he pitched two shells into the watch-fire of the enemy, which must have done considerable damage.

9. The post was at one time in great danger of being forced at its left front angle, which from its position was badly protected by our fire. The enemy clambered, and assailing its occupants with stones from our breastwork, stunned and drove them back at this critical moment. The gallantry of the undermentioned men saved the post; answering my call when others wavered, they followed me into the corner, and hurling stones on the enemy who was close under our wall and sheltered from musketry, drove him back and rebuilt the parapet, holding the point for the rest of the night:—

} 20th Punjab Native Infantry.

10. I beg to append a Return of Casualties, which, I am glad to add, were not very serious, as owing to the darkness of the night, the enemy did not fire much or effectively.

11. In the morning, not more than eight or ten of the enemy were in sight, and my men having been forty-eight hours on piquet, during which time they had worked all day and watched all night, were completely worn out; their muskets also were so foul that they could scarcely load. I therefore applied to Major Ross, commanding the advanced piquet, for a relief, and at eight A.M. made over command of the post to the late Captain J. P. Davidson, who came with a detachment of the 1st Punjab Infantry.

(Signed) C. H. BROWNLOW, Major,
Commanding 20th Punjab Native Infantry.

From Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, to Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wide, C.B., Commanding Right Defence,—(Dated Camp, Umbeyla Pass, the 16th November, 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to report that, on the morning of the 13th November, I was on the standard hill of "Keyes' Right Piquet" with Lieutenant Conolly of the Peshawur Mountain Train, who was preparing a platform for his guns on the side of the hill for the protection of "Keyes' Centre" and "Cliff" piquets. Constant firing was heard at the "Crag" piquet, but it did not attract any particular notice, as heavy firing had been kept up there all night, and was continued at intervals after the relief of the piquet. While at the platform I received a note from the late Captain Davidson, who was commanding the piquet, to say that he had only 90 men with him, which he did not consider sufficient. I immediately sent him up a reinforcement of 30 rifles under a Native officer, all that could be spared, as a serious attack was expected on the "Centre" and "Cliff" piquets.

2. Shortly after this reinforcement reached the "Crag" piquet, I observed, as I was descending the standard hill, the men of the "Crag" piquet rushing down in confusion. I did not see the commencement of the retreat, as the position was not visible from the platform where I was at the time. I immediately proceeded to the breastwork across the road by which the main post is approached from the "Crag"; here I rallied all the men that I could together, and kept up a heavy fire, which was taken up by Captain Hughes' guns; this checked the advance of the enemy; but, as many wounded and others from the "Crag" rushed past the breastwork and could not be stopped, a panic was communicated to our camp-followers, who took to flight and increased the confusion. These men retreating had a visible effect upon all, and I felt the necessity of an advance to re-assure those that were wavering, and to further check the enemy until reinforcement should arrive. I therefore directed a few men to remain in the breast-work, and ordered the rest to "charge"—Lieutenants Pitcher and Young, of the 1st Punjab Infantry, headed this charge. A small detachment of the Guides that were in charge of the rear defence of our post was brought up by Lieutenant Forlong, of that corps, and gallantly proceeded to support Lieutenant Pitcher; they were too weak, however, to regain the "Crag," which with the greatest coolness and daring, they attempted to assault, but they had to fall back on the rocks. I got together a few more men whom I sent up to support them.

3. Major Ross, commanding the post, arrived at this time from the lower piquet. I considered my presence at the breastwork absolutely necessary to keep the men together; the duty therefore of leading the first charge devolved upon Lieutenant Pitcher, and I beg to bring to the special notice of the Brigadier-General Commanding the admirable manner in which he performed this important duty; he was by many yards the foremost of his party, and the gallant bearing of this excellent young officer was the admiration of all spectators. It is impossible to say too much or to over-rate his services on this occasion. Lieutenant Pitcher was severely wounded, and was obliged to be carried back. I beg also to bring to the special notice of the Brigadier-General Commanding the gallant conduct of Lieutenant Young—this officer ably assisted Lieutenant Pitcher throughout, and made himself most conspicuous for his coolness and gallantry, which was witnessed by all below, and elicited the special notice of Major Ross, Commanding.

4. The following men also distinguished themselves:—

,,	Shurruff Khan,	No. 8 ,,
,,	Zurreef,	No. 1 ,,

A Casualty Return and Returns of arms and accoutrements lost on this occasion, is herewith enclosed.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Army Head-Quarters, —(No. 8, dated Camp, heights above the Umheyla Pass, the 21*st November*, 1863.)

IN continuation of my former reports, I have the honour to report for the information of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that at daylight on the morning of the 18th instant, the whole of our piquets on the Gurroo Mountains, under Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan's command, consisting of the Huzara Mountain Train, and 3rd, 5th, and 6th Punjab Infantry, were withdrawn, and the entire camp and troops transferred to the heights on the south of the Pass, which position alone the force has since occupied.

2. In anticipation of this change of position the Commissariat stores, reserve ammuuition, &c., &c., had been gradually removed, on previous days, to the eastern ridge. The guns of Captain Griffin's Battery were removed from the advanced breast-work of camp late on the evening of the 17th, and placed in the new position, so as to cover the withdrawal of the piquets from the Gurroo. They were replaced temporarily by two guns of the Huzara Mountain Train from the Gurroo. Every precaution was at the same time taken to prevent the enemy from suspecting the intended movement, and the troops, both on the Gurroo, and in the front line of defence, continued, up to the last moment, to strengthen their breastworks and defences. These precautions were successful; and though the enemy's piquets on the Gurroo were not 400 yards above our own, the withdrawal was effected without their knowledge, and in the most perfect order.

3. The concentration of the whole of the troops on the eastern heights made it necessary to extend the position, and particularly to secure the full command of the water, on which the whole force was now dependent. With this view, the troops as per margin,* moved out under my personal command, as soon as the change of position was completed, to drive the enemy from what has since been known as the "Water Ridge." This was very quickly effected by an advance and charge of the 1st and 6th Punjab Infantry, with the loss on our side of three men wounded, and some of the enemy killed. The troops were then placed in position to protect the 5th Punjab Infantry and 32nd Pioneer Regiment, which were employed as a working party under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor, C.B., Chief Engineer, in stockading a piquet to command the water. The troops were withdrawn to camp in the evening, under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, 5th Punjab Infantry, the new work having been completed and occupied. I may here mention by anticipation that the position of the piquet having been found to be more advanced than was necessary, it was abandoned on the following day, the 19th, and a new position chosen and stockaded about three hundred yards to the rear.

4. On discovering the camp and piquets on the Gurroo to have been vacated by the troops, the enemy seem to have supposed that the force was in retreat, and with this idea, came into the gorge in great numbers, both from Umbeyla and from the Gurroo, and thence, about eleven A.M., commenced an attack upon what had now become the left front of our position. Our defences at the point principally attacked, consisted of some small breastworks, thrown up on the side of the hill to cover the piquets, connecting what have been called in my previous reports, the "Advanced Right Piquets," with the camp in the gorge below. It was not my intention to hold these breastworks permanently, after the camp had been removed from the gorge; but it was necessary to hold them during the day of the 18th to prevent the enemy from pressing upon the camp and firing into it before the troops were thoroughly established on their new position. These breastworks were held, on the morning of the 18th, by 130 men of the 14th Native Infantry, who, being greatly outnumbered by the enemy, were in the first instance compelled to give way, but being reinforced by the troops, as per margin,* re-took the post, and drove back the enemy. The enemy, however, having gained a large accession of numbers, re-attacked the piquets, when it became necessary for the two lowest down on the hill to fall back on the third, which was nearer the camp breastworks. I regret to say that our loss on this occasion wus very considerable, including the following officers:—

Captain C. F. Smith, of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, an Officer of long and good service; Lieutenant H. H. Chapman, Adjutant of the 101st Regiment, who had been sent by his Commanding Officer to convey an order, and who, feeling that his own wound was mortal, begged of his men to leave him, and to assist Captain Smith to the rear instead. His regiment has lost in Lieutenant Chapman an admirable Adjutant, and the service a most promising officer; Lieutenant T. S. G. Jones, of the 79th Highlanders, who, on officers being called for for the Force, had joined the 71st Light Infantry as a volunteer; and Lieutenant W. F. Mosley, of the 14th Native Infantry, who was shot when the lower piquets were forced to retire. The conduct of C. C. G. Ross, Commandant of the 14th Native Infantry, on this occasion merited my approval, and I again beg to recommend him to his Excellency's notice, having already done so for his conduct at the Crag piquet on the 13th instant.

5. I may here mention, by anticipation, that the bodies of those killed on this occasion, and which could not be brought in at the time, were recovered on the morning of the 21st instant, by a force employed for that purpose under the direction of Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, of the 5th Punjab Infantry, when twelve of the enemy were killed.

6. The piquet upon which the lower piquets had retired was withdrawn after dark on the 18th agreeably to my previous intention. On its withdrawal the enemy pressed on, and some few of them endeavoured to annoy the camp until at a late hour of the night, but without making any serious attack.

7. Throughout the 19th the enemy kept up a fire upon the Crag and Water Piquets. I regret to say that Captain R. B. Aldridge, 71st Highland Light Infantry, was killed at the latter, and Ensign C. M. Stockley, 101st Regiment, severely wounded at the former piquet.

8. About nine A.M. on the 20th, the enemy began to collect in great numbers near the Crag and Water Piquets, the Crag being, as before, the point principally threatened. They were, however checked in some degree by the fire of the Peshawur Mountain Train Guns, Captain Hughes, from previous experience and his acquaintance with the ground, knowing exactly on what points to bring his fire with most effect, even though the enemy were not visible from the battery. The Crag and Water Piquets also mutually supported one another by their cross fire at 450 yards. The detachment by which each of these posts was held is shown in the margin.*

9. Up to a late period of the afternoon the enemy had made no impression upon the Crag Piquet, though numerous standards had been gradually advanced under cover to within a few yards of the breastwork, but about three P.M. the unaccountable conduct of a portion of the garrison gave the enemy possession of the post. This was not, however accomplished without affording the officers and men who held the lower portion of the piquet the opportunity of distinguishing themselves by the resolute way in which they endeavoured to hold their portion of the post under very discouraging circumstances, and who only abandoned it when it was no longer tenable. These officers were Major H. G. Delafosse, of the 101st Regiment, who commanded the piquet; Captain R. G Rogers, of the 20th Punjab Native Infantry; Ensign A. R. Sanderson, and Staff Assistant-Surgeon W. Pile, both of the 101st Regiment. The two last officers were, I regret to say, killed at the breastwork whilst endeavouring to rally their men. The above officers were well supported by some of No. 5 Company of the 101st Regiment, and by some of the 20th Native Infantry.

10. On the fall of the Crag Piquet coming to my notice, I immediately ordered the 71st Highland Light Infantry and the 5th Goorkha Regiment to be got under arms and proceed to the upper Camp; and at the same time directed Captain Griffin's half Battery, and the two 24-pounder howitzers of No. 3 Punjab Light Field Battery under Captain T. H. Salt, to open fire upon the Crag, which they did in so efficient a manner as (joined to the fire of Captain Hughes' Mountain Train Guns) effectually prevented the enemy from attempting to occupy it in anything like large numbers On the 71st and Goorkha Regiment reaching the upper defences, I ordered Colonel Hope, C.B., Commanding the former Regiment, to storm the Crag in front, and Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, with the 5th Goorkha Regiment and 5th Punjab Infantry, to go round the hill, so as to take the lower portion of it in flank. The 71st discharged their duty in the most steady and soldier-like manner, led by Colonel Hope with a coolness which elicited the respect of all who witnessed it. The Crag was re-occupied, fortunately without much loss to ourselves, Lieutenant S. Beckett, of the 5th Punjab Infantry, being one of the first to reach the summit, and Colonel Hope then pushed forward in pursuit of the enemy, having been joined by Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan's Column, and drove them for some distance over the heights in the direction of Lalloo. After continuing the pursuit as far as seemed prudent, Colonel Hope led the troops back towards the Crag, and I much regret to say, was severely wounded whilst superintending the re-occupation of the piquet, which, at his special request, was garrisoned for the night by 200 men of his own Regiment.

11. I considered it my duty to accompany the storming Column, and whilst ascending the hill, was wounded in the arm. Lieutenant Anderson, Adjutant of the 3rd Punjab Cavalry, my Orderly Officer, was also wounded.

12. I must not omit to mention with highest commendation the excellent service rendered by he Artillery, both previous to and during the ssault of the Crag; and I beg to bring the names f the officers Commanding Batteries* to the avourable notice of his Excellency the Comnander-in-Chief. Captain Hughes' guns were erved under a heavy fire, and their position namely, on the upper defences immediately adoining the Crag, made their assistance most aluable at a very critical moment.

13. I beg to enclose Casualty Returns of the 18th, 19th, and 20th instant.

From Brigadier-General Sir N. Chamberlain, K.C.B., Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, to the Adjutant-General, Head Quarters, Camp Nowshera,—(No. 9, dated Camp, Heights above the Umbeyla Pass, the 25th November, 1863).

MY wound has proved more serious than I expected, and it is with the greatest regret that I have to request that his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief will be pleased, at the earliest practicable date, to relieve me of my command, the duties of which will, I feel sure, be efficiently discharged by Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Wilde, C.B., the next senior officer, until the arrival of my successor.

2. My connection with the force being thus about to terminate, it is my duty to bring to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief the excellent conduct of the troops, both British and Native, since they have been in the field. The nature of the service has made the duty unusually heavy, and the troops have been under arms and on duty almost day and night. On no occasion, however, has there been the smallest murmur on this account, and every duty has been performed with the most cheerful alacrity.

3. His Excellency will, I feel sure, consider it most satisfactory that, though the ranks of the native regiments contain members of almost every tribe on the frontier, including those which are fighting against us, there have been desertions and no backwardness, in any instance, to engage the enemy.

4. The services of every regiment with the force have, in one or other of my reports, been brought to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief, with the exception of the 32nd Punjab Native Infantry (Pioneers) under Major Morgan, and the 4th and 5th Companies of the Sappers and Miners under Lieutenant Tucker. The nature of the service has made it indispensable to employ the 32nd altogether on the defences and lines of communication, and I take this opportunity of saying that its services, and those of the sapper companies, have been of the greatest value to the force. With regard to the 32nd, such was the paucity of men that, even when they had laboured during the day at the breastworks and roads, it was impossible to avoid putting a portion of them on duty at night for the defence of the camp. The discipline of the regiment and their conduct reflects great credit on Major Morgan and his officers. I believe too that the services of the Guide Infantry have been less prominently alluded to in my later reports than they deserve. This has arisen from the regiment having been chiefly employed in detachments to reinforce and support the troops in front. I therefore wish here to notice the excellent service rendered by two companies of the regiment under Captain Jenkins, second in command, on the 6th instant, when in support of the covering party under the late Major Harding, on which occasion Lieutenant Battye, doing-duty officer, was wounded; and of three companies under Captain Jenkins, which acted in concert with the 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers in the recovery of the Crag piquet on the 13th instant.

5. I may also mention here that, although there was no scope for the employment of the few cavalry (11th Bengal Cavalry and Guide Cavalry) retained in camp as such, yet they always took dismounted duty, and were most useful in aiding in the night defence of the camp.

6. I would next wish to bring to his Excellency's notice the very meritorious conduct of the whole of the officers of the force, from whom I have at all times received the most cordial support, and whose services I would beg to be allowed thus publicly to acknowledge. The officers whom I would particularly beg to notice are as follows:—

Colonel Hope, C.B., commanding 71st Highland Light Infantry, who had command of the front defences from the time of the arrival of the force in the Umbeyla Pass until the time of its changing position to the eastern heights, and whose distinguished conduct at the re-taking of the Crag piquet was particularly noticed in my Report No. 8.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. T. Wilde, C.B., Commandant of the Guide Corps, who commanded the right defences to my entire satisfaction, and who, although the position his regiment occupied in the camp did not give him the opportunity of gaining distinction in actual conflict with the enemy, has rendered me the most constant and valuable aid, and I would particularly allude to the excellent arrangements he made for the re-capture of the Crag piquet when it was taken by the enemy on the 13th November, as noticed in my Report No. 7.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Vaughan, Commandant 5th Punjab Infantry, who commanded the left defences from the time of the arrival of the force in the Umbeyla Pass to its changing its position to the right heights with my confidence and approval. His conduct on the occasion of the attack by the enemy on the "Eagle's Nest" and piquets on the Gurroo Mountain was most favourably reported upon in my Report No. 4. After the change of position, he commanded the upper camp, and his services were again mentioned in my Report No. 8. He has at all times rendered me the most cordial assistance and support. I consider him a most intelligent officer.

Lieutenant-Colonel A. Taylor, C.B, Royal Engineers, Chief Engineer with the force, who has afforded me throughout the most hearty co-operation, and whose services have been of great assistance to the force. With Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor's name, I would wish to connect those of his Subalterns, Lieutenants H. F. Blair, J. Browne, and T. T. Carter, all of the Royal Engineers, who, whether when engaged with the enemy, or when employed in their more regular duties, have well upheld the reputation of their corps. Lieutenant Carter joined the force to carry out the objects of the Trigonometrical Survey, and volunteered his services under Lieutenant-Colonel Taylor.

Captain J. S. Tulloh, Royal Artillery, Senior Artillery Officer with the force, who most cheerfully overcame all difficulties, and in whose opinion, in all matters connected with his arm of his service, I had perfect confidence. With Captain Tulloh's name I would wish to connect those of Captain F. C. Griffin and Captain T. H. Salt, commanding half batteries of Field Artillery, whose services were recorded in my Reports Nos. 5 and 8, and of Captain F. R. DeBude and Captain T. Hughes, commanding the Mountain Batteries. In Captains DeBude and Hughes the service has two officers most admirably fitted for the command of Mountain Batteries, and who, by their zeal, have, I believe, brought this arm of the service to as great a degree of efficiency as the ordnance at present in use will admit of. Captain DeBude's services have been recorded in my Report No. 4, and Captain Hughes' in my Reports Nos. 3, 7, and 8.

Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury, commanding 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, whom I have found most zealous in the discharge of every duty, and whose distinguished conduct in the re-taking of the Crag piquet on the 13th November was specially alluded to in my Report No. 7.

Major Ross, commanding 14th Native Infantry, whom I consider an officer of most soldierly determination, and whose excellent conduct on the 13th and 18th November has been specially noticed in my Reports Nos. 7 and 8.

Major C. H. Brownlow, Commandant 20th Punjab Native Infantry, who particularly distinguished himself when covering the retreat of the reconnoitring party, 22nd October; when commanding the "Eagle's Nest" piquet, 26th October; and when commanding the Crag piquet on the night of the 12th November, as related in my Reports Nos. 2, 4, and 7. In addition to any other mark of approval his Excellency may consider this officer to deserve, I would most strongly recommend him as having well earned the distinction of the Victoria Cross by his personal gallantry on each occasion of his being engaged.

Major C. P. Keyes, Commandant 1st Punjab Infantry, whose distinguished conduct on every occasion of his being engaged has been specially brought to notice in my various Reports Nos. 1, 3, 5, and 7, and whose claim to the Victoria Cross for his services on the 30th October I submitted for his Excellency's consideration in my Report No. 5. His services have been of the utmost value to the force.

Captain W. D. Hoste, Commandant 6th Punjab Infantry. I beg to thank this officer for his cheerful and soldierly bearing, and for his marked gallantry at the head of his regiment, on the 26th October, as related in my Report No. 4.

Surgeon Simpson, 71st Highland Light Infantry, Senior Medical Officer with the British portion of the force, on whom it devolved to make all arrangements for the sick and wounded of the British troops, which duty he performed to my entire satisfaction.

Surgeon H. B. Buckle, of the 1st Punjab Infantry, Senior Medical Officer with the native portion of the force, who superintended all arrangements for the numerous Native sick and wounded in the most zealous and efficient manner, which I particularly wish to bring to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief.

Captain T. H. Jenkins, in charge of the Commissariat Department of the force, two whom the force is highly indebted for his untiring exertions to keep it supplied. I can accord him no greater praise than to place upon record that the force was throughout as well supplied as if it had been in cantonments. I beg to bring his services especially to the notice of the Commander-in-Chief.

7. Although Lieutenant-Colonel Probin, who commanded the small party of cavalry in camp, was only afforded the opportunity of conducting the reconnoitring party in the Chumla Valley on 22nd October, and of charging the enemy, who endeavoured to cut off his return to camp, still I feel that I should not be just were I to omit to bring to notice his extreme desire to have his men employed on every duty where it was possible to employ dismounted cavalry, and the cheerful manner in which he made his own services available on every possible occasion.

8. In giving prominence to the names of the above officers, I beg to express my hope that the services of officers whose names have been brought to notice in my previous reports, but who are not mentioned in the above list, will also obtain the favourable consideration of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief; and I would also beg to acknowledge the services of my Staff, namely, Lieutenant-Colonel Allgood, Assistant Quarter-master-General, who discharged his duties to my satisfaction, and afforded me every assistance, Major Wright, Assistant Adjutant-General, and Lieutenant F. N. Mackenzie (Staff Officer, Punjab Irregular Force), Lieutenant W. C. Anderson, and Lieutenant H. S. Jarrett, who acted as my Orderly Officers, and gave me perfect satisfaction.

9. I annex to this report a nominal roll of three Privates* of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, and of one Sergeant, one Lance Corporal, and four

* 71st Highland Light Infantry.—Privates William Clapperton, George Stewart, William Malcolm.

Privates* of the 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, who are recommended by the officers commanding those regiments for their distinguished gallantry. If the acts of gallantry for which they are recommended are not deemed by the Commander-in-Chief of a nature to give all of them a claim to the Victoria Cross, I trust his Excellency will be able to find some other means of rewarding them. Authority has already been given me to admit to the Order of Merit those Native officers and soldiers who have distinguished themselves, and it will be acted upon without delay.

10. In conclusion I beg to acknowledge the hearty co-operation I have received throughout from Colonel Reynell Taylor, C.B., who has been, up to within the last few days, Chief Civil and Political Officer in camp. Colonel Taylor used every possible endeavour to procure information of the movements and proceedings of the enemy, and when the situation of affairs afforded little scope for political negotiations, both he and his Assistant, Captain A. A. Munro, Deputy Commissioner of Peshawur, resumed their position as Military Officers, and accompanied the troops when engaged with the enemy.

11. To make my reports complete, I enclose a general casualty return, showing all the casualties in the force up to date.

Captain Butler, V.C., when the piquet was desperately assaulted by an immense number of the enemy. Major Brownlow, who commanded the post, has reported them for their coolness and gallantry on the occasion, and this report was duly forwarded through Brigadier Wilde, C.B. I now attach a letter which was addressed for my information by Captain Butler on the 3rd December.

This soldier* behaved with extreme gallantry and coolness, when the 101st Regiment assaulted and re-took the "Crag" piquet on the 13th November, 1863, and was one of the leading men at the top of the hill with me; three of the other leading men were shot as they entered the breastwork. I personally witnessed this soldier's gallantry and good example.

These two soldiers† behaved with great coolness and gallantry at the Crag piquet on the 20th November, 1863, when the piquet was assaulted and taken by the enemy. Major Delafosse, who commanded the piquets, reports highly on their conduct; his letter is attached. A report was previously forwarded through Brigadier Wilde, C.B.

From Major-General J. Garvock, Commanding Field Force, to Adjutant-General of the Army, (dated Head Quarters, 22nd December, 1863)

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that the operations carried on by the troops under my command since I last addressed you, have resulted in the total defeat and complete submission of the enemy.

2. In my letter of the 10th instant, I informed you that I intended to attack on the following morning, according to a plan of which I then gave the details. And in the postscript of that letter, I made you acquainted with the causes which obliged me to abandon that intention ; and informed you that the "Jirgah," or Council of Elders, of the Bonairwals, had come to our camp, and been received by the Commissioner.

3. They remained with us until the following day, when they took their departure for the purpose of consulting their people, and of determining whether to accept or to reject the proposals made by Major James for establishing a Treaty of Peace. Their final answer was received and communicated to me by the Commissioner on the afternoon of the 14th instant ; and as it was of an unsatisfactory nature, I at once determined to move against the enemy early on the following morning.

4. The necessary arrangements were accordingly made. Rations for two days were served out and cooked during the night ; and at day-break on the 15th instant, a force, composed as per margin,* of

* Peshawar Mountain Train, 4 guns ; Hazarah Mountain Train, 4 guns ; 2 Companies Sappers ; 7th Royal Fusiliers ; 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers ; 4th Goorkha Regiment; 23rd Regiment Pioneers ; 32nd Regiment Pioneers ; Corps of Guides ; 3rd Punjab Infantry ; 3rd Seikh Infantry ; 5th Goorkha Regiment ;—½ D Battery Royal Artillery, 3 guns ; ½ No. 3 Punjab Battery, 2 guns ; 71st Highland Light In-

4,800 men, unencumbered by tents or baggage was ready to move. 2,900 men under Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, of the 5th Punjab Infantry, were left in camp for its protection.

5. The attacking troops were formed into two columns, under the command, respectively, of Brigadiers Turner and Wilde. The first, under Brigadier Turner led the way; and, issuing from our position by the Water piquet, at once drove in the enemy's outposts from the ridge in its front. Brigadier Wilde followed by the Crag piquet with the second column; and the whole force was shortly formed under cover of the ridge and immediately in front of the enemy's main position.

6. This was of the most formidable kind. Immediately before us, at a distance of some six hundred yards, rose a conical hill of considerable height. Its sides were rocky, precipitous, and scarped by nature; and its summit, strongly occupied, was strengthened by stone breastworks offering no ordinary obstacle. The ascent of this hill would be a matter of considerable difficulty under any circumstances. Below it, and to its proper left, were a number of temporary huts, strongly protected by artificial defences. Beyond it stretched a narrow ridge terminating in a hill of lesser elevation, and then came a small picturesque level, backed by a lofty range, and containing the village of Lalloo. On the right of our position was a deep valley, and on the left several steep descending spurs, stretching down into the gorge leading from our camp to the valley of Chumla.

7. My arrangements for the attack were soon completed. Covered by the fire of the guns of the Mountain Train, which were admirably served, the whole line of Infantry, throwing its right shoulders forward, with the exception of some regiments on the extreme left, to which I shall presently refer, advanced, on a signal given by myself, in admirable order. The men swarmed up the sides of the conical hill; and, having halted for a moment to recover breath under cover of the rocks near its summit, burst over the breastworks, and at once carried the position. Bearing in mind the precipitous nature and extreme difficulty of the ground, and the heavy fire maintained by the enemy, the trifling loss on our side affords the best proof of the coolness and judgment displayed by officers in command, and the steadiness as well as dashing gallantry of the men.

8. The key of the enemy's position being thus in our hands, that excellent and energetic officer, Brigadier Turner, pressed rapidly forward with the greater part of his column to the village of Lalloo. It was quickly in his possession, and, with its large stores of grain, at once destroyed.

9. Meanwhile the enemy had not been idle in other quarters of the field. With a peculiar aptness, for which he has always shown himself remarkable, to turn his knowledge of the country to the best account, and evidently under the impression, from the conflagration at Lalloo, that our force had pressed on too far leaving its left unguarded, he directed a heavy column up the spurs leading from the gorge, and vigorously assaulted Brigadier Wilde. But he was met on the crest, and held in check by the regiments placed there with that especial object by that most valuable and judicious officer. Apprehensive that the force opposed to the Brigadier might be overpowering, I had dispatched to his support two companies of the 7th Royal Fusiliers; and while they were in the act of moving towards him, he sent me an urgent request for aid. I then further reinforced him with the 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, with he exception of four Companies left at the conical ill and on the ridge beyond it, protecting two uns of the Mountain Train. A forward move- nent was now made; and the 101st Fusiliers, 3rd eikhs, and 5th Goorkhas, leaving the rest of the olumn in reserve, poured down on the enemy, and rove him with great slaughter headlong down the teep.

10. Simultaneously with this attack on our left, he camp was hotly assailed by a large body of the nemy. But the force left to defend it, under that ery excellent officer Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, vell discharged its important duty. The enclosed eport marked No. 1,* with its inclosure, will give hc details; and I have therefore only to draw the pecial attention of the Commander-in-Chief to the listinguished gallantry of Major Keyes and of Lieutenant Unwin. A loss to the enemy of about 30 killed was the result of their vigorous on- laughts.

11. All opposition having now ceased, and the enemy being in full retreat in every direction, ar- rangements were made for bivouacking for the night. Brigadi r Turner occupied the ground he had gained in the vicinity of Lalloo; Brigadier Wilde, that between the camp and the conical hill. Not a shot was fired at us during the night.

12. Early on the morning of the 16th instant, having learned that horsemen might possibly suc- ceed in accomplishing the descent from our posi- tion, I brought from camp 400 sabres of the 11th Bengal Cavalry and Guide Corps, under the com- mand of Lieutenant Colonel Probyn. On their arrival the order was given to move. Brigadier Wilde, whose column I myself accompanied, passed down by the spurs in his immediate front; the Mountain Train guns attached to him, and

* No. 1. Report of Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, with inclosure from Major Keyes.

Lieutenant Colonel Probyn's Cavalry descending by a steep path which ran down a hollow on his right. The descent occupied about two hours, ground more difficult for mounted men having never before, I believe, been traversed, even in the hills of the Amatola. The various paths were marked with blood, evidence of the severe loss suffered by the enemy, who had been engaged during the night in carrying off his wounded men.

13. Having reached the level ground below, I observed the enemy in force occupying a spur which ran down from the extremity of the Gurroo Mountain on our left, and stretching very nearly across the entrance of the gorge, barred our advance to the Valley of Chumla. Having carefully examined the position, which was one singularly well chosen and of unusual strength, I determined to attack and turn its right. Having made his dispositions, Brigadier Wilde moved forward accordingly.

14. In the meantime, Brigadier Turner had been conducting his descent from Lalloo with great ability. Passing down by several ridges, he caused his left regiment to effectually protect the right of the column under Brigadier Wilde, which it ultimately joined; his next corps reached the valley at the very point where the spur forming the enemy's position, and the end of which I directed it immediately to seize, disappeared in the level, while the main portion of his column debouched into the open immediately opposite the town of Umbeyla, where it at once deployed into line. The ground over which he passed was of extraordinary difficulty, and scarcely practicable for even the Mountain Train. A Company of Sappers, under Lieutenant Tucker, rendered most valuable service.

15. Up to this time the cavalry had remained concealed behind a projecting spur. I now ordered it to advance. Pressing on at a gallop, these splendid horsemen, under their well-known leader, Lieutenant Colonel Probyn, C.B. and V.C., and Captain Hawes, of the Guide Corps, passed round the left of the enemy's position now in our possession, swept into the valley beyond, and halted to the eastward of Umbeyla. The town had been previously abandoned, and was immediately fired. All other property in the valley has been scrupulously protected, but Lalloo and Umbeyla well deserved their fate.

16. Brigadier Wilde encountered but little opposition where the most had been expected. The ground in his front was of singular strength, and peculiarly capable of defence, but the enemy, seeing his left so effectually turned by Brigadier Turner's column and by the cavalry, abandoned his position, and, almost without firing a shot, retreated slowly towards the Pass leading to Bonair.

17. Brigadier Turner now received an order from me to advance and endeavour to cut off the enemy retiring to the Pass before Brigadier Wilde. He moved across the valley in perfect and beautiful order, passed close to the left of the burning town of Umbeyla, and arrived within a few hundred yards of the Pass. Then the enemy, probably perceiving his object, furiously attacked, sword in hand, the 23rd and 32nd Regiments of Seikh Pioneers, the corps in advance on his left flank. They were staggered for the moment by the sudden onslaught, but turning quickly on their assailants, almost destroyed them. Near two hundred bodies lay upon the field. Lieutenant Alexander, of the 23rd, was killed, and Captain Chamberlain and Lieutenant Nott, of the 23rd, and Major Wheler and Lieutenant Marsh, of the 32nd, were wounded. During this affair the left flank was most gallantly and effectually protected by two Companies of the 7th Fusiliers, and by a very judicious movement of the cavalry, order by Lieutenant-Colonel Probyn.

18. Flushed with success, the Pioneer Regiments now pressed forward into the Pass, driving the enemy before them. But the day was far spent, the hostile position was occupied in great force, and I was besides aware that the Government did not desire to invade Bonair. I therefore directed the troops to be withdrawn. Three guns of Cap'aiu Griffin's Battery of Royal Artillery had been brought on elephants from the camp. They were now fully horsed, a novel sight in the Valley of Chumla, and galloping forward, opened a fire of shot and shell. The movement was then effected in echelon of Regiments from the right in admirable order, no molestation whatever being offered by the enemy, who, in immense numbers and in sullen silence, lined the heights above.

19. I may here meution that the force opposed to us on the 15th and 16th instant is estimated, after careful euquiry and observation, at 15,000 men ; many Native reports stating the numbers to have been far larger.

20. Having now endeavoured to give the main features of the two days' operations, I beg to enclose reports from officers iu command of brigades, numbered 2 and 3, which will furnish his Excellency with the details.* An excellent sketch by Major Johnstone, of the Revenue Survey Department, is likewise enclosed.

21. We bivouacked on the night of the 16th instant in the neighbourhood of Umbeyla. Next morning the "Jirgah" tendered to the Commissioner their unconditional submission ; and the stringent terms imposed upon and at once acceded to by them are contained in the accompanying document, marked No. 5.* The political results of our success are in some degree shown by the enclosure marked No. 6, to which I would request his Excellency's attention "Mulkah," the fanatic stronghold, is levelled with the ground. Its destruction was the primary object of the expedition, and has been now carried out, not by our troops, but at our dictation, by the Bonairwals, the very men who, a few days ago, were prepared to defend it. Enclosed is a report connected with it, marked No. 7.

22. It now only remains for me to perform the pleasing duty of bringing to the special notice of the Commander-in-Chief the names of those officers who, on prominent positions, have done good and gallant service in the arduous campaign which has been brought to a victorious conclusion.

In the first place, I desire to express my sense of obligation to Major James, C.B,, the Commissioner. This officer's political sagacity is so well known, that I need only allude to it in passing. But I desire to place on record, in connection with the late operations, how much I owe to Major James's promptitude of action and decision of character in his Civil capacity, and how valuable I have found his hearty co-operation.

My thanks are also due to Colonel Reynell Taylor, C.B., Commissioner of the Derajat.

The valuable services of Colonel Turner, C.B., Commanding 1st Brigade, have been alluded to in the body of this report. He joined the very evening before our advance; and the manner in which he conducted the operations confided to him shows the wise discrimination of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, who ordered him up expressly from Central India.

* No. 5.—Terms imposed on enemy. No. 6.—Political results as shown by Commissioner. No. 7.—Report on expedition to Umbeyla.

I find it difficult to adequately express my appreciation of the merits of Lieutenant-Colonel Wilde, C.B., Brigadier Commanding the 2nd Brigade. Gallant and ever ready in action, he is also an officer in whose sound judgment the fullest reliance may be placed; and as his experience on this frontier has been of no ordinary kind, I consider myself most fortunate in every way in having been associated with him.

No officer in command has ever had more reason than myself to feel the value of an efficient Staff. Lieutenant-Colonel Allgood, Assistant Quartermaster-General, is an officer so thoroughly conversant with the important and varied duties of his department, and so careful and vigilant in the discharge of them, that he would be most valuable as Quartermaster-General of an army, however large. He was slightly wounded at the commencement of the campaign. Major Wright also, my Assistant Adjutant-General, fully merits all that I can say in his praise. Active, intelligent, and most energetic in the performance of his duties, he has so discharged them as to thoroughly maintain discipline and efficiency; and his active services in the field have been of the most valuable kind.

Colonel A. Taylor, C.B., Commanding Royal Engineers, is an officer of well-known ability in his department, and during these operations he has fully maintained his reputation.

The arrangements of Surgeon Munro, of the 93rd Highlanders, principal Medical Officer of the forces, have been very perfect. He brings prominently to my notice the services rendered by Assistant-Surgeon Sylvester, 11th Bengal Cavalry, in charge of the sick and wounded at the depôt at Nowa Killee.

My special thanks are due to Captain Jenkins, principal Commissariat Officer, for his unwearied exertious and the very efficient manner in which he has discharged his arduous duties.

Major Johnstone, of the Revenue Survey Department, has been of the greatest utility.

Captain Norman, lately appointed to the force as Assistant Quartermaster-General, is highly spoken of by Brigadier Turner, to whose column he was attached.

I have to thank Captain Tulloh, the senior officer in command of the Royal Artillery, and Captains Griffin, Huges, DeBude, and Salt, Commanding Batteries, for the good service they have performed.

Lieutenant Clarke, Royal Artillery, has rendered much assistance as Commissary of Ordnance.

Lieutenant Tucker has already been noticed as having been most useful in command of the Sappers.

I have to record my appreciation of the services of Lieutenant-Colonel Probyn, C.B. and V.C., Commanding the Cavalry, with whose character his Excellency is already well acquainted ; and of Lieutenant Hawes, Commanding Guide Cavalry.

Colonel Shipley, Commanding 7th Royal Fusiliers, is an officer of well known reputation ; and with reference to his superior rank, would have taken command of the 2nd Brigade. but Lieutenant Colonel Wilde had been previously appointed to command a Brigade by his Excellency, who was not aware that I had brought the 7th Fusiliers to the front. I had an opportunity of personally observing the gallant manner in which the Regiment behaved under Colonel Shipley, more particularly in the attack on the Conical Hill.

Lieutenant Colonel Salusbury, who lately succeeded to the command of the 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, is an officer distinguished for gallantry and judgment ; and the manner in which his regiment did its part in carrying the strong position of the Conical Hill, commanded my admiration. The 101st Regiment, under his conduct, has, on this occasion, well maintained its ancient renown first acquired on the field of Plassy.

Major Keyes, Commanding the 1st Punjab Infantry, is an officer of whom too much cannot be said in praise. He led his regiment and repulsed the enemy with great slaughter in the attack on the camp, although suffering from the loss of two fingers in a previous action.

Lieutenant Colonel Renny, Commanding 3rd Seikhs, was very seriously engaged with the enemy during the attack on our left flank. His regiment suffered considerably, was well led, and did excellent service.

Captain Close, Commanding 5th Goorkhas, did good service on ths same occasion, and merits my best thanks.

Major Morgan, Commanding 32nd Pioneers, is an excellent officer, and the manner iu which his regiment behaved in the serious affair at the entrance of the Bonair Pass, is prominently noticed by Brigadier Turner.

I would also draw his Excellency's attention to the mention made by the Brigadier of the good service rendered by the 23rd Pioneers, under command of Captain Chamberlain, who was wounded at its head, displaying the accustomed courage of those who bear his name. The command of the regiment then devolved on Lieutenant Chalmers.

Lieutenant-Colonel Vaughan, 5th Punjab Infantry, whose report is enclosed, commanded the troops left in camp to my entire satisfaction.

My thanks are due to Major Parker, Commanding 71st Highland Light Infantry, Major Brownlow, Commanding 20th Native Infantry, Major Ross, Commanding 14th Native Infantry, Captain Tytler, V.C., Commanding 4th Goorkhas, Major Burroughs, Commanding 93rd Highlanders, Captain Ruxton, Commanding 3rd Punjab Infantry, and to Lieutenant Jenkins, Commanding the Guide Infantry.

I am anxious to express my full concurrence in the praise given by Brigadiers Turner and Wilde to the several officers mentioned by them.

Captain Chester of the 4th Goorkhas, and Lieutenant and Adjutant Campbell, of the 71st Highland Light Infantry, were specially selected by me as Majors of Brigade, and are highly spoken of by their Brigadiers.

Lieutenant Scott, 32nd Pioneers, has rendered useful service as Baggage Master.

I beg to return my best thanks to Colonel Adye, C.B., Deputy Adjutant-General, Royal Artillery, and to Major Roberts, Assistant Quartermaster-General, attached to the force on particular service, for their aid on many occasions.

I have every reason to appreciate the services of Lieutenant Mackenzie, Staff Officer of the Punjab Irregular Force, and of Lieutenant Jarrett, 1st Punjab Cavalry, my Orderly Officer; and I beg to recommend for favourable consideration my Aide-de-Camp, Captain E. M. Jones, Her Majesty's 20th Regement, who joined me on the 19th instant from Calcutta.

23. The copy of a Field Force Order which I have issued is enclosed, together with a return of killed and wounded.*

No. 1.

From Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Vaughan, Commandant, Camp, Umbeyla Pass, to Assistant Adjutant-General Eusufzye Field Force,—(dated 16th December, 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to report that, early in the forenoon of the 15th instant, whilst the advanced force under Major-General Garvock's personal command was operating in the direction of Lalloo, a desultory attack was made by a considerable number of the enemy upon the front and left flank of the upper camp. Being met by the fire of the only one of Captain Griffin's guns (C Battery, R.A.) which could be brought to bear upon them from the standard piquet, and by the musketry fire from the breastworks, the enemy were reduced to taking cover among the rocks and broken grounds, from which they caused, from time to time, considerable annoyance not only to the upper camp, but also to the D Battery and adjoining breastworks.

Later in the forenoon, successive bodies of the enemy endeavoured to approach the camp by the gorge from the direction of Umbeyla; but coming under the fire of the guns of D Battery R.A. in the lower camp, they broke away to the left, and ascending the ravines and spurs to the front of the position, joined in the attack upon the upper camp.

2. The advanced piquet upon the ridge, below and in front of the Crag piquet (consisting on this day 50 men of the 1st Punjab Infantry) had been threatened, from early morning, by a constantly increasing body of the enemy. An advanced post held by the piquet was compelled to retire; but as successive reinforcements reached the officer in command, Lieutenant Unwin, 1st Punjab Infantry, he retook this post very gallantly, and maintained his most important position on the ridge throughout the day, by means of well-timed and judicious charges upon the enemy, for which I consider him entitled to very great credit.

3. About two P.M. Major C. H. Brownlow, 20th Punjab Native Infantry, who had command of the right defences of the upper camp, observing that the enemy seemed much dispirited by the ill success against Lieutenant Unwin's piquet, determined to assume the offensive from the camp. Accordingly, about 100 men of the 1st Punjab Infantry, led by Major C. P. Keyes himself, advanced from the breastworks, and by a succession of well-executed charges upon the different points occupied by the enemy, completely cleared the whole front and left flank of the defences, driving the enemy in great confusion into the plain below. Major Keyes and his regiment deserve the greatest credit for this success, aud for the heavy loss they inflicted upon the enemy. For further particulars I beg to refer to Major Keyes' separate report, which is enclosed.

4. The casualties amongst the troops during the day were as per margin.*

5. In conclusion, I beg to recommend to the Major-General's notice the officers and men mentioned in Major Keyes' report, and in particular Lieutenant Unwin, 1st Punjab Infantry.

From Major C. P. Keyes, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry, to Lieutenant-Colonel J. L. Vaughan, Commandant in Camp,—(dated Heights above Umbeyla, the 16th December 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to report that on the morning of the 15th current, agreeably to previous arrangement, I detached 50 men of my regiment under Lieutenant Unwin to hold the "Advance Piquet" on the march of the force on Lalloo.

2. Early in the day the enemy were observed advancing in great force from Umbeyla towards the head of the Pass; large bodies were soon lost to sight in the ravines in front of our position, and their subsequent movements and object could only be left to conjecture.

3. The ground occupied by the "Advance Piquet," from which the whole of the centre of our position could be commanded, and on which the "Crag Piquet" could not, from the nature of the ground, maintain an effective fire, was the point the enemy strove to gain. This point was so important to the safety of our main position, that I instructed Lieutenant Unwin that he was to hold it as long as he could, with any degree of safety, remain there. The enemy repeatedly crept up under cover of the rocks within a few yards of the piquet, having driven in a small party placed there for observation. Lieutenant Unwin was then then reinforced, and subsequently had 200 rifles at his disposal, including 60 men of the 5th Punjab Infantry under Lieutenant Fox, all that could be spared from our reduced force. The enemy made two vigorous attempts, in considerable strength, to take the position, and were only repulsed, on each occasion, by the piquet charging down upon them, inflicting a loss of forty killed.

4. Shortly after the last charge, many of the enemy who had been concealed behind the rocks and in the ravines all along the front of our position, were seen to retreat, carrying off their wounded. I therefore consulted with Major Brownlow, the senior officer commanding in our upper position, who had expressed an opinion that the enemy's retreat would be turned into a rout by a vigorous charge. It was arranged that 100 men of the 1st Punjab Infantry and 100 of the 20th Punjab Infantry should be led out for the purpose. I took the men of the 1st Punjab Infantry to the front of the breastwork of the 7th Royal Fusiliers, in order to seize the old "centre piquet," which flanked many of the rocks, behind which the enemy were concealed. Major Brownlow, on advancing to join me, observed a sudden movement of the enemy in front of the main breastwork, which he consequently re-occupied.

5. The rocks of the old "centre piquet" were gained without opposition, and the enemy, who were collected in considerable numbers behind them, were driven out in utter confusiou. Those concealed behind the lower works kept up a desultory fire for a short time, but were also driven from every point into the gorge below, leaving their dead on all sides.

6. I beg to bring to notice the conduct of Lieutenant Keen, second in command on the right, and Lieutenant Vallings on the left, who led the attack on the enemy with great spirit, following them up to the rocks of the old "Cliff Piquet" immediately above the gorge.

7. The spirit and judgment with which Lieutenant Unwin, assisted by Lieutenant Oliphant, held his difficult post against the repeated attacks of the enemy, is deserving of special notice. That officer speaks in high terms of the manner in which he was supported by the Company of the 5th Punjab Infantry, and brings specially to notice the conduct of Joomah Havildar and Private Shere Naz, of that corps.

8. Our total loss was 9 killed and 18 wounded, while the loss inflicted on the enemy was considerable.

9. The usual casualty return has been forwarded to the Brigade Office.

ROLL of Native Officers, Non-Commissioned Officers, and Men of the 1st Punjab Infantry, recommended for the Order of Merit.

Jemadar Mah Sing, Bozdar Expedition, Delhi Wuzeeree Expedition, and Havildar Hera Sing, ditto ditto, 3rd Class Order of Merit as Sepoy

—Most conspicuous for their gallantry in charging the enemy, when their piquet was attacked on the 15th December. Jemadar Mah Sing and Havildar Herab Sing both severely wounded.

Havildar Ufzul, Bozdar Expedition, Delhi, and Wuzeeree Expedition.

Sepoy Bortah Sing, Bozdar Expedition, Delhi, Wozeeree Expedition, and Sepoy Sur Billend, ditto ditto ditto, 3rd Class Order of Merit—Most conspicuous for gallantry in charging the enemy on the 15th December. Sur Billend Sepoy was severely wounded.

Sepoy Mowas. Delhi and Wuzeeree Expedition—Most conspicuous for his gallantry in making a stand alone against several of the enemy, when the rest of his piquet had retired after charging. Most strongly spoken of by Colonel Salusbury, of Her Majesty's 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, 15th December, 1863.

Major, Commanding 1st Punjab Infantry.

No. 2.

From Colonel W. W. Turner, Assistant-Commanding 1st Brigade Eusufzye Field Force, to Assistant Adjutant-General,—(dated 19th December 1863.)

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Major-General Commanding Eusufzye Field Force, that in compliance with his orders of the 14th instant, the troops as per margin* were formed

* Hazara Mountain Train; 1 Company Sappers; 7th Royal Fusiliers; 3rd Punjab Infantry; 4th Goorkhas; 23rd Pioneers. 32nd Pioneers.

nder my command at the base of the Crag Piquet t daylight on the 15th instant; and that on re-eiving the order to advance, they moved in the ollowing formation :—4th Goorkhas, 3 Companies kirmishing, 3 in support; 3rd Punjab Infantry, 4 Companies skirmishing and 4 in support, cover-ng right flank; Reserve, 7th Royal Fusiliers, Com-pany Sappers, Hazara Mountain Train, 23rd and 32nd Pioneers.

The advance was made from the right flank of the Water Piquet, and on reaching the crest of the heights overlooking that position, encountered the enemy's piquets, which were driven before them with some loss to the "conical hill."

This "conical hill" was occupied in force, strengthened by stone breastworks, and formed a very formidable position. From this hill we were separated by a valley about 200 yards wide; and I therefore directed the troops to line the crest of the height, overlooking it from our own side, to await the arrival of four Hazara Moutain Train guns, which on coming up were forthwith brought into action. Under cover of their fire I moved the 23rd Pioneers, supported by the 32nd Pioneers, into a valley on the right, and secured a height which enabled me to turn the left of the enemy's position. These arrangements completed, and the general advance sounded by the Major-General from the centre of the line, we advanced down the hill, across the valley, and in ten minutes were in possession of the whole position, driving the enemy down the opposite side of the height.

The village of Lalloo now appeared about a mile and a half on our right flank; I therefore pressed the pursuit in that direction, leaving five companies to guard and bring up the guns, and followed the enemy so closely, that the village was entered with them, and he retreated in the utmost confusion down the hills towards Umbeyla.

On securing possession of the village, I found myself on a line of heights flanking the approach to the "conical hill," up which the enemy was now streaming to attack the second brigade in position there.

I therefore brought the fire of the guns to bear on his flank, and on his being repulsed and driven into the plain, turned one of the guns upon him in that direction.

As orders were now brought to me to maintain my position for the night, and be prepared to move down into the Chumla Valley from the village of Lalloo the following morning, I secured my position accordingly and bivouacked for the night.

At nine A.M. on the 16th, as soon as the 2nd Brigade began to descend from the "conical hill" by the spur leading therefrom into the valley, I also, having the shortest line, moved in echelon of regiments from my left; the 3rd Punjab Infantry down the spur, which ran parallel to that, by which the 2nd Brigade was descending; the 4th Goorkhas down the next parallel ridge; and the main body, consisting of the 23rd in advance, Left Wing Royal Fusiliers, Hazara Mountain Train and Sappers, and Right Wing Royal Fusiliers down the gorge, leading from the village of Lalloo to that of Umbeyla, in the Chumla Valley; while the 32nd crowned the heights and effected a parallel movement, covering my right flank.

The pathway down was steep and in parts precipitous and rocky, and it was with great difficulty that the Mountain Train guns could be brought down, but Captain DeBude, by his energy and perseverance, overcame all obstacles; and at half-past two P.M. I found myself able to debouch into the plain with the leading regiments and the left wing of the Royal Fusiliers.

Our descent from Lalloo so completely took the enemy's position in reverse, that he abandoned it at once (although very strong) without firing a shot, and filed away to his right to the "Bonair Pass."

The 3rd Punjab Infantry and 4th Goorkhas, regiments of my brigade, had now effected their junction with the right of the left brigade, and with it, were in possession of the extreme right of the enemy's position, which was about a mile and a half from, and facing, the entrance of the "Bonair Pass."

Under instructions from the Major-General Commanding to try and cut off the rear of the enemy from the Pass, but not to compromise myself in the Pass, I formed a line of the 23rd and left wing of the 32nd, with the right wing of that regiment in column of Companies at wheeling distance, left in front; and directed the advance along the south-western face of the village of Umbeyla; the left wing of the 7th Royal Fusiliers forming the reserve, in quarter distance column, in rear of the centre of the line.

After passing the village, the right wing of the 32nd was brought up in prolongation of the line to the right, which brought the right near the base of the hill, which shut in the mouth of the Pass. The advance was steadily continued in the same order to within about 800 yards of the mouth of the Pass, when the enemy opened a furious fire of matchlocks and zumbooruks, which was returned by the line as it continued to advance.

On nearing the mouth of the Pass, which was shut in by broken ground covered with jungle, I observed a large body of the enemy moving to their right and beyond my left flank; I therefore moved two Companies from the reserve of the Royal Fusiliers, and placed them in an oblique position covering the left; whilst at the same time Colonel Probyn, C.B., V.C., Commanding 11th

Bengal Cavalry, also moved a body of his men into a position which still further covered the left flank.

Seeing these movements, the enemy made a furious onset, sword in hand, upon the line, but the two regiments composing it destroyed the whole of them, not allowing one of them to escape back.

The enemy now withdrew completely into the Pass, and I made arrangements to draw off the regiments engaged, which was effected under cover of the fire of the guns of the Hazara Mountain Train and ½ C. Battery 19th Brigade under command of Captain Griffin, in echelon of regiments from the right; and the movement was not in any way molested or followed by the enemy, who had suffered severely and had upwards of 200 dead lying on the field, 40 of whom were Hindoostanees.

Having thus sketched cursorily the operations of the 1st Brigade on the 15th and 16th instant, I cannot refrain from bringing to notice the excellent service performed by the 2nd Pioneer regiments, the 23rd and 32nd, who were most forward in the attack and in the pursuit, and who, if properly equipped as Pioneer regiments, would most unquestionably perform most dashing and useful service. It is invidious, where all behaved with the utmost gallantry and dash, to particularize any regiment, but I have been induced to do so upon this occasion, because both the 23rd and 32nd have for the last two years been employed upon nothing but road-making.

Of their commanding officers, Major Morgan and Captain Chamberlain, I cannot speak too highly, and upon the latter being wounded, the command of his regiment devolved upon Lieutenant Cha mers, who conducted it very greatly to my satisfaction.

I beg also to bring to notice the excellent service rendered by—

Colonel Shipley, Commandant Royal Fusiliers.

Captain Rushton, Commanding 3rd Punjab Infantry.

Captain Tytler, Commanding 4th Goorkhas.

Captain DeBude, Commanding Hazara Mountain Train Battery.

Captain Griffin, Commanding Half Company Royal Artillery, and

Lieutenant Tucker, ditto Company of Sappers.

I must also express my thanks to the officers who acted on my personal Staff—

Captain Norman, Assistant Quartermaster-General.

Lieutenant Campbell, 71st Highland Light Infantry, Brigade Major.

Lieutenant Brown, Royal Engineers.

Lieutenant Jackson, 11th Bengal Cavalry, Orderly Officer.

And also to Captain Warren, Royal Artillery, who kindly volunteered his services for the occasion.

Annexed is a return of the casualties in the two days' operations, and of the arms and trophies taken from the enemy, whose loss cannot be computed at less than 270 killed, with very numerous wounded, which we saw carried away from the hill sides. One Hindoostanee was also made prisoner and handed over to Major James, the Commissioner.

In conclusion I beg to add the names of those officers, Native officers and men, who are particularly brought to my notice by their Commanding Officers, as having especially distinguished themselves; and to recommend that the decoration of the "Order of Merit" should be conferred on those who are eligible to receive it.

W. W. TURNER, Colonel,
Commanding 1st Brigade Eusufzye Field Force.

From Colonel W. W. Turner, Commanding 1st Brigade Eusufzye Field Force, to Assistant Adjutant-General, Eusufzye Field Force,—(dated Camp, Heights above Umbeyla, 20th December, 1863.)

IN continuation of the concluding paragraph of my report upon the part taken by the Brigade under my command on the 15th and 16th instant, I have the honour to state that Captain Chamberlain, Commanding 23rd Pioneers, has, in his report to me, made the most special mention of the services of Dr. Cheke, in medical charge of his corps, and requested that they may be brought to the notice of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

Captain Chamberlain has also brought to my notice the services of Private Fergus Rogers, 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers, who, separated from his regiment at the Conical Hill, joined in the pursuit of the enemy, in which he greatly distinguished himself.

No. 3.

From Lieutenant-Colonel A. Wilde C.B., Commanding 2nd Brigade Eusufzye Field Force, to Assistant Adjutant-General, Eusufzye Field Force,—(Dated Camp, Umbeyla, 17th December, 1863.)

AGREEABLY to Field Force Orders, I assumed command of the troops as per margin,* which composed No. 2 or the left column of the attacking force, organized on the night of the 14th December, 1863, for the assault on the enemy's position at Lalloo Bandah and the subsequent descent into the Chumla Valley.

2. For the information of the Major-General Commanding, I have the honour to report the operations of the above column during the 15th and 16th instant,

3. On the morning of the 15th, I formed the column in the order marginally noted,† and as soon as No. 1 Column had passed out of the main position of the upper camp, the troops advanced under the "Crag" piquet, the skirmishers of the 5th Goorkha Battalion quickly reaching the low ridge of rocks immediately in front of the enemy's position, which was situated on a high steep hill covering the hamlet of Bandah.

This hill was occupied by the enemy, who held it in strength behind stone breastworks, and I made the following dispositions for the assault :—

* Peshawur Mountain Train, 4 guns; Her Majesty's 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers; Corps of Guides; 3rd Seikh Infantry; 5th Goorkha Battalion; Company Sappers and Miners.

† ADVANCE GUARD.—5th Goorkha Battalion; Her Majesty's 101st Fusiliers; Peshawur Mountain Train; Sappers and Miners; Corps of Guides; 3rd Seikh Infantry; Mountain Train Extra Ammunition; Infantry extra Ammunition Dandees.

REAR GUARD.—3rd Seikh Infantry.

the Mountain Train moved up and opened sufficient fire to keep down the matchlock fire from the heights; Her Majesty's 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers and Corps of Guides were formed in line of contiguous columns out of fire behind the ridge, the other two regiments being held in reserve, in column of sections, to preserve the left flank during the coming attack.

Having reported to the Major-General that my column was prepared, we waited the signal to advance, the guns opening their full fire with effect.

After a short interval, both colums were ordered to advance, and charging over a small plain began to ascend the hill. Her Majesty's 101st made straight for the highest peak, a strong work crowded with the Hindoostanee fanatics and their Pathan allies. The Corps of Guides took, by my order, a point a little below, with the object of taking the pressure off the 101st, to whom the most difficult part of the assault had been safely assigned. The regiments of the Right Column moved on with equal rapidity, and the whole face of the hill was s on covered with our troops.

Aided by the excellent practice of the Mountain Trains of both columns, the result of the conflict was soon determined; 2,000 and upwards of the enemy were put to flight and fled in the direction of the hamlet, rapidly pursued by our men. Part of the Corps of Guides and the 23rd Native Infantry had the honour of reaching the village about the same time, which they fired. Her Majesty's 101st leaping into the breastwork, bayonetted some 30 of its defenders, and the Corps of Guides, turning the position under a shower of stones, shot and cut down numbers as they retreated from the peak of the hill to escape from the assault of the gallant 101st Fusiliers.

In the meantime the reserve under my own direction secured the line of hills on the left overlooking the Chumla Valley, driving small parties of the enemy before us.

As soon as the main position of the enemy was gained, I moved the Mountain Train to the end of the ridge, and placed the two regiments in position to watch the spurs of the mountain leading up from the Umbeyla plain, a duty that had been entrusted to me by the Major-General before the attack commenced.

As anticipated, we had not long to wait. Large bodies of the enemy, hearing from the sound of the guns above what was occurring, came out of the village of Umbeyla, and threatened both the left of camp and our communication along the mountain with it.

Sending for reinforcements, two companies of Her Majesty's 7th Fusiliers, previously despatched, passed my messenger on the road, and shortly a wing of the 101st and the Corps of Guides rejoined my command.

Passing these troops along my rear, I re-occupied all the ground close up to the Crag piquet, and waited for the enemy to approach.

Shortly afterwards, under the Major-General's personal instructions, I directed the 5th Goorka Battalion and a part of the 3rd Seikhs to charge and drive off the enemy. This was most gallantly done by both corps, the Goorkhas capturing a standard. The enemy lost men not only here, but in a similar charge that was made by Her Majesty's 101st down the spur they were watching.

4. With this defeat all opposition ceased, and the Regiments bivouacked on the ground they had been fighting on.

5. On the following morning the column descended, covering the guns and Cavalry, which passed down the Lalloo ravine into the Valley.

We reached the plain about mid-day, and a Column having been formed as per margin,* I advanced across the Valley towards the Bonair Pass.

As the column debouched into the open country, the enemy appeared in great force on a low ridge of hills, which completely covered the approach to the village of Umbeyla. Numerous gay standards of all colours were visible on the prominent hillocks, and an engagement on comparatively easy ground to what we had been accustomed to, was confidently hoped for by the troops, who moved forward in high spirits.

On approaching the position, two attacking columns were formed: the enemy, however, gradually disappeared, and retired to the Bonair Pass, and the ridge was subsequently taken possession of, and is still occupied by the column under my command.

6. In concluding this report, which may probably be the last in this campaign, as the enemy have to-day tendered their submission to Her Majesty, I beg to bring the services of the following officers prominently to the notice of the Major-General, not only for their exertions during the engagement of the 15th, but for work gallantly and ably performed under my command on many previous occasions:

Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury, Commanding 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers.

Captain Hughes, Commanding Peshawur Mountain Train.

Lieutenant F. Jenkins, Commanding Corps of Guides.

* Advance Guard.—One Company Corps of Guides. Corps of Guides.—Her Majesty's 101st Royal Bengal Fusiliers; Peshawur Mountain Train; Sappers and Miners; 5th Goorkha Battalion; 3rd Seikh Infantry.—Ammunition Dandees. Rear Guard.—One Company 3rd Seikh Infantry.

7. My thanks are also due to Lieutenant-Colonel Renny, Commanding 3rd Seikh Infantry, and Captain Close, Commanding 5th Goorkha Battalion. The first has but lately joined the force, but the latter has led his regiment against the enemy most steadily on several occasions.

8. Captain Chester, Brigade Major, and Lieutenant Mackenzie, Staff Officer of the Punjab Irregular Force, accompanied me throughout the day, and are both excellent and efficient Staff Officers.

9. Lieutenant-Colonel Salusbury, Commanding Her Majesty's 101st, speaks highly of the conduct of Major Lambert and Captain Parsons, both of the above Corps, and from personal knowledge I can support his recommendation.

Lieutenant-Colonel Renny, Commanding the 3rd Seikh Infantry, mentions the gallant bearing of Lieutenant J. Cook, of the 3rd Seikhs, when his men charged down the hill; and I saw Lieutenant Codrington, of the 5th Goorkhas, myself, leading on his men after the enemy in a manner that must have instilled confidence into men naturally less brave than our Goorkha Sepoys.

10. I append a list of men reported to have distinguished themselves, and the usual Casualty Returns.

Roll of men of Her Majesty's 101*st Royal Bengal Fusiliers specially recommended for reward on account of distinguished acts of gallantry in the action of the* 15*th instant, Camp,* 21*st December,* 1863.

No. 380, Private Daniel Flannery, No. 4 Company—Was the first man in at the left of the Conical Hill, and jumped in over the breastwork in the face of five or six of the enemy, and engaged them. Captain T. Butler was an eye-witness to this soldier's bravery.

No. 696, Colour-Serjeant Denis Magrath, No. 9 Company—Was one of the first men in on the right of the Conical Hill, and saved Major Lambert's life. Several men attacked Major Lambert, and his pistol missed fire twice. This soldier rushed in front of Major Lambert and bayonetted the leader.

Roll of men in Corps attached to the Left Column Eusufzye Field Force, recommended for the Order of Merit for conspicuous acts of gallantry before the enemy, Camp, Umbeyla Village, 18th December, 1863.

Soorjun Sepoy, No. 1 Company Corps of Guides—Was Orderly to the Assistant Adjutant-General on 16th instant, and was sent with a note to some officer; not finding any one, however, who would take the note, he charged with the 23rd Pioneers and killed one of the enemy, receiving at the same time himself a spear wound and two sword cuts. Witness Mehal Sing, Havildar, No. 3 Company 23rd Native Infantry.

Sobha Singh Sepoy, No. 6 Company Guide Corps—Was very forward in entering the village of Lalloo on the 15th instant, killing one of the enemy in single fight.

Ralmootoolla Bey, Jemadar, No. 8 Company 3rd Seikh Infantry—Displayed the greatest gallantry during the whole day of the 15th, when his Company was keeping the enemy in check. When the final charge was made, he led far ahead of the Company, setting a fine example to his men.

Bhoor Singh, Pay Havildar, No. 8 Company 3rd Seikh Infantry—Was with left skirmishers on 15th instant, and under a heavy fire carried to the rear a wounded Naick of his Company, who was dangerously hurt, and then immediately returned, when he was himself severely wounded, showing a most gallant and praiseworthy spirit.

Utter Singh, Private, No. 8 Company 3rd Seikh Infantry—When charging down the hill on 15th instant, attacked two of the enemy, and, although disabled by the loss of three fingers from a tulwar cut, succeeded in killing one and defending himself against the second till assistance came up.

Jemadar Ruttun Singh, No. 2 Company 5th Goorkhas.—Most forward in every charge on the 15th instant; in the last of which he succoured a wounded sepoy, killing the latter's opponent, but himself receiving a wound. This native officer also distinguished himself conspicuously on a previous occasion, and is always to be seen where the fight is thickest. Witness, Lieutenant Codrington, 5th Goorkhas.

Sepoy Kullian Sing, No. 2 Company 5th Goorkhas—During the charge down the hill on the 15th instant, rushed promptly forward to intercept one of the enemy who was advancing sword in hand upon Lieutenant Codrington, and killed his opponent with his bayonet, receiving himself a cut on the head. Witness, Lieutenant Codrington, 5th Goorkhas.

Sepoy Bagh Sing, No. 4 Company 5th Goorkhas—On the 15th instant, when charging down the hill, was in front of all, and advanced to attack one of the enemy with his bayonet, but was severely wounded by a long spear. This man was only enlisted a short time ago on account of his gallantry, having accompanied the corps as a volunteer, and being always to the front where fighting was going on.

MEMORANDUM.

THE Bonair Jirgah having unreservedly submitted to the Government and consented to carry out the following requirements :—

I. To dismiss the army of all kinds on the Bonair Pass.

II. To send a force to destroy Mulkah completely.

III. To expel the Hindoostanees from the Bonair, Chumlah, and Amazai lands.

IV. To give as hostages the whole of their chief men till the above requirements are fully carried out.

The first article of agreement is already accomplished. A force of about 2,000 Bonair men is now ready at Muskipore to accomplish the second and third.

The hostages are now with me.

Under the above circumstances, I consider it would be advisable that some British officers should accompany the Bonair Contingent, in order that we may see the destruction of Mulkah, and obtain good information regarding the country.

If the Major-General consents to furnish Colonel R. G. Taylor, C.B., with the regiment of Guides as an escort, I propose requesting him to accompany the Contingent as political officer, and should the Major-General deem it desirable to send other officers with him, I trust he will instruct them to abide entirely by Colonel Taylor's wishes regarding the places they visit, &c.

I propose that they should encamp to-night at Kooriah, and proceed to-morrow to Mulkah, returning as quickly as possible by the same route.

Two of the chief men, Zydoolah Khan and Ahmed Khan, will accompany Colonel Taylor; the rest of the hostages will remain with me.

All these hostages will be entirely at our disposal in event of any breach of faith.

Commissioner.

Camp, near Umbeyla, December 19, 1863.

The Jirgah have unreservedly consented that the officers and escort should accompany their force.

No. 6.

From Major H. R. James, C.B., Commander of Derajat, to Major-General Commanding the Field Force,—(dated Camp, Umbeyla Pass, 21st December, 1863).

YOU are already aware that the result of your successes on the 15th and 16th instant has been the entire submission of the Bonairwals and the dispersion of the powerful confederacy of tribes which was in our front.

Ghuzan Khan, of Dheer, Fyztullub Khan, of Bajour, Sohbut Khan, and Sherdil Khan, of Swat, with others of minor note, fled with their followers as soon as this force was in possession of Umbeyla, leaving the Akhoond, in whose cause they had ostensibly come, to make the best of his way home by himself.

The Mulkah party is now proceeding without the slightest impediment to their destination, received and supplied with cordiality by the villages of the country, and joined by the chiefs of the Amazai, in whose lands Mulkah is situated.

It will be my duty, on the completion of these operations, more fully to draw the attention of Government to their political results; but the above will suffice to show you who very favourable they have been, and how completely we have asserted our power before the largest, bravest, and most formidable coalition we have ever been called on to meet in the Trans-Indus Territories.

No. 7.

MEMORANDUM.

ON the 19th instant the Bonair Contingent having entered the Chumla Valley, Colonel Taylor proceeded with his escort to Kooriah, nine miles.

The weather was very bad and heavy rain fell, but both the officers and men were lodged in the houses of the village, and all necessaries in the shape of grass, grain, &c., liberally supplied.

On the 20th the party remained at Kooriah in consequence of the rain.

On the 21st they proceeded onwards, and it became apparent that the Bonair chiefs intended to effect the destruction of Mulkah by moral more than by physical force, inasmuch as the greater portion of the Contingent remained in the Chumla Valley.

On entering the Amazai lands, the men of that tribe appeared on the hills, and presented an appearance of opposition which to those unacquainted with the real position of affairs, must have seemed very formidable.

It was a moment requiring the exhibition of great tact and firmness, but Colonel Taylor was supported by the evident frankness and determination of the Bonair chiefs to carry out their agreements.

All opposition was overcome by the latter, and the Amazai chiefs, joining the party as allies, proceeded with them to Mulkah, where they arrived on the afternoon of the 21st.

Colonel Taylor describes Mulkah as a settlement of considerable size, occupying a broad spur of the main Mahabun Ridge. The buildings were of a remarkably substantial character, the Chief Moulvie's house and hall of audience, with large barracks and stabling for the troops and a powder manufactory, forming prominent objects. There was no regular surrounding rampart, but on three sides the outer walls of the houses, which were in tiers, and barracks, were connected and formed a continuous wall with posterns; the fourth side was enclosed by a natural eminence.

The party was quartered in the place during the night, and early in the morning the work of destruction commenced.

An attempt was made by the Amazai to have a portion of the place spared on the ground of its belonging to men of their tribe, and not to the Hindoostanees, but this was judiciously over-ruled by Colonel Taylor, and the whole mass of building was accordingly soon in flames and completely destroyed.

The party returned to Kooriah that evening, and on the following day arrived in camp on the Umbeyla Pass, not a shot having been fired at them during their progress.

Field Force Order, Camp, Umbeyla Pass, dated 23rd December, 1863.

THE operations which commenced two months ago under Brigadier-General Sir Neville Chamberlain, K.C.B., have been brought to a victorious conclusion, The enemy has been completely beaten in the open field, and has acknowledged his defeat by unconditional submission and unhesitating acceptance of the terms imposed on him by Her Majesty's Commisioner.

He has himself, at our dictation, levelled Mulkah with the ground,—the mountain stronghold of the Hindoostanee fanatics, which it was the primary object of the expedition to destroy.

The Major-General congratulates the force under his command on the briiliant termination of the campaign. He desires to convey his full appreciation of the gallantry and devotion of the troops, European and Native ; and he is anxious to assure them that he feels, and feels truly, that any credit which may be awarded to himself will be owing to their exertions.

Major-General Garvock has been directed by the Commander-in-Chief to express to both officers and men his Excellency's entire approbation of their endurance of hardships, and of their good and gallant conduct since the occupation of the Pass of Umbeyla, and the commencement of those operations which have now been crowned with success by the final defeat of the enemy at Lalloo and Umbeyla.

The Major-General cannot close this Order without offering his sincere thanks to Brigadiers Turner and Wilde, officers commanding corps and heads of departments, for the assistance they have one and all afforded him, and for which he is so much indebted.

This Order will be read at the head of every corps belonging to the field force.

(Extract.)

(Translation.) Palace, January 27th, 1864.

"Sir,—In addition to what I had the honour to state to you in my note of the 23rd instant, I hasten to inform you that, according to information received in this Department from the Minister of the Marine, the most positive orders have lately been given to the Commandant-General of the Havannah Station, and to the Chief of Her Majesty's Naval Forces at Santo Domingo, to cause the blockade of the ports of that island occupied by the rebels, to be of the most effective nature.

"With reference to the Department of the Marine, I can assure you that the Blockade in question is maintained at the present moment by twenty-three vessels of war, frigates, and schooners, a number which, besides being sufficient for the purpose, could be increased by the squadron anchored at Cuba.

"On the other hand, the insurrection is now limited to the province of Scybo, the coasts of which are so strictly watched that all vessels endeavouring to aid the rebels have been captured."

I have, &c.

FROM THE

SUPPLEMENT

1864.

Foreign Office, March 22, 1864.

EARL RUSSELL, K.G., Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has received the following Despatch from his Excellency the Right Honourable Sir Andrew Buchanan, K.C.B., Her Majesty's Ambassador at Berlin, forwarding a copy and translation of the regulations issued by the Prussian Government for the capture of enemies' and suspected ships, in consequence of the hostilities between Denmark and the German Powers.

Berlin,

MY LORD, March 15, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to transmit to your Lordship herewith a copy, with a translation, by Mr. Wyndham, of the instructions, published in the Staats-Anzeiger of to-day's date, to the Commanders of His Prussian Majesty's Ships of War, respecting the capture of Danish and other suspected vessels.

I have, &c.,

ANDREW BUCHANAN.

The Earl Russell, K.G.,

(Translation.)

Published in the Staats-Anzeiger of March 15, 1864.

In consequence of the hostile measures adopted by the Danish Government towards Prussian and Austrian vessels, as also towards vessels of the other Federal States, the following instructions are issued for the special guidance of the Commanders of His Majesty's ships of war:

The Commanders of His Majesty's ships of war are authorised and instructed to stop and capture all ships which belong to the State of Denmark or to the subjects of such state (enemy's ships); Holstein and Sleswig ships are not considered as enemy's ships.

2.

Ships belonging to Neutral Powers or to their subjects, no matter to whom their cargoes may belong, are not to be captured, exceptions are stated in Articles from 3 to 5.

3.

Ships must be stopped and captured without respect to their nationality:

1. The cargo of which consists of contraband of war which is destined for the enemy, or an enemy's port, without setting aside, however, the instructions in Article 6, paragraph No. 2.

2. Vessels which resist being stopped.

Further, without distinction of nationality, are to be stopped and captured as suspicious:

1. Vessels which carry double, or clearly false or forged papers.

2. Vessels which carry no papers, or whose papers have been cancelled, especially when such has been done when the cruiser was already in sight.

3. Vessels which refuse to lay to or stop at the command of the cruiser, or which oppose the searching of their holds, and such places as are likely to contain contraband of war or papers.

All ships are liable, without distinction of nationality, to being stopped and captured which cannot clearly prove their nationality by the requisite ship's papers. It is necessary for the proof of nationality that such ship's papers should be in accordance with the laws of the country to which the ship may belong.

6.

As lawful prizes are considered :

1. Enemy's ships (Art. 1) together with their cargoes ; neutral goods, however, with the exception of contraband of war, on board enemy's ships are free.

2. Ships, together with their cargoes, when such consist of contraband of war (Art. 3, No. 1.) If, however, a portion only of the cargo consists of contraband of war, the master may get rid of the contraband of war on the spot, or in the nearest port, in which case he is exempt from capture, and may continue his voyage undisturbed with the remainder of his cargo.

3. Ships which resist by force being stopped (Art. 3, No. 2).

4. Ships captured as suspicious, in case the suspicion against them is not cleared up.

The following articles are to be considered as contraband of war if destined for an enemy or an enemy's port:—Cannons, mortars, arms of all descriptions, bombs, grenades, bullets, percussion caps, matches, powder, cuirasses, saddles, bits, as well as all articles in general which can only be made use of in war. Stores of such a kind which are for the use of the ship itself, are not included amongst contraband of war.

8.

The stoppage and capture of vessels within the jurisdiction of Neutral States is illegal.

The following are the rules to be observed by the Commanders of His Majesty's ships with regard to stopping and searching merchant vessels.

The Commander is to signal the merchant vessel to lay to or to stop, and then summon the master to come on board with his ship's papers. Should such prove satisfactory, he will allow the ship to proceed on her voyage unmolested. Should he, however, see reasons for suspecting that the ship ought to be captured, he will send an officer on board to make inquiries. No holds, cases, cupboards, bulkheads, chests, barrels, or other articles, are to be forcibly opened (which do not form part of the cargo), on pain of a heavy penalty, but the master is therefore the more bound to allow such to be opened, as the officer may consider indispensable.

Neutral merchant-vessels, sailing under convoy of neutral ships of war, are exempt from search, it being sufficient that the officer in command of the convoy should give a declaration that the papers of the ships under convoy, are in order, and that they have no contraband of war on board.

If a Commander makes a prize of a vessel, he must be careful that no portion of the cargo be discharged, sold, exchanged, or otherwise made away with, or lost. To effect this, he must, with the master or pilot of the said ship, as far as is feasible, seal up the holds or lock up the cargo. The Commander must seal up in a packet, with the seal of his ship and with that of the master, the ship's papers together with a list thereof, signed by himself and by the Captain.

11.

The Commander must then take the necessary steps by sending an officer with a sufficient crew on board the ship to ensure her reaching the nearest German or Prussian port, where military protection can be found, and that till then the cargo of the ship be not opened unless the Commander or the Master should consider it necessary to have it opened in order to preserve it.

12.

In the port, the ship, together with the ship's seal, papers, and all documents referring to the capture of the ship, must be handed over, and a certificate thereof furnished, either to the Prussian Consul or to the Customs' officers.

13.

The crew of such ship, if they are the subjects of an enemy, shall be considered as prisoners of war; if subjects of Neutral Powers they shall be handed over to their respective Consuls, and till then kept at the expense of the State, to the account of the captured ship.

14.

Only in cases of urgent necessity, such as through stress of weather, want of provisions, or pursuit by the enemy, is the ship to be brought into a neutral port, and to remain there only as long as is necessary.

15.

If the ship, through damage at sea, can proceed no further, or if the cargo consists of easily perishable articles, the Commander of the vessel of war and the officer in charge of the captured ship shall, to the best of his judgment, in co-operation with the Prussian Consul and the Master adopt such measures as may be best for the ship and its cargo.

16.

The Commanders of His Majesty's ships will, as soon as they have made a prize, furnish their superior officers with an account of the capture and seizure of the vessel.

Berlin, March 12, 1864.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT, 1858.

Notice is given in this Gazette by the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart., one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, that the Local Government Act, 1858, has been adopted by the township of Hoole, in the county of Chester; and whereas appeal has been duly made, under the provisions of the said Act, by owners and ratepayers within the said township, against the said vote of adoption, and praying that certain portions of such township should be excluded from the operation of the said Act, the questions arising on such appeal are determined as follows:—

That though the population of the said township of Hoole is less than 3,000 according to the last census, yet, from special circumstances it is expedient that the Local Government Act, 1858, should be adopted by so much of the aforesaid township as is comprised within the following boundaries, viz., the boundary of the said Local Government Act district on the north to be the township boundary as far as the point where it meets the lane leading to Upton, opposite Hoole Hall, thence along the east side of the said land, southward, to its junction with the Chester and Frodsham turnpike-road, thence along the north side of the said turnpike-road for a distance of 80 yards, thence crossing the said turnpike-road to Hoole Hall plantation, thence along the east side of the said plantation to and including the stables and outbuildings (excepting the barn) connected with Hoole Hall, and thence in a straight line to the point where the township boundary meets the high road leading to Guilden Sutton, thence following the said township boundary in a southerly and westerly direction to Flooker's Brook, thus completing the boundary.

And it is further ordered, that the Local Government Act, 1858, do come into force within the hereinbefore described portion of the township of Hoole, from and after the 28th day of March, 1864.

Dated the 23rd day of March, 1864.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, passed in the session of Parliament, holden in the 3rd and 4th years of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter 96, for the regulation of the duties of postage, certain scales of weight are fixed, and rates of postage made chargeable and payable upon, for, and in respect of letters transmitted and forwarded by the post, and after reciting therein that letters and packets sent by the post are chargeable by law on being redirected and again forwarded by the post, with a new and distinct rate of postage, it is thereby enacted, that on every post letter redirected, there shall be charged for the postage of such letter from the place at which the same shall be redirected to the place of ultimate delivery (in addition to all other rates of postage payable thereon), such a rate of postage only as the same would be liable to if prepaid.

And whereas by the same Act the Postmaster-General is authorized to remit any of the rates of British postage or inland postage for the time being payable by law on the transmission of post letters, newspapers, or other printed papers, to such extent as the Lords of the Treasury shall from time to time direct.

And whereas the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, after the passing of the said above recited Act, and by virtue thereof, did, by a certain Warrant, in writing under their hands, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, make certain regulations, by which certain rates of postage then by law payable on certain letters and packets, newspapers, or other printed papers, or other things chargeable with postage, might be remitted as therein mentioned, and did declare and direct, that it should be lawful for the Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury, or any two of them, by Warrant under their hands, at any time thereafter, to alter or repeal any of the regulations thereby made, and to make and establish any new or other regulations in lieu thereof.

And whereas it is expedient that other regulations should be made in lieu of the said regulations made by the said recited Warrant, and for that purpose, that the said recited Warrant of the 19th day of February, 1855, should be repealed, revoked, and annulled, in the manner hereinafter mentioned and contained.

And whereas the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury have, at various times since the passing of the said recited Act, and the making of the said recited Warrant, bearing date the said 19th day of February, 1855, by divers Warrants under their hands, made regulations for the transmission of divers letters, packets, printed papers, and other things by the post, and have therein ordered, directed, and declared, that the several letters, packets, printed papers, and other things transmitted by the post under the provisions of those Warrants respectively, should be subject to the several orders, directions, and regulations contained in the said recited Warrant, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, and intended to be hereby repealed, so far as the same should be applicable to such letters, packets, printed papers, and other things, and it is expedient to substitute the regulations hereinafter made and contained in this present Warrant, in all such cases for the regulations contained in the said recited Warrant, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, and intended to be hereby repealed, in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in exercise of the power or authority in us for that purpose vested, in and by the said recited Act, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do, by this Warrant (under the hands of two of us, the said Commissioners, by the authority of the Statute in that case made and provided), order, direct, and declare as follows:—

1. The said recited Warrant, bearing date the 19th day of February, 1855, shall be, and the same is hereby repealed, revoked, and annulled; and the several orders, directions, regulations, and rates of postage therein mentioned and set forth, shall wholly cease and determine on the day on which this present Warrant shall come into operation.

2. So much of every Warrant, heretofore made by the Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury, and bearing date at any time after the making the said recited Warrant of the 19th day of February, 1855, as consists of or contains, or in any manner relates or refers to any order, direction, declaration, or regulation, contained in the said Warrant of the 19th day of February, 1855, relating to redirected letters, packets, printed papers, or other things chargeable with postage, shall be, and the same is hereby repealed, revoked, and annulled; and every order, direction, declaration, or regulation relating to redirected letters, packets, printed papers, or other things contained in every such Warrant shall wholly cease, determine, and be of no effect; and in lieu and instead of any such order, direction, declaration, or regulation, all letters, packets, printed papers, and other things chargeable with postage. transmitted by the post, and redirected and again forwarded by the post, by or under the provisions of every such last-mentioned Warrant, shall, upon and from and after the day on which this Warrant shall come into operation, be subject to the several orders, directions, and regulations contained in this present Warrant, relating to redirected rates of postage upon letters, packets, printed papers, and other things chargeable with postage, which shall be redirected and again forwarded by the post, so far as the same shall be applicable thereto, anything in any such Warrants heretofore made, and bearing date as in this clause first-mentioned, to the contrary, notwithstanding.

3. The Postmaster General may wholly remit the redirected rates of postage, now payable by law, on all letters, packets, printed papers, or other things chargeable with postage, which shall be redirected by an Officer of the Post Office, and shall be again forwarded by the post to the same persons to whom, and within the limits of the same free delivery, within which such letters, packets, printed papers, or other things shall have been originally addressed, both such places being within the United Kingdom.

4. Subject to the directions hereinbefore in the next preceding clause contained, on all letters and packets of every description, printed papers, or other things chargeable with postage, which shall be redirected, either by an Officer of the Post Office or by any other person, and again forwarded by the post within the United Kingdom, there shall be charged for the postage of every such letter and packet, printed paper, or other thing chargeable with postage, from the place at which the same shall be redirected to the place of ultimate delivery, in addition to all other rates of postage payable thereon, such a new and distinct rate of postage as any such letter or packet, printed paper, or other thing chargeable with postage would have been liable to by law if it had been originally posted at the place where it was redirected, and there properly paid by stamps or in money when posted.

5. For the purposes of this Warrant the whole of the London Postal District shall be deemed and considered to be in one and the same free delivery.

6. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to annul, prejudice, or effect any of the exemptions or privileges granted by the said recited Act, nor to affect any letters which may now be forwarded to any other place from the place to which they were originally addressed without being charged with more than the postage originally payable for such letters, nor to annul, prejudice, or affect any privileges under which printed newspapers or other printed papers are allowed to pass by the post free of postage.

7. The several terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said recited Act.

8. The Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury, or any two of them, may, by Warrant under their hands, at any time hereafter alter or repeal any of the regulations hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other regulations in lieu thereof.

9. This Warrant shall come into operation on the eleventh day of April, 1864.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of APRIL 12, 1864.

Whitehall, April 11, 1864.

THE following Addresses of Congratulation to the Queen, on the occasion of Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales having given Birth to a Prince, have been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart., Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, for Presentation, and have accordingly been presented by him to Her Majesty, who has been pleased to receive the same very graciously:

From the President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Governors of the Scottish Hospital, of the foundation of King Charles the Second, in general Court assembled.

The Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the borough of Pembroke.

At the Court at Windsor, the 7th day of April, 1864.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the session of Parliament holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act for the appointment of con-" venient places for the holding of Assizes in Eng-" land and Wales," it was (amongst other things) declared and enacted that His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should have power from time to time to order and direct at what place or places in any county in England or Wales the Assizes and Sessions under the Commissions of Gaol Delivery and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business should be holden, and to order and direct such assizes and sessions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business to be holden at more than one place in the same county on the circuit, and to order and direct the assizes and sessions under such commissions for the dispatch of criminal business to be holden for the whole county at one place, and for the dispatch of civil business at one or more places in such county on the same circuit; and further to order and direct any special Commissions of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery to be holden at any one or more places in such county; and it was also further declared and enacted, that in case His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Council, should think fit to order and direct the assizes or any such special commissions should be holden at more than one place in any one county, it should be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, to divide any such county for the purposes of the said Act, and to make rules and regulations touching the venue in all cases, civil and criminal, then pending or thereafter to be pending, and to be tried within any division of such county, so to be made as aforesaid, and touching the liability and attendance of jurors, whether grand jurors, special jurors, or common jurors, at the assizes and sessions as aforesaid, or at any sessions under any special commissions to be holden within any such division, and touching the use of any house of correction or prison as a common gaol, and the government and keeping thereof, and touching the alterations of any commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings whatsoever, for carrying into effect the purposes of that Act, and touching any other matters that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of that Act, and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to direct.

And whereas divers petitions have been presented to Her Most Excellent Majesty the Queen, praying for the holding of the Assizes for the county palatine of Lancaster at Manchester, as well as at Liverpool and Lancaster: And whereas it is certified that proper courts and lodgings for Her Majesty's Judges have been prepared at Manchester: And whereas it will be very beneficial and convenient to a great portion of the inhabitants of the said county palatine and highly conducive to the proper administration of civil and criminal justice, if the assizes and sessions holden in the said county palatine under commissions of gaol delivery and other commissions for the despatch of civil and criminal business, should be holden at Manchester as well as at Lancaster and Liverpool;

It is therefore ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Most Honourable Privy Council, as follows (that is to say):

at Lancaster and at Liverpool, shall hereafter be holden on the same circuit, at Lancaster, Liverpool, and Manchester, in the said county palatine.

II. The said county palatine shall be divided, for the purposes of carrying the said Act of Parliament and this Order into execution, into three divisions, which shall respectively be called the "Northern Division," the "West Derby Division," and the "Salford Division."

III. The said Northern Division shall be and remain the same which was constituted by an Order in Council, bearing date the 24th day of June, 1835, made in pursuance of the said Act of Parliament, that is to say, the same shall include and consist of the whole of the hundreds of Lonsdale, Anamderness, Leyland, and Blackburn; the said West Derby Division shall include and consist of the whole of the hundred of West Derby; and the said Salford Division shall include and consist of the whole of the hundred of Salford

IV. The House of Correction at Salford, in the hundred of Salford, shall and may be used, in manner hereinafter mentioned, as a common gaol, for the purposes of carrying the said Act of Parliament and this Order into effect; and any Justice or Justices of the Peace, or Coroner, for the said county palatine, or for any liberty therein, may commit to the said house of correction any person duly charged with any offence triable at the assizes; and from and after the opening of the Court at Manchester aforesaid all prisoners in the said house of correction, committed for trial at the assizes, shall be in and under the government, custody, and charge of the Sheriff of the said county palatine of Lancaster, and the prisoners who may be removed, pursuant to the direction hereinafter given, from the House of Correction at Kirkdale, for trial at the assizes to be holden at Manchester, shall also be kept by the said Sheriff in the said House of Correction at Salford, and all such prisoners so committed or removed as aforesaid shall continue in and under the government, custody, and charge of the said Sheriff, in the said house of correction, until the execution of their respective sentences, or until they shall be delivered from thence into the custody in which they ought by virtue of their respective sentences to be delivered, or shall be delivered by due course of law; and the Governor or keeper of the said House of Correction at Salford shall from time to time transmit to the said Sheriff or his deputy, seven days at least before the commission day of the assizes to be holden at Manchester, a list of the prisoners committed to such assizes for trial, or awaiting their trial at such assizes, together with a statement of their several offences, in order to enable him, the said Sheriff, to prepare a proper calendar of such prisoner, which he, the said Sheriff, is hereby required to do.

V. THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received, from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a letter from the Italian Minister at this Court, enclosing a copy of a Regulation issued by the Italian Minister of Finance, relative to the treatment of British Shipping in Italian Ports, and of which the following is a translation :—

"That in order to the admission of merchandise to the benefit of the Treaty, the ships' captains who have goods on board, must, on their arrival, present the bill of lading (manifesto di carico) at the Custom House, so that the actual existence of the said goods on board may be known there, as far as it may be possible.

"That such goods, on their landing, be under the superintendence of the Custom House officers, and conveyed directly, under their care, to one of the offices, in which they shall remain for any further operations.

Board of Trade, Whitehall,
April 18, 1864.

THE Right Honourable the Lords of the Committee of Privy Council for Trade have received, from the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a copy of a Despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Hamburgh, enclosing the following translation of an Ordinance issued by the Senate of Lübeck, regulating the navigation of the Ports of Lübeck and Travemünde and the Lower Trave:—

ORDINANCE respecting the Navigation Dues for the Sea Navigation and the passage of the Lower Trave.

WHEREAS an alteration of the tariff published January 30, 1850, respecting the pilotage charges has been requisite, and it has at the same time been deemed expedient to make a clear compilation of the various regulations issued respecting the navigation dues for the sea navigation and the passage of the Lower Trave, the Senate hereby orders according to determinations which it has come to in concert with the Burgership, as follows:

The navigation dues for the sea navigation and the passage of the Lower Trave consist in Last (or tonnage) Dues, Harbour Dues, and Pilotage Dues.

These dues have to be paid, in so far as no exceptions are made in this Ordinance, by all ships and vessels leaving or entering the Ports of Lübeck or Travemünde, as well as by all ships which discharge or take in cargo in the roads near Travemünde.

Sec. 2.

The calculation of these navigation dues is to be made according to metrical weight, viz:—for sea-going ships and sharply built vessels in lasts of 4000 lbs. each; for flat-bottomed open vessels in lasts of 5000 lbs.; for those vessels which only ply between Lübeck and Schönberg in lasts of 6000 lbs. each.

Sec. 3.

The navigation dues are levied by the Customs and Excise Department, and according to the survey taken here and the certificates of measurement which shall be in conformity with the rules annexed to the Ordinance of January 30, 1850, respecting the surveying of ships. In the same light as certificates of measurement which are given here, shall be regarded those certificates of measurement which are granted in States with which treaties exist for mutual recognition of the certificates, without any additional survey being required.

Payment shall be made	On entering.	On departing.
	Schillings.	Schillings.
I. For last (tonnage) duties, without reference to the cargo, by ships and vessels which sail under the Lübeck flag, or under a flag enjoying the same rights—per last :
1. By sailing and steam vessels, as well as sharply-built vessels	6	6
2. By flat-bottomed open vessels	3	3
But for voyages between Lübeck and Schönberg	Nil.	2
Ships and vessels which sail under a flag which does not enjoy the same rights as the Lübeck flag have to pay double of the above charges.

II. For harbour duties, by all sailing ships and steamers of above 30 lasts—per last :
1. If laden	6	6
2. Exceptionally, if laden with timber	4	4
3. If in ballast, or empty	2	2
Ships carrying cargo equal to not more than the tenth part of their burden, the same as empty ships	2	2
Ships having besides their cargo of timber other goods on board, pay—in so far as these latter do not amount to more than the 10th part of their burden—the same as ships laden with timber ; viz. :	4	4

Anybody wishing to claim one of the above two exemptions must furnish a certificate to the Customs and Excise Department, that such exemption is due, in which case (as a rule), for ships entering, the manifest of the cargo will be sufficient proof ; and for ships departing, a certificate from the ship broker ; the Customs and Excise Department, however, reserve to themselves to institute a special investigation, if necessary.

A Pilot who takes a steamer or sailing-vessel from Travemünde to Lübeek, must be subsisted gratuitously during the voyage, and must receive 12 schillings for his journey back to Travemünde.

In cases of average loss, the pilotage duties must also be paid according to the Tariff; the Pilots are, however, for special services in such cases, entitled to claim a special allowance, which allowance shall be given to those Pilots by whom the service has been rendered. In cases in which disputes arise about such special allowance, and in which the Pilot-Commander is not able to decide the matter, the parties in question are referred for an amicable settlement to the Commissioners of the Senate for matters of Pilotage, and in default of such amicable settlement, for a judicial decision to the proper court of justice.

See. 5.

Exempted from paying Last (tonnage) duties are:

1. Ships and boats belonging to the State of Lübeck or to foreign Governments, in so far as such ships and boats sail under the State flag, and are used for State purposes.

Mail ships carrying the State flag are, however, when conveying passengers or goods, subject to the payment of the Last duties, in so far as they are not exempted from the same.

2. Steamers which, in consequence of permission given them by the Senate on special application, carry on a communication between Lübeek and foreign ports, which voyages at their commencement have to be notified, and which continue in regular intervals as long as the navigation is open, except in cases of force majeure.

3. The Trave steamers used for towing and those used for conveyance of passengers belonging to this State.

4. Ships and vessels entering the Port of Travemünde merely on account of contrary winds, by order, on account of average, for completing their stock of provisions or coals, or in consequence of any other cause of distress,—presuming that one of these causes is clearly apparent or can be proved.

Ships and vessels entering the Port of Travemünde on account of damage at sea, are also exempted from Last charges, when, in order to make the requisite repairs, they are obliged to proceed up to Lübeck.

In all of these cases, however, the ships are not allowed to carry on trade, or as a rule during their stay at Travemünde or at Lübeck to discharge or take in cargo; nevertheless the discharging and reloading of the cargo shall be permitted; when it is requisite for the repairing of the ship, as well as the taking in provisions and coals for the completion of the ship's stores. Notice must be given of such exceptional cases in Travemünde to the Pilot-Commander, in Lübeck to the Customs and Excise department, and obedience must be rendered to the orders given by the same. The expenses of any surveillance which may be ordered shall be borne by the ship which renders the same requisite.

5. Vessels intended for pleasure excursions belonging to foreign societies (yacht clubs), or to single persons, in so far as these vessels are used mainly for such object, and in so far as Lübeck vessels for pleasure excursions enjoy the same exemptions in the respective foreign ports.

5. Vessels intended for pleasure excursions belonging to foreign societies (yacht clubs), or to single persons, if these vessels are used mainly for such object, and in so far as Lübeck vessels for pleasure excursions enjoy the same exemptions in the respective foreign ports.

NOTIFICATION OF BLOCKADE.

IT is hereby notified, that Earl Russell, Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has received from one of Her Majesty's Secretaries of the Admiralty, a copy of a letter (dated the 29th of February, 1864), addressed by the Rear-Admiral Commanding the French Squadron in the Pacific to Commander Pike, Commanding Her Majesty's ship "Devastation," notifying the effective blockade by the French Naval Forces, of the ports of Acapulco and Manzanilla, on the West Coast of Mexico.

The following is a copy of the letter from the French Admiral, above referred to, and translation :

Devant Acapulco,
"Pallas," 29*th Février*, 1864

DIVISION NAVALE DE L'OCEAN PACIFIQUE.

Monsieur le Commandant,

J'AI l'honneur de vous informer que je viens de notifier et d'établir le blocus effectif d'Acapulco et de Manzanillas, sur la côte occidentale du Méxique.

Ne sachant où se trouve dans ce moment l'Amiral Commandant-en-Chef l'Escadre de Sa Majesté Britannique dans la Pacifique, je vous prie de vouloir bien lui donner connaissance de ce fait.

Désireux d'éviter tout malentendu avec les Commandants des navires de guerre d'une Puissance alliée du Gouvernement Français, je vous prie de faire connaître aux Commandants des bâtiments qu'une necessité grave appellerait, soit à Acapulco soit à Manzanillas, que tout en conservant en principe le droit que me confirent les lois internationales de défendre l'accès des ports bloqués, j'autoriserai les croiseurs à admettre les bâtiments de guerre de Sa Majesté Britannique dans les ports sus-mentionnés. Le navire qui se présenterait pour entrer, devrait communiquer préalablement avec le croiseur Français; et dans tous les cas on ne chercherait jamais à entrer de nuit.

J'ai l'honneur de vous prier de communiquer en entier cette dépêche à l'Amiral Kingcome, et lui dire que j'en envoie une copie au Ministre de la Marine.

Dans le cas où je recevrai l'ordre de m'en tenir à l'exécution du droit strict de bloquer d'une manière absolue, je m'empresserai de vous en donner avis.

Recevez, &c.,
Le Contre-Amiral Commandant-en-Chef la Division Navale de l'Océan Pacifique.

Off Acapulco,
"Pallas," February 29, 1864.

PACIFIC STATION.

MONSIEUR LE COMMANDANT,

I HAVE the honour to inform you that I have just notified and established the effective blockade of Acapulco and Manzanilla, on the western coast of Mexico.

Being ignorant where the Admiral commanding Her Britannic Majesty's squadron in the Pacific is at this moment to be found, I beg you to be so good as to acquaint him with this fact.

Being desirous to avoid any misunderstanding with the Commanders of the ships of war of a Power in alliance with the French Government, I beg of you to inform the Commanders of those vessels which urgent necessity may call either to Acapulco or to Manzanilla, that whilst I shall reserve to myself in principle the right which I acquire by international law of preventing access to the blockaded ports, I shall authorize the cruisers to admit the ships of war of Her Britannic Majesty in the above-named ports. The ship presenting itself for entrance should communicate before hand with the French cruiser ; and in any case it must never attempt to enter by night.

I have the honour to request that you will communicate this despatch in full to Admiral Kingcome, and tell him that I am sending a copy of it to the Minister of Marine.

In case I should receive an order to adhere to the execution of the strict right of absolute blockade, I shall hasten to give you notice.

Accept, &c.,

Rear-Admiral Commander-in-Chief of the Pacific Station,

VICTORIA, R.

WHEREAS by a statute made at the Parliament, holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of Our late Royal Uncle, King William the Fourth, entitled "An Act for the appointment of convenient places for the holding of assizes in England and Wales," it was declared and enacted that His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should have power from time to time to order and direct at what place or places, in any county in England or Wales, the assizes and sessions under the Commissions of Gaol Delivery, and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business, should be holden, and to order and direct such assizes and sessions for the dispatch of criminal and civil business to be holden at more than one place in the same county on the same circuit, and to order and direct the assizes and sessions under such commissions for the dispatch of criminal business, to be holden for the whole county at one place, and for he dispatch of civil business at one or more place or places in such county on the same circuit. And further to order and direct any special commissions of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery to be holden at any one or more places in any such county. And it was further enacted that in case His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to order and direct that the assizes, or any such special commissions should be holden at more than one place in any one county it should be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, to divide any such county for the purposes of the said Act, and to make rules and regulations touching the venue in all cases civil and criminal then pending or thereafter to be pending and to be tried within any division of such county so to be made as aforesaid, and touching the liability and attendance of jurors, whether grand jurors, special jurors, or common jurors, at the assizes and sessions as aforesaid, or at any sessions under any special commissions to be holden within any such division; and touching the use of any house of correction or prison as a common gaol, and the government and keeping thereof; and touching the alterations of any commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings whatsoever for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act: and touching any other matters that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act; and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to direct. And it was further enacted that His Majesty should have power from time to time, for the purpose of carrying the said Act into effect, to order and direct, that the Court of Common Pleas, at Lancaster, should be holden at any one or more places in the county palatine of Lancaster as His Majesty should think fit, and to divide the said county palatine for the purpose of the trial of civil causes and the transaction of other civil business in the said Court, and to make the like rules and regulations touching the venue in civil cases to be tried within any division of the said county, and the liability and attendance of jurors, whether special or common, at the Court to be held within any such division; and touching the alterations of commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act; and touching any other matter that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act; and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty should think fit. And whereas we have been graciously pleased, by and with the advice of Our Most Honourable Privy Council, by an Order in Council bearing date on the seventh day of April instant, to order and direct that the assizes and sessions held under commissions of gaol delivery and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business for the county palatine of Lancaster, heretofore holden at Lancaster and at Liverpool, shall hereafter be holden on the same circuit at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, respectively, in the said county palatine: and have also ordered the said county to be divided for the purpose of carrying the said recited Act and that Order into effect, into three divisions, which are respectively to be called the "Northern Division," the "West Derby Division," and the "Salford Division"; and that such Northern Division shall be and remain the same as was constituted by an Order in Council, bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, made in pursuance of the said Act, that is to say, the same shall include and consist of the whole of the several hundreds of Lonsdale, Amounderness, Leyland, and Blackburn, and that such West Derby Division shall include and consist of the whole of the hundred of West Derby, and that such Salford Division shall include and consist of the whole of the hundred of Salford. And whereas divers other regulations are made by the said Order, but it is expedient, in order to carry the same into complete effect, and to accomplish the purposes of the said Act, so far as relates to the civil business to be transacted at the assizes to be so held at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, as aforesaid, to make further regulations touching the Court of Common Pleas for the said county palatine of Lancaster. We do therefore order and direct that the Court of Common Pleas for the said county, heretofore held at Lancaster and at Liverpool, shall be holden at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, respectively, at the respective times fixed for the holden of the said assizes and sessions; and that the said county palatine be divided for the purpose of the trial of civil actions and the transaction of other civil business in the said Court into the three divisions aforesaid. And we do further order and direct that every declaration hereafter to be filed or delivered in any action in the said Court of Common Pleas shall have in the margin, besides the ordinary venue, the words "Northern Division," or "West Derby Division," or "Salford Division," but no other alteration from the ordinary form shall be necessary; and issues arising in such actions, if tried at the assizes, shall accordingly be tried at the assizes held at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester respectively: Provided nevertheless, and we do further order and direct, that in all cases of civil actions in the said Court of Common Pleas in which the venue is by law local, the issue therein shall be tried at Lancaster in cases where the cause of action shall have arisen in the Northern Division, and at Liverpool where the cause of action shall have arisen in the West Derby Division, and at Manchester in cases where the cause of action shall have arisen in the Salford Division, in like manner as if the three divisions were three separate counties, and the declarations in such actions shall have in the margin, in addition to the ordinary venue, the words "Northern Division," or "West Derby Division," or "Salford Division," as the case may require, but no other alteration from the ordinary form shall be necessary; nevertheless it shall be lawful for the said Court of Common Pleas, or any Judge thereof, to order such issues to be tried at the assizes held in the division in which the cause of action did not arise, if they or he shalll think fit, and also to order the words in the margin to be amended in all other cases in actions in the said Court of Common Pleas, so as to cause the trial to take place at the assizes held in another division. And we do further order and direct, that in all cases of issues already joined or hereafter joined in the said Court of Common Pleas in which the venue is laid in the county of Lancaster without any words in the margin specifying the division of the county such issues shall be tried at Lancaster, unless the said Court, or a Judge thereof, shall otherwise order by directing the proper words to be inserted in the margin, or otherwise, as he shall think fit. And we do further order and direct that the prothonotary or his deputy shall attend at the assizes at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, respectively. And we do further order and direct that no alteration shall be necessary in the commission or commissions appointing the Chief Justice or other Justices of the Court of Common Pleas, and of all manner of pleas within the said county, and that the jury process or issues joined in the said Court of Common Pleas and subpœnas do name the assizes either at Lancaster, or at Liverpool, or at Manchester, as the case may be, at which attendance is to be given ; and writs of subpœna to be hereafter issued for the next assizes, may be tested on any day after the date hereof ; and for any subsequent assizes may be tested in manner heretofore used and accustomed. And we do further order and direct that all and every other the said regulations already made by us, by and with the advice of our Privy Council, so far as they relate to or affect the said Court of Common Pleas, or the jurisdiction of the Judges thereof, or the trial of issues therein, or the Court of Pleas of the Crown for the said county, be carried into effect.

Given at Our Palace of Windsor Castle, the eighth day of April, in the twenty-seventh year of Our reign, and in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

By Her Majesty's Command,
CLARENDON.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of MAY 6, 1864.

AT the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 4th day of May, 1864.

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council was pleased to approve and ratify the scheme duly prepared (as set forth in this Gazette) by the Ecclesiastical Commissioners for England—

For assigning certain lands and hereditaments as the endowment of the see of Lincoln.

At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 4th day of May, 1864.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS a certain Order in Council was made on the 7th day of April, in the present year, under the provisions of an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the session of Parliament holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act for the appointment of "convenient places for holding of Assizes in England "and Wales:" and whereas Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, has thought fit to revoke the said Order, and to give other directions in lieu thereof; and whereas by the said Act of Parliament it was (amongst other things) declared and enacted that His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should have power from time to time to order and direct at what place or places in any county in England or Wales the Assizes and Sessions under the Commissions of Gaol Delivery and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business should be holden, and to order and direct such assizes and sessions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business to be holden at more than one place in the same county on the circuit, and to order and direct the assizes and sessions under such commissions for the dispatch of criminal business to be holden for the whole county at one place, and for the dispatch of civil business at one or more places in such county on the same circuit; and further to order and direct any special Commissions of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery to be holden at any one or more places in such county; and it was also further declared and enacted, that in case His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Council, should think fit to order and direct that the assizes or any such special commissions should be holden at more than one place in any one county, it should be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, to divide any such county for the purposes of the said Act, and to make rules and regulations touching the venue in all cases, civil and criminal, then pending or thereafter to be pending, and to be tried within any division of such county, so to be made as aforesaid, and touching the liability and attendance of jurors, whether grand jurors, special jurors, or common jurors, at the assizes and sessions as aforesaid, or at any sessions under any special commissions to be holden within any such division, and touching the use of any house of correction or prison as a common gaol, and the government and keeping thereof, and touching the alterations of any commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings whatsoever, for carrying into effect the purposes of that Act, and touching any other matters that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of that Act, and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to direct:

And whereas divers petitions have been presented to Her Most Excellent Majesty the Queen, praying for the holding of the Assizes for the county palatine of Lancaster at Manchester, as well as at Liverpool and Lancaster: And whereas it is certified that proper courts and lodgings for

Her Majesty's Judges have been prepared at Manchester: And whereas it will be very beneficial and convenient to a great portion of the inhabitants of the said county palatine, and highly conducive to the proper administration of civil and criminal justice, if the assizes and sessions holden in the said county palatine, under commissions of gaol delivery and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business, should be holden at Manchester as well as at Lancaster and Liverpool:

It is therefore ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Most Honourable Privy Council, as follows (that is to say):

one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four. In the burial-grounds of the Grosvenor-street Chapel, Stalybridge, and the Methodist New Connexion Chapel, Dukinfield, from the first of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, to the first of May, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, provided that burials, in both these grounds, be conducted in accordance with the regulations contained in the Order in Council of the twenty-fourth of June, one thousand eight hundred and fifty-six, and that in the latter case no new graves be opened in the north-west compartment of the ground, nor within eighteen feet of the north-east portion of the boundary.

And whereas by an Order in Council of the seventh day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, it was directed that burials should be discontinued "with the exception of now existing family vaults and graves, in all that part "of the churchyard of East Barnet which lies "to the south of a line drawn along the south "side of the church;" and whereas it seems fit to Her Majesty that the said Order be varied: now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, is pleased to vary the said Order as follows; viz.:—to order that, with the exception of now existing family vaults and graves, no burials take place in the churchyard of East Barnet within twenty feet of Church Farm Industrial School.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the regulation of the duties of postage" certain scales of weight and rates of postage were fixed and made chargeable and payable upon, for, or in respect of letters, newspapers, Parliamentary proceedings, and printed papers transmitted and forwarded by the post, and various regulations were made for facilitating the transmission of such letters and papers by the post.

And whereas by the said Act powers were given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury from time to time and at any time thereafter by Warrant under their hands to alter and fix any of the rates of British postage or Inland postage payable by law on the transmission by the post of foreign or colonial letters or newspapers, or of any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant, and from time to time by Warrant as aforesaid to alter or repeal any of such altered rates, and make and establish any new or other rates in lieu thereof, and from time to time by Warrant as aforesaid to appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid, and the power thereby given to alter and fix rates of postage is extended to any increase or reduction or remission of postage.

And whereas further powers are given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury by an Act of Parliament passed in the eleventh year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for giving further facilities for the transmission of letters by post, and for the regulating the duties of postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post Office."

And whereas it is expedient that packets consisting of books, publications, or works of literature or art, whether British, colonial, or foreign, should be transmitted by the post between Egypt and the East Indies, Ceylon, Mauritius, Labuan, China, Hong Kong, Australia, and New Zealand, by British packet boat, and that certain rates should be fixed and regulations made for that purpose, in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury in exercise of the powers or authority in us for that purpose vested in and by the said hereinbefore recited Acts of Parliament, or either of them, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do by this Warrant under the hands of two of us the said Commissioners (by the authority of the statute in that case made and provided) order, direct, and declare as follows :—

1. On every packet consisting of books, publications, or works of literature or art, whether British, colonial, or foreign, not exceeding four ounces in weight, transmitted by the post between Egypt and any port in the East Indies, Ceylon, Mauritius, Labuan, China, Hong Kong, New South Wales, Queensland, South Australia, Tasmania, Victoria, Western Australia, or New Zealand, direct by British packet boat, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, a British rate of postage of fourpence.

2. All such respective packets as hereinbefore in this Warrant mentioned, if exceeding four ounces in weight, shall be subject to the several progressive and additional rates of postage hereinafter mentioned and set forth (that is to say) :—

On every such packet if exceeding four ounces and not exceeding one half of a pound in weight, there shall be charged, taken, and paid two rates of postage ;

And on every such packet if exceeding one half of a pound and not exceeding one pound in weight, four rates of postage ;

And on every such packet if exceeding one pound and not exceeding one pound and one half of another pound in weight, six rates of postage;

And on every such packet if exceeding one pound and one half of another pound and not exceeding two pounds in weight, eight rates of postage;

And for every additional half of a pound in weight of any such packet above the weight of two pounds, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, two additional rates of postage, and every fractional part of such additional half of a pound in weight shall be charged as an additional half of a pound in weight; and each progressive and additional rate chargeable under this clause shall be estimated and charged at the sum which any such packet would be charged with under this Warrant if not exceeding four ounces in weight.

3. Every packet transmitted by the post under this Warrant shall be subject to the several regulations, orders, directions, and conditions hereinafter contained (that is to say):—

No such packet, which in length or breadth or width shall exceed the dimensions of two feet, shall be forwarded by the post under the provisions aforesaid;

No such packet posted in Egypt addressed to the East Indies or New South Wales exceeding the weight of three pounds shall be forwarded by the post under the provisions aforesaid.

The terms "Books, Publications, or Works of Literature or Art" in this Warrant used, shall for the purposes of this Warrant mean and comprise all such articles as in their general character are either literary, or consist of printed, written, engraved, or lithographed mattter (although not strictly literary) including books (whether printed, written, or plain), publications or compilations (whether in print or in manuscript), almanacks, printed or lithographed, letters and such artistic productions as prints, maps (whether on paper or canvas, or cloth, and whether printed or written), and photographs, when not on glass or in frames containing glass, and any description of paper, parchment, or vellum (whether printed, lithographed, written upon or plain, or any mixture of the four), together with any binding, mounting, or covering of or upon or belonging to any such article or production or any portion thereof, or of or belonging to any paper, parchment, or vellum, and including also any cases or rollers of prints or maps, book-markers (whether of paper or otherwise), pencils, pens, or other thing usually appertaining to any such article or production, paper, parchment, or vellum, or necessary for its safe transmission, which shall be sent in the same packet with any such article or production to which they or it shall belong: And all letters, notices, and other communications (whether upon paper, parchment, or vellum), partly printed or partly lithographed and partly written, which, if wholly written, would not be considered letters or communications in the nature of letters: Provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall extend to authorize the sending by the post under the provisions of this Warrant of any letter, notice, or other communication (whether upon paper, parchment, or vellum), partly printed or partly lithographed, and partly written which, if wholly written would be considered a letter or communication in the nature of a letter, nor of any packet consisting of or containing any photographs, drawings, prints, or other contents which may be obviously of an obscene character, nor of any packet comprising prints or printed matter, unless such prints or printed matter shall consist only of prints or printed matter on paper, parchment, or vellum.

Every packet transmitted by the post under the authority of this Warrant shall be sent open at the ends or sides, and either without a cover or in a cover or envelope open at the ends or sides, and there shall be no written letter either closed or open, nor any written communication in the nature of a letter either closed or open (whether such letter or communication be addressed to or intended for the person to whom the packet shall be directed, or any other person), nor any inclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor any other inclosure not authorized by this Warrant, sent in or with any such packet, nor shall there be any written letter, or any written communication in the nature of a letter, in or upon any such packet, or on the cover or envelope thereof.

4. Upon every packet transmitted by the post under the authority of this Warrant the postage thereof shall be paid at the time of the same being posted, either in money, or by being duly stamped with the proper postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which stamp or stamps shall in every case be affixed, or appear on the outside of every such packet near the address or direction, and shall be of the value or amount of the postage duty payable thereon, under or by virtue of this Warrant.

5. In order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, any officer of the Post-Office may delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours after the time at which the same ought to be despatched in due course of the post or (at his option) until the despatch of the mail next after that by which the same ought, in due course of the post, to be forwarded by him.

6. If any packet sent or tendered or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant shall be sent otherwise than in conformity with the several regulations, orders, directions, and conditions hereinbefore in the 3rd clause of this Warrant contained every such packet shall, and may be detained and opened, and at the option of the Postmaster-General shall (except in the cases provided for by the clause next hereinafter contained) be either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be given up to the person to whom it shall be addressed or be forwarded to the place of its destination, and every such packet on being so returned, given up, or forwarded, shall, at the option of the Postmaster-General, be either free of postage, or be charged with any rate of postage he may think fit, not exceeding the postage to which it would have been liable as a letter, and such postage shall be either paid by the sender, or by the person to whom the packet shall be forwarded.

7. If any packet sent or tendered or delivered in order to be sent by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, shall contain any written letter, or any written communication, in the nature of a letter, whether closed or open, or any inclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other inclosure not authorized by this Warrant, every such letter or communication or inclosure may be taken out by any officer of the Post-Office, and either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be forwarded to the address on the packet charged in either case, not only with the full rates of postage as an unpaid letter, but also with a further and additional rate of postage equal in amount to the single rate of postage chargeable under the provisions of this Warrant, on a packet not exceeding four ounces in weight, and the remainder of the packet, if the postage be duly paid when posted, may be forwarded to the place of its address without any extra charge.

8. If any packet sent or tendered or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant shall be posted without any postage having been paid thereon, or without having thereon, or affixed thereto, any postage stamp, or with a postage paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which shall represent a less amount than the postage chargeable under this Warrant, every such packet shall, and may be detained and opened, and shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof.

9. The term "East Indies" used in this Warrant shall be construed to mean every port or place in Her Majesty's dominions in Asia (Hong Kong, Ceylon, Mauritius, Labuan, and Australia excepted), and the several other terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be contrued to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act, passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty.

10. In all cases in which any questions shall hereafter arise whether any article, matter, or thing transmitted by the post under this Warrant is entitled to the book post privilege, and to be so transmitted within the intent and meaning of this Warrant, such question shall be referred to the determination of the Postmaster-General, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

11. The Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury may by Warrant under their hands or the hands of any two of them at any time hereafter alter, repeal, or revoke any of the rates of postage hereby fixed or altered, or any of the orders, directions, regulations, and conditions hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other rates, orders, directions, regulations, and conditions in lieu thereof, and from time to time appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid.

12. This Warrant shall come into operation on the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament made and passed in the session of Parliament holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter ninety-six, for the regulation of the duties of postage, power is given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury from time to time, by Warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British postage payable by law on the transmission by the post of foreign or colonial letters or newspapers, or of any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant; and from time to time, by Warrant as aforesaid, to alter or repeal any such altered rates, and make and establish any new or other rates in lieu thereof, and from time to time, by Warrant as aforesaid, to appoint at what time the rates which might be payable were to be paid, and the power thereby given to alter and fix rates of postage was to extend to any increase or reduction or remission of postage.

And whereas further powers are given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, by another Act of Parliament, passed in the session of Parliament holden in the tenth and eleventh years of the reign of Her Majesty, chapter eighty-five, for giving further facilities for the transmission of letters by post, and for the regulating the duties of postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post Office.

And whereas the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, since the passing of the said two hereinbefore recited Acts, and by virtue thereof, have from time to time, by divers Warrants under their hands, fixed, made, and established certain rates of British postage to be paid and payable on the transmission by the post of certain colonial letters therein respectively mentioned; and it is expedient that certain of the said rates on certain of the said letters should be altered, and certain other rates made and fixed in lieu thereof, and that certain other regulations should be made, and for that purpose that certain of the said former rates, and also that one of the said Warrants should be wholly, and certain other of the said Warrants should be in part, repealed and annulled in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury in exercise of the power or authority in us for that purpose vested in and by the said hereinbefore recited Acts of Parliament, or either of them, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do by this Warrant (under the hands of two of us the said Commissioners, by the authority of the Statute in that case made and provided), order, direct, and declare as follows:—

1. On every letter not exceeding one half of an ounce in weight, transmitted by the post from any place in the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand, direct, or through any British colony or foreign country, and conveyed by British packet boat, there shall be charged and taken in lieu of any rates of British postage now payable on such letters an uniform rate of British postage of one shilling.

2. On every letter not exceeding one half of an ounce in weight, transmitted by the post from any of Her Majesty's colonies or any foreign country, through the United Kingdom, to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand, whether through any British colony or foreign country or not (the sea conveyance from the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand, being by British packet boat), there shall be charged and taken in lieu of any rates of British postage now payable on such letters, a like rate of British postage of one shilling for the conveyance of every such letter from any port in the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand. And for the conveyance of every such letter from the British colony or foreign country from which the same shall be forwarded to the port in the United Kingdom of the arrival of the packet boat or vessel (not being a packet boat) conveying the same, such a further or additional rate of postage as shall from time to time be charged and payable for British postage on letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted in any such British colony or foreign country, and transmitted direct from such colony or foreign country to the port in the United Kingdom of the arrival of the packet boat or vessel (not being a packet boat) conveying the same: Provided that in all cases where such additional rate includes both inland and sea services, there shall be deducted therefrom the sum of one penny in respect of the inland conveyance under this clause of every such letter sent through the United Kingdom.

3. On every letter, not exceeding one half of an ounce in weight, transmitted by the post from any place in the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand, and conveyed by a vessel not being a packet boat, there shall be charged and taken, in lieu of any rates of British postage now payable on such letters, an uniform British rate of postage of fourpence.

4. On every letter, not exceeding one half of an ounce in weight, transmitted by the post from any of Her Majesty's colonies or any foreign country through the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand (the sea conveyance from the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand, being by a vessel not being a packet boat), there shall be charged and taken, in lieu of any rates of British postage now payable on such letters, a like rate of British postage of fourpence, for the conveyance of every such letter from any port in the United Kingdom to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand; and for the conveyance of every such letter from the British colony or foreign country from which the same shall be forwarded to the port in the United Kingdom of the arrival of the packet boat or vessel (not being a packet boat) conveying the same, such a further or additional rate of postage as shall from time to time be charged and payable for British postage on letters not exceeding half an ounce in weight, posted in any such British colony or foreign country, and transmitted direct from such colony or foreign country to the port in the United Kingdom of the arrival of the packet boat or vessel (not being a packet boat) conveying the same. Provided that in all cases where such additional rate includes both inland and sea services there shall be deducted therefrom the sum of one penny, in respect of the inland conveyance, under this clause, of every such letter sent through the United Kingdom.

5. All such respective letters so transmitted as is mentioned in this Warrant, if exceeding one half of an ounce in weight, shall be subject to the several further and additional and progressive rates of postage hereinafter mentioned, that is to say:—

On every letter so transmitted, if exceeding one half of an ounce in weight and not exceeding one ounce in weight, there shall be charged, taken, and paid two rates of postage.

And on every letter so transmitted, if exceeding one ounce and not exceeding one ounce and one half of another ounce in weight, three rates of postage.

And on every letter so transmitted, if exceeding one ounce and one half of another ounce and not exceeding two ounces in weight, four rates of postage.

And for every additional half of an ounce in weight of any letter so transmitted as aforesaid, above the weight of two ounces, there shall be charged, taken, and paid an additional rate of postage, and every fractional part of such additional half of an ounce in weight shall be charged as an additional half of an ounce in weight. And each progressive and additional rate chargeable under this clause shall be estimated and charged at the sum which any such letter would be charged with under this Warrant, if not exceeding one half of an ounce in weight.

6. On every letter posted in the United Kingdom addressed to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, and New Zealand, the postage thereof shall be paid at the time of the same being posted.

7. If any letter shall be posted in the United Kingdom addressed to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, or New Zealand, having thereon or affixed thereto a postage stamp or stamps, the value of which shall be less in amount than the single rate of postage to which such letter, if not exceeding half an ounce in weight, would be liable under this Warrant, every such letter shall be detained and opened, and shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof.

8. If any letter shall be posted in the United Kingdom addressed to New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, or New Zealand, having thereon or affixed thereto a postage stamp or stamps, the value of which shall be less in amount than the rate of postage to which the same would be liable under, or by virtue of, the provisions of this Warrant, but equal in amount to the single rate of postage chargeable on any such letter, if not exceeding half an ounce in weight, every such letter shall be forwarded, charged with the amount of the difference between the value of such stamp or stamps so being thereon or affixed thereto, and the postage to which it would have been liable if the postage had been paid when posted, together with the further and additional rate of postage of one shilling, when conveyed by British packet boat, and with the further and additional rate of postage of four pence, when conveyed by a vessel not being a packet boat.

9. On every letter posted in the United Kingdom addressed to Tasmania the postage thereof shall be paid at the time of the same being posted.

10. If any letter shall be posted in the United Kingdom addressed to Tasmania, without any postage having been paid thereon, or having thereon or affixed thereto a postage stamp or stamps, the value of which shall be less in amount than the rate of postage to which the same would be liable, under or by virtue of the provisions of this Warrant, every such letter shall be detained and opened, and shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof.

11. In all cases in which any letter in respect of which any rate of postage is chargeable under or by virtue of the provisions of this Warrant shall be liable to any colonial or foreign postage, such colonial or foreign postage shall be charged and paid thereon in addition to the British postage.

12. Nothing in this Warrant contained shall in anywise annul, prejudice, or affect any of the exemptions or privileges granted by or under the said hereinbefore recited Acts, or either of them, or by or under any other Acts of Parliament relating to the Post Office, or any of the privileges which officers, seamen, and soldiers, employed in Her Majesty's service are by law entitled to, of sending and receiving by the post letters subject to the regulations and restrictions in respect of the same.

13. Nothing in this Warrant contained shall be deemed or construed to extend to any letters posted in or addressed to France, or any foreign country through France, and transmitted between France or foreign countries through France, and New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, South Australia, Western Australia, Tasmania, or New Zealand, all which last-mentioned letters shall be charged and chargeable with the same rates of postage as if this Warrant had not been signed.

14. The several terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her Majesty, for the regulation of the duties of postage.

15. The following rates of British postage respectively fixed, made, and established under and by virtue of the following Warrants, under the hands of the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury from time to time heretofore made, and the regulations affecting the said rates of postage therein respectively mentioned, and also the Warrant and parts of Warrants hereinafter respectively mentioned and particularized, shall be and the same are hereby repealed, revoked, and annulled, that is to say :—

FROM THE

SUPPLEMENT

LONDON GAZETTE of MAY 13, 1864.

War Office, May 13, 1864.

THE Secretary of State for War has received a Despatch and its Enclosures from Lieutenant-General Sir D. A. Cameron, K.C.B., Commanding the Troops in New Zealand, of which the following are copies :—

Head Quarters, Te Awamutu,
March 4, 1864.

My Lord,

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that the movement to Rangiawhia, which I stated in my last despatch it was my intention to make, with the view of turning the line of entrenchment positions constructed with great labour by the natives, was unavoidably delayed by an accident which happened to the "Avon," our only means of transport between Ngamawahia and the camp at Te Rore, and the damage she sustained was so serious that it was very doubtful whether I should not be compelled to fall back for want of provisions before she could be repaired.

Meanwhile, in order to occupy the attention of the natives, and make them believe that I intended to attack them at Paterangi, I posted a force of 660 men, under Colonel Waddy, C.B., on the 2nd February, within 1,500 yards of their entrenchment. Whilst in this position several skirmishes took place between Colonel Waddy's force and the garrison of Paterangi, one of which, as it reflects great credit on the troops, I beg to bring to your Lordship's favourable notice.

On the 11th February, a party of 50 men of the 40th Regiment, accompanied by a small covering party, were procceding to bathe in the Mangapileo river, about 800 yards from Colonel Waddy's camp, when they were suddenly fired on by an ambuscade of about 150 Maoris; the covering party returned the fire, and being quickly reinforced by the inlying picquets, attacked the enemy in front, whilst a few men under Captain Fisher, of the 40th Regiment, getting round in their rear, hemmed them in. The Maoris were thus frustrated in their attempt at ambuscade, and experienced a loss of 30 men. I enclose a list of casualties, which occurred on our side.

I also enclose copies of reports from Colonel Waddy, C.B., and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Havelock, which describe the skirmish in detail, and having been an eye-witness of a greater part of the engagement, I can fully corroborate their favourable account of the conduct of the troops, particularly of the detachment of the 40th Regiment.

Two companies of the Forest Rangers, a colonial force which has done excellent service since the commencement of the war, distinguished themselves on this occasion by their bravery in a hand-to-hand encounter with the Maoris. Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Havelock deserves great credit for the zeal and judgment with which he directed the movements of the skirmishers.

Fortunately, at the critical moment, when our supplies were interrupted by the accident to the "Avon," mentioned above, the new colonial steamer, "Kohewa," had just been completed at the Waihato Heads, and, through the exertions of Commodore Sir William Wiseman, was brought quickly up the Waipa, under charge of Lieutenant Coddington, of H.M.S. "Eclipse." The continuance of our supplies was thus secured.

Having accumulated a sufficient supply of provisions, and collected the means of transport necessary to enable me to make a forward movement, I marched to Rangiawhia on the night of the 20th February, leaving Colonel Waddy in his position in front of Paterangi to protect the depôt at Te Rore, to observe the movements of the natives, and to be ready to move to any point on our line of communication that might be threatened. A large convoy of provisions, with two 6-pounder Armstrong guns, Royal Artillery, and one naval 6-pounder, were to move next day at daybreak, escorted by the 50th Regiment, under the command of Brevet-Colonel Weare. Tents were struck after dark, and at eleven P.M. the troops named in the margin * paraded without Captain Jackson's Company of Forest Rangers as Rear-Guard.

The success of the movement depended on the secresy with which it was conducted. The column had to pass within 1,500 yards of the enemy's works, and this was done with a noiselessness and care which reflect the greatest credit on the discipline of the troops. While the enemy's sentries were to be heard at midnight calling out as usual in evidence of their alertness, the column was quickly fording the Mangapiko, and turning his left. After the passage of this stream, our route led by an unfrequented track for four miles over a fern ridge, and then came out on a native dray-road leading from the Punin River to Te Awamutu, a Government school and mission station, which the natives had compelled the European residents to leave some months ago. We found the buildings uninjured, and pushed on at once to Rangiawhia, four miles distant, and the main source of the enemy's supply.

On approaching this settlement, the cavalry were rapidly thrown forward and surprised the inhabitants, who were few in number, the greater part of the male population being probably at Paterangi.

The native houses were generally scattered over a considerable area, but at one point, where six or seven stood together, a party of armed natives offered a desperate resistance, defending themselves in one of the houses to the last extremity. Here two of the Colonial Defence Force were killed in attempting to effect an entrance; and, on the Forest Rangers and 65th Regiment coming up in support, one of the latter fell mortally wounded. Lieutenant-Colonel Nixon (formerly of the 39th Regiment), commanding the Colonial Defence Force, a most able and gallant officer, also received a severe wound in the chest, which has deprived me for the present of his valuable services.

The Colonial Defence Force have, under the command of Colonel Nixon, attained a high state of discipline and efficiency, and they displayed the greatest spirit and gallantry on this occasion.

In this conflict, ten of the enemy were killed and twelve taken prisoners. A list of our casualties is enclosed.

Not having a sufficient force both for the occupation of Rangiawhia and the protection of Te Awamutu, I marched back and encamped at the latter place, where the convoy arrived safely at about two o'clock in the afternoon.

At six o'clock on the morning of the 22nd, a report was received from the officer commanding the advanced picquet that he had observed a large body of the enemy about two miles in his front moving from the direction of Paterangi towards Rangiawhia. Believing, therefore, that our flank march had had the desired effect of causing the enemy to evacuate his fortified positions, and that he was now assembling in force at Rangiawhia in defence of its large cultivations, I sent orders to Colonel Waddy to provide fully for the security of the depôt of the supplies at Te Rore, and to join me with the whole of his remaining available force that evening at Te Awamutu, whence I proposed to move the next morning to the attack.

At noon, however, of the same, another report having reached me that the enemy had commenced to entrench himself at Hacirini, on the road between our camp and Rangiawhia, I determined to march out at once and dislodge him.

The force named in the margin* was immediately ordered under arms, and moved towards the enemy s position.

While advancing, I received a despatch from Colonel Waddy announcing the evacuation of the entrenchments at Paterangi and Pikopiko, a copy of which I enclose for your Lordship's information.

On reaching our advanced picquet, the enemy's skirmishers, thrown forward a mile from Hacirini, opened fire at 300 yards behind a hedge, perpendicular to the direction of the Rangiawhia road which led over undulating ground up to the left centre of the enemy's position. I directed Lieutenant-Colonel Mulock, commanding

Total—6 field officers, 18 captains, 34 subalterns, 9 staff, 60 serjeants, 27 drummers, 1,075 rank and file.

70th Regiment, to throw out two companies in skirmishing order and to clear the hedge, which they did in the most spirited manner, driving the enemy's skirmishers before them into the main road, along which they were pursued by the cavalry.

The main body of the force then moved along the Rangiawhia road, while the two 6-pounder Armstrong guns, under the command of Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Barstow, came into action on a ridge parallel to, and at 500 yards from, the position of the enemy, who now opened a rapid and heavy fire along his line.

The native position extended for about 400 yards along the crest of a ridge commanding the road ; it was, apparently, the site of an old pah, the parapet of which afforded him advantageous cover, which he had commenced to improve.

While the two guns and skirmishers were engaged with the enemy, the 50th Regiment, under Colonel Weare, forming the head of the column, were lying down in the road waiting for the order to assault, in which they were to be supported by the 65th and 70th Regiments. The word being given, the 50th, ably led by Colonel Weare, dashed under a heavy fire at the enemy's position in a manner worthy of the reputation of that distinguished corps. I enclose Colonel Weare's report of this attack.

The enemy, seeing the irresistible nature of the assault, broke and fled before the 50th as they entered the position. After reforming the 50th Regiment I again advanced, expecting that the natives would make another stand on the Church Hill of Rangiawhia, which they might have defended with considerable advantage ; but they made no attempt to do so, and continued to retreat precipitately towards Mangatantari, leaving their wounded and dead on the field. The Royal Artillery Mounted Corps and the Colonial Defence Force pursued as far as the ground admitted, and sabred some few of the enemy.

I enclose a list of our casualties in this engagement.

The enemy's loss could not have been less than 40 men killed; four of their wounded were taken prisoners.

I have to express my satisfaction with the conduct of the whole of the troops engaged on this occasion, and my thanks are especially due to Colonel Weare and the 50th Regiment for the brilliant manner in which they assaulted the enemy's position. The fire of the two Armstrong guns was directed with great precision by Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Barstow, under the superintendence of Lieutenant-Colonel Williams, Commanding Royal Artillery in New Zealand: to Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel Young, 65th Regiment, and Lieutenant-Colonel Mulock, 70th Regiment, I am much indebted for the manner in which they commanded their respective corps.

The Royal Artillery Mounted Corps and Colonial Defence Force were ably handled by Lieutenant Rait, R.A., and Captain Walmsley.

I am deeply indebted to the officers of the General Staff, viz.; Lieutenant-Colonel Carey, C.B., Deputy Adjutant-General; Lieutenant Johnston, 40th, Deputy Adjutant-General; and to Lieutenant-Colonel Gamble, Deputy Quartermaster-General; Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Havelock, 18th; Captain Greaves, 70th, Deputy Assistant-Quartermaster-General.

I beg more particularly to recommend Colonel Gamble, Deputy Quartermaster-General, to your Lordship's favourable notice, as to this officer's ability, zeal, and unceasing attention to his important duties I am chiefly indebted for the success of these operations.

Captain Baker, 18th, my Acting Assistant-Military-Secretary, and my two Aides-de-Camp, Major McNeill, 107th, and Lieutenant St. Hill, 65th Regiment, were as usual most active in rendering me assistance throughout.

The wounded were promptly attended to by the Officers of the Medical Department, under the superintendence of Deputy Inspector-General Mouat, C.B., who was present in the field.

Your Lordship will have observed the importance of the command entrusted to Colonel Waddy, C.B., 50th Regiment, both before and after my head-quarters left Te Rore, no officer could discharge his duty with more intelligence and zeal, and I beg to recommend him to your Lordship's favourable consideration.

The roads, bridges, and field works which were necessary to our advance through, and occupation of, this difficult country, have been skilfully constructed by the officers and men of the Royal Engineers, under the able direction of Colonel Mould, C.B.,

I must not omit to mention the important services rendered by the Deputy Commissary-General Jones, C.B., and the officers of the Commissariat Department generally, who have so many and great difficulties to contend with in keeping up the regular supply of the force in a country destitute of resources, and at so great a distance from the base of operations; I would especially mention the names of Assistant Commissary-General Rolleston, and Deputy Assistant-Commissary-General Marshall, for their activity and energy in providing for the requirements of the Field Force under my command; also of Assistant Commissary-General Bailey, who, as director of transport, has discharged his onerous duties with great credit to himself and advantage to the service. The transport duties with the Field Force were ably conducted by Captain Travers, 70th Regiment.

To Commodore Sir William Wiseman, Bart., who accompanied me on the night march, and during the affairs of the 21st and 22nd, I am deeply grateful for his continuous and valuable co-operation since his arrival in this country, and I have to acknowledge the cheerful assistance of the whole of the officers and men of the Royal Navy and Royal Marines under his command, more especially of Commander Phillimore, Her Majesty's Ship "Curaçoa," who, until recently, had the immediate charge of the boat transport on the Waikato, and is now in command of the seamen and marines with his force ; also of Lieutenant Easther, Her Majesty's Ship "Harrier," in charge of the "Avon," and Lieutenant Coddington, Her Majesty's Ship "Eclipse," in charge of the "Koheroa."

In justice to my own feelings, and those of the troops under my command, I must express our deep obligation to the Lord Bishop of New Zealand, who has gained the respect and affection of both officers and men, by his benevolent kindness to the sick and wounded, and by his unwearied attention to the spiritual wants of the force, which he has almost constantly accompanied in its progress through the country, at great personal risk and inconvenience.

On the 27th of February I moved a force under Colonel Waddy, consisting of the 40th and 70th Regiments, and occupied Kihi Kihi, a fertile settlement, three miles S.E. of Te Awamutu. I am constructing redoubts at Kihi Kihi, Rangiawhia, and Te Awamutu, as it is advisable they should be permanently occupied, the two former on account of the immense quantity of food which they contain, and of which it is desirable to deprive the enemy, the latter as being favourably situated for a depôt, and base for future operations.

The immediate result of our late movements, has been the abandonment by the enemy of a series of fortified positions, which could not have been taken without a heavy loss, the possession by us of a large tract of fertile country between the Waipa and Upper Waikato Rivers, and the retreat of the enemy into the interior, with the loss of the cultivations on which he chiefly depended for his supply.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

P.S.—A sketch of the country is herewith enclosed.

The Right Honourable
The Secretary of State for War,
War Office, London.

SIR, February 12, 1864.

I HAVE the honor to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-General commanding the forces, that about three P.M. yesterday, a party of about 50 men of the force under my command, were proceeding to bathe in the river at a point some 500 yards to the right rear of this Camp, when they were fired upon by a party of the enemy, who lay concealed in the fern on the opposite side of the river; the covering party of 20 men, under an officer of the 40th Regiment, returned the fire, upon hearing which I at once sent off 50 men to reinforce this party. A very sharp fire was kept by both sides for some time, the Maoris falling back. Seeing that a considerable number of the enemy were scattered about the flat, near the river, I sent out further reinforcements, till about 200 men were engaged. Owing to the broken nature of the ground, and the high and thick fern, the troops could advance but slowly and had great difficulty in finding where the enemy lay. After the greater number of the enemy had retired, I recalled the troops as soon as all our own killed and wounded were carried off the field, except one of the 40th Regiment; ten dead, and two wounded Maoris were also brought into our camp, but several more were left in the field. Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Havelock, Bt., (who was engaged with the troops from the time they first went out till their return to camp, about 7½ P.M.), reports having counted 28 dead of the enemy, and from the reports of other officers, I believe 5 or 6 more are killed. I have much pleasure in stating that all officers and men turned out with the greatest alacrity, and those engaged behaved very much to my satisfaction. I estimate the force of the enemy at about 150. I beg to enclose a return of casualties. The body of the man of the 40th Regiment who was missing yesterday, was recovered this morning, brought into camp, and interred with the other dead. The bodies of the enemy killed have been handed over to a party of their own, in compliance with the orders of the Lieutenant-General commanding the forces.

I beg to enclose a report from Sir H. Havelock, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, who was senior officer with the troops actually engaged.

I have, &c.,

Commanding in front of Paterangi.

Camp, before Paterangi Pah,
SIR, February 12, 1864.

HAVING been directed by the Lieutenant-General Commanding to report on the successful skirmish of yesterday on both banks of the Mangapiko River, I have the honour to state that about half-past two P.M., on an alarm that a bathing party had been suddenly fired on from an ambush by apparently 100 Maoris detached from the Paterangi Pah, the inlying picquets of 40th and 50th Regiments at this Camp turned out promptly and hastened to the scene, being reinforced immediately by parties of both regiments as fast as the men could seize their arms.

2. The Maoris retired along the left bank, and a sharp running fight soon commenced between them and the foremost pursuers.

3. Finding themselves so readily met, they took post while endeavouring to regain their pah on the site of an ancient entrenchment, called Waiari, where the high mounds and deep ditches of an old fortification, densely overgrown with thick cover, gave them, together with their intimate knowledge of the ground, great advantage.

4. On reaching the level plain under Paterangi, after crossing the Takoutu stream, I found that the pursuit and fight had gone to my right, but as there were threats of large bodies sallying out to cut off those of our men whose eagerness had carried them furthest to the front, I collected every available soldier of both regiments and formed them up in chain of skirmishers and supports to watch the flank. Soon after a considerable party, under Captain Honourable F. Le Poer Trench, 40th Regiment, having assured our left and rear, I moved rapidly down to where our leading men were hotly engaged and pressed. They were commanded by Captain Fisher, 40th Regiment, who had hastened there earlier with a few men. Captain Heaphey, Auckland Rifle Volunteers, and Captain Jackson, Forest Rangers (both accidently on the spot), had lent their services, and reinforced him with some 30 men of 40th and 50th.

6. These parties, that which I myself brought up, and one under Ensign King, 40th Regiment, united, had now the happiness to come full on the main body of the Maoris retiring towards Paterangi. We turned them back to the shelter of the ancient earthwork above mentioned, which is singularly placed in a double loop of the Mangapiko.

7. Major Bowdler's party of 40th, who had moved down the right bank, were firing on the front of the Maoris from across the river. Our arrival on their rear effectually hemmed them in and sealed their fate.

8. After much hot firing we were able to dash across the river, into the entrenchment over a bridge formed of a single plank. The banks are here from 40 to 60 feet high, precipitous and densely wooded.

A series of hand-to-hand encounters here took place between the Maoris crouching secreted in thick bush and our men, who displayed, if anything, too keen an eagerness to dash at and close with their lurking enemies whenever visible. This forwardness cost some valuable lives, but the punishment inflicted on the Maoris was sharp and telling and read them a severe lesson.

9. At this time some 20 men of the Forest Rangers (both companies) arriving from the headquarter camp, materially assisted in hunting out and destroying the enemy.

10. Eventually, every Maori that could be discovered being either killed or wounded and prisoner, the work of removing our wounded (most difficult from the narrowness of the plank bridge) and of securing their dead commenced.

11. Two large parties of the enemy now approaching through thick bush, endeavoured to intercept this; it became necessary to throw Captain Fisher's party, with which were Lieutenant Simeon and Ensign King, again, on to the right bank, where they most steadily covered this operation under sharp cross fire.

12. Finally, near dark, all our wounded having been removed and as many as possible of the Maori dead brought in, the skirmishers were gradually withdrawn file by file, across the plank bridge, and the troops moved slowly, taking every advantage of ground, towards camp.

13. This very successful affair cost the Maoris twenty-eight men killed (counted) and two wounded and prisoners in our hands. Both these are said to be Chiefs.

The effect on the Maoris of their insiduous attempt at ambuscade being thus promptly met, and signally and completely defeated, with their heavy loss in dead, cannot but be salutary.

It becomes my pleasing duty as senior officer, accidentally on the spot, to report that nothing could have been better than the behaviour of men and officers engaged. Where the forwardness of all was distinguished, it is enough to name the officers present.*

15. But I would beg specially to bring to notice Assistant Surgeon Stiles, 40th, to whose assiduity in caring for the wounded in the most exposed situations and under sharp fire, their safe and early removal to camp, is mainly attributable.

* 40th Regiment—Brevet-Major Bowdler, Captain Hon. F. Le P. Trench, Captain Fisher, Lieutenant Simeon, Ensign King; 50th Regiment—Captain Doran, Lieutenant Leach, Acting Staff Officer to Colonel Waddy, C.B., Ensign Campbell.

16. Captain Heaphey, Auckland Rifle Volunteers, took charge of a party, and ably directed it. In gallantly assisting a wounded soldier of the 40th, who had fallen into a hollow among the thickest of the concealed Maoris, he became the target for a volley at a few feet distant. Five balls pierced his clothes and cap, and he is slightly wounded in three places. Though hurt himself, he continued to aid the wounded to the end of the day.

Captain Jackson, Forest Rangers, gave great assistance; and Captain Von Tempsky, when I directed him to relieve the soldiers who had been skirmishing four hours, covered the extreme rear of our march with a few files with much coolness and judgment.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, that this morning, about seven o'clock, Captain Saltmarshe, 70th Regiment, commanding at Waiari Redoubt, informed me he believed the enemy had evacuated the pah of Peterangi. I then sent Lieutenant-Colonel Sir H. Havelock, Deputy Assistant-Quartermaster-General, to take a nearer look at the place, and he also reported he believed the place was evacuated. I proceeded thither, with the inlying picquets (about 120 men), and advanced on the south side, sending 100 men of 70th on the east side, under the direction of Sir H. Havelock. We entered and occupied the place without seeing one Maori. I have placed 200 men of the 40th Regiment, under Major Blyth, on the highest point of the hill on which the pah is situated, but I have not given them tents.

I found the works of the enemy very strong and intricate; in the centre of the place is a deep well, and I found large stores of potatoes.

I have further to report that I advanced to a place belonging to a man named McFarlane, about half way between the pahs of Paterangi and Piko Piko. This man (McFarlane) reported to me that the enemy had evacuated Piko Piko during last night, and that they had proceeded towards Rangiawhia.

The pah of Paterangi was evacuated at one o'clock this morning.

I have, &c.,

Rangiawhia,
SIR, February 23, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, that with reference to his instructions conveyed to me personally for storming the enemy's works on the 22nd instant, I proceeded to carry out his directions in the following manner.

The enemy's works could only be approached by a narrow road, hemmed in on either side by high fern, through which it was impossible for the men to advance in line, or skirmishing order, and necessitating the position being stormed with only a front of four deep, until within a few yards of the trench and rifle-pits. This compelled me to advance the whole regiment in a column of four at the double, over some 350 to 400 yards under a very severe and concentrated fire from the enemy, most trying to troops in that formation. I ordered a small storming party of 20 men under Lieutenant White, 50th Regiment, to break cover in the first instance to endeavour to draw out the first fire of the enemy, this party was almost simultaneously followed up by the storming party, consisting of Nos. 1 and 10 Companies, 50th Regiment, under command of Captain Johnson and Captain

Thompson respectively, and these three officers entered the enemy's works at the head of their men, at the same time closely followed by the remainder of the regiments.

The nature of the ground and formation left little for the commanding officer to do, but to place the men in the first instance, and leave the officers, commanding companies, to fight their men; and, I am proud to say, that officers and men nobly did their duty under very trying circumstances, and while exposed to a fire that must have caused a very large increase to the list of casualties, had it not been for the dense dust raised by the men doubling, which partially concealed them.

I beg to bring to the notice of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, the names of Captains Johnson and Thompson, and Lieutenant White, 50th Regiment.

The Medical Officers of the regiment, Doctors Davis and Dempster, accompanied the regiment into action, and shared their lot, attending to the wounded as they fell.

I much regret to say, that Ensign Doveton, 50th Regiment, fell dangerously wounded by the side of Captain Thompson, while gallantly performing his duty.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) H. E. WEARE, Colonel,
Commanding 50th Regiment.

TREASURY WARRANT.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the Regulation of the Duties of Postage," certain scales of weight and rates of postage were fixed and made chargeable and payable upon, for, in respect of letters, newspapers, parliamentary proceedings and printed papers, transmitted and forwarded by the post, and various regulations were made for facilitating the transmission of such letters and papers by the post.

And whereas by the said Act powers were given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, from time to time and at any time thereafter, by Warrant under their hands, to alter and fix any of the rates of British postage or inland postage, payable by law on the transmission by the post of foreign or colonial letters or newspapers, or of any other printed papers, and to subject the same to rates of postage according to the weight thereof, and a scale of weight to be contained in such Warrant and from time to time by Warrant as aforesaid, to alter or repeal any of such altered rates, and make and establish any new or other rates in lieu thereof, and from time to time by Warrant as aforesaid, to appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid, and the power thereby given to alter and fix rates of postage, is extended to any increase or reduction or remission of postage.

And whereas further powers are given to the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury by an Act of Parliament passed in the eleventh year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act for giving further facilities for the transmission of Letters by Post, and for the regulating the duties of Postage thereon, and for other purposes relating to the Post-office."

ture or art, whether British, colonial or foreign, should be transmitted by the post between Malta and Gibraltar and Egypt, by British packet boat, and that certain rates should be fixed and certain regulations made for that purpose, in the manner hereinafter mentioned.

Now we, the Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury, in exercise of the powers or authority in us for that purpose vested in and by the said hereinbefore recited Acts of Parliament, or either of them, and of all other powers enabling us in this behalf, do by this Warrant, under the hands of two of us the said Commissioners (by the authority of the statute in that case made and provided) order, direct, and declare, as follows:—

1. All packets consisting of books, publications, or works of literature or art, whether British, colonial, or foreign, posted in Malta or Gibraltar, addressed to Egypt, or posted in Egypt addressed to Malta or Gibraltar, may be transmitted by the post between Malta and Gibraltar and Egypt by British packet boat, subject to the several rates of postage hereinafter mentioned, that is to say:—

On every such packet so transmitted, if not exceeding four ounces in weight, there shall be charged, taken and paid, an uniform British rate of postage of three pence.

And on every such packet exceeding four ounces in weight, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, progressive and additional rates of postage as follows, that is to say;

On every such packet if exceeding four ounces, and not exceeding one half of a pound in weight, two rates of postage.

And on every such packet, if exceeding one half of a pound, and not exceeding one pound in weight, four rates of postage.

And on every such packet, if exceeding one pound and not exceeding one pound and one half of another pound in weight, six rates of postage.

And on every such packet, if exceeding one pound and one pound and one half of another pound and not exceeding two pounds in weight, eight rates of postage.

And for every additional half of a pound in weight, of any such packet above the weight of two pounds, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, two additional rates of postage, and every fractional part of such additional half of a pound in weight, shall be charged as an additional half of a pound in weight, and each progressive and additional rate chargeable under this clause, shall be estimated and charged at the sum which any such packet would be charged with under this Warrant, if not exceeding four ounces in weight.

2. Every packet transmitted by the post, under the authority of this Warrant, shall be so transmitted in conformity with, and under, and subject to the several regulations, orders, directions, and conditions hereinafter contained, that is to say:—

No such packet which in length or breadth or width shall exceed the dimensions of two feet shall be forwarded by the post under the provisions aforesaid.

The terms "books, publications, or works of literature, or art," in this Warrant used, shall, for the purposes of this Warrant, mean and comprise all such articles as in their general character are either literary, or consist of printed, written, engraved, or lithographed matter (although not strictly literary), including books (whether printed, written, or plain), publications or compilations (whether in print or in manuscript), almanacks, printed or lithographed letters, and such artistic productions as prints, maps (whether on paper, or canvas, or cloth, and whether printed or written), and photographs when not on glass, or in frames containing glass, and any description of paper, parchment, or vellum (whether printed, lithographed, written upon, or plain, or any mixture of the four), together with any binding, mounting, or covering of, or upon, or belonging to any such article, or production, or any portion thereof, or of, or belonging to any paper, parchment, or vellum, and including also any cases, or rollers of prints, or maps, bookmarkers (whether of paper or otherwise), pencils, pens, or other thing usually appertaining to any such article or production, paper, parchment, or vellum, or necessary for its safe transmission which shall be sent in the same packet with any such article or production to which they or it shall belong. And all letters, notices, and other communications (whether upon paper, parchment, or vellum) partly printed, or partly lithographed, and partly written, which, if wholly written, would not be considered letters or communications in the nature of letters. Provided, nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall extend to authorize the sending by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, of any patterns, or books of patterns, or papers of patterns, of any article or thing whatsoever, nor of any letter, notice, or other communication (whether upon paper, parchment, or vellum) partly printed, or partly lithographed, and partly written, which if wholly written would be considered a letter, or a communication in the nature of a letter; nor of any packet consisting of or containing any photographs, drawings, prints, or other contents, which may be obviously of an obscene character, nor of any packet comprising prints or printed matter, unless such prints or printed matter shall consist only of prints or printed matter on paper, parchment, or vellum.

Every packet transmitted by the post, under the authority of this Warrant, shall be sent open at the ends or sides, and either without a cover, or in a cover, or envelope, open at the ends or sides, and there shall be no written letter, either closed or open, nor any written communication, in the nature of a letter, either closed or open (whether such letter or communication be addressed to or intended for the person to whom the packet shall be directed, or any other person), nor any enclosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor any other enclosure, not authorized by this Warrant, sent in or with any such packet, nor shall there be any written letter or any written communication, in the nature of a letter, in or upon any such packet or on the cover or envelope thereof.

3. Upon every packet transmitted by the post, under the authority of this Warrant, the postage thereof shall be paid at the time of the same being posted, either in money or by being duly stamped with the proper postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which stamp or stamps shall in every case be affixed or appear on the outside of every such packet near the address or direction, and shall be of the value or amount of the postage duty payable thereon, under or by virtue of this Warrant.

4. In order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, any officer of the Post-office may delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post, under the provisions of this Warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours after the time at which the same ought to be despatched in due course of the post, or (at his option) until the despatch of the mail next after that by which the same ought, in due course of the post, to be forwarded by him.

5. If any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, shall be sent otherwise than in conformity with the several regulations, orders, directions, and conditions hereinbefore in the 2nd clause of this Warrant contained, every such packet shall and may be detained and opened, and at the option of the Postmaster-General shall (except in the cases provided for by the clause next hereinafter contained) be either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be given up to the person to whom it shall be addressed, or be forwarded to the place of its destination, and every such packet on being so returned, given up, or forwarded, shall, at the option of the Postmaster-General, be either free of postage, or be charged with any rate of postage he may think fit, not exceeding the postage to which it would have been liable as a letter, and such postage shall be either paid by the sender, or by the person to whom the packet shall be forwarded.

6. If any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant shall eontain any written letter, or any written communieation in the nature of a letter, whether elosed or open, or any enelosure sealed or otherwise closed against inspeetion, or any other enelosure not authorised by this Warrant, every such letter, or eommunication, or enelosure may be taken out by any offieer of the Post-office, and either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or forwarded to the address on the paeket, eharged in either ease not only with the full rates of postage, as an unpaid letter, but also with a further and additional rate of postage, equal in amount to the single rate of postage ehargeable under the provisions of this Warrant on a paeket not exeeeding four ounees in weight, and the remainder of the paeket, if the postage be duly paid when posted, may be forwarded to the place of its address without any extra eharge.

7. If any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, shall be posted in Malta or Gibraltar without any postage having been paid thereon, or without having thereon, or affixed thereto, any postage stamp, or with a postage paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, whieh shall represent a less amount than the postage ehargeable under this Warrant, every sueh paeket shall and may be detained and opened, and shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof.

8. If any paeket sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, shall be posted in Egypt, and the postage paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, shall represent a less amount than the rate of postage to which sueh packet would be liable under and by virtue of this Warrant, but equal in amount to the single rate of postage which would be chargeable under this Warrant, if such packet did not exceed four ounces in weight, every such packet shall be forwarded, charged with the amount of the difference between the postage so paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps so being thereon or affixed thereto, and the postage to which such packet would be liable as aforesaid, together with a further and additional rate of postage equal in amount to the single rate of postage chargeable under this Warrant on a packet not exceeding four ounces in weight; but if any such packet shall be posted in Egypt without any any postage having been paid thereon, or without having thereon or affixed thereto any postage stamp, or with a postage paid thereon or postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which shall represent a less amount than the single rate of postage chargeable under this Warrant, every such last-mentioned packet shall and may be detained and opened, and at the option of the Postmaster-General shall be either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be given up to the person to whom it shall be addressed, or be forwarded to the place of its destination. And every such last mentioned packet, on being so returned, given up, or forwarded, shall at the option of the Postmaster-General, be either free of postage, or be charged with any rate of postage he may think fit not exceeding the postage to which it would have been liable as a letter if the postage had been paid when posted, and such postage shall be either paid by the sender, or by the person to whom such packet shall be forwarded.

9. The several terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act, passed in the fourth year of the reign of her present Majesty.

10. In all cases in which any questions shall hereafter arise, whether any article, matter, or thing transmitted by the post under this Warrant, is entitled to the book-post privilege, and to be so transmitted within the intent and meaning of this Warrant, such question shall be referred to the determination of the Postmaster-General, whose decision thereupon shall be final.

11. The Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury may, by warrant under their hands, or the hands of any two of them at any time hereafter, alter, repeal, or revoke any of the rates of postage hereby fixed or altered, or any of the orders, directions, regulations, and conditions hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other rates, orders, directions, regulations, and conditions in lieu thereof, and from time to time appoint at what time the rates which may be payable are to be paid.

THE following Address of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland having been transmitted by Robert Montgomery, Lord Belhaven, K.T., Her Majesty's Commissioner, to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart., one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him presented to the Queen, which Address Her Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously :

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland, met in General Assembly, desire to acknowledge with the deepest gratitude your Majesty's gracious letter, in which you are pleased to express your unwavering attachment to the Church of Scotland, and your determination to uphold it in the enjoyment of its rights and privileges, and to countenance the General Assemblies of that Church with the same favour that they have ever enjoyed from your Majesty and your Royal ancestors.

With our sentiments of loyalty and cordial attachment to your Majesty's person and Government, we take the earliest opportunity since the birth of the Prince, the son of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales, of presenting an Address to your Majesty on that event, regarding it as in some measure a security for the preservation of a direct line of descendants in your Royal House, destined, we trust, at a distant period, to occupy the British Throne.

In discharging the important duties to which we are summoned, as the Supreme Council of the National Church, we shall find great encouragement in the confidence expressed by your Majesty that our labours will continue to be directed to the maintenance of the Reformed religion, and to the furtherance of the highest interests of your loyal and attached people.

The appointment by your Majesty of the Right Honourable Lord Belhaven, Knight of the most ancient and most noble Order of the Thistle, to represent your Royal person in this Assembly, we regard with unmingled satisfaction, not only from his high position, and the dignity with which it is maintained, but also from his well-known attachment to the Church of Scotland, and the fidelity and courtesy with which he has repeatedly discharged the duties of the high office to which he has been called.

We gratefully acknowledge your Majesty's gift of two thousand pounds, for the purpose of promoting the reformation of the Highlands and Islands of Scotland; and it will be our anxious endeavour to expend this munificent donation in the way that seems to us best fitted to accomplish the important object contemplated by your Majesty in renewing this valuable gift.

That Almighty God, the Father of all, may enrich your Majesty with all spiritual graces, and preserve you long to reign over a loyal, attached, and pious people, is the earnest prayer of,

May it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most loyal and obedient subjects, the Ministers and Elders of this General Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and devoted subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland, met in General Assembly, avail ourselves of the opportunity afforded by our present meeting, to renew the expression of our loyalty and attachment to your Majesey's person and Government, and to offer, in all humility, our cordial congratulations on the birth of a Prince, the son of their Royal Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales.

We rejoice in an event calculated to be highly gratifying to your Majesty, and to the parents of the Prince ; and while regarding, with deepest interest, the promise thus given of a direct line of descendants in your Royal House, we fervently pray that throughout all succeeding ages this great nation may continue to experience under every Sovereign the same distinguished happiness so largely enjoyed under your Majesty's most beneficent and enlightened rule.

That Almighty God, the Father of Mercies, may endow your Majesty with every Christian grace ; bestow in richest abundance all blessings best fitted to sustain and gladden the heart; and in token of favour to the British Empire may long preserve you to reign in the affections of a devoted people, is,

Legation of Denmark,

My Lord, May 23, 1864.

I AM directed to inform Her Britannic Majesty's Government that the Blockade of the ports of Cammin, Swinemünde, Wolgast, Greifswalde, Stralsund, Barth, Dantzig, and Pillau, in the Baltic, as well as the Blockade of the ports and inlets in the Duchies of Sleswig and Holstein, which were raised on the 12th of this month, in conformity with the stipulations of the suspension of hostilities, will immediately be re-established on the 12th of June next, the date on which the suspension of hostilities terminates, unless the negotiations carried on at the Conference of London should before then have led to at least some preliminary agreement.

My government has thought it due to the interests of the commercial world that timely notice of the re-establishment of the Blockade should be given; and I am also directed to state that no neutral ship, which after the renewal of the war might attempt to enter any one of the blockaded ports would be subject to capture, except where previous notice of the re-establishment of the Blockade had been received in the ordinary way, or through the ships of the blockading squadron itself.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) TORBEN BILLE.

The Right Honourable
Earl Russell, K.G.,

VICTORIA, R.

WHEREAS a certain Order in Council was made on the seventh day of April, in the present year, under the provisions of a Statute made at the Parliament, holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of Our late Royal Uncle King William the Fourth, entitled "An Act for the "appointment of convenient places for the holding "of Assizes in England and Wales." And whereas We have been graciously pleased by and with the advice and consent of Our Most Honourable Privy Council by an Order in Council, bearing date the fourth day of May instant, to revoke and make void the said Order in Council made on the seventh day of April, and to give other directions in lieu thereof. And whereas by the said Act of Parliament, it was declared and enacted that His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should have power from time to time to order and direct at what place or places, in any county in England or Wales, the assizes and sessions under the Commissions of Gaol Delivery, and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business, should be holden, and to order and direct such assizes and sessions for the dispatch of criminal and civil business to be holden at more than one place in the same county on the same circuit, and to order and direct the assizes and sessions under such commissions for the dispatch of criminal business, to be holden for the whole county at one place, and for the dispatch of civil business at one or more place or places in such county on the same circuit. And further to order and direct any special commissions of oyer and terminer and gaol delivery to be holden at any one or more places in any such county. And it was further enacted that in case His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to order and direct that the assizes, or any such special commissions should be holden at more than one place in any one county it should be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, to divide any such county for the purposes of the said Act, and to make rules and regulations touching the venue in all cases civil and criminal then pending or thereafter to be pending and to be tried within any division of such county so to be made as aforesaid, and touching the liability and attendance of jurors, whether grand jurors, special jurors, or common jurors, at the assizes and sessions as aforesaid, or at any sessions under any special commissions to be holden within any such division; and touching the use of any house of correction or prison as a common gaol, and the government and keeping thereof; and touching the alterations of any commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings whatsoever for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act: and touching any other matters that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act; and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to direct. And it was further enacted that His Majesty should have power from time to time, for the purpose of carrying the said Act into effect, to order and direct, that the Court of Common Pleas, at Lancaster, should be holden at any one or more places in the county palatine of Lancaster as His Majesty should think fit, and to divide the said county palatine for the purpose of the trial of civil causes and the transaction of other civil business in the said Court, and to make the like rules and regulations touching the venue in civil cases to be tried within any division of the said county, and the liability and attendance of jurors, whether special or common, at the Court to be held within any such division; and touching the alterations of commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act; and touching any other matter that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of the said Act; and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty should think fit. And whereas in order to carry into more complete effect the said Order in Council made on the said seventh day of April, and to accomplish the purposes of the said Act so far as related to the civil business to be transacted at the Assizes to be held at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, We did by Warrant, under Our Royal Sign Manual, bearing date the eighth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four (and duly notified in the London Gazette), make further regulations touching the Court of Common Pleas for the said county palatine of Lancaster. And whereas We have been graciously pleased, by and with the advice of Our Most Honourable Privy Council, by the said Order in Council bearing date on the fourth day of May instant, to order and direct that the assizes and sessions held under commissions of gaol delivery and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business for the county palatine of Lancaster, heretofore holden at Lancaster and at Liverpool, shall hereafter be holden on the same circuit at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, respectively, in the said county palatine: and have also ordered the said county to be divided for the purpose of carrying the said recited Act and that Order into effect, into three divisions, which are respectively to be called the "Northern Division," the "West Derby Division" and the "Salford Division" ; and that such Northern Division shall be and remain the same as was constituted by an Order in Council, bearing date the twenty-fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, made in pursuance of the said Act, that is to say, the same shall include and consist of the whole of the several hundreds of Lonsdale, Amounderness, Leyland, and Blackburn, and that such West Derby Division shall include and consist of the whole of the hundred of West Derby, and that such Salford Division shall include and consist of the whole of the hundred of Salford. And whereas divers other regulations are made by the said Order of the fourth day of May instant, but it is expedient, in order to carry the same into complete effect, and to accomplish the purposes of the said Act, so far as relates to the civil business to be transacted at the assizes to be so held at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, as aforesaid, to revoke Our said Warrant under Our Royal Sign Manual, and in lieu thereof to make other regulations touching the Court of Common Pleas for the said county palatine of Lancaster, We do therefore order and direct that Our said Warrant, under Our Royal Sign Manual, bearing date the eighth day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four, shall be and the same is hereby revoked, annulled, and made void. And We do further order and direct that the Court of Common Pleas for the said county, heretofore held at Lancaster and at Liverpool, shall be holden at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, respectively, at the respective times fixed for the holding of the said assizes and sessions; and that the said county palatine be divided for the purpose of the trial of civil actions and the transaction of other civil business in the said Court into the three divisions aforesaid. And we do further order and direct that every declaration hereafter to be filed or delivered in any action in the said Court of Common Pleas shall have in the margin, besides the ordinary venue, the words "Northern Division," or "West Derby Division," or "Salford Division," but no other alteration from the ordinary form shall be necessary; and issues arising in such actions, if tried at the assizes, shall accordingly be tried at the assizes held at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester respectively: Provided nevertheless, and we do further order and direct, that in all cases of civil actions in the said Court of Common Pleas in which the venue is by law local, the issues therein shall be tried at Lancaster in cases where the cause of action shall have arisen in the Northern Division, and at Liverpool where the cause of action shall have arisen in the West Derby Division, and at Manchester in cases where the cause of action shall have arisen in the Salford Division, in like manner as if the three divisions were three separate counties, and the declarations in such actions shall have in the margin, in addition to the ordinary venue, the words "Northern Division," or "West Derby Division," or "Salford Division," as the case may require, but no other alteration from the ordinary form shall be necessary; nevertheless it shall be lawful for the said Court of Common Pleas, or any Judge thereof, to order such issues to be tried at the assizes held in the division in which the cause of action did not arise, if they or he shall think fit, and also to order the words in the margin of the declaration to be amended in any other cases in actions in the said Court of Common Pleas, so as to cause the trial to take place at the Assizes held in another division; but in all cases of issues already joined or hereafter joined in actions in the said

Court of Common Pleas in which the venue is already laid in the county of Lancaster "Northern Division," or in the said county "Southern Division," such isssues shall be tried at the Assizes at Lancaster or Liverpool, as the case may be, unless the said Court of Common Pleas or a Judge thereof, shall otherwise order by directing the proper words to be inserted in the margin of the declaration, or otherwise, as such Court or Judge shall think fit. And We do further order and direct that the prothonotary or his deputy shall attend at the assizes at Lancaster, at Liverpool, and at Manchester, respectively. And We do further order and direct that no alteration shall be necessary in the commission or commissions appointing the Chief Justice or other Justices of the Court of Common Pleas, and of all manner of pleas within the said county, and that writs of subpœna to be issued out of the said Court of Common Pleas do name the assizes either at Lancaster, or at Liverpool, or at Manchester, as the case may be, at which attendance is to be given. And We do further order and direct that all and every other the said regulations already made by us, by and with the advice of our Privy Council, by the said Order in Council, bearing date the fourth day of May instant, so far as they relate to or affect the said Court of Common Pleas, or the jurisdiction of the Judges thereof, or the trial of issues therein, or the Court of Pleas of the Crown for the said county, be carried into effect. And We do further order and direct, that so much of a Warrant under the Sign Manual of Our said late Royal Uncle King William the Fourth, touching the said Court of Common Pleas, and bearing date the twenty-fifth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and thirty-five, as is repugnant to or inconsistant with this present Warrant, shall be and is hereby repealed, annulled, and made void.

Given at Our Palace of Balmoral, the thirtieth day of May, in the twenty-seventh year of Our reign, and in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

By Her Majesty's Command,

CLARENDON.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT ACT, 1858.

Notice is given in this Gazette by the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart., one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, that the Local Government Act, 1858, has been adopted within the district of Abersychan, in the county of Monmouth. — Dated the 31st day of May, 1864.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of JUNE 7, 1864.

Foreign Office, June 7, 1864.

My Lord, Dresden, June 2, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to inform your Lordship that great and continually recurring inconvenience is experienced at this mission from the number of travellers, claiming (I do not say falsely) to be British subjects, who apply here for passports, but who are entirely unprovided with any proof whatever of their nationality, beyond their own assertion.

This is, I believe, chiefly caused by an idea prevalent in England, that in Germany generally, but at any rate in Saxony, passports are not required. This is true, so far as relates to passing through the country; but the police regulations prohibit any residence, or even a short stay, in Dresden, unless a passport be deposited at the police office.

Again, many travellers go to Austria viâ Dresden, and, if unprovided with passports, are invariably turned back at Bodenbach, the frontier station of Bohemia. They are then forced to return to Dresden, and apply to me for passports; and frequently, having no proof whatever to offer that they are not Americans, or other than British subjects, are detained here until the necessary proofs can be sent from England.

As the time is now approaching when the usual influx of British travellers may be expected, I would venture to suggest to your Lordship that much inconvenience would be spared to travellers, as well as to Her Majesty's missions, if the advisability, if not absolute necessity, of all persons providing themselves with passports before going to Germany were made known to the public through the Foreign Office.

I have, &c.,

(Signed) CH. A. MURRAY.

The Right Honourable
Earl Russell, K.G.,
&c., &c., &c.

NOTICE, under the Passengers' Act, 1855, reducing the declared length of Voyage to North America, for certain Passenger Steam Ships.

WHEREAS by the thirtieth section of "The Passengers' Act, 1855," it is enacted that, for the purposes of the Act, the length of voyage for a passenger ship proceeding from the United Kingdom to the several places therein mentioned shall be determined by a scale therein set forth, and that, for the like purposes, the Emigration Commissioners, acting by and under the authority of one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by notice in writing issued under the hands of any two of such Commissioners, and published in the London Gazette, may nevertheless declare what shall be deemed to be the length of voyage from the United Kingdom to any of such places, or to any other place whatsoever, and may fix such different lengths of voyage as they may think reasonable for different descriptions of vessels.

And whereas in the scale set forth in the said Act, the length of voyage from the United Kingdom to North America (except the West Coast thereof) is declared to be, for ships propelled, either wholly or in aid of sails, by steam engines of not less power than sufficient, without the aid of sails, to propel the ship after the rate of five statute miles an hour, forty days if the ship clears out between the sixteenth day of January and the fourteenth day of October, both days inclusive, and forty-five days if the ship clears out between the fifteenth day of October and the seventeenth day of January, both days inclusive.

And whereas it is expedient to reduce the length of voyage to North America, as regards passenger ships propelled by steam engines at a rate of not less than ten statute miles an hour.

Now therefore, in exercise of the power thus vested in us, we, the undersigned, being Her Majesty's Emigration Commissioners, having obtained the requisite authority in that behalf of Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, do, by this notice, declare that the length of voyage from the United Kingdom to North America (except the West Coast thereof) shall, for the purposes of the said Passengers' Act, 1855, be as follows; that is to say:—For passenger ships propelled by steam engines of sufficient power to propel the ship without the aid of sails at the rate of not less than ten statute miles an hour, if the ship clears out between the sixteenth day of January and the fourteenth day of October, both days inclusive, thirty-two days; and if the ship clears out between the fifteenth day of October and the fifteenth day of January, both days inclusive, thirty-seven days.

Given under our hands this fourth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-four.

Edmund Harrison.

At the Court at Windsor, the 10th day of June, 1864.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the session of Parliament holden in the third and fourth years of the reign of His late Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act for the appointment of convenient places for the holding of Assizes in England and Wales," it was declared and enacted that His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should have power from time to time to order and direct at what place or places, in any county in England or Wales, the assizes and sessions under the Commissions of Gaol Delivery, and other Commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business, should be holden; and to order and direct such assizes and sessions for the dispatch of criminal and civil business to be holden at more than one place in the same county on the same circuit; and to order and direct the assizes and sessions under such commissions for the dispatch of criminal business to be holden for the whole county at one place, and for the dispatch of civil business at one or more place or places in such county on the same circuit; and further to order and direct any special commissions of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery to be holden at any one or more places in any such county: And it was also further declared and enacted that in case

His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to order and direct that the assizes or any such special commissions should be holden at more than one place in any one county, it shall be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, to divide any such county for the purposes of the said Act, and to make rules and regulations touching the venue in all cases civil and criminal then pending, or thereafter to be pending, and to be tried within any division of such county so to be made as aforesaid; and touching the liability and attendance of jurors, whether grand jurors, special jurors, or common jurors, at the assizes and sessions as aforesaid, or at any sessions under any special commissions to be holden within any such division; and touching the use of any house of correction or prison as a common gaol, and the government and keeping thereof; and touching the alterations of any commissions, writs, precepts, or other proceedings whatsoever, for carrying into effect the purposes of that Act; and touching any other matters that might be requisite for carrying into effect the purposes of that Act; and all such rules and regulations should be of the like force and effect as if the same had been made by the authority of Parliament, and should be notified in the London Gazette, or in such other manner as His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Most Honourable Privy Council, should think fit to direct:

And whereas divers petitions have been presented to Her Most Excellent Majesty the Queen, praying for the holding of the Assizes for the county of York, both at York and Leeds: and whereas it is certified that proper courts and lodgings for Her Majesty's Judges have been already prepared at Leeds; and whereas it will be highly beneficial to a great portion of the inhabitants of the said county, if the assizes and sessions held under Commissions of Gaol Delivery, and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business, shall be held at Leeds as well as at York :

It is therefore ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Most Honourable Privy Council, as follows (that is to say) :

I. The Assizes and Sessions holden under Commissions of Gaol Delivery and other commissions for the dispatch of civil and criminal business for the county of York, heretofore holden at York, shall hereafter be holden on the same circuit at York and Leeds, in the said county.

II. The said county shall be divided, for the purposes of carrying the said Act of Parliament and this Order into execution, into two divisions, which shall respectively be called the "North and East Riding Division," and "The West Riding Division."

III. The said "North and East Riding Division" shall include and consist of the whole of the north and east ridings of the said county ; and the said "West Riding Division" shall include and consist of the whole of the west riding of the said county.

IV. The borough gaol, in the borough of Leeds, shall and may be used, in manner hereinafter mentioned, as a common gaol, for the purposes of carrying the said Act of Parliament and this Order into effect ; and any Justice or Justices of the Peace, or Coroner, for the said county, or for any liberty therein, may commit to the said borough gaol any person duly charged with any offence triable at the assizes ; and from and after the opening of the Court at Leeds aforesaid, all prisoners in the said borough gaol, committed for trial at the assizes, shall be in and under the government, custody, and charge of the Sheriff of the said county of York, and the prisoners who may be removed, pursuant to the direction hereinafter given, from the Castle of York, for trial at the Assizes to be holden at Leeds, shall also be kept by the said Sheriff in the said borough gaol at Leeds, and all such prisoners so committed or removed as aforesaid shall continue in and under the government, custody, and charge of the said Sheriff, in the said borough gaol, until the execution of their respective sentences, or until they shall be delivered from thence into the custody in which they ought, by virtue of their respective sentences, to be delivered, or shall be delivered by due course of law; and the Governor or Keeper of the said borough gaol at Leeds shall from time to time transmit to the said Sheriff or his deputy, seven days at least before the commission day of the Assizes to be holden at Leeds, a list of the prisoners committed to such assizes for trial, or awaiting their trial at such assizes, together with a statement of their several offences, in order to enable him, the said Sheriff, to prepare a proper calendar of such prisoners, which he, the said Sheriff, is hereby required to do.

V. In all cases of commitment for trial, or of recognizances to appear and prosecute, or give evidence or answer at the assizes for any offence supposed to have been committed in the said "North and East Riding Division," such commitment shall be to the Castle of York, and the recognizances shall be taken to appear and prosecute or give evidence, or to appear and answer, at the Assizes at York as heretofore; and for any offence supposed to have been committed in the said "West Riding Division," the commitment shall be to the Borough Gaol in Leeds, and the recognizances shall be taken to appear and prosecute or give evidence, or to appear and answer, at the Assizes at Leeds, unless the Justice or Justices of the Peace making any such commitment, or taking such recognizances, shall, under the special circumstances of the case, think fit to make such commitment for trial or recognizance to appear and prosecute or give evidence, or to appear and answer, at the Assizes to be holden in either of the said divisions other than that in which the offence shall be supposed to have been committed, in which case such commitment shall be made and recognizances taken, and such trial shall take place, accordingly.

VI. All prisoners now or hereafter in custody in the Castle of York for trial at the next ensuing assizes to be holden at York, after the date of this Order, for offences appearing by their respective commitments to have been committed within the said "West Riding Division," (other than such prisoners, if any, as may have been committed by any Justice or Justices in such special case as aforesaid, or as may have been removed to the Castle of York from the Borough Gaol in Leeds by the order of a Court or Judge as hereinafter provided for,) shall be removed by the Sheriff of the said county to the said Borough Gaol in Leeds, for trial at the said next assizes to be holden at Leeds, and shall be tried there, and the said Sheriff shall, ten days before the day fixed for the opening of the Commission at the said next Assizes at Leeds, cause to be inserted in one or more of the newspapers published in the said county a list of the names of the prisoners so removed (so far as the same list can then be made out), with a short statement of the offences with which they are charged, together with a notice that all persons bound by recognizance to appear and prosecute or give evidence against such prisoners so removed shall appear and give evidence at the said next Assizes to be holden at Leeds, and the persons so bound shall so appear and prosecute and give evidence accordingly, and all prisoners who shall be in custody for trial at the assizes in the said Borough Gaol in Leeds, shall be tried at the Assizes holden at Leeds.

VII. All indictments for offences triable at the assizes supposed to have been committed in the said "North and East Riding Division" of the said county, shall be preferred to the grand jury for the said county at York, and all indictments for such offences supposed to have been committed in the said "West Riding Division" of the said county shall be preferred to the grand jury of the said county at Leeds, except in the cases of persons committed or held to bail under the special circumstances hereinbefore mentioned or removed for trial by order of a court or judge as hereinafter provided, in which cases indictments shall be preferred to the grand jury at York or Leeds, to or at whichsoever of the said places such persons shall be committed or held to bail to appear, and all issues arising upon or out of any such indictments shall be tried at whichsoever of the said places the same shall have been preferred: Provided that issues now joined or hereafter to be joined on any indictments already found at the assizes, shall be tried at the Assizes holden at York.

VIII. Any person not in custody, against whom any Bill of Indictment shall hereafter be found at the Assizes at York, shall, if committed, be committed to the Castle of York for trial at the Assizes to be holden at York, or in case such Bill of Indictment be found at the Assizes at Leeds, such person shall be committed to the said Borough Gaol in Leeds for trial at the Assizes to be holden at Leeds.

IX. The Sheriff of the county of York, or his deputy, and the Clerk of the Crown for the said county, or his deputy, shall attend at the Assizes at Leeds as well as at York; and all Justices of the Peace and Coroners, bound by law to attend at the assizes, shall attend at the said Assizes at York or Leeds according as their usual place of residence may be in the said "North and East Riding Division," or in the said "West Riding Division," respectively; and such Justices and Coroners as have no residence in either of the said divisions may attend at either of the said places which shall be nearest to their usual place of residence; and all the Mayors, Stewards, and Bailiffs of liberties, hundreds, and wapentakes in the said "North and East Riding Division" shall attend at the Assizes at York, and in the "West Riding Division" at the Assizes at Leeds; and every such Justice of the Peace and Coroner shall certify his examinations, informations, inquisitions, bailments, and recognizances in respect of offences which, according to this Order are to be tried at the Assizes at York, to the Clerk of the Crown, before or at the opening of the Court at York; and in respect of offences which are to be tried at Leeds, before or at the opening of the Court at Leeds.

X. The Sheriff of the said county shall summon a grand jury for the body of the said county, which shall attend at the Assizes at York, and shall be sworn for the body of the whole county as heretofore; and another grand jury, which shall attend at the Assizes at Leeds, and be sworn in like manner; which said two grand juries may consist in whole or in part of the same persons, or may consist altogether of different persons.

XI. The precept issued by the Judges of Assize to the Sheriff of the said county, or other minister to whom belongs the return of the jurors for the trial of issues at the assizes in and for the said county, to summon jurors for the said assizes for the trial of civil and criminal issues, and to summon special jurymen to try the special jury causes at such assizes, pursuant to the provisions of the Common Law Procedure Act, 1852, shall direct the said Sheriff to summon such jurors and special jurymen respectively, to be and appear, for the purposes aforesaid, at the said assizes at York and Leeds respectively; and the said Sheriff, or other minister, shall accordingly summon a competent number of men named in the Jurors' Book to serve on juries, indiscriminately, on the civil and criminal side, at the Assizes at York, so as such number be not less than 48 nor more than 72; and also a competent number of the like persons to serve on juries, indiscriminately, as aforesaid, at the Assizes at Leeds, so as such number be not less than 48 or more than 72: Provided that a Judge of any of Her Majesty's Superior Courts at Westminster, or the Judges in the Commissions of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery for the said county may at any time direct a greater or less number to be summoned in any of the said cases, on which such greater or less number shall be summoned accordingly. And the said Sheriff or other minister shall also summon a sufficient number of special jurymen, not exceeding 48 in all, to try the special jury causes at each of the said Assizes at York and Leeds respectively. And the Sheriff or other minister, in summoning such juries to attend at the Assizes at York or Leeds respectively, shall have regard to the convenience of such jurors as to their respective places of residence.

XII. Every person who shall have served as juror at any of the said assizes, shall have the like privilege and exemption, by virtue of the Act passed in the sixth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, for consolidating and amending the laws relating to jurors and juries, as if he had served at assizes holden for the whole county; and all the powers and provisions of the said last-mentioned Act, and of "The Common Law Procedure Act, 1852," touching the summoning of juries, common and special, and the summoning of jurors to serve, indiscriminately, on the criminal and civil side, and otherwise, shall be in force with respect to each of the said assizes, to be holden at York and Leeds respectively, as they were before this Order.

XIII. Every declaration hereafter to be delivered or filed in any action in which the issue is intended to be tried at the assizes for the county of York, holden at York or Leeds respectively, shall have in the margin, besides the ordinary venue, the words "North and East Riding Division," or "West Riding Division," but no other alterations in the ordinary form of such declaration shall be necessary; and issues arising in such actions, if tried at the assizes, shall accordingly be tried at the Assizes holden at York and Leeds respectively; provided that in all cases of civil actions in which the venue is by law local, the issues therein shall be tried at York; in cases where the cause of action shall have arisen in the "North and East Riding Division," and at Leeds, where the cause of action shall have arisen in the "West Riding Division," in like manner as if the said two divisions were two separate counties: Provided, nevertheless, that it shall be lawful for the Court in which any such issue is joined, or for any Judge of any of the Superior Courts at Westminster, if they or he shall think fit, to order such issues to be tried at the assizes holden in either of the said divisions in which the cause of action did not arise, and also to order the words in the margin of the declaration to be amended in any other cases, so as to cause the trial to take place at the assizes holden in another division. But in all cases of issues already joined, in which the venue is laid in the county of York, such issues shall be tried at the Assizes at York, unless the Court in which the action shall have been commenced, or a Judge of any of the Superior Courts at Westminster shall otherwise order, by directing the proper words to be inserted in the margin of the declaration or otherwise, as they or he shall think fit.

XIV. In all cases of indictments removed into Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench, at Westminster, by certiorari, and in all cases of informations triable at the assizes, for offences alleged to have been committed, or matters alleged to have arisen in the said county, the trial of any issue or issues arising therein shall take place at the Assizes at York, unless (in the case of indictments) the said Court of Queen's Bench, or any Judge thereof, or (in the case of informations) the Court in which the information shall be filed, shall otherwise order.

XV. Her Majesty's Court of Queen's Bench, or any Judge thereof, or any Judge of any of the Superior Courts at Westminster, being a Commissioner of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery for the county of York, shall, and may, if such Court or Judge shall think fit, order and direct that the issue or issues upon any indictment found by either of the said Grand Juries at York and Leeds respectively, shall be tried at any assizes to be holden for either of the said two divisions, and order and direct any prisoner in custody for trial at the Assizes in the said Castle of York, or in the said borough gaol, in Leeds, to be removed to take his trial accordingly, and shall issue a writ of habeas corpus for such removal.

XVI. Every recognizance which shall be entered into to appear and prosecute, or give evidence, or to appear and answer, as the case may be, at the Assizes to be holden at York or Leeds, shall, in case such order shall have been made as last aforesaid, be obligatory on the parties bound by such recognizance to appear and prosecute, or give evidence, or to appear and answer, as the case may be, and to do all the things therein-mentioned, at the assizes at which by such order the trial is to take place, in like manner as if such recognizance had been originally entered into for appearing and prosecuting, or giving evidence, or for appearing and answering, or doing such other things at such last-mentioned assizes: Provided that one week's notice shall have been given, either by serving the same personally upon the parties bound by such recognizance, or by leaving the same at the place of residence as of which such parties are described in the recognizance to appear at such last-mentioned assizes: Provided also that the Court or Judge making such order for trial and removal, as aforesaid, shall cause the party applying for such order, whether he be the prosecutor or the party charged, to enter into a recognizance in such sum, and with or without sureties, as such Court or Judge may direct, conditioned to give such notice as aforesaid to the parties bound by such recognizances, to appear at the assizes at which the trial shall be ordered to take place as aforesaid.

Edmund Harrison.

FROM THE

LONDON GAZETTE of JUNE 14, 1864.

War Office, June 13, 1864.

THE Secretary of State for War has received Despatches from Lieutenant-General Sir D. A. Cameron, K.C.B., Commanding Her Majesty's Forces in New Zealand, of which the following are copies:—

Head Quarters, Pukerimu,

My Lord, March 28, 1864.

AFTER the expulsion of the rebels from the neighbourhood of Te Awamutu, reported in my last despatch, I arranged with his Excellency the Governor, that my next operations should be directed against Mangatautari, to which place the Waikatos, under the celebrated chief, William Thompson, had retired after their defeat at Rangiriri.

Having therefore garrisoned the redoubts at Tè Awamutu, Rangiawhia, and Kihikihi, and stationed a force of 800 men to support them, and to oppose any attempt that might be made by the natives to return to and occupy that district, and having placed the whole under command of Brigadier-General Carey, whom I transferred from the command at Tauranga for that purpose, I marched the force named in the margin,* on the 22nd instant, and encamped at Pukerimu, on the left bank of the Upper Waikato, seven miles from a position which the natives have fortified for the purpose of obstructing my advance to Mangatautari. Commodore Sir William Wiseman also arrived the same day at Pukerimu, with the "Avon" and "Koheroa" from Ngaruawahia.

I reconnoitred the position closely on the following day, and found that it consisted of two strong earthworks, well flanked and palisaded, 450 yards distant from each other, and constructed on a spur of the Pukekura range. The lower work, the largest and principal one, is about 600 yards from the river. The two works com-

Being too strong to be taken by a "coup-de-main," I intend to try the effect of vertical fire upon them, and to endeavour to breach them with howitzers. I have consequently had two 10-inch and two 8-inch mortars, and two 32- and two 24-pounder howitzers brought up the river, and I expect to be able to commence operations in a few days.

I have established a post on each bank of the river, near this camp, for the protection of our supplies and stores; Commodore Sir William Wiseman having ascertained that the river cannot be navigated any higher by the steamers with safety.

Head Quarters, Pukerimu,
My Lord, April 1, 1864.

I have the honour to enclose two reports from Colonel Warre, C.B., Commanding at New Plymouth, dated 12th and 26th March, relative to certain operations in which the troops under his command had been engaged.

In the reconnaisance of the 11th March, Major Butler carried out his instructions with great judgment, and the detachment under his command behaved most gallantly. In the subsequent operations Colonel Warre displayed great ability, and his skilful arrangements for the attack of Kaitake have resulted in our acquiring a most important position with very few casualties to the troops engaged.

I beg beg to recommend Colonel Warre and Major Butler to your Lordship's favourable consideration.

I have also to draw your Lordship's attention to the services of the Officers, Non-commissioned Officers and Men referred to in Colonel Warre's reports, particularly to those of Lieutenant Larcom, Royal Artillery, who, although severely wounded, remained with his gun until the datachment retired.

I have, &c.,
D. A. CAMERON,
Lieutenant-General.

SIR,

CAPTAIN STAPP, Adjutant, Taranaki Militia, having reported to me at about eleven o'clock yesterday morning, that rebel natives had been seen near the spot where Mr. Patterson was murdered on the 28th ultimo, I determined to carry out a plan I had formed, not only to cut off the retreat of the rebels, but to destroy their stronghold at Kaitake, should I find it feebly defended. Acting on the supposition that the rebels had sent out a maurading party from Kaitake, of about the usual number (30 or 40), I despatched the Rifle Volunteers under Captain Atkinson (Taranaki Rifle Volunteers), direct to where the natives had been seen; I signalled to Omata to direct Captain McKeller (Taranaki Militia) to take out 30 men, and place them in ambuscade at Burton's-hill, and as I knew that

Captain Carthew (Taranaki Militia) would be on the alert, having a wood party of 30 men at, or near the ford, on Hurford's-road, I requested Major Butler, who I sent at once to Oakura, to tell Captain Corbett (Taranaki Militia) to take some of his men from Parhetcri, and intercept the rebels at the upper ford of the Oakura River, should they have succeeded in slipping by the other parties.

I instructed Major Butler, 57th Regiment, to proceed as quickly as possible to Oakura, to take out the 24-pounder howitzer with some rockets, under Lieutenant Larcom, Royal Artillery, and all the available men of the 57th Regiment, under Captain Lloyd, 57th Regiment, leaving the redoubt in charge of Captain Page, of the Taranaki Militia (Melbourne Volunteers), until I could send from town 100 rank and file of the 57th and 70th, under Captains Schomberg (57th) and Wright (70th), to act as a reinforcement, and support to any of the named parties, who the Lieutenant-General will be good enough to understand were all converging towards Kaitake, on which place Major Butler was to advance, to ascertain the number of rebel Maoris left to defend it, and to act as circumstances might warrant. As soon as the above arrangements were detailed, I left the town in charge of Major Baddeley, commanding Taranaki Militia, and rode to Poutoko, from whence, seeing Major Butler seriously engaged, I proceeded to Oakura, instructing Captains Schomberg and Wright to bring on their men as rapidly as possible.

I have the honour to enclose Major Butler's report of his proceedings, and can fully corroborate his statement regarding the conduct of the troops engaged, under circumstances of no ordinary danger or difficulty; and it is to the able manner in which Lieutenant Larcom, Royal Artillery (even after he was severely wounded), directed the fire of the howitzer, assisted by Lieutenant Ferguson, Royal Engineers, as the gun was so short manned, and the very great steadiness and precision in firing of the small party of the 57th Regiment, under Captain Lloyd, that so few casualties occurred. In the face of between 2 and 300 Maoris, concealed in rifle pits, and behind an entrenched stockade, which since our last visit had been completed, across the road, from one side of the gorge to the other; the men retired in perfect order, bringing back the body of Private Kennedy, 57th Regiment, and the wounded men.

I took the liberty of complimenting both officers and men on their excellent conduct, in a Garrison Order, which I do myself the honour to submit for the Lieutenant-General's approval, trusting that he will be kind enough to give some special mark of his approbation to the individuals named, and especially to bring to the notice of the Governor the gallantry of Captain Mace, Taranaki Militia, and Antonio Rodriquez, who on this as on a former occasion, so nobly assisted wounded men—a return of whom and of all casualties I beg herewith to transmit.

The 100 rank and file under Captain Schomberg were not required, and no natives having been discovered by the detached parties of Volunteers and Militia, the whole of the troops returned the same evening to their quarters.

I have, &c.,

Commanding Troops, Taranaki.

P.S.—As I fear I shall for some time be deprived of the services of Lieutenant Larcom, Royal Artillery, whose wound is progressing favourably, the ball having been extracted, I trust the Lieutenant-General will be able to send me another Artillery Officer and a few more gunners, the 22 now here being mostly superannuated, and so detached at different outposts it is with difficulty I can man one gun.

Head Quarters.

New Plymouth, New Zealand,
March 12, 1864.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report that in compliance with your instructions I proceeded to Oakura at about half-past eleven A.M. yesterday, and taking a force from that redoubt (strength as per margin*) marched up the Wairau road towards Kaitake, for the purpose of ascertaining as far as possible the number of natives occupying the pahs, and the strength and nature of the position; having previously left 30 men of the Melbourne Volunteers under Lieutenant Jackson with Ensign Duncan, 57th Regiment, at the extremity of the road to guard the approach from the south.

I advanced to within about 800 yards of the upper palisading, upon which I opened fire from the 24lb. howitzer, extending Captain Lloyd's Company of the 57th Regiment on both flanks, and in front of the gun, with instructions to keep down, as much as possible, the fire of the enemy, which was now considerable both from the rifle pits on the spur to my left

The fire from the former became so hot that I desired Lieutenant Larcom, R.A., to throw a shell into them, which he did with great precision, and silenced the fire from this part for some time.

As it appeared to me at this time that there were altogether not many rebels in the place, I advanced the gun about 150 yards, still keeping out skirmishers in front and on the flanks, where they did good service in keeping down the fire of the enemy.

I now had the gun between 300 and 400 yards from the lower palisading, but out of sight of it, a low ridge intervening, to the top of which I sent a party of skirmishers, whose fire from here besides keeping down that of the enemy from the lower palisading, enfiladed the rifle pits and gully on my left.

Shortly after I had placed my men in this position the natives appeared to be in much greater force than I had anticipated, and opened a very heavy cross fire from three different directions.

I should think that at this time there could not have been less than 200 natives in the place.

Finding myself thus opposed to an enemy in a strongly entrenched position, with a force in number treble that of my own, I thought it prudent to retire.

It is impossible to estimate the loss on the enemy's side, as they remained the whole time under cover, but I feel confident that they must suffered considerably.

I regret to state that I lost one man (57th Regiment) killed, and Lieutenant Larcom, Royal Artillery, and five men (57th) wounded.

I cannot conclude my report without bringing to your notice the extremely gallant and steady conduct of the whole of the small force under my command.

I would more especially wish to mention Captain Lloyd, and Lieutenant Cox, 57th Regiments, and Lieutenant Larcom, Royal Artillery. The latter officer even after he was wounded refused to be taken to the rear, but remained by his gun until the whole force retired.

Staff Assistant-Surgeon Jones, was on the ground the whole time, and attended the wounded as they fell.

The mounted volunteers, who accompanied me, behaved throughout with their usual conspicuous courage and coolness. Of these I would beg to name Captain F. Mace, Taranaki Militia, and Antonio Rodriquez, the latter of whom again distinguished himself by conveying wounded men to the rear under a heavy fire.

I have, &c.,

Commanding 57th Regiment.

the command of Major Butler, 57th Regiment, in reconnoitring the rebel position at Kaitake yesterday.

The object intended was fully accomplished, the strength of the rebel position, and the number occupying it ascertained—although unhappily with the loss of one brave man killed, and Lieutenant Lareom, R.A., and five men, 57th Regiment, wounded.

To Major Butler, Captain Lloyd, and the Officers of the 57th, Lieutenant Larcom, R.A., Lieutenant Ferguson, R.E., and to Captain Maee, Mounted Corps, the Colonel's best thanks are due, as also to Staff Assistant-Surgeon Morgan Jones, for the gallant and able manuer in whieh, on the field, he attended the wounded; but it is not only to the Officers, it is to the Non-Commissioned Offieers and men of the Royal Artillery, and 57th Regiment, who so fully deserve to have their gallant deeds reeorded, and to the men of the Mounted Corps, and more espeeially to Antonio Rodriquez (who on this, as well as on the 2nd October last, bore off wounded men on his horse) that the Colonel would wish to convey his best and heartfelt thanks for their gallantry, under as heavy a fire from 2 or 300 Maoris as is usually met with in this description of warfare.

The gallant conduct of the brothers Privates Bartholomew and Martin, and Drummer Dudley Stagpole, 57th Regiment, all of whom have been wounded in this war, and Private Martin Stagpole, unfortunately severely on this occasion, also deserves speeial mention, as wherever danger is, there they are sure to be found.

Colonel Warre knows that he ean depend upon the courage and devotion of all; but it is upon trying occasions like that he now records, with an almost invisible enemy strongly entrenched behind an impassable stockade, that the high discipline of men he is so proud to command is more than usually conspicuous, and the Colonel will feel great satisfaction in bringing their gallant conduct to the notice of the Lieutenant-General Commanding.

New Plymouth,
SIR, March, 26, 1864.

IT is with mueh satisfaction I have the honour to report for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding, that by the result of a few days operations, the troops under my command have succeeded, with trifling loss, in driving the whole of the rebel Maoris from the several positions they have occupied since March, 1863, on the Patua Ranges ; and by the successful attack on Kaitake yesteday, have left the rebels no place of refuge on this side of the Katikara River.

Finding by the tenor of the Lieutenant-General's letter of the 12th instant, that the extent of his operations in Waikato would prevent his sending me any further reinforcements beyond the 12lb. Armstrong guns, and 30 Non-commissioned officers and gunners, under the command of Captain Martin, R.A., and that the Lieutenant-General appeared to think that this settlement could not be safe from the incursions of hostile natives, so long as the rebels remained at Kaitake, I thought it my duty to endeavour to carry out his views, either by turning the rebels out of their formidable position at Kaitake, or by establishing military posts on the Timaru River, to cut off their communications with the south. With this object, therefore, on Monday, the 21st instant, I sent the Armstrong guns to Oakura, and placed them in position in the afternoon to try their effect, and show the natives that we were able to reach their apparently impregnable position at Kaitake at long range. The practice was excellent, and evidently made so great an impression upon the rebels, that I felt we could keep down their fire while the troops rushed their rifle pits. Considering it right, however, to destroy all their outposts, or places of refuge, before I attacked their main position, I left two of the Armstrong guns at Oakura to keep up an occasional fire at Kaitake, and marched on Tuesday, the 22nd, with the force noted in the margin,* to attack the Tutu Pah, situated on the Kaitakara River, four miles above the rebel position, so successfully attacked by the Lieutenant-General on the 4th June, 1863, starting at three o'clock, A.M., I hoped to gain the bush in which the pah is situated by day-break, and to take it in reverse by a bush track which I had explored last year ; but on arrival in sight of the pah at the extreme boundary of the Tataraimaka Block, the position appeared deserted ; so I detatched Captain Atkinson, Rifle Volunteers, supported by 50 of the 57th Regiment, under Captain Lloyd, to feel their way by the track, while the guns remained within easy range (about 1,200 yards) outside the bush. The pah was unoccupied, or occupied only by a few women and children, who ran away as soon as the troops appeared.

The stockade was pulled down and burnt, as also were several whares, not only near the pah, but at some distance from it. Some cattle were taken and driven in, and many acres of cultivation destroyed.

As we observed, on our advance, that the chapel on the Tataraimaka Block had been pulled down and packed ready for carrying away, many of the side-boards being found lying on the road leading to Tutu Pah, I thought it would distract the attention of the natives from my further operations if I sent to bring away the remaining portions of the chapel, which, making eight carts' load, were successfully brought to Oakura by Captain Russell, 57th Regiment, with 100 of the 57th and Militia, on Wednesday, 23rd instant.

On Thursday, the 24th instant, I again organized a force, as shown in the margin,* to attack the rebel position at Au-Au, and explore the road on the north side of the Timaru River, to ascertain where the native track crossed by which the natives on the Ranges obtain their supplies and keep up communications with the south, which track we failed to find on Tuesday.

The guns at Kaitake, and the constant movement of troops, had apparently lulled the natives at Au-Au into security, as they allowed the troops to approach within about half a mile of the foot of the Ranges (where the track coming from the south crosses the river) before any apparent notice was taken of our advance; when, by the hurried discharge of muskets at different points, it became evident that only a few natives occupied this very formidable position, which crowns the top of a spur about twice the height of that upon which Kaitake is situated. Dividing the 57th into two parties, I sent one, under Captain Russell, up a very steep incline (covered with rifle pits) to the left, and the other, under Captain Schomberg, to the right, by the road which leads round the spur on which the stockade is situated, supported by the Militia, under Captains Carthew and McKellar, T.M.; the guns, under a covering party, being left on a small knoll, from which they could have shelled the pah and kept down the fire of the rifle pits, had it been necessary.

The twenty or thirty Maories by whom this place was very gallantly held gave way on the advance of the men of the 57th, who, without any cover, pushed up the very steep hill; the Maories retiring in front of them until the two parties of the 57th joined.

The Maories for a short time made a determined stand, firing very sharply from a small bush-covered hillock on the right from the pah; but although only a few feet distant from their opponents, only two men were wounded, and Captain Mace's horse shot, while the troops were tearing down the stockade and forcing a passage into the interior, from whence the Maories made a rapid retreat up the steep hill, densely covered with bush on the rear, through which the men cound not follow them. The pah was ours, with great quantities of vegetable produce of every description, all of which, including several acres of growing crops of Indian corn, tobacco, tara, &c., were destroyed, after filling two empty carts which I had brought with the column for the purpose.

Having burnt and destroyed everything we could, we returned by the same route to Oakura.

Thinking it very probable that many of the rebels from Kaitake would go to Au-Au to ascertain their loss; and as Mr. Parris had informed me that Tamatione, the Kaitake Chief, had gone south to seek reinforcements from the Ngatiruanuis, who were hourly expected, I decided to attack the former position the next day. Having arranged that Captain Atkinson, with 150 Taranaki Rifle Volunteers, should proceed by the bush track which leads to the rear of Kaitake, and that Captain Corbett, T.M., with 60 of his men, should advance up an intermediate spur of the ranges from the left, I so divided the remainder of my force, that Captain Schomberg, 57th Regiment, and Captain Page, T.M., with 50 men each, should threaten the right, Captain Russell, 57th, with 80 men, should threaten the centre, while Captain Lloyd, 57th, with 50 men, and Captains Wright, 70th, and McKellar, T.M., with 25 men each, in support of Captain Lloyd, should proceed up the several small spurs on our left to take in reverse the rifle pits, which are constructed half way up the steep incline towards the two pahs, which crown the crest of the hill.

To enable the bush parties to accomplish their long and fatiguing marches, and to arrive simultaneously at a given time. I had arranged that the guns should continue firing until ten o'clock. The three Armstrongs, under Captain Martin, R.A., were placed on the right bank of the Oakura River to breach the upper pahs, and the 24 lbs. howitzer and rocket tube, which, owing to Mr. Larcom's recent wound, and a severe accident which disabled Serjeant-Major Arthur, I entrusted to a junior Non-commissioned officer, were placed within about 800 yards of the front of the lower stockade, which they were to endeavour to knock down.

The beautiful practice of the Armstrong guns, under Captain Martin, set fire to a whare within the stockade of the lower of the two upper pahs, at the very hour I had named (ten o'clock A.M.) for the simultaneous advance of all the parties; and of this fortunate accident immediate advantage was taken by Captain Corbett's party, who rushed at once upon the pah, and under cover of the smoke, climbed over the stockades and got into it by a zig-zag entrance between the two lines of palisades, followed very closely by the assaulting parties under Captain Lloyd, who climbed the spurs and rushed the rifle pits, from which a heavy fire had been kept up on the centre and right parties, who with a tremendous cheer for the "Queen", pushed rapidly forward; the party under Captain Schomberg, 57th, led by Major Butler, mounted the high ground to the right, also taking the rifle pits on that side in reverse, and Captain Russell's party, under my immediate direction, forced their way through the very formidable double line of palisades which extends across the valley, backed by rifle pits, from which the Maoris had been driven by the fire of the parties above, and were escaping as rapidly as possible.

Captains Atkinson's and Good's Rifle Volunteers had found the bush track so overgrown that they were unfortunately a few minutes late, but they did good service by appearing at the very top of the clearing, by which line they prevented the Maoris escaping and killed one, Kati Knaturi-whati, the chief owner of the land in the Oakura and Tapuae district.

With the exception of Captains Atkinson and Corbett's men, who had a very fatiguing night march, and to the latter it is with much pleasure I give the credit of taking possession of the pah on the top of the hill, which is, as I always imagined, the key to the whole position; the troops generally only took up their positions at ten o'clock, and in 20 minutes they were in possession of the whole line of works extending for at least half a mile from the high ground on the right, which Major Butler gained by his successful flank march up a very steep incline, to the pahs taken by Captain Corbett on the left. The Maoris made one attempt to recover their prestige by creeping through the bush, and firing a volley upon Captains Schomberg and Page's companies, in which one man was severely wounded and one horse shot; another Maori was captured in the fern, after deliberately attempting to shoot one of the mounted corps, who upon this, as on every occasion, rendered me most valuable assistance. It is surprising even after the place was taken, that more casualties did not occur, so many Maoris concealed themselves in the fern and standing crops of Indian corn, which, with potatoes, &c., covered the clear ground round the pahs to an extent of 30 or 40 acres, and from which and the adjoining bush the Maoris kept up for some time an ineffectual fire, until driven away by a few rockets and shells from the "Cohorn" mortar; although the wounds are severe, we did not lose a single man.

I need hardly dwell upon the importance of this success, and the Lieutenant-General is well aware how impregnable the position appeared.

I am sure the Lieutenant-General will give the Officers, Non-commissioned Officers, and men of the small force under my command the credit they so truly deserve, for their gallantry and willingness to undergo the fatigue of the four days operations they have brought to so successful a close. I have taken the liberty of transmitting a nominal and numerical return,* by which the Lieutenant-General will see what Officers were engaged on this occasion.

I at once made arrangements to occupy one of the pahs, within which I directed Lieutenant Ferguson, R.E., to construct a redoubt, leaving the stockade to prevent the rebels from attempting to scale the parapets, as the nature of the ground obliges its construction very close to the edge of the bush; and I also directed the whole of the stockading across the valley to be levelled, and the rifle pits filled in.

To Major Butler, 57th Regiment, I am most especially indebted for the cordial co-operation and assistance he renders me on every occasion, and on this, for the gallant manner in which on seeing the place taken he not only conceived the idea, but lead the men, under Captains Schomberg and Page to the top of the range on the right, from which he partially intercepted the retreat of the Maoris.

of that in charge of Sergeant Spink, R.A., was most excellent; but it is very evident that such guns are of little use in breaching native pahs.

My own Staff Officers, Lieutenant C. M. Clarke Deputy-Assistant Quartermaster-General, and Lieutenant E. Brutton, Garrison Adjutant, were unremitting in the execution of my orders; Captain F. Macc, T.M., volunteered his services, and as on every oocasion rendered me very good service.

Staff-Surgeon Young was on the ground and attended promptly to the wounded men, and I would wish especially to bring to the Lieutenant-General's notice the very considerate manner in which Staff Assistant-Surgeon M. Jones, volunteered to proceed at 5 o'clock in the morning with Captain Atkinson's party, and at a moment's notice undertook the five hours long and fatiguing march through the bush, rather than allow them to proceed without a Medical Officer; all the Officers and men speak loudly in his praise, although his professional services were not actually required.

The native prisoner who is a returned slave from Waikato, and of no tribal importance, awaits the orders of the Government in the civil prison. He states that Kaitake was defended by 200 maoris under Parengi Kingi, who was the first to run away on hearing the cheers which preceded our advance; a sudden panic seized the whole of the rebels, who after the departure of their chief lost no time in effecting their cseape.

Two tiahas (spears) were taken at Au-Au, and two native flags from Kaitake, the latter I forward by this mail, one to his Excellency the Governor, and one to the Lieutenant-General Commanding.

The capture of Kaitake has given the most lively satisfaction to the inhabitants of this place.

I beg to forward a return of casualties, which I am happy to say are very small.

Head Quarters, Pukerimu,

My Lord, April 4, 1864.

IN continuation of my despatch of the 28th ultimo, I have the honour to inform your Lordship, that an attempt having been made by a body of about 300 rebel natives to re-occupy the village of Orakau, Brigadier-General Carey, Commanding at Te Awamutu, marched against them in the night of the 30th March, and succeeded in completely surrounding their position which they had strongly fortified. Having failed in an attempt to carry it by assault, General Carey advanced against it by sap, and compelled the natives to abandon it in the afternoon of the 2nd April, inflicting a very heavy loss upon them in their retreat.

The enclosed report of General Carey contains a detailed account of his operations.

The skill with which the enemy's work was suddenly invested on every side, reflects great credit on General Carey, who, by the manner in which he has conducted previous operations entrusted to him in this war, has proved himself a very able and zealous officer. I beg to recommend him to your Lordship's favorable consideration.

I would also beg to draw your Lordship's attention to the services of the Officers and Non-commissioned Officers reported by General Carey as having distinguished themselves in this attack, particularly Captain Baker, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, Captain Greaves, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, and Lieutenant Hurst, 1st Battalion 12th Regiment, Assistant Engineer.

Our loss has been severe; and your Lordship will regret to see in the list of killed the name of Captain Ring, 2nd Battalion 18th Regiment, a brave and promising young officer, whose gallant conduct I have brought to your notice on two previous occasions.

I think it right to mention, that on arriving at the scene of action, and seeing the hopeless situation of the natives, and the probable destruction of the greater part of them if they withstood an assault from such overwhelming numbers, I directed the message—mentioned by General Carey—to be sent to them; and it is to be deeply regretted that they did not accept the terms thus offered. I cannot, however, in justice refrain from paying a tribute to the heroic courage and devotion of this band of natives, who, without water, and with but little food, for more than two days, and deprived of all hope of succour, held out so long against a vastly superior force; and, at last, disdaining to surrender, silently and deliberately abandoned their position, under a terrific fire from our troops.

I have, &c.

Lieutenant-General.

Camp Te Awamutu,
SIR, April 3, 1864.

I HAVE the honour to state, for the information of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, that about mid-day on the 30th ultimo, it was reported to me by Lieutenant-Colonel Haultain, Waikato Militia, commanding at Kihi Kihi Redoubt, that natives were seen in force at the village of "Orakau," about $2\frac{1}{2}$ to 3 miles distance from his post.

I immediately rode over and made a reconnaissance, found that the natives were engaged building a Pah, and as it was then too late in the day to attack at once, I returned to this camp, and made arrangements to march on the enemy's position during the night.

Captain Baker, 18th Royal Irish, Deputy-Assistant-Adjutant-General, fortunately found two men* in camp, whom, from their local knowledge, I at once engaged as guides, which circumstance enabled me to determine on a combined movement.

My plan of attack was to advance with the main body along the dray road to Orakau, to detach a force of 250 men under Major Blythe, 40th Regiment, who would take a circuitous route through a somewhat difficult country, crossing and re-crossing the Punia River, and marching on my right flank to take the enemy's position in reverse; and, thirdly, to draw a force of 100 men from Rangiawhia and Hairini, under Captain Blewitt, 65th Regiment, who would march across to the enemy's position on my left; the three bodies of troops arriving, if possible, simultaneously before the enemy's stronghold, shortly before daylight.

* Mr. Gage and Mr. W. Astle.

At midnight Major Blyth, 40th Regiment, marched with 250 men, as enumerated in the margin,* with directions to take the road to the right, to cross and recross the Punia River, and to gain the rear of the enemy's position before daylight, halting there until he should hear my attack, and then to dispose of his force so as to cut off the retreat of the enemy.

The road from Rangiawhia to Orakau, I found on enquiry to be very difficult, being intercepted by deep swamps and thick bush ; however, having every confidence in Captain Blewitt's energy, I directed that officer, who commands at Rangiawhia, to march during the night, and endeavour to form a junction with me before daylight on the proper right of the enemy's position, bringing with him one hundred men.†

At three o'clock on Thursday morning, the 31st ultimo, I marched with the main body, as directed in the margin,‡ along the dray road to Kihi Kihi, taking on Lieutenant-Colonel Haultain and 150 men from that post, and then proceeded by the same road to the village of Orakau, which I reached without opposition as the day dawned.

The enemy, evidently taken by surprise, opened fire on the advance-guard composed of 120 of the Royal Irish and 20 Forest Rangers, gallantly led by Captain Ring, 18th Royal Irish (and supported by 100 of the 40th Regiment), who immediately rushed forward to the attack in skirmishing order.

The position being found very strong (an earthwork, with strong flank defences, deep ditches, with posts and rails outside, and nearly covered from view by flax-bushes, peach-trees, and high fern), this party were forced to retire, but at once reformed, and, being reinforced by another Company of the 40th Regiment, again tried to take the place by assault, but with no better success. Here Captain Ring, 18th Royal Irish, fell mortally wounded, and Captain Fisher, 40th Regiment, severely so, besides four men were killed and several wounded.

On Captain Ring's falling, Captain Baker, 18th Royal Irish, Deputy-Assistant Adjutant-General, most gallantly galloped up, dismounted, and, calling for volunteers, again endeavoured to carry the place by assault. This also failed.

Finding that there was no chance of taking the pah in this manner, from its immense strength, and other men having fallen, I determined to desist from this mode of attack, and having heard that both Major Blyth, 40th Regiment, and Captain Blewitt, 65th Regiment, were at their appointed posts, I decided on surrounding the place, and adopting the more slow but sure method of approaching the position by sap, which was shortly after commenced, under the very able directions of Lieutenant Hurst, 12th Regiment, attached to the Royal Engineer Department.

At this time, Lieutenant Carre, Royal Artillery, endeavoured to effect a breach in the enemy's work, but could make no impression upon it.

A further supply of entrenching tools and gabions (which latter had most fortunately been prepared at the neighbouring posts for service of head-quarters on the Horatin) were immediately ordered up, with the men's blankets, additional food, &c., and every possible precaution taken by the proper disposition of the force, to prevent the escape of the enemy.

During the afternoon, a reinforcement of some 150 or 200 of the enemy, from the direction of Maungatautari, appeared in sight, evidently determined on relieving the place. They advanced to a bush situated about 900 yards in rear of our outposts, but seeing that it was scarcely possible to break through the line formed by our troops, they halted and commenced firing volleys, at the same time exciting the men in the pah to increased energy by dancing the war dance, shouting, &c.

The wounded were sent in to "Te Awamutu" and "Kihi Kihi;" the sap was pushed forward vigorously, and the troops so posted as to prevent any possibility of escape by the natives during the night.

Heavy firing was kept up by the enemy on the troops, both in the sap and around the place during the day and night, causing but few casualties, the men contriving to cover themselves in temporary rifle pits, dug out with their bayonets and hands.

A reinforcement of 200 men, as detailed in the margin,* under the command of Captain Inman, 18th Royal Irish, reached me from head-quarters during the afternoon.

Having reported my proceedings to the Commander of the Forces in the morning, I was glad to receive a reinforcement as detailed in the margin,† sent by him and guided by Captain Greaves, D.A., Quartermaster-General, which arrived about daylight on the morning of the 1st April, and which enabled me to relieve the men in the sap more constantly, and therefore to carry on the work more quickly, Captain Greaves also affording me material assistance in the duties of his department. This day was spent in working at the sap and making rifle pits around the pah, few casualties occurring.

Captain Betty, R.A., arrived during the day, and assumed command of the Royal Artillery, which enabled Lieutenant Carre to render some assistance to Lieutenant Hurst in constructing the sap, he having been at it without intermission.

During the night a few of the enemy were perceived trying to effect an escape from the Pah, but being immediately fired upon, returned to their earthwork.

I omitted to mention that Captain Betty, R.A., threw some well directed shells at the Maori reinforcement in the bush and on the hills, which evidently disconcerted them considerably.

At an early hour on the morning of the 2nd April, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Henry Havelock, † 12th Regiment—1 captain, 1 subaltern, 3 serjeants, 1 drummer, 92 rank and file; Forest Rangers—1 captain, 1 subaltern, 4 serjeants, 44 rank and file.

Bart., Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, arrived with hand grenades, which were at once thrown into the enemy's position with great effect by Serjeant McKay, R.A., who thus rendered good and gallant service, at great personal risk, under a galling fire.

About noon I ordered Captain Betty, R.A., to have a six-pounder Armstrong gun carried into the sap. An entrance having been made, it opened fire on the enemy's work, destroying the palisading, making a considerable breach, and silencing in a great measure, the fire of the enemy on the men engaged at the head of the sap.

Colonel Mould, C.B., R.E., coming up with General Cameron, gave his able assistance towards the completion of the sap into the enemy's work.

As it was known that women and children were in the pah, the enemy was called upon to surrender previous to the concentrated fire of the Armstrong gun and hand grenades on their work, they were told that their lives would be spared, and, if they declined, they were requested at least to have compassion on their women and children and send them out. They replied that they would not do so, but would fight to to the last. The pah was then carried, the enemy effecting his escape from the opposite side of the work dashed through a space from which the troops had been thrown back under cover, to enable the gun to open. They were, however, speedily followed up, and suffered a severe loss during a pursuit of nearly six miles. Lieutenant Rait, R.A., with his troopers and Captain Pye, Colonial Defence Force, with a small detachment having headed them and kept them back until the infantry came up. I regret to say that in the pah and in the pursuit some three or four women were killed unavoidably, probably owing to the similarity of dress of both men and women, and their hair being cut equally short rendering it impossible to distinguish one from the other at any distance.

The troops were recalled about sun down and bivouacked around the enemy's late position.

At an early hour this morning I caused diligent search to be made for the killed and wounded of the enemy. Their loss was considerable, amounting to 101 killed, besides 18 to 20 reported by native prisoners as buried in the pah, 26 wounded and taken prisoners, 7 taken prisoners.

In addition to this number, the natives were seen to be engaged carrying off dead and wounded early in the morning, at the most distant point of pursuit, and fresh tracks showed that they had been similarly occupied during the night.

I beg to bring to the special notice of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces the gallant bearing of Captain Baker, 18th Royal Irish, Deputy Assistant-Adjutant-General, during the whole of the operations, but more especially on the occasion already mentioned, of the fall of that brave and lamented soldier Captain Ring.

Also the determined bravery of Captain Harford, Waikato Militia, who was very severely wounded (loss of eye), and the gallantry of Lieutenant Harrison, Waikato Militia, both of whom remained at the head of the sap nearly the whole time, keeping down the fire of the enemy by the well-directed balls of their own rifles, likewise the gallant conduct of Serjeant McKay, R.A., who, as before mentioned, under a galling fire, threw, with the greatest precision and coolness, hand grenades from the sap, and from the lodgment made in the outerwork of the enemy, into his stronghold.

The wounded received the greatest possible attention, on the field, from the Senior Medical Officer, Doctor White, 65th Regiment, ably seconded by Assistant-Surgeons Spencer, 18th Royal Irish, Stiles, 40th Regiment, and Hilston Royal Navy, until the arrival of Doctor Mouat, C.B., V.C., the P.M.O., who left nothing undone in providing for their comfort, &c. I trust the conduct of the officers and men under my command during this long operation of three days and three nights without cover, and constantly under fire, may meet with the approval of the Commander of the Forces.

The casualties on our side, of which I enclose a return, are, I regret to say, severe.

I beg to recommend to the favorable notice of the Lieutenant-General Commanding the Forces, the able services rendered by the following officers who so cordially assisted me in carrying out my operations, viz. :—

Colonel Leslie, C.B., Commanding 40th Regiment; Major Blyth, 40th Regiment, Commanding Detached Force, on right flank; Captain Blewitt, 65th Regiment, Commanding Detached Force on left flank; Captain Vereker, Commanding Detachment 12th Regiment; Captain Inman, Commanding Detachment 18th Royal Irish; Captain Cay, Commanding Detachment 70th Regiment; Captain Betty, R.A., Commanding Royal Artillery, Lieutenant Rait, R.A., Commanding Mounted Royal Artillery Troopers.

Lieutenant Hurst, 12th Regiment, acting as Engineer.

Lieutenant-Colonel Haultain, Commanding Waikato Militia, and Captains Jackson and Von Tempsky of the Forest Rangers.

Doctor White, 65th Regiment, Senior Medical Officer in charge of Field Force.

I have further to claim the kind consideration of the Commander of the Forces for the Officers of my Staff, viz. :—

Captain Baker, 18th Royal Irish, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, and Captain the Honorable F. Le. P. Treneh, 40th Regiment, A.D.C., who afforded me the greatest help, both day and night, by their untiring zeal and energy in carrying out my orders.

I beg to enelose a sketeh of the enemy's work and our approaches to it, made by Lieutenant Hurst, 12th Regiment ; also a rough sketeh of the eountry, betweẽn this and the enemy's position, shewing the eombined movement of the Force on the night of the 30th ultimo.

I have, &e.

And on every such packet, if exceeding four ounces in weight, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, for such transmission thereof respectively as aforesaid, the several progressive and additional rates of postage hereinafter mentioned.

On every such packet, if exceeding four ounces, and not exceeding one-half of a

And for every additional half of a pound in weight of any such packet, above the weight of two pounds, there shall be charged, taken, and paid, two additional rates of postage, and every fractional part of such additional half of a pound in weight shall be charged as an additional half of a pound in weight, and each progressive and additional rate, chargeable under this clause, shall be estimated and charged at the sum which any such packet would be charged with under this Warrant, if not exceeding four ounces in weight.

4. Every packet which shall be transmitted by the post under the authority of this Warrant, shall be so transmitted in conformity with, and under, and subject, to the several orders, directions, regulations, and conditions hereinafter contained, (that is to say):—

5. No such packet, which in length or breadth, or depth, shall exceed the dimensions of two feet, shall be transmitted by the post under the provisions of this Warrant.

6. No pattern or sample, being of any intrinsic value, or being an article or thing of a saleable nature, or having a value of its own apart from its mere use as a pattern or sample, shall be transmitted by the post under the provisions of this Warrant.

7. There shall be no enclosure, sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, nor any other enclosure not authorized by this Warrant, sent in or with any such packet.

8. There shall be no writing or printing in or upon any such packet, or on the cover thereof, except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender thereof, a trade mark, and numbers and prices.

9. All such packets shall be sent in covers, open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination. Nevertheless samples of seeds, drugs, and such other articles and things as cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bags of linen, or of other material; but bags so closed that they cannot be readily opened, even although they be transparent, shall not be used for that purpose.

10. If any packet sent or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, shall in length, or breadth, or depth exceed the dimensions of two feet, or shall consist wholly of patterns, or samples of any intrinsic value, as in the sixth clause of this Warrant mentioned, or if there shall be any writing or printing in or upon any such packet, or on the cover thereof, except the address of the person for whom it is intended, the address of the sender thereof, a trade mark, and numbers and prices, or if any such packets shall not be sent in covers, open at the ends, so as to be easy of examination (except samples of seeds, drugs, and such other articles and things as cannot be sent in open covers, and which may be enclosed in bags of linen, or of other material), or in case of bags being used, if such bags shall be so closed that they cannot be readily opened, every such packet shall be chargeable, and shall be treated in all respects as a letter.

11. If any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, shall contain any enclosure, sealed, or otherwise closed against inspection, or any other enclosure not authorized by this Warrant, every such enclosure may be taken out by any officer of the Post Office, and either returned or given up to the sender thereof, or be forwarded to the address on the packet, charged not only with the full rates of postage as an unpaid letter, but also with a further and additional rate of postage, equal in amount to the single rate of postage chargeable under the provisions of this Warrant on a packet not exceeding four ounces in weight, and the remainder of the packet, if duly pre-paid by stamps, may be forwarded to the place of its address, without any extra charge.

12. The postage of all such packets as aforesaid posted in the United Kingdom, shall in every case be paid at the time of the same being posted, not in money, but by being duly stamped with the proper postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, which stamp or stamps shall in every case be affixed or appear on the outside of every such packet, near the address or direction, and shall be of the value or amount of the postage duty payable thereon, under or by virtue of this Warrant.

13. The postage of all such packets as aforesaid, posted in Ceylon or Hong Kong, shall in every case be paid at the time of the same being posted, either in money or by the proper colonial postage stamp or stamps being affixed thereto.

14. If any packet sent, or tendered, or delivered in order to be sent by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, shall be posted in the United Kingdom, or in Ceylon or Hong Kong, and the postage paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps affixed thereto, shall represent a less amount than the rate of postage to which such packet would be liable under and by virtue of this Warrant, every such last-mentioned packet shall be forwarded, charged with the amount of the difference between the postage so paid thereon, or postage stamp or stamps so being thereon or affixed thereto, and the postage to which such packet would be liable as aforesaid, together with a further and additional rate of postage, equal in amount to the single rate of postage chargeable under this Warrant on a packet not exceeding four ounces in weight; but if any such packet shall be posted in the United Kingdom, or in Ceylon or Hong Kong, without any postage having been paid thereon, or without having thereon or affixed thereto any postage stamp, every such respective packet shall be forwarded, charged with a postage of double the amount of postage to which it would have been liable under and by virtue of this Warrant, if the postage had been paid when posted.

15. In order to prevent any obstacles to the due and regular transmission of letters by the post, any officer of the Post Office may delay the transmission of any packet posted or forwarded by the post under the provisions of this Warrant, either for the space of twenty-four hours after the time at which the same ought to be dispatched in due course of the post, or (at his option) until the dispatch of the mail next after that by which the same ought in due course of the post to be forwarded by him.

16. In all cases in which any question shall hereafter arise, whether any packet or any pattern or sample contained therein transmitted under or by virtue of this Warrant, is entitled to the privileges of this Warrant, and to be so transmitted within the intent and meaning thereof, such question shall be referred to the determination of the Postmaster-General, whose decision thereupon shall be final and conclusive upon all parties.

17. The terms and expressions used in this Warrant shall be construed to have the like meaning in all respects as they would have had if inserted in the said Act passed in the fourth year of the reign of Her Majesty, cap. 96.

18. The Commissioners for the time being of Her Majesty's Treasury may, by Warrant under their hands, duly made at any time hereafter, alter, repeal, revoke, or modify any of the rates of postage hereby fixed, or any of the regulations hereby made, and may make and establish any new or other rates or regulations in lieu thereof, and from time to time may appoint at what time the rates that may be payable are to be paid.

19. This Warrant shall come into operation on the 1st day of August, 1864.

Art. 4. The faculty of subscription accorded to manufactories of native sugar by Art. 4, of the law of 23rd May, 1860, is abolished.

Art. 5. The existing system of drawbacks is abolished.

Sugar of any origin not refined may be admitted temporarily free, under the following conditions:

Such temporary admission will not be obligatory except as respects sugars which are to be refined for export.

Sugars declared for temporary admission will necessitate proper guarantees being given.

These operations will terminate within a period of four months, either by the exportation of the refined sugar or by placing in bond a quantity of refined sugar corresponding to the quantity determined by Art. 6, or else by the payment of the duties and surtaxes applicable to raw sugars.

When the refined sugar exported shall have been manufactured from sugar imported in a foreign vessel, the contractors (soumissionnaires) will be required to pay, on exportation of such sugar, or on its being placed in bond, the half of the sur-tax on the flag.

Lump sugar and white sugar ...	84

The "vergeoises" of No. 13 and superior numbers are admissible for exportation on payment of the amounts for temporary admission, at the rate of 105 kilos. per 100 kilos. of raw sugar.

Colonial and foreign sugars can only be admitted for refinement for exportation, when they have been imported directly by sea from countries out of Europe.

Art. 7. Refined sugars which having been placed in bond under the conditions established by Art. V., may be withdrawn for consumption, will pay the duties attaching to the quantity of raw material from which they are obtained and on the quantities submitted at the period of admission.

Art. 8. If the obligations are not acquitted within the period fixed by Art. V. of the present law, the Treasury will at once proceed to recover, in addition to the import duty, the interest of such duty, at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, from the expiration of the said period.

Any attempt to effect the exportation or the replacement in bond, as referred to in Art. V., of sugars not having the declared weight or the degree of purity and whiteness required by the regulations on this head, will be punished in the first instance by a penalty equal to double the duty of the deficit, and in the second case by a fine of 10 francs per 100 kilos. The sugar may be retained for surety for the fine and costs.

Art. 9. The repayment of duties on the exportation of refined sugar when the payment of these duties shall be shown by means of the receipt previous to the passing of the present law, and not dating back more than four months, will be made on the basis of the tariff and according to the yields determined by the previous laws.

FROM THE

SUPPLEMENT

LONDON GAZETTE of JUNE 24, 1864.

Foreign Office, June 24, 1864.

Legation of Denmark,

My Lord, June 24, 1864.

BY your Excellency's note of June 14, I was requested to give information as to whether in the event of hostilities being renewed on the 26th instant and a blockade of German ports by Danish ships of war re-established, due notice of such blockade would be given and due time afforded to British merchant vessels to leave the ports proposed to be blockaded. I did not fail to submit at once your Lordship's note to my Government, and I have now the honour to state in reply, that if hostilities should be renewed on the 26th, the blockade of the ports of Cammin, Swinemünde, Wolgast, Greifswalde, Stralsund, Barth, Danzig, and Pillau in the Baltic, as well as the blockade of the ports and inlets in the Duchies of Sleswig and Holstein, which was raised on the 12th of May, in conformity with the stipulations of the suspension of hostilities, will immediately be re-established; that neutral ships which, after the renewal of the war, might attempt to enter any of the blockaded ports, would not, however, be subject to capture unless where previous notice of the re-establishment of the blockade had been received by them, either in the ordinary way or through the ships of the blockading squadron itself; and that a short but sufficient space of time would be accorded for leaving the blockaded ports to those neutral ships which, at the time of the re-establishment of the blockade, might be in those ports.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) T. BILLE.

In common with all ranks and classes throughout the land, we hail this event with especial satisfaction, not merely as an addition to your Majesty's domestic happiness, but as tending to perpetuate the occupation of the British Throne in the reigning family.

Recalling with thankfulness to Almighty God the manifold benefits which have been vouchsafed to our country under your Majesty's rule, we entertain this prospect with unfeigned pleasure, and cherish a confident hope that the Infant Prince, trained in the principles of constitutional liberty, and the Protestant religion, will, if called to wear the Crown of these realms, form one of an illustrious line of benefactors to his people.
